The Canadian General Electric Company Performs A Feat Unequalled In History

Local Concern Has Recently Completed Execution of Largest Contract for Electric Hydraulic Machinery in the World

NIAGARA FALLS DEVELOPMENT

A Most Creditable Undertaking in Which Peterborough Industrial Concern Has Taken Important Part

By supplying the electrical plant for the power development works the Canadian General Electric Company has performed a feat unequalled in the history of electrical installation in Canada. There have been important contracts executed by Canadian electrical firms in the past, but none that will compare in magnitude with this. An even wider boast might be made by the Canadian General Electric Company. It can now truthfully claim to have executed a bigger contract in electro-hydraulic machinery than any other firm in the world.

The part which a Peterborough industry has played in harnessing the power of the mighty Niagara Falls and transmitting it to Toronto, a transmission which is but recently accomplished fact is perhaps not fully appreciated by the majority of Peterborough citizens.

In view of this fact an article descriptive of the plant of the Electrical Developing Company at the Falls, in the Toronto Globe, from which the paragraph at the head of this column is an extract, will be read with more than usual interest by local citizens, to whom it will appeal with a special significance. The Globe remarks that by the arrival in Toronto of Niagara power a new epoch is marked in the industrial history of Ontario.

Continuing it gives a brief description of the plant, and pays a tribute to the unprecedented achievement of two firms, one of which is the largest industrial concern in Peterborough. It says:—

The Harness of the Falls

There is no good reason why the two firms most concerned should not receive full credit for their courage and ingenuity. They are the Canadian General Electric Company and the Canada Foundry Company. Each of them has done work in constructing the plant at the power house of the Electrical Development Company that is unprecedented in its way, and without which the dream of cheap Niagara power might have suffered the fate of the turbine, and, remained a toy and a phantasm for hundreds of years. The very heart and soul of the plant at the Falls is the unit. By this term is included practically every piece of machinery that is utilized in converting the fall of water into the electric current. Of these units there are five already erected or in course of construction, and each one capable of producing about 15,000 horse power. Later on more units will be added.

Unprecedented Construction

In constructing these units the Canadian General Electric Company had to be inventors, as well as manufacturers, for the unprecedented conditions and the unequalled magnitude of the work made it necessary to construct new types of generators. On account of the large weight of the machines, they have been for the most part assembled on the spot, it being impossible to erect and transport them by train from Peterborough. Some idea of the size and the workmanship of these units is conveyed in the fact that each one of these generators has a capacity equal to the total output of the Toronto Railway Company.

The Miracle-workers

By these units the real miracle of the whole tremendous undertaking is performed. As water, the Niagara River rushes through the penstook and down the flume to the turbines at the bottom of the hundred and fifty foot drop. By the turbines the water is made mechanical power, and as such is applied to the massive shafts that connect with the generators. Into these an electric current has already been turned by the exciters, whose use may be best described by comparing it to the use of a cupful of water for priming a pump. Thus set in motion, the great generators work their transformation and what was water power becomes electrical energy.

A Wonder After All

Wonder at the grand result — Niagara power in Toronto—is not diminished by an examination of the marvellous machinery, electrical and otherwise, that has been devised and erected to transform the dream into a reality. That it should have been within the power of two Canadian firms—the Canadian General Electric Company and the Canada Foundry Company—to provide practically every strap and buckle in the harness for Niagara is not more creditable to them than it is pleasing to Canadians generally. Pride in such vast undertakings is national in its scope, and in contemplation of these tremendous achievements business rivalry must be for the moment forgotten and wonder and admiration the prevailing sentiments.

A COBOURG PHYSICIAN STRUCK AND INSTANTLY KILLED BY THE G. T. R. FLYER THIS MORNING

Dr. James Henderson, After Attending a Sick Call This Morning, Was Killed on His Way Home From the Country.

HE WAS A WELL KNOWN DOCTOR

Special Wire to Heints & Co.

Cobourg, Dec. 21.—Dr. Jas. Henderson, one of the best known of the medical practicioners of this town was struck and instantly killed here this morning by the east bound G.T.R. express, while driving home after attending a sick call in the country.

It appears that Dr. Henderson had spent the greater part of the night in the country attending one of his patients, who was very ill, and on his way home, after having missed his night's sleep it is supposed that he fell asleep in his cutter, and did not notice the train.

At any rate the horse did not stop at the Williams street crossing, as it should have done to allow the train to pass and the engine struck the cutter, injuring the occupant so seriously that he died almost instantly.

Sleighing Sure For Christmas

All danger of that most dreaded of all conditions—a green Christmas—seems past now. The recent snow falls, though not heavy, have been sufficient to make splendid sleighing, and the merry jingle of sleigh bells will be heard on Christmas.

The weather still remains moderately cold, the thermometer hovering around 15 above zero at night. The outlook seems to indicate that in the not distant future, there will be some colder weather, though no very extreme weather is looked for.

ONE OF PETERBOROUGH COUNTY'S TALLEST RESIDENTS PASSED AWAY IN THE CITY YESTERDAY

William Bateman, an Otonabee Resident of Many Years, Died in the Nicholls Hospital Last Evening.

AN OLD FAMILIAR FIGURE HAS GONE

Yesterday evening one of the best known men of the township of Otonabee died at the Nicholls Hospital in the person of Mr. Wm. Batman. The late Mr. Batman was well known also throughout the city and in other parts of the county on account of his many eccentricities and more particularly on account of his great height, being one of the tallest men in the county. He was a man who, until his recent illness, scarcely missed a Saturday morning that he did not walk into the city from the Stewart Settlement in Otonabee where he was well known and much respected. He was 69 years of age and had only been in the hospital about three hours before he died.

The late Mr. Batman has lived in Otonabee among friends for a great many years and as far as can be learned he has no relatives in this country. The news of his death will be received with regret by all Otonabee people residing on the road from the Stewart Settlement to the city, and will undoubtedly miss his tall, familiar figure which they have been accustomed to see for so long a time.

At the time of going to press no arrangements had been made regarding the funeral which will take place to-morrow.

CHRISTMAS TRAFFIC THIS YEAR PROMISES TO BE HEAVIER THAN ANY FORMER YULETIDE

To-day, the first day of the cheap fares for the Christmas holidays on the railways, sees an almost unprecedented enquiry for tickets, and the present prospects, according to the statements of the railway ticket officials in the city this afternoon, are that this Christmas there will be a greater volume of Christmas traffic than in any previous year.

Commencing to-day return tickets on both railways may be purchased at single fare and one-third, while the single fare rate comes into effect on Monday, good to return until Wednesday.

An effort will be made to dispatch the trains on time, but in order to accomplish this it will be necessary for the public to co-operate with the railway staffs, and the most effective means of doing this is by purchasing the tickets at the city offices before going to the stations, and the public is advised to have the matter of the purchase of tickets attended to early—don't be afraid to come in a day before the tickets are actually needed—it will probably save both the buyer and the railway officials trouble.

CITY SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

Will Not Resume Until Monday, January 7th—An Unusually Long Vacation is Given This Christmas

TWO NEW TEACHERS ARE ENGAGED

At noon to-day the city schools closed for the Christmas vacation, which this year will be an unusually long one—a fact, however, which the scholars will not object to.

The schools will not resume until Monday, January 7th, the date on which they usually open after the New Year, being so close to the end of the week, that it was decided to postpone the opening until the following Monday.

The majority of the teachers who live out of the city, and many of those whose homes are here, will spend the holiday in other places, the railways' offering of special rates for the two weeks, allowing them an opportunity of spending them with friends in other places.

When the schools re-open after the New Year there will be two new teachers, one in the Collegiate Institute to succeed Mr. Jeffress and one in the public school in place of Miss Oulton, both of whom are going to Toronto.

GENEROUS RESPONSE TO APPEAL FOR CHEER

Fourteen Deserving Families Will be Helped by Members of Charlotte Street Methodist Church Congregation

WILL BRING JOY TO MANY HOMES

Fourteen families in the city will spend a Merry Christmas, as a result of the generosity of the members of the Charlotte street Methodist church congregation. Yesterday afternoon a number of the ladies of the church gathered to receive and prepare for the distribution of donations of clothing, etc., for which the congregation was asked on Sunday.

The response to this appeal was a hearty one, more articles having been received than ever before, and, as a result, fourteen large parcels were prepared, and will be delivered before Christmas. These parcels include articles of wearing apparel, all of them in good condition, groceries, and dainties of various kinds. In making the selections special care has been taken, and the aim has been to provide something for each member of the particular families, and when the distribution is made it is safe to predict that genuine Christmas cheer will go with the donations.

The creditors will hold another meeting on January 24th and all claims against the company must be sent in before January 31st.

The Nicholls Estate Makes Donation Of $20,000 For City's Parks And New Nicholls Park Trust Form

Through Generosity of Trustees of the Estate Peterborough Have Best Parks of Any of Smaller Canadian Cities—Fresh Evidence of Interest in City

MESSRS. CRANE AND E. H. D. HALL ON THE TRUST BO

The money left by Mrs. Nicholls for the benefit of the citizens Peterborough for parks and other purposes seems to be like the of oil of the widow of Zarephath—inexhaustable, and continued gle surprises are cropping up. We had first the donation of $5,000 to church, then a similar amount in land to the Young Men's Christian sociation; then we had the thoughtful gift of $500 to the Children's Society.

Continued Generosity

But that does not end the generosity of Messrs. Hall & McG It will be remembered that Mrs. Nicholls bequeathed to Peterboro the sum of $60,000 for parks. This amount has been largely spent in purchase of park lands and their improvement, and the income for investment of the unexpended balance, has been employed to main and care for the several parks. This, however, seems to be insufficient the proper maintenance of the parks and it has been, by the thoughtf ness of the trustees, largely augmented.

New Park Trust

The trustees have made a donation of an additional $20,000 to park fund. The work of superintending the care of the park, fallen largely upon Mr. Richard Hall, the resident trustee, and to di the work and relieve him from the great drafts on his time and attenti the trustees, Messrs. Hall & McGill, have associated with them additional trustees—Mr. E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor, and Mr. J. Crane, Manager of the Dominion Bank, the new Board to be called Nicholls Park Trust.

Peterborough has been fortunate beyond any other city in Can in the matter of parks. Mrs. Nicholls' liberality has provided us w a splendid series of park, which have practically not cost the cit dollar. And this new evidence of interest in our parks, will be w cordially appreciated by our grateful citizens. Within the past weeks the trustees have donated from the estate funds a total of $20,

SOME OF THE MANY TRIALS OF THE CUSTOMS OFFICIA

This Christmas, so far, over fifty English plum puddings, have be received at the local customs office, consigned by Old Country frie to those who have left the home land for Peterborough.

This season far exceeds any previous season in the number Christmas gifts passed through the customs house in Peterborough.

Christmas time means an extra quantity of work for the staff at th customs house, but they take the matter philosophically, and answ patiently the inquiries of anxious seekers for Christmas gifts expecte

THE EXAMINER FOR TO-MORROW

To-morrow, the last Saturday before Christmas, will be recognized by The Examiner, and a paper, the dominating features of which will be largely of a Christmas nature, will be published. It will be the regular size, sixteen pages, and will contain a number of interesting articles.

The Christmas music in all the city churches will be published to-morrow, as well as references to the special features which will characterize the church services on Sunday.

A more than interesting feature of to-morrow's paper will be a symposium of local opinion on the question of the modern observance of Christmas Day, and Christ's relation to it.

"Buster Brown" is beter again, and will re-appear to-morrow.

With the Christmas season in our midst, and the giving of gifts the prevalent idea in the minds of most people, a little reflection on the gifts handled by the customs house should not be out of place.

Friends remembering friends in the same locality is rather commonplace but it is the receiving of gifts from friends in the old world that make them so manifoldly dear to us. During the past few years a great number of people have come to Canada from Europe, some of them were young, and possessed of hopeful prospects for future success; their experiences in many cases have proved far from encouraging. Others were fathers of families, who came here with the idea of building up a home many have done so, but there are more who have not accomplished it. How precious must remembrances from their loved ones at home, in the little village in the English plains or on the Scottish hills, be to the people like those mentioned!

The customs officers state that the amount of goods handled in the local house is very much greater than heretofore. The great increase, it was stated, is in goods from the British Isles. It is a general custom of the home friends of those who are in Canada to send them presents. Articles of clothing, underwear, socks, mits, etc., are continually sent, perhaps, from the erroneous idea that these articles are difficult to obtain here.

But now that Christmas is at hand these articles have greatly increased in number. There are many surprises in store for the recipients of presents, the chief one being a good sized "Old English Plum Pudding," seasoned and cooked to appeal to the epicurean tastes of those countrymen who delight in a chef d'oeuvre of cooking. The handling of these parcels means a great deal of extra work for the five men in the customs office. Thus this branch of His Majesty's mails contributes to a large extent in making the season as it should be—a time of peace and —love.

A PRESENTATION TO AN OTONABEE TEACHER

Miss Bertha M. Inglis Given a Locket and Chain Before Departure From S. S. No 16

HAS SECURED SITUATION AT ELMWOOD

This afternoon, at the conclusion of the term's labours at the Cold Springs Public School of Otonabee, Miss Bertha M. Inglis, who has been the teacher there for the past year, was presented with a beautiful gold locket and chain, accompanied by an address from the pupils of the school. Miss Inglis leaves on Monday for her home in County Bruce, where she has secured a School at Elmwood for the coming year.

The following was the address:

To Miss Inglis.

Dear Teacher,—The time has come only too soon when we must sever our relationship between teacher and pupils. Had we our wishes, you would remain with us for a prolonged period to continue your work in bringing us through the many difficulties of our school life. We know of no one better fitted for such work, being earnest, patient, persevering, ever anxious for our advancement and solicitous for our every care. It is only in knowing that, in leaving us, you go to fields of greater labour and more extended influence, advancing both yourself and your fellowmen, we are consoled in the thought of parting.

That you may in some small way remember us, we feel that we should express our appreciation of your good work during the year you laboured among us, and we ask you to accept this small token, with best wishes for a merry Christmass and a happy New Year.

Signed on behalf of the school:

Ernest Kitney,
Edith Huston,
Maud Shaughnessy,
Lloyd Johnston.

Miss Inglis responded briefly, thanking the pupils for the pleasant surprise she had received and for the kind sentiments expressed in the address.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eastachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

DAIRY SHOW PROPOSAL GIVES RISE TO BIG SCHEME

Building a New Market Building on the Square and Turn Other Into Stores

COMMITTEE TO MEET THE SECRETARY

The proposal to establish a dairy show here under the auspices of the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Association, came up before the Finance Committee of the City Council last night, and the scheme was thoroughly discussed. The suggestion made that the Market Square should be covered over with a building to be used for the purpose of the show, was the principal subject discussed. The changes include the erection of a new building on the Market Square, the turning of the present market building into offices, the converting of the arcade into stores, and the removal of the hay and wood market to some others quarters.

The chairman, in introducing the matter, read the letter from Mr. Cowan, secretary of the committee appointed by the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Association, inquiring as to the accommmadation offered here.

Ald. Elliott asked how much a building would cost.

Ald. Mason said that he did not know, but the suggestion had been made that, in view of the fact that the Market Square was in need of of a covering, the square should be covered by a building, the bottom part of which could be used for rigs, while the upper part could be made use of for the selling of butter, etc. This building could be used for exhibition purposes Ald.. Mason pointed out the importance of having a good market. The farmers, he said, were the backbone of Canada.

If the exhibition could be secured for Peterborough, it might be possible to get grants from the Government.

The matter was thoroughly discussed by the meeting as to whether the Market Square was too valuable to be converted to such a purpose. It was decided to let the matter stand until the committee meets Mr. Cowan, the secretary of the Dairymen's committee, who is coming here for that purpose on December 31.

Waterfront Account

Ald. Mason said that $1,500 had been spent in filling in the waterfront, and asked whether the Council should try to take it on this year's revenue or hold it over and issue debentures to pay for the cost. The account was not as large as it would be, as the Government had made a further appropriation, which would mean that more filling would have to be done.

It was decided to let the account stand until the work was completed.

The City Engineer was instructed to calculate the interest at four per cent., and sinking at 3 1-2 per cent. for sewers and cement walks.

DEPUTY MARKET CLERK EXPLAINS

There Was No Kick Coming From the Farmers, He Says—Ratepayer's Unfounded Statements

To The Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In yesterday's issue of the Daily Review there appeared an article, signed by "Ratepayer," in reference to the local mmarkets, stating how "farmers were turned out into the cold," and how, "they were forced to go elsewhere with their produce." That letter was certainly written by a ratepayer who is most ignorant with regard to market affairs, and, to partly hide his ignorance, he refuses to subscribe his name to the empty document.

Now, Mr. Editor, the first thing I wish to contradict is the statement that Mr. Moore rented the market building for the purpose for which it is being used this week. Nor did any of the other Trust Commissioners have anything to do with the renting of the building. The market hall as has always been the custom, was leased by myself for the Yuletide Kermiss. The clerk in past years has always been given the privilege of renting the hall to whomsoever he saw fit It was only a couple of years ago that I rented the chairs and tables of the market hall to the Mayor and city officials of Peterborough when the lift lock was formally opened. Surely these prominent officials of the city knew what they were doing, and yet they did not ask the Trust Commissioners for permission to use the furniture before coming to me.

The writer also asked, "Is it any wonder the market tolls are decreasing?" on account of the market being leased "this week." I might inform this one-sided ratepayer that up to last Wednesday I did not receive over $2 in tolls from all the Wednesday markets of the past year. That altogether I have not received $5 from all the Wednesday markets of the year. Also I might inform him that the Yuletide Kermiss is practically the only event which has been held there during the year on a Wednesday.

As any right-minded ratepayer knows, the market doors are closed every day in the week except Wednesdays and Saturdays, yet the writer speaks of "all this week the market was closed to farmers."

There was plenty of room on Wednesday last for all farmers at the market, and not a single kick except that of "Ratepayer's" have I heard. The Kermiss closes to-night, and the whole market is therefore available for to-morrow, yet "Ratepayer" wears off a great deal of his surplus energy in writing a lengthy article to the Review, in a foundationless complaint.

The Wednesday market is a thing of the past, and Ratepayer would soon discover that if he were market clerk for a year. The writer also spoke of the farmers going elsewhere to market. This I say, and can prove, is not the case. Last Saturday there were farmers here from Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, Havelock and numerous other places within a radius of thirty miles. The reasons for the decrease in tolls are the large number of corner groceries throughout the city which deal in all sorts of green goods, etc., and which buy directly from the farmers, and not because they are refused admittance to the market hall.

If Mr. Ratepayer would move around a little and absorb some more wisdom in connection with such affairs, he might be in a better position to express himself intelligently.

(Signed.)

Deputy Market Clerk Lee.

FIRST REGULAR MEETING IN NEW CLUB ROOMS

Young Men of George Street Methodist Church Will Meet To-night

The young men of the George street Methodist church will hold their first regular meeting in their new club rooms to-night at eight o'clock. The young men have a cosy set of rooms now, and they should show their appreciation of them by making good use of every opportunity of assembling there.

Those in charge intend to make the meetings as interesting as possible and it is hoped that there will be a full attendance to-night. A very good programme has been prepared for to-night consisting of the recital of his late experiences in Cobalt by Mr. O. A. Kidd. This gentleman has just returned from this wonderful mining centre and and has seen all that is doing there. His address should be very interesting, dealing as it does, with a town which is in the limelight of the eyes of the mining and financial world.

Mr. W. C. Ackerman will likewise give an account of the Canadian West with which he is thoroughly acquainted. Mr. E. M. Best has also promised to give a talk on Canadian sports. Being an all-round athlete himself Mr. Best is well qualified to deal with this subject.

Another interesting feature will be a recital of a selection from the works of Dr. Drummond. There will also be a musical programme, and the result should be a good entertainment.

Yule Tide Cermiss Closes This Evening After a Successful Sale

The Yuletide Kermiss will come to a close this evening, after a most successful five days' sale. The crowds have been large all through and the sales have been correspondingly big, with the result that the financial outcome will be large.

There was a very large crowd present last evening, when the T.A.S. band under the leadership of Bandmaster Miller made their first public appearance since reorganization.

An enjoyable programme was rendered and the band's playing was most creditable. Their music was greatly appreciated.

This evening's events will wind up the Kermiss. The grand drawing for the eighteen beautiful articles offered, will take place at 9 o'clock, and no doubt there will be a big crowd present for this feature.

THE USUAL DAILY GRIND AT THE POLICE COURT

Fred McGee Was Discharged—Robert Duncan Fined—Likewise a Drunk

Magistrate Dumble had a few more cases to deal with this morning. The first was that of Robt. Duncan, who was charged with dumping ashes on the eastern end of Charlotte street contrary to the bylaw. He had been continually warned to dump in the regular place but paid no attention to this advice. The Magistrate imposed a fine of $2 and costs, amounting to $4.75.

Judgment was given by His Worship in the case of Mr. Fred McGee who was charged with assaulting P. C. Newhall. He reviewed the various evidences that had been given, and decided that no case had been made against Mr. McGee. He accordingly discharged him.

Another man was found helplessly drunk on Simcoe street yesterday. He hails from Burleigh Falls and went on a big toot which was his undoing. He was taxed the usual $2.

PRESENTATION MADE TO MISS OULTON

Honoured by Her Pupils and Also by Fellow Teachers

This morning two presentations were made to Miss Oulton, teacher of the Junior Third Class at the Central School, who is leaving the city to take a position in Toronto. Miss Oulton has been a member of the teaching staff of the Central School for three years and has always been most popular with both teachers and pupils alike.

This morning Miss Jessie Cressman on behalf of the class, presented Miss Oulton with a very handsome silver fern dish, while the following address was read by Leighton Anderson:—

Dear Miss Oulton.—We, the members of your class, have learned with regret that you are about to leave us, and take this opportunity of expressing to you our deep appreciation of your faithful work in our school. You have spared no pains in the exercise of your duties, have always been bright and cheerful in the school room, and besides have endeavoured to prepare us morally for the battle of life.

We ask you to accept this gift as a token of our esteem and good will, and wish you every success in the city to which you are going.

With best wishes for Christmas and the New Year.

Peterborough, Dec. 21st, 1906.

Miss Oulton made a suitable reply.

From The Teachers

Later the teachers assembled in Miss Nicholl's room where Miss Nicholls, on behalf of the teachers, presented Miss Oulton with a beautiful signet ring while an eulogistic address was read by Miss Jenkins.

Another Presentation

During the morning Miss Nicholls was presented with a handsome leather purse by the boys of her class.

Music and Drama

THE HAND OF MAN

The presentation of The Hand of Man at the Grand last night, was one of the best efforts the Morris-Thurston Company have put on this week. The large audience present appreciated the play, and the work of the players. The company is making a garrison finish the last three nights being promised treats. To-night the Mysterious Mr. Raffles, famed in story and robbery, will be the production. It should draw a large crowd as it has always been a great drawing card. The specialties were of the usual high order. A complete change will be given to-night.

THE GIRL FROM THE RANCH

From the moment that the Girl from the Ranch, enters the barracks yard at old Fort Rossiter, the intense interest in George Heath's drama is awakened, and is never allowed to desert again during the entire four acts of the play. The story is founded on facts and is one of the most dramatic of current stage productions, and takes high rank with the recent New York successes, where it was recently produced, and not one adverse criticism was recorded against it; and this is a play that very few plays can lay to their credit. In the play will appear one of the strongest of touring companies, composed of actors of sterling worth, picked from the best ranks of the profession. The scenery, costumes, properties and electrical effects are all correct, and are carried entire by the company. The play will be seen at the Grand opera house next Tuesday, December 25th — Christmas Day — matinee and night; matinee at 3 p.m. and night at 8 o'clock.

CLOSING ENTERTAINMENTS IN THE CITY SCHOOLS

Pupils Are Now Enjoying Their Christmas Holidays

The scholars of the various city schools are wearing "the wont come off" smile, as the schools closed down for the Christmas holidays to-day. In nearly all the rooms, some form of Christmas entertainment took place this morning and the Christmas spirit was everywhere displayed.

Miss Oulton and Miss Carey's classes in the Central School united and held a most enjoyable concert, the programme being composed of songs, recitations, marches, etc. Both teachers treated their classes to refreshments.

In the Central Kindergarten, each of the little folks brought some article to be given to the Children's Aid Society for poor children and the result was a large hamper of good things.

CLOSING EXERCISES AT EAST WARD SCHOOL

Pupils of Miss Rush Gave an Interesting Exhibition of the Year's Work

SANTA CLAUS DISTRIBUTED PRESENTS

The greatest event in the school year for the kindergarten pupils of the East City Public School, was, perhaps, the closing exercises and the Christmas tree, with the appearance of their old friend, Santa Claus. This interesting event took place yesterday afternoon in the presence of the parents and friends of the pupils in the building devoted to kindergarten work. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. J. G. Lewis and Rev. A. Bright were also present, and Mr. D. Walker, Public School Inspector.

Perhaps there is nothing that awakens in grown men and women kind and gentle feeling more than innocent children. The childish pranks, the baby actions of the little tots who are unspoiled by too fond parents, the generous impulses that arise from the child's natural instinct, the pleasure with which they greet simple happenings which are meaningless to adults, are sources of an indescribable feeling akin to happiness in men and women. The days of childhood are, alas! all too short, and therefore we think that when the little tots are interested in simple things they should receive plenty of them. They will become wise soon enough, therefore their childhood joys should be made as many as possible. It is this innocent amusement they enjoy from the smallest articles that appeals to the developed mind and awakens in him a love for children. As Longfellow said:

"Ah! what would the world be to us,
If the children were no more?
We should dread the desert behind us,
Worse than the dark before."

Undoubtedly it is a feeling similar to this that instills in Miss Rush and her associates, Misses Dunne and Hall, the interest they show in the welfare of the children. The success which has attended their efforts was complimented yesterday by the scores that were present. No wonder is that the children should be so far developed for their tender years, and it speaks highly for the attention that must have been given them by their teachers during the past year.

The School Room

The kindergarten room was prettily decorated with evergreens and maple leaves in their scar and yellow, and the general colour scheme was in green and red. The green walls formed a splendid background for mottoes written in red, such as "A Merry Christmas," and others. Red candles and Oriental lanterns with streamers prepared by the children added to the adornments of the room.

Mr. Walker welcomed the parents on behalf of the children, also stating that, with the closing of the day's programme, the school was closed until January 7, when he hopes to see a number of new faces in the class.

The programme was then begun, and though it was a rather long one it was most interesting. The blacksmith's song deserves special mention, as well as the Dolly song. The flag drill was exceedingly well executed, the youngsters going through the marches with precision. The greatest event was the arrival of Santa Claus, who distributed presents from a large tree. The presents were made by the children, who gave them to their parents. Mr. Saunders, of the Bank of Commerce, made a good-natured Santa Claus. The following is a synopsis of the programme:

1.—Prayer.
2.—Little Lambs.
3.—God is Love.
4.—Greeting.
5.—Merry Christmas.
Autumn—6.—Said the Leaves upon the branches,
7.—Raindrops.
8.—Jack Frost.
9.—Snow Flakes.
Trade Songs—10.—Thanksgiving.
11.—Farmer and the Miller.
12.—Blacksmith.
13.—Nursery Rhymes.
14.—Ball for Baby.
15.—Dolly Song.
16.—Tea Kettle.
17.—Tickety Tock.
18.—Finger Lullaby.
Christmas Songs—19.—Santa Claus.
20.—White Stars.
21.—The Snowflakes.
22.—Once a Little Baby.
March.
Occupations.
Arrival of Santa Claus.

Good Bye.
God Save the King.

Miss Hall made a splendid pianiste.

ANOTHER PRESENTATION WAS MADE TO MR. JEFFRIES

The Pupils of the Collegiate Institute Gave Him Some Splendid Books

WAS GIVEN AN EULOGISTIC ADDRESS

A very interesting event took place in the Y.M.C.A. Hall yesterday afternoon, when the pupils of the Collegiate Institute made a presentation to Mr. John Jeffries, who to-day severed his connection with the school after having been for seventeen years a member of the teaching staff of the Institute. Mr. Jeffries has always been most popular with the pupils of the Collegiate Institute, and his departure from the city is regretted by them as well as by the many citizens to whom Mr. Jeffries was well and favourably known.

School was dismissed at 3.30 o'clock and the pupils and teachers assembled in the Y.M.C.A., where the principal, Mr. Fessenden, occupied the chair. Messrs. Charles Dean and Allan Munro, on behalf of the pupils, presented Mr. Jeffries with a most beautiful illustrated set of Dickens, Tennyson and Scott, in Oxford India paper, limp leather, with full gilt backs and tops, numbering in all thirty-two volumes, and Miss Mattie Robertson read the following address:

Dear Mr. Jeffries,—

We have met this afternoon to perform a task which can never fail to be trying to both teacher and pupils. To say farewell to one who has for some years been associated with the school, and has played such an important part in its life, that we have come to consider him, so to speak, as one of the main stays of the school, as one who has gained the appreciation of the students as a teacher, is a matter which makes everyone feel serious.

It was under your guidance and direction that both the literary society and the school paper were instituted. We recognize the tireless energy which you then exhibited in giving these a firm footing, and we understand the work required in surmounting obstacles in such cases, and we hope the great favour with which these two important features of our school life have been received, will in some measure repay you.

The ever helpful interest you have shown in the society, has without doubt done a great deal to establish its success. As you are doubtless aware it is difficult to express our sentiments, strong as they may be, and we hope that our offering may in a measure speak for us.

Our best wishes for your future life are not unmixed with envy of the fortunate pupils of the Jarvis street Collegiate Institute, Toronto.

Signed on behalf off the school.

Mr. Jeffries made a feeling reply, expressing his regret at severing his connection with the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, and referring to the very pleasant relations that had had always existed between himself and the pupils. Principal Fessenden also made an eulogistic reference to Mr. Jeffries.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES

Men and Women Unanimous About It.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. NEW FIRE ALARM WAS AGAIN SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

Fire, Water and Light Committee Went Over the Tenders Again Last Night

SOME MORE INFORMATION IS WANTED

The new fire alarm system gave the Fire, Water and Light Committee material for a meeting last night when the tenders were again taken up and discussed. The committee is not much further ahead as a result, as after a thorough discussion of the different systems and tenders it was decided to take no action until further information had been gained from the parties tendering. However the committee decided to make use of the rights which they have over the lines of the Machine Telephone Company and it is likely that the city will purchase a system from one of the parties tendering and have the installation done under the supervision of the electrical superintendent to be appointed by the city.

Mr. F. D. McKay, the manager of the Machine Telephone Company was present and talked over the matter with the members of the committee. He explained that his company had no fire alarm system, and therefore had not put a tender in, but they were in first-class position to undertake the maintenance of the system after its installation. They were willing to turn over to the city their wires at cost. These covered nearly all their pole lines. They had had the fire alarm in view when they had put up their wires. He advised the city to buy the material from one of the parties tendering, and have the work of installation done under the supervision of the electrical engineer who is to be appointed by the city.

After the figures of the different tenders had been carefully gone into once more, it was decided to write to those sending in tenders to get further information as to the offers. On motion of Ald. Mason seconded by Ald. Ball, the city clerk was authorized to do this.

The members present were Ald. Johnston, chairman; Ald. Mason, Graham, Elliott and Ball.

FORMER RESIDENT OF THIS COUNTY IS DEAD

Late Mr. Hugh Kelly, Who Passed Away in Pelham, Minn., Was Born in Peterborough County

HE WAS A PIONEER OF PELHAM

A former resident of Peterborough county passed away recently in Perham, Minn., in the person of Mr. Hugh Kelly, whose death is recorded in the Perham Enterprise of a recent date in the following terms:—

Hugh Kelly, a respected pioneer resident of this community, died last evening at the age of 54 years, after a brief illness from pneumonia. The news of his death will bring sadness to a host of friends who knew and esteemed him for his enterprising spirit, his rugged honesty and sterling worth.

Hugh Kelly was born and raised in Peterborough county, Ontario. When a young man he went to Winnipeg, where he remained for a year or two. From there he came to Perham, 25 years ago, and purchased a large tract of land on the outskirts of the village, where he lived until five years ago when he sold the old homestead and purchased his present farm, a half mile distant.

Last spring he decided to establish a cattle ranch in the Canadian Northwest and he and his eldest son, John, went to Daysland, Alberta, and took up claims. While there he was stricken with Bright's disease of the kidneys and was obliged to return home for treatment. His condition was quite serious for a time but he improved during the fall and was nearly as strong as usual during the past month. While out driving during the first of the week he contracted a cold and pneumonia developed with fatal results.

Mr. Kelly was twice married. His first wife was Miss Bridget Bridgeman, who died some 10 years ago, leaving four children. He subsequently married Miss Bertha Pierrard, who, with two children, survives him. He was a kind and affectionate husband and father, and his widow and orphans have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

KNOX CHURCH RINK FORMALLY OPENED

A Splendid Sheet of Ice in the South End —A Large Number Out Last Night

The rink that has been prepared by the members of Knox church, was thrown open to the public last night. This might have occurred a few days previously, but the management was determined that there should be no source of dissatisfaction, especially on account of poor ice, accordingly they had a fine sheet ready last night. They have installed a large number of 32 candle power lamps, which is a great improvement over the two arc lights which were used last winter. The dressing rooms have been renovated, and are now comfortable and suitable for their purpose.

Early in the evening there was a good number of skaters on the ice, and this was gradually increased. The ice was without a flaw, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number that were out. Knox church rink should enjoy increased prosperity this season, since All Saints' rink has been abandoned. If the ice is maintained at the same quality as that of last night the rink should be widely patronized. It is a good sized rink, and very suitable for hockey practice.

All communications should be made to the caretaker or the secretary, Mr. Lang.

QUALITY is our watchword. We have a full supply for Christmas, of the very best in Pineapples, Tomatoes, Cauliflowers, Celery, Florida Oranges, Grape Fruit Figs, Table Raisins, Spanish Grapes, Shell Oysters, etc., etc. Also beautiful Holly for which we are making only a very small charge. HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW ILL IN WINNIPEG

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun Left for That City This Afternoon on That Account

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun left for Winnipeg this afternoon on account of the illness of his brother-in-law, Dr. J. R. Jones. Three weeks ago Dr. Jones was thrown from his cutter and since that time has suffered from the serious shock then sustained. While the doctors in attendance pronounce his case serious, but not critical, they have suggested that Mr. Dennistoun should go to Winnipeg for the purpose of assisting Mrs. Jones in what appears to be a prolonged illness.

This year we have an unusually large assortment of

GRAFTON'S WINDOW-WINNERS BRING BIG BUSINESS

The Magic Effect of Well Displayed Goods Clearly Demonstrated

The two expansive Christmas show windows in Messrs. Grafton & Company's clothing store, George street, challenge the admiration of the crowds that pass this busy thoroughfare. The artistic effects produced reflect special credit on the expert taste and skill of the window dressers of the firm, and by compelling the admiration of the looker have resulted powerfully in influencing large crowds of buyers.

The special features of the south window is an exhibit of gentlemen's high-class holiday neckwear, and fine furnishings. The touch of the tasteful hand has made them look like dreams of delight to the good dresser, and presents them as gifts calculated to give daily pleasure. But the most catchy feature is represented by an old Virginian log cabin, with door and window, through through which may be seen the figure of a darky enjoying his siesta, while a Spaniard at the window performs on a mandolin. From the top of the chimney Santa Claus is seen, climbing out over the snow-covered roof of the cabin, while, perched in a tree a monkey takes in the situation and is waiting for his stocking to be filled. Mr. A. W. Good is the designer and dresser of the window.

In the north window a very fine display is made of Grafton's fashionable, form-fitting coats and overcoats. The genius and imagination of Mr. Freeland, the dresser, has also developed a happy holiday hit, in the beautiful design of a large Christmas bell covered with material of a white chiffon nature, and garnished with smilax, ivy and holly. White frosted lights drop from the rim of the bell and a strong red light under the lace, answers for the tongue. A bellman, with rope in hand, stands ready to peel the chimes. With a pretty white box-pleating effect for a background, the glisten of sprinkled diamond dust, and rows of red lights at the back, this window presents a pretty picture.

White & Gillespie's Table Delicacies

—Like all other things in their excellent stock of groceries, White & Gillespie's table raisins, figs, dates, oranges, nuts, cranberries, Malaga grapes, etc., are fit for the best tables. Women are coming in swarms for them filling their Christmas hampers.

EMPLOYEES OF GRAND OPERA HOUSE WERE BANQUETTED

A Pleasant Evening Provided by Mr. R. H. Bradburn—Programme Was An Informal One

A PRESENTATION TO THE MANAGER

Among the many enjoyable social events of last night was the banquet given by Mr. R. H. Bradburn, proprietor of the Grand opera house, to his employees. An interesting feature of the delightful function was a presentation made to Mr. Bradburn of a beautiful gold locket by his employees. The banquet was held in McCallum's palm parlours at the conclusion of the Morris-Thurston production at the Grand. It was attended by thirty-seven of Manager Bradburn's staff, who gathered around the festive board shortly after 11 o'clock, and enjoyed th many good things prepared by the genial host, Mr. McCallum.

After supper an informal programme of songs, speeches, orchestra music, etc., was presented by many of the young artists, carrying the memories back to the comic operas, the melodramas and the mysterious Fays, which have appeared ed during the past year at Peterborough's prominent theatre. Indeed, many of the young men appeared to be possessed of great versatility, and there is no doubt some of them will be seen before the footlights in reality in the near future.

During the evening numerous expressions of appreciation were heard in reference to the delightful evening which the manager of the Grand had so generously provided for his employees.

The Programme

Mr. R. M. Beach, a member of the orchestra, occupied a seat at the head of the table, and acted as toastmaster and chairman, and proved himself to be master of the occasion. After the King had been honoured, Mr. H. Humbers delighted the gathering by singing that old favourite song of Gingerbread Man fame, "John Dough," to mandolin accompaniment.

Mr. Johnston, in a brief address, called attention to the excellent theatre in Peterborough, and thanked Mr. Bradburn for his kindness.

Mr. J. W. Richards next gave a humorous song, accompanying himself on the mandolin. This number was well received, and Mr. Richards generously responded to an encore. The next toast was that to the press which was responded to by the representatives present.

The toast to the manager was greeted by general applause and was responded to briefly by Mr. Bradburn. Following this the orchestra of the Grand gave several selections from various comic operas, which were received with much pleasure. Mr. Galvin next gave a step dance, which was followed by a song by Mr. Buchanan.

Mr. H. Pearson, stage manager, was then called upon and responded in a brief but humorous address. A whistling solo by Mr. Bruce McAndrew was another enjoyable event, after which the toast to "Mine Host McCallum," which was responded to by Mr. McCallum.

The Presentation

The interesting feature of the evening was now reached — the presentation of a beautiful gold locket to Mr. R. H. Bradburn, accompanied by an address. Inscribed on the locket were the manager's initials.

The following address was read by Mr. J. W. Richards, the treasurer:

To Mr. W. H. Bradburn, manager of Grand Opera House:

We, the employees of the Grand opera house, of Peterborough, take this opportune occasion of expressing our deep gratitude to you for the many kindnesses we have experienced since coming under your employ. We appreciate fully the generosity you have shown in the provision for us of the enjoyable evening which is not yet an event of the past. It has always been a pleasure to us to be associated with you, whether in the performance of our duties or not, and we hope that this general good feeling shall continue to exist in the future.

As a link to bind our memories together we desire you to accept this small token of the esteem in which you are held by us, and not in any way do we consider it as a recompense for the many favours you have shown us while we have been under your employ. Hoping that your future years may be as bright and successful as the past has been, we wish you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Signed on behalf of the Grand opera house employees.

J. W. RICHARDS.

Mr. Bradburn responded, thanking the company for their kind consideration of him. The enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of God Save the King.

CEMENT COMPANY'S SETTLEMENT IS $500

For Death of Employee of Rosen Lake Cement Company, Whose Fatal Accident Occurred in the Company's Works

THE ESTATE WILL RECEIVE $500

The terrible death of a young man named Liscombe, who was almost burnt alive by the explosion of coal dust at the Raven Lake Portland Cement Company's works last May, is recalled by a settlement of a law suit arrived at a day or two ago.

It will be remembered he was an oiler in the works, and while in the performance of his duty he went into one of the rooms where a large amount of coal dust had accumulated. While oiling the machinery with one hand he carried in his other hand a suspended electric light. The wire in some way got caught in the machinery. The spark following the breaking of the wire caused an instantaneous explosion of coal dust. He jumped out of an upstairs window to escape the flames, but only lived a few hours.

The settlement is represented by the payment of $500 to the estate of the deceased.

THE NEW RAILWAYS NOT UNMIXED GOOD

Lake Front Towns Now Feel that Three Railways May Not be as Good for Them as They Now Have

T WILL RESULT IN NEW TOWNS

The people of the towns along the lake front have been clamouring for years, and now they are likely to have two, but another trouble looms up, and they are beginning to believe that they would be better off without the new railways, for reasons set forth in a letter written by Mr. F. Howard Annes, secretary of the Whitby Board of Trade.

He refers to the fact that the route surveyed for the Canadian Northern Railway passes four miles to the north of Whitby and is also north of Oshawa, Bowmanville and Port Hope. Under this condition he believes that the new railway will be an injury rather than a benefit to the towns mentioned, because it will result in the establishment of business communities around the new stations which will divert trade from the older towns. He suggests that the towns he mentions should make a united effort to ensure that the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern railways should both use the route surveyed by the Canadian aPcific line.

A HAPPY CHRISTMAS AT THE SHELTER

Children's Aid Society Caring for Boys at the Shelter—Many Families to Receive Assistance

The children at the Shelter will not be forgotten during the festive season now at hand. Very generous donations have been received and Mr. Henry, who is in charge of the Shelter, has a large supply of Christmas goods for distributions. The practice has always been to first provide for the enjoyment of the children in the Shelter and then to make up parcels which are given to those who need them in the community. There are three children under Mr. Henry's charge at present and these will be well cared for by Santa Claus. A large Oliander tree has been decorated by Mr. Henry and his wife and when seen last night it presented a very pretty sight. There were but few toys on it as they are awaiting the official visit of their old friend on Christmas eve. The rooms were becomingly adorned with evergreens. The children are anticipating many good thing on Tuesday morning and their expectations will be fulfilled.

Mr. Henry has also a large stock of candy, fruit, provisions of all kinds, toys, and clothing. Outside of the Shelter there are about seventy-five children and families that the officer will visit on Christmas eve and each one will receive a well filled basket and a parcel of clothing. The work that the Children's Aid Society is doing is a very great one and worthy of public support. The officer, Mr. Geo. Cochrane, is in touch with most cases of destitution and citizens wishing to assist in relieving want and distress, couldn't do better than giving their donations to him. The Society takes the greatest care of the children under their charge and the good time that is being prepared for the three little boys now at the Shelter is sufficient proof of this.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

XMAS DAY

MATINEE 2 P. M. NIGHT 8 P.M.

"THE GIRL FROM THE RANCH"

A GRAND COMEDY DRAMA

"The Girl From the Ranch" is a drama built on lines similar in style of treatment to "Arizona." "The Girl of the Golden West" and "The Rose of the Rancho." It is surprising, and it is tear-compelling and laughter-forcing, and yet it is not a wild, weird, melodrama, but rather one that appeals to the senses, and because of its truthfulness to nature its art is most pronounced. It will please all kinds of people and the lawyer, the artist, the business man, the divine, the clerk or the street gamin will enjoy it equally.

Music and Drama

Mr. Wm. Morris pleased an extra large audience at the Grand last night in the role of Raffles, the amateur cracksman. The piece is a regular dollar one and though played by the Morris-Thurston at popular prices, it was well presented. This company during their stay here has endeavoured to give the public a programme of high class plays for small prices and although the houses were fairly large still they deserved to be larger. The company is well balanced and can appeal to the pathetic nature as strongly as to the humorous. The specialties were very good and add much to the performance.

To-night a strong comedy-drama will be presented "The Man from the West". By request the great "Egg Bank Robbery" will be put on by the moving pictures. A large number should witness the final production of this company before they bid Peterborough farewell.

CLERGY'S SALARIES INADEQUATE TO THEIR NEEDS

So Says His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto in His Christmas Pastoral to the Lay Members of Diocese

ANNUAL COLLECTIONS FOR CLERGY

"The stipends of our clergy are, for the most part, sadly inadequate for their actual needs: no higher than they were in the days of obscurness thirty or forty years ago; the practice, too, once common in country places, of supplementing them with gifts in kind, has largely fallen into disuse."

In these words, the Bishop of Toronto gives his reasons for the annual appeal to the layity of the Church of England on behalf of the clergy of the diocese. The Bishop's Christmas pastoral is being distributed throughout the churches of the diocese this week, and in it the writer appeals for the usual offering at the Christmas time for the clergy. In making this appeal he says, in part:

"It is a time-honoured custom in this diocese to make the Christmas festival an opportunity for the lay members of the church to present a special offering to their clergyman in recognition of his services to them as their spiritual pastor.

"It is a pleasing and appropriate way of fulfilling the sacred duty laid upon them to care for his temporal things as he cares for their spiritual things.

"In inviting you to the generous carrying out of this timely custom, there is everything in our present circumstances to give cogency to the appeal; a marked increase of wealth during the past year, which is general throughout the land; a gracious immunity from disastrous calamities which have visited other less favoured countries; a full enjoyment of the blessings of peace, of good government and of abounding means of grace; these on the one hand, and on the other, that large advance in the cost of living, the inevitable result of general prosperity, which presses so hardly on families with fixed incomes.

"I ask you, dear brethren, to weigh these considerations thoughtfully; and when you go into God's House on the glad Christmas morn to render thanks for His great gift of His Son to be born in the Saviour of the world and the Author of all blessings you so freely enjoy, give expression to your thankfulness by making your pastor such an offering as shall cheer his heart and relieve his anxieties and prove the high value in which you hold his office, his message and his ministrations."

XMAS WEEK

THURSDAY, DEC. 27

"THE HALL ROOM BOYS"

A Musical Show Company of 40

"The Hall Room Boys" made famous in the readers of Metropolitan newspapers, will appear at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night, true to life. This offering is pronounced the best of all cartoon plays. Mr. John W. Mitchell, the proprietor and manager, has selected an excellent company, headed by Tom Whiffen and William Clifton. These two clever young comedians in the role of Ferdie and Percy will demonstrate how they manage to keep up appearances in the fashionable world on a salary of $11.50 per week.

OPPOSES MEDICAL EXAMINATION IN SCHOOLS

The Medical Profesion Gets Some More Hard Raps From an "Observer," Who Quotes Eminent Authorities

A BURNED CHILD DREADS THE FIRE

Editor Examiner.

In you risaue of December 14 there appeared an article headed: "A physician loses faith in his fellow members of the healing profession."

Now, sir ,you say The Examiner is not pretending to be an authority on the subject, but a medium for the expression of opinion.

As a seeker of higher light, and advanced ideals, and a lover of the rising generation, I feel that you should at least receive thanks for even being a medium for such thoughts. And the local physician, whoever he may be, deserves credit for the light he has gained, as well as for the manly courage to express himself as he has done. Such statements as he has made are certainly the voice of one crying in the wilderness of superstition, preparing the way (for higher knowledge. And, truly, it is needed at this hour, when we find our much-learned "Board of Education" discussing the idea of having our innocent children examined in our schools daily by a medical practitioner, accompanied by a trained nurse, and if the child is found, in the opinion of the doctor, to be ill, the nurse to accompany the child to its home, and, if needs be, to the hospital. If it is true, what our local physician says, that there would be less than 25 per cent. of the deaths among the young if there was not a doctor in the world, then why in the name of common sense pay a doctor and nurse daily to make our children sick. Anyone who has had experience with children know, that to tell a child they are sick, and also to a nervous mother, you are pretty sure to have a very sick child, whereas, if they were left to nature, with their childish fear subdued, they would be all right in a few hours.

Dr. James Johnston, surgeon extraordinary to the King, says: "I declare my conscientious opinion, founded on long observation and reflection, that if there were not a single physician, surgeon, apothecary, man-midwife, chemist, druggist or drug on the face of the earth, there would be less sickness and less mortality." Also Sir John Forbes, M.D. F.R.S., Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, Londong, says: "No systematic or theoretical classification of disease or therpeutic agents ever yet promulgated, is true, or anything like the truth, and none can be adopted as a safe guidance in practice."

We could quote at length similar testimony.

If, as our local physician says, appendicitis is an illusion, in the mind of the physician and patient, then, as a remedy, why not change the imagination of both doctor and patient and save the cost of an operation, and perchance a death. Right in our midst we have sufficient evidence to arouse investigation on this subject. A well-known neighbour had a little girl suffering severely from pain in the stomach, in the past two months They had a skilful physician attending her for weeks, but there was no improvement in the case. He being an honest physician, which most of them are, said "he had done his best. He couldn't even tell what the trouble was, and they were at liberty to call another doctor." Instead of so doing, they gave the case over to a Christian Scientist, and in three or four days the child's stomach was as well as ever it was.

I am not going to discuss the merits or demerits of Christian Science, but I can assure you, with what is going on around us, that we are in an age where things are getting mixup. It is a question to be solved. Which is it, spirit or matter? When those to whom we once trusted our lives, begin to tell us that their practice is a fad, it is about time we should awake and know where we are at, and not allow our School Board to force us to leave our innocent children at the mercy of faddists, or those who imagine vain things.

A man whom I know well, in a private talk with a physician of many years' practice, asked this physician, confidentially, if what is now called appendicitis is not what we, when we were boys, called stomach ache, and for which our mothers used to give us a drink of ginger or peppermint tea, after which we would be at play in a few minutes. What was his reply? "That is just it." The same doctor related a case of a young woman he had been treating for a long time with very unsatisfactory results. One day he placed a little instrument under the patient's arm to ascertain her temperature. The mother was in the room at the time. The next day when he called, the mother said, "Oh, doctor, be sure and put that thing under her arm; she has improved ever since you tried that." "To be sure," said the doctor. That was the regular treatment afterward, and she got well. The people like to be duped.

In the light of this twentieth century I trust we shall hear no more from our Board of Education about imposing on children medical examination .The writer has suffered and paid out too much already by being compelled to obey medical laws. A burned child dreads the fire.

Thaking you in advance for space, I am sincerely yours,

OBSERVER.

HONOURED BY MEMBERS OF BIBLE CLASS

Mr. Wm. C. Switzer Was Presented With a Handsome Writing Desk

The members of Mr. Wm. C. Switzer's Bible Class at the George Street Methodist Sunday School sprung a surprise on him last night when they called in a body at his residence, 10 Weller street, to present him with a very handsome writing desk. The presentation was made by Mr. Cunningham and the following address was read by Mrs. W. J. Devins.

"Dear Mr. Switzer,—We, the members of your Bible Class, feel that we cannot allow this Christmas season to pass by without expressing to you in some tangible form our appreciation of your earnest efforts on our behalf during the past year.

As a teacher we have always found you patient and painstaking and as a friend warm and sincere. Our associations with you have always been most pleasant, and we feel profitable, as well, and we wish to intimate to you that these things are not unappreciated by us and we hope that you may be long spared to point out to us the divine truths.

We ask you to accept this writing desk not for its intrinsic value, but rather as a testimony of the high esteem in which you are held by every member of your class.

We wish you and your wife a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Mr. Switzer made a suitable reply, thanking the members of his class for their kind words and gift.

A very pleasant evening was spent. The members of the class brought refreshments with them and the event is one that will long be remembered by teacher and class as well.

"He has been in gaol, of course," Chris admitted, cheerfully.

"Then let me prophesy, and declare that he will be in gaol again. Why bring him here?"

"Because it is absolutely necessary," Chris said, boldly. "That man can help me—help us, Lord Littimer. I am not altogether what I seem. There is a scoundrel in your house compared with whom James Merritt is an innocent child. That scoundrel has blighted your life and lives of your family; he has blighted my life for years. And I am here to expose him, and I am here to right the wrong and bring back the lost happiness of us all. I cannot say more, but I implore you to let me have my own way in this matter."

"Oh!" Littimer said, darkly, "so you are masquerading here?"

"I am. I admit it. Turn me out if you like; refuse to be a party to my scheme. You may think badly of me now, probably you will think worse of me later on. But I swear to you that I am acting with the best and purest motives, and in your interest as much as my own."

"Then you are not entitled even to the name you bear?"

"No, I admit it freely. Consider, I need not have told you anything. Things cannot be any worse than they are. Let me try and make them better. Will you, will you trust me?"

Chris's voice quivered, there were tears in her eyes. With a sudden impulse Littimer laid his hands upon her shoulders and looked long and searchingly into her eyes.

"Very well," he said, with a gentle sigh. "I will trust you. As a matter of fact, I have felt that I could trust you from the first. I won't pry into your schemes, because if they are successful I shall benefit by them. And if you like to bring a carload of convicts down here, pray do so. It will only puzzle the neighbors, and drive them mad with curiosity, and I love that."

"And you'll back me up in all I say and do?" Chris asked.

"Certainly I will. On the whole, I fancy I am going to have a pleasant evening. I don't think dear Reginald will be pleased to see his friend at dinner. If any of the spoons are missing I shall hold you responsible."

Chris went off to her room well pleased with the turn of events. Brilliant audacity had succeeded where timid policy might have resulted in dismal failure. And Littimer had refrained from asking any awkward questions. From the window she could see Bell and Merritt walking up and down the terrace, the latter talking volubly and worrying at a big cigar as a dog might nuzzle at a bone. Chris saw Littimer join the other two presently and fall in with their conversation. His laugh came to the girl's ear more than once. It was quite evident that the eccentric nobleman was enjoying the ex-convict's society. But Littimer had never been fettered by conventional rules.

The dog-cart came up presently and Henson got out. He had an anxious, worried look; there was an ugly frown between his brows. He contrived to be polite as Chris emerged. He wanted to know where Littimer was.

"On the terrace, I fancy," Chris said, demurely. "I guess he is having a long chat with that parson friend of yours—the brand plucked from the burning, you know."

"Merritt," Henson said, hoarsely. "Do you mean to say that Merritt is here? And I've been looking for—I mean, I have been into Moreton Wells. Why did he come?"

Chris opened her eyes in innocent surprise.

"Why," she said, "I fetched him. I'm deeply interested in brands of that kind."

CHAPTER XXXVII.

Henson forced a smile to his face and a hand from his side as he approached Merritt and the rest. It was not until the two found themselves alone that the mask was dropped.

"You infernally insolent scoundrel," Henson said, between his teeth. "How dare you come here? You've done your work for the present, and the sooner you go back to your kennel in London the better. If I imagined that you meant any harm I'd crush you altogether."

"I didn't come on my own," Merritt whined. "So keep your 'air on. That young lady came and fetched me—regular gone on me, she is. And there's to be high jinks 'ere—a bazaar for the benefit of pore criminals as can't get no work to do. You 'eard what his lordship said. And I'm goin' to make a speech, like as I used to gull the chaplains. Lor', it's funny, ain't it?"

Henson failed to see the humor of the situation. He was uneasy and suspicious. Moreover, he was puzzled by this American girl, and he hated to be puzzled. She had social aspirations, of course; she cared nothing for decayed or reformed criminals, and this silly bazaar was only designed so that the ambitious girl could find her way into the country set. Then she would choose a husband, and nothing more would be heard of Merritt and Co. Henson had a vague notion that all American girls are on the look-out for English husbands of the titled order.

"Littimer must be mad," he muttered. "I can't understand Littimer; I can't understand anything. Which reminds me that I have a crow to pluck with you. Why didn't you do as I told you last night?"

"Did," said Merritt, curtly. "Got the picture and took it home with me."

"You liar! The picture is in the corridor at the present time."

"Liar yourself! I've got the picture on my mantel-shelf in my sitting-room rolled up as you told me to roll it up and tied with a piece of cotton. It was your own idea as the thing was to be left about casual-like as being less calculated to excite suspicion. And there it is at the present moment, and I'll take my hoath to it."

Henson fairly gasped. He had been inside that said sitting-room not two hours before, and he had not failed to notice a roll of paper on the mantelshelf. And obviously Merritt was telling the truth. And equally obviously the Rembrandt was hanging in the corridor at the present moment. Henson had solved and evolved many ingenious puzzles in his time, but this one was utterly beyond him.

"Some trick of Dr. Bell's, perhaps," Merritt suggested.

"Bell suspects nothing. He is absolutely friendly to me. He could not disguise his feelings like that. Upon my word I was never so utterly at sea before in all my life. And as for Littimer, why, he has just made a fresh will more in my favor than the old one. But I'll find out. I'll get to the bottom of this business if it costs me a fortune."

He frowned moodily at his boots; he turned the thing over in his mind until his brain was dazed and muddled. The Rembrandt had been stolen, and yet there was the Rembrandt in its place. Was anything more amazing and puzzling? And nobody else seemed in the least troubled about it. Henson was more than puzzled; deep down in his heart he was frightened.

"I must keep my eyes open," he said. "I must watch night and day. Do you suppose Miss Lee noticed anything when she called to-day?"

"Not a bit of it," said Merritt, confidently. "She came to see me; she had no eyes for anybody but your humble servant. Where did she get my address from? Why, didn't you introduce me to the lady yourself, and didn't I tell her I was staying at Moreton Wells for a time? I'm goin' to live in clover for a bit, my pippin. Cigars and champagne, wine and all the rest of it."

"I wish you were at the bottom of the sea before you came here," Henson growled. "You mind and be careful what you're doing with the champagne. They don't drink by the tumbler in the society you are in now, remember. Just one or two glasses and no more. If you take too much and let your tongue run you will find your stay here pretty short."

Apparently the hint was not lost on Merritt, for dinner found him in a chastened mood. His natural audacity was depressed by the splendor and luxury around him: the moral atmosphere held him down. There were so many knives and forks and glasses on the table, such a deal of food that was absolutely strange to him. The butler behind made him shiver. Hitherto in Merritt's investigations into great houses he had fought particularly shy of butlers and coachmen and upper servants of that kind. The butler's sniff and his cold suggestion as to hock slightly raised Merritt's combative spirit. And the champagne was poor, thin stuff after all. A jorum of gin and water, or a mug of beer, was what Merritt's soul longed for.

And what a lot of plate there was on the table and sideboard! Some of it was gold, too. Merritt's greedy professional eye appraised the collection at some hundreds of pounds—hundreds of pounds—that is, after the stuff had been disposed of. In imagination he had already drugged the butler and was stuffing the plate into his bag.

Henson said very little. He was too busily engaged in watching his confederate. He wished from the bottom of his heart now that Chris had never seen Merritt. She was smiling at him now and apparently hanging on every word. Henson had seen society ladies doing this kind of thing before with well-concealed contempt. So long as people liked to play his game for him he had no objection. But this was quite different. Merritt had warmed a little under the influence of his fifth glass of champagne, but his eye looked lovingly and longingly in the direction of a silver spirit-stand on the sideboard.

The dinner came to an end at length, to Henson's great relief, and presently the whole party wandered out to the terrace. Bell dropped behind with Chris.

"Now is your time," he whispered. "Henson dare not lose sight of Merritt before he goes to bed, and I'll keep the latter out here for a good long spell. I've muffled the striker of the telephone so that the bell will make no noise when you get your call back from Brighton, so that you must be near enough to the instrument to hear the click of the striker. Make haste."

Chris dropped back to the library and rapidly fluttered over the leaves of the "Telephone Directory." She found what she wanted at length and asked to be put on to Brighton. Then she sat down in an armchair in the darkness close under the telephone, prepared to wait patiently. She could just see the men on the terrace, could catch the dull glow red of their cigars.

Her patience was not unduly tried. At the end of a quarter of an hour the striker clicked furiously Chris reached for the receiver and lay back comfortably in her chair with the diaphragm to her ear. "Are you there?" she asked, quietly. "Is that you, Mr. Steel?"

To her great relief the answering voice was Steel's own. He seemed to be a little puzzled as to who his questioner was.

"Can't you guess?" Chris replied. "This is not the first time I have had you called. You have not forgotten 218, Brunswick Square, yet?"

Chris smiled as he heard Steel's sudden exclamation.

"So you are my fair friend whom I saw in the dark?" he said. "Yes, I recognize your voice now. You are Miss Chris—well, I won't mention the name aloud, because people might ask what a well-regulated corpse meant by rousing respectable people up at midnight. I hope you are not going to get me into trouble again."

"No, but I am going to ask your advice and assistance. I want you to be so good as to give me the plot of a story after I have told you the details. And you are to scheme the thing out at once, please, because delay is dangerous. Dr. Bell——"

"What's that? Will you tell me where you are speaking from?"

"I am at present located at Littimer Castle. Yes, Dr. Bell is here. Do you want him?"

"I should think so," Steel exclaimed "Please tell him at once that the man who was found here half dead—you know the man I mean—got up and dressed himself in the absence of the nurse and walked out of the hospital this morning. Since then he has not been seen or heard of. I have been looking up Bell everywhere. Will you tell him this at once? I'll go into your matter afterwards. Don't be afraid; I'll tell the telephone people not to cut us off till I ring. Please go at once."

The voice was urgent, not to say imperative. Chris dropped the receiver into its space and crept into the darkness of the terrace.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

Bell seemed to know by intuition that Chris required him, or perhaps he caught a glimpse of her white dress from the terrace. Anyway, he strolled leisurely in her direction.

"Something has happened?" he whispered, as he came up.

"Well, yes," Chris replied, "though I should like to know how you guessed that. I had no difficulty in getting Mr. Steel on the telephone, but he would say nothing directly he heard that you were here beyond a peremptory request that you were to be told at once that Van Sneck has gone."

"Gone!" Bell echoed, blankly. "What do you mean by that?"

"He has disappeared from the hospital at Brighton to-day. Mr. Steel thinks they were extra busy, or something of that kind. Anyway, Van Sneck got up and dressed himself and left the hospital without being observed. It seems extraordinary to me."

"And yet quite possible," Bell said, thoughtfully. "Van Sneck had practically recovered from the flesh wounds; it was the injury to his head that was the worst part. He resembled an irresponsible lunatic more than anything else. Steel wants me, of course?"

"He suggests that you should go down to Brighton without delay."

"All right, I'll make some excuse to take the first train in the morning. We've got a fine start of Henson, and that's a good thing. If Van Sneck comes within his net we shall have a deal of trouble. I had hoped to get permission to operate on Van Sneck, and relied upon him to solve the mystery. And now you had better go back to your telephone."

Chris hurried back again. A whispered word satisfied her that Steel was still at the other end.

"Dr. Bell starts as early as possible to-morrow," she said. "If you will listen carefully I will give you a brief outline of all that has happened since I have been here."

Chris proceeded to tell her story succinctly and briefly. From little sounds and signs she could tell that Steel was greatly interested. The story of the man with the thumb fascinated him. It appealed to his professional instincts.

"And what do you want to do with him?" Steel asked.

"Well, you see, I have him in my power," Chris explained. "We can get the other Rembrandt any time we like now, but that is quite a minor consideration. What I want is for Merritt to know that I can have him arrested at any time for stealing my star. It's Enid's star, as a matter of fact; but that is a detail."

"An important one, surely," Steel's voice came thin and clear. "Suppose that our dear friend chances to recognize it? . . . No, don't ring off yet."

"I'm not. Oh, you are speaking to the Exchange people. . . . Yes, yes; we shall be a long time yet. . . . Are you there? Well, Henson has never seen the star. Enid bought it just before the great trouble came, and afterwards she never had the heart to wear it."

"I understand. You want Merritt to know this?"

"Well, I do and I don't," Chris explained. "I am anxious not to frighten the man. I want to get him in my power, and I want to prove to him that it would be to his advantage for him to come over to my side. Suppose that Enid gave it out that the star had been stolen? And suppose that I could save him at the critical moment? I shouldn't mind him thinking that I had stolen the star in the first place. That is why I am asking you as a novelist to help me."

"You would have made an excellent novelist yourself," David said, admiringly. "Give me five minutes. . . . Are you there? I fancy I have it. Can't you hear me? That's better. I'll see Miss Gates the first thing in the morning and get her to go over to Longdean and see you sister. . . . Confound it, don't cut us off yet. What does it matter so long as the messages are paid for? Nobody else wants the line. Well, I may for an hour more. . . . Are you there? Very sorry; it's the fault of the Post Office people. Here is the plot in a nutshell. Your sister has lost a diamond star. She gives a minute description of it to the police.

Will be continued next Saturday.

Polly and the Mistletoe.

By OLIVE HARPER.

"WELL, Mrs. Li Hung Chang, I believe I will," said Polly Adams to a ridiculous china doll that sat on the chimney staring fixedly before her.

It was nearly midnight, and the house was still. The Christmas tree stood all decorated and with the gifts hung upon it in the library, back of the parlor, and Polly had been sitting beside the fire in her pretty yellow elderdown pajamas. Pajamas were a fad that season among all her girl friends, and Polly always, as she said, "kept right along with the procession."

Polly was tired, for she had been busy all that day. They were not rich, and so much of the running devolved upon Polly, and the three boys were home from school, and they had two visitors to remain till New Year's. One of them was Archie—it is enough to call him just "Archie." So, while Polly braided the heavy mass of rich brown hair into one long loose plait, she glanced at the mistletoe and then at the sphinxlike face of the Chinese doll as she said:

"Now, Mrs. Li Hung Chang, what shall I do? Archie loves me. I know it from a dozen—yes, a thousand—things, but he is so shy and timid. Minnie Blake is engaged, and so would I be if only Archie had the courage of a—a chipmunk," she hastily added as she thought of her bare feet and possible mice. "Now, if I could hang this mistletoe to the chandelier tonight in the excitement of seeing our gifts I could manage—I know I could—to get him under it beside me, and the boys would do the rest, and then—well, the ice would be broken. I will if you say so. Why don't you speak?"

Saying this, the dainty little beauty stamped her foot, now in its slipper, which jarred the room ever so slightly, and the doll did nod its head. Polly laughed, half startled, but with new courage. She took the night light in one hand and the bunch of mistletoe in the other, with its grappling wires, and stole downstairs to the library door and on into the parlor, not noticing that the library door had shut to with the spring lock.

Polly did not wish to awaken any member of the family, so she did not switch on the lights. Her own tiny light but made the darkness visible. It was fearsome down here all alone in the dark, so she hurried and pushed the side table over into the middle of the room under the chandelier, with the mistletoe on it, and then brought a delicate, long legged, gold painted chair, on which she climbed timidly, listening all the while for a sound.

The chandelier was high and Polly not tall, so do her best, standing on her tiptoes, she could not reach the fixture.

"I must get up on the table," she said to herself, "and I hope I'll not fall and break my neck and rouse the house."

Just as this very courageous little maiden stepped to the table with one foot, while the other was still resting on the insecure chair, there was the sound of a latchkey in the front door and then a blast of wintry wind and two voices in the hall. They were those of her oldest and most unbearable brother Fred, and the other voice belonged to Archie Steadman. It was too much for Polly. It would be awful if Fred discovered her.

She tried to step down from her insecure perch, but the treacherous ornamental chair tilted, and Polly came down suddenly, striking her head against the table. She was too frightened to feel the hurt, for the noise was great enough to startle Fred into saying:

"What's that? Burglars, I'll bet. Come on, Arch."

Saying that, Fred bounded forward and switched on the light and, seizing a heavy cane from the hatrack, sprang into the parlor. But Polly had managed to get on her feet and scamper to the library door, dropping one of her slippers as she went and leaving the lamp behind her; but, try as she might, she could not open the library door, and stood there pulling with a strength born of desperation, while Fred said:

"Burglars! Here's the light. They're after the gifts on the tree. Come on!"

With his cane swinging like an Indian club, Fred sprang into the library, while Archie, with his umbrella, followed, and both advanced upon the burglars. They could hear the rattling of the doorknob, and Fred shouted:

"You may as well give up. You're caught!"

And then the library was also flooded with light, which was reflected from a thousand gilded ornaments on the tree, and by the illumination Fred and Archie saw a miserable little figure in yellow pajamas, huddled up like a cold duckling, with one bare foot and with its head down, in the corner of the door frame as though trying to hide.

From her baby days Polly had had a queer habit of hopping from one foot to the other without moving from her place when frightened or angry. Now one slippered little foot and one pink bare one kept up the familiar hopping movement. Fred looked at the culprit a moment and then sprang forward and, seizing one shoulder and the long braid of hair, turned her around to the light, while the miserable girl covered her face with her hands. Fred laughed loud and long, saying:

"Well, I'll be jiggered if it isn't Polly!"

Archie said nothing and was trying to pretend that he did not know anything at all until he saw the tears streaming through the fingers, and then he said hotly:

"Fred, I am ashamed of you. You are not treating your sister right at all. Here, Pol—I mean Miss Adams," continued he, at the same time jerking the big maroon cover from the old fashioned square piano, to the instant destruction of two plaster ornaments. "Here, Miss Pol—Adams."

Saying this with a lordly air, he wrapped the shrinking little figure in its beneficent folds, while her heartless brother lay on the carpet in convulsions of laughter. She sobbed out:

"I—I—forgot—something—and that is why"—

"Ah, bosh! You just wanted to see if Archie had put a present on the tree for you."

"Oh, Fred; don't!" she cried, while tears trickled down her hands.

"Mr. Adams, I consider your treatment of your sister very harsh—very cruel."

"Well, I suppose she can't help being a little fool," continued Fred, laughing still.

"Sir, another such remark concerning this ang—ah, your sister—under the circumstances will sever our friendship. Pol—Miss Polly, I have your present here. I was going to give it to you tomorrow, but under the present circumstances I shall ask if you will accept it now and here, as with it you will have a protector."

With a malevolent look at Fred, Archie fumbled in all his pockets until he found a small box. Then he reached for one of Polly's wet little hands. Archie looked very imposing to Polly, and little by little her sobs ceased, and by the time he had opened the box she could see through her dimmed eyes that he had a superb solitaire ring for her—one to make the heart of any girl proud, and one in keeping with his wealth. So she even smiled a little as Archie, with one last look of defiance at Fred, placed the sparkling ring on the proper finger and then folded her in his arms proudly and with a look of ineffable happiness, though Polly did look something like a noble squaw.

ASTONISHED THE DOCTOR

Mrs. Eaton Recovering, Although Her Physician Said She Might Drop Dead at Any Time.

MRS. ROBT. EATON

"The Doctor told me I had heart disease and was liable to drop on the street at any time, says Mrs. Robt. Eaton, of Dufferin, Ont.

"My trouble began four years ago with a weak heart. I was often afraid to draw my breath, it pained me so. I was bothered with nervousness, shortness of breath dizziness, loss of appetite, smothering and sinking spells, and could not sleep.

"Sometimes a great weakness would seize me and I would have to lie down to keep from falling. My hands and feet would seem to go to sleep and a sort of numbness would come all over me and perhaps immediately after the blood would rush to my head and a series of hot flashes would envelop me.

"I took all kinds of medicines, but kept gradually growing worse until about eight weeks ago, when I began using Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill. From the start I improved, until now my appetite has returned, I can sleep well, and have no nervousness, dizziness, palpitation, faintness or any of my other troubles. They have all entirely disappeared. I feel much stronger, look better, and altogether Anti-Pill has made a new woman of me.

"I am entirely cured and cannot say too much for this wonderful remedy. I would most heartily recommend Anti-Pill to anyone suffering as I did."

Christmas With the Mokis.

The whole affair has the character of what we should call a mystery play, the dramatic action representing the fight of the sun god to return northward from his home in the mountains. Malevolent genii are trying to drag him back, while friendly divinities aid him in the struggle. He wins, of course, and comes back to Moki Land to warm the earth with his rays and to cause it to smile with fresh harvests. When those harvests are ripening in the following summer the snake god, which controls the water supply so urgently needed in that arid country, must be appeased by another ceremony specially devised for his glorification, the principal feature of which is the famous snake dance, concerning which so much has been written.—American Family Magazine.

Christmas Post Cards.

The favorite Christmas post cards have very little room for writing. The entire back of the card is covered with a "Madonna and Child" by Murillo, Raphael, or, to come to more modern times, Gabriel Max or Bouguereau. The coloring is most artistic, and these cards are quite worth framing as little works of art. Some of these Madonnas—for instance, the Raphael "Madonna of the Chair"—are framed in a wreath of glowing holly, which contrasts vividly with the colors in the Roman scarf flung over the back of the chair. Other subjects are to be had in these truly artistic post cards, notably portraits of fair women by Romney and Lely, Reynolds and Gainsborough, Greuze and Le Brun.—New York Globe.

Turkey Which Ended Long Fast.

An odd incident of the last Christmas celebration in St. Louis was the breaking of a month long fast by James Barrington, who had been in custody two and one-half years on a charge of murder. Barrington expected turkey for dinner Thanksgiving day, and when the jail rations were served minus the national bird he refused to eat and promptly went on a strike. He declined his provisions consistently until Christmas, when he got the pined for turkey.

Christmas at Yum

ON the Island of Yum, where the weather is fair
And the children are always at play,
They never have neat little stockings to wear,
So they run about barefoot all day.
And when it is Christmas and Santa Claus comes
He almost goes out of his mind
As he searches in vain for some stockings to fill
When there aren't any stockings to find.

ON the Island of Yum, by the tropical sea,
Where people live right out of doors,
They sleep in the shade of the cocoanut tree
And cook on the sand covered shores.
But when it is Christmas and Santa appears
He's sorry he made them a call,
For how can he slide down the chimneys, my dears,
When there aren't any chimneys at all?

POPCORN AND CANDLES HUNG TO A PALM.

ON the Island of Yum there are thousands of trees,
The mango and banyan and date,
So the children of Yum eat the fruit that they please
And enjoy it, it's needless to state.
But when poor old Santa comes every year
He struggles in vain to keep calm,
For popcorn and candles look awfully queer
When hung to a cocoanut palm.

IF I on the Island of Yum were to live,
The children I'd merrily teach;
I'd build 'em all chimneys, and then I would give
A nice pair of stockings to each.
And I'd send out a shipload of Christmas trees, too,
Addressed to the children by name,
And then you would see what a time there would be
When Christmas and Santa Claus came.

—Wallace Irwin in New York Globe.

THE ART OF GIVING.

Christmas Presents a Subject Demanding Serious Study.

Giving Christmas gifts is almost a science. It is certainly a study for one who really wishes to give and not distress and embarrass. No one is more helpless than the woman who receives an utterly useless and undesirable gift. She is fairly forced into falsehood and is obliged to express gratitude which she does not feel.

The woman who has a green parlor and receives a blue rug, or the woman who has a blue dining room and receives a set of doilies embroidered with purple violets, or the woman with a sallow complexion who is given a delicate pink shawl, is actually made to sin against truth. She feels, if she is of a naturally grateful and tender disposition, that she must express thanks which she does not feel. Then, ten chances to one, if it is not a struggle for her not to pass along those useless gifts next Christmas and fairly involve herself in a mesh of deceit, she goes about terrified lest by any unforeseen chance the first giver should discover the gift in the hands of the second recipient.

Often people are so deluged by useless gifts that memory fails them concerning the givers. Such mistakes are likely to occur, and petty and absurd, but no less lasting, feuds are the consequence.—Philadelphia Press.

The Romance of Mistletoe.

By the Teutons mistletoe was held sacred to Baldur, the sun god, the son of Freya, the Scandinavian Venus. In Baldur all that was beautiful, eloquent, wise and good was honored, and he was the spirit of activity, of joy and of light. Predicting his own approaching death, his mother, Freya, exacted an oath from animals, planets and minerals not to injure him. The mistletoe among the plants had been forgotten. When this was discovered by the treacherous Hoeder, the blind god of brute strength, he took a wand of it, and, being directed how to aim it, the mistletoe pierced Baldur through the heart, and he fell dead to the ground.—Boston Traveler.

Christmas Cakes.

Little cakes that will please the children either at the table or on the Christmas tree are made as follows: Bake the cakes in little patty or muffin pans and frost the tops with a white icing. Dip a small new paint brush in melted chocolate and draw a face on each. Make some crying and others laughing, the different expressions being made by the curve of the mouth line. The merest outline will be sufficient. Cut a circle of tissue paper of white or any other color liked two inches larger than the cake, pink the edge with scissors and run a thread round one inch from the edge. Put a cake in the paper, draw up the thread, and a cunning little cap is formed. The pleasure of small children will well repay the trouble of making these little cake babies.—Pittsburg Press.

Talks on Orange Meat

No. 8

(The Pure Food)

Popping Corn and Popping Wheat

Ever pop corn? Take a handful of tiny grains—heat them over the fire—and you have "about a peck" of pop-corn.

Corn is pretty nearly all carbo-hydrates, or starch. And it would take a lot of chewing to break up all the tiny cells so that the starch could be acted on by saliva in the mouth and be converted into sugars. Heat does it better than chewing.

Wheat is 75% carbohydrates. Like popcorn, the tough cell walls in wheat are broken by heat. That is why we cook the wheat in making ORANGE MEAT. It goes in huge steam cookers under 20 pounds steam pressure. Steam and moisture soften the cell tissues—the heat causes the starch to swell and burst the cells—the carbohydrates are free. That is why Dyspeptics, Rheumatics and all who can't eat "starchy" foods, may enjoy ORANGE MEAT. By adding malt, all the starch is converted into wheat sugar.

Orange Meat

Orange Meat weighs 33 more than any other package. 15c. and 25c. a package. At all grocers. Mercerized paper lining of the cartons insure Orange Meat being always fresh, crisp and clean. 15c. pkg. contains a coupon, good for premiums. 25c. size contains 2½ times as much as 15c. size. ENGLAND

About five tons of plate valued at more than 1,000,000 pounds was in use at the state banquet given by the King recently in St. George's Hall, Windsor, in honour of King Haakon of Norway, and Queen Maud. This plate is not of solid gold, as is generally supposed, but is mainly silver gilt. Were the large pieces solid gold they would be absolutely immovable. As it is, some articles require two, and even four men with the aid of a truck to transport them. The famous Emperor's service, used only for crowned heads, was on the table. Some of its epergnes weigh several hundredweight. It takes one man to carry two or three dishes or eight plates. This set also includes some handsome and heavy candelabra. Apart from these many exquisite pieces were used, of which the following were the principal: The modern rose water fountain of silver, designed by the late Prince Consort, weighing 2360 ounces; the famous Fitzwalter punch bowl; a flagon taken from the ship of the admiral of the Spanish armada, 1588; the Nautilus Cup, by Benvenuto Cellini, with shell of pearl and mountings of gold and silver; a shield from the same great artist; and the world renowned gold tiger's head from Tippoo Sahib's throne, taken at the storming of Seringapatam, in 1599.

Many thousand of people assembled on the banks of the Dee at Pontcysyllte, near Llangollen, Wales, recently to witness a number of open-air baptisms in the river. Processions from Garth, Froncysyllte, and Colt, met at Pontcysyllte, where a massive bridge spans the sacred Dee. The members gathered under a gigantic oak, and from a natural platform, amid unrivalled scenery, the Rev. Evan Williams, officiating minister, conducted an impressive preliminary service. The crowd then wended its way to the river bank, and the Rev. Evan Williams with his assistant, Deacon Barclay, clad in waterproof overalls, waded into the swollen river and selected a suitable spot. A young married woman was led into the icy waters, the temperature of which was only 38 degrees, and the officiating pastor pressed her beneath the service. She reappeared breathless and gasping and eventually gained the bank, almost in a state of collapse. Meanwhile massed choirs enthusiastically sang, "Diolch Iddo," and other revival hymns. Four plucky maidens then underwent the trying ordeal with wonderful fortitude, although they shivered perceptibly before they hurried to a neighbouring cottage to change their clothing.

After walking 120,500 miles, William Moore, an old "walking" or rural postman, has retired on a pension from the service of the post office in which he has been employed for the past forty years. He joined the postal service at 20 years of age at Malton, Yorkshire, and has served under six successive postmasterds. On his first engagement he was for a short time rural postman from Malton to Barton-le-street, then on the 11th of July, 1867, he was given the longer route from Malton to Manthorpe and Langton, which round he went daily—Sundays excepted—for 33 years, till March 17, 1900. After that he had to take the round from Malton to Great Habton, walking 16 miles a day, until the age limit has put an end to his further peregrinations for the post office. For the first 18 years of his service Moore covered 20 miles daily; for the next 15 years 18 miles per day; and for the last 6 years 16 miles per day; altogether his walks during his 40 years with the post office have extended over 226,500 miles.

A remarkable story of vicissitude was told in the Liverpool Bankruptcy Court recently by Dr. Marcus John Eustace, a surgeon, whose last practice had been in Widnes. He had practiced in Persia, East and South Africa, and in the summer of 1903 he had gone to Widnes, where he had obtained employment in a foundry as a labourer. Suffering from ague three times a week regularly he felt himself to be entirely broken down in health and unfit for practice. Moreover he appeared to think that physical labour was the best thing that he could go on with for a time. An accident happened at the works by which a man's arm was broken. The bankrupt man came forward and set the limb in such a style that when the injured man was taken to the hospital it was discovered that a practised hand had been at work. Inquiries were made with the result that the bankrupt who had worked at the foundry under an assumed name was revealed as a qualified doctor, and was encouraged to start practice.

For some hours recently a portion of Grimsby docks resembled a gypsy encampment. About one hundred and twenty five of the nomadic tribe, whose wanderings throughout the United Kingdom have attracted such attention, were saying good bye at that port. The first contingent arrived in the morning by special train from Dumfries. The gypsies numbered 79, including the small children, of whom there was a great array. On board they had coffee and sandwiches served out to them by the stewards. The swinging aboard of the caravans by means of large hydraulic cranes, was viewed with no little alarm by the chiefs of the tribes, but one by one the vehicles were placed securely side by side on the deck, and were quickly tenanted by the women and children. The party soon reconciled themselves to their new situations, and the men and elder women pulled out their short briar pipes and smoked tobacco provided by sympathetic onlookers. None were allowed to go ashore.

SCOTLAND

The small towns of Banff and Macduff, on each side of the mouth of the River Deveron, have had a windfall. Both places were enfete when it was announced that the Duke of Fife had made over to them as a free gift his mansion, Duff House, with about 140 acres of the park surrounding it, and all the stabling, gardens and lodges. The house stands practically within the town of Banff, having been gradually surrounded by the growing town. It was built between 1740 and 1745, after a design by the elder Adams. The gardens contain the ruins of the House of Airlie, in which the Duke of Cumberland lodged on his way to Culloden. Recently the Princess Royal (Duchess of Fife) and the Duke of Fife have stayed at Duff House only a few days each summer. In a letter announcing his gift, which he made in consultation with the Princess Roydal, the Duke expresses regret that they had not been able to be of greater service to the locality. No restrictions whatever are attached to the gift. The Duke's ancestor, William Duff, M.P., for Banffshire, was created Viscount Macduff in 1759.

The foundation stone of the Seaforth Sanatorium, the first of such institutions of its kind in the United Kingdom, was laid recently by Mrs. Stewart Mackenzie. The Sanatorium, to be built and endowed by Col. Stewart Mackenzie, is for the free treatment of consumptives. It consisted of two large detached blocks, to be erected on the Seaforth estate not far from Brahan Castle, the historic seat of the Seaforth Mackenzies, and about two miles from Dingwall, one of the oldest royal burghs in Scotland, whose charter dates from 1220, which recently conferred its freedom on Colonel Stewart Mackenzie and Mrs. Stewart Mackenzie, the latter being the first lady burgess of Dingwall since 1740. The front block contains accommodation for 12 patients, each having a separate room, and large rooms at the end of each wing for special cases, the whole being arranged so as to give free passage of air throughout the buildings.

A cruelty case, which the Sheriff described as an awful one, was heard at the Edinburgh Sheriff Court recently, when Mrs. Isabella Astbury, was charged with illtreating and assaulting her fourteen-year-old stepdaughter, Charlotte. The stepmother often found fault with the girl, for the way she did her work; and she repeatedly thrashed her with a rubber belt. One day while the girl was having a bath in the kitchen the stepmother came in and said she would burn her with a poker and teach her to clean the floor better. Her stepmother then put the poker into the fire, and after remaining in the parlour for three or four minutes returned and took the poker out of the fire. The girl jumped out of the bath, ran into a corner and got behind a chair, her stepmother following saying, "I'll draw it over you" which she did thirteen times, burning her on the legs, back, and arms.

It has been decided to utilize the Forth as a base for the operations of the North Sea Fleet. It was generally thought that the scheme for the development of the Forth as a naval base had been dropped, but the reason for delay was the fact that the National Defence Committee have been considering the whole question of the defences of the eastern coast. As the result of their deliberations, they recommended:—1. That Grimsby should be used as a depot for torpedo craft. 2. That a naval base shall be established on the Forth. 3. That a victuelling and coaling depot shall be established at Berwick. Much secrecy has been observed throughout the whole matter, but active steps, it is stated, are being taken to give speedy effect to the committee's recommendations.

Some figures are available which show the parlous state of the Edinburgh house-owners and house-builders. The Burgh Assessor's books show that there were 4,179 tenantless houses—a record for the capital. Nearly four-fifths are houses under £20 rent, and therefore for the most part working-class houses. The unlet property is fairly evenly distributed over the city, the Gorgie district providing the largest number of houses between £10 and £20 rents with a total of 257; while there are 403 unlet dwellings in the Merchiston ward. The total valuation of unoccupied houses is £121,251, against a total valuation for the city of £3,191,803. On all hands it is agreed that the chief cause is, as indicated previously of the large amount of property standing empty are overbuilding and want of employment.

There passed away recently in Glasgow, at the advanced age of 81, a lady who was connected with the historic past, Miss Christina Stewart Livingstone, a native of Barr, Morven. She was a second cousin of Dr. Livingstone, the African traveller, and no one who saw her brother Robert, who died some four years ago, but marked his striking resemblance to his illustrious relative. Miss Livingstone was also a great granddaughter of "Domhnull Molaoh" (Donald Livingstone,) who saved the standard of the Stewarts of Appin at Culloden. This banner was exhibited in Glasgow seven years ago at the first gathering of the Stewarts since Culloden, presided over by the gifted "Nether Lochaber."

IRELAND

An extraordinary hoax has just been perpetrated at Ballymena, County Antrim. Some time ago placards were posted throughout the neighbourhood declaring that the War Office authorities were purchasers of oats in ulimited numbers. The announcement set forth that barracks at home and abroad were overrun with rats which not only destroyed the soldiers' rations and clothing, but even attacked their boots. Half a crown a head was offered for every suitable rat, and it was announced that a War Office official would attend at the next Ballymena fair to purchase the animals. Thereupon commenced the wonderful hunt throughout the district. The rats had a lively time, and so had the small boys. Many captures were made, and in some cases hens were dispossessed to make room for the captured animals, and cellars and outhouses were filled in anticipation of fair day. Many an old lady went for a vanished pet. When the eventful day came cats took the prominent position usually occupied by pigs. Cartloads of them were driven into the town, and a sharp lookout was kept for the War Office official. There were all sorts and conditions of cats, all ages and many breeds, but the purchaser failed to put in an appearance.

Mr. J. R. Wigham, J.P., of Dublin, one of the most remarkable Irishmen of the age, died recently. By his valuable work in connection with the important question of lighthouse illumination, the late Mr. Wigham will best be remembered. His investigations and inventions earned for him world-wide distinction. When a comparatively young man he saw that the then prevailing system of lighthouse illumination was woefully defective, and he at once devoted himself to the task of endeavouring to effect an improvement. Thanks to his strenuous efforts, gas was introduced into the lighthouse at Rockabill as far back as the year 1868. Introduced purely for experimental purposes, the new light as applied to lighthouses proved an immediate success, and the Board of Irish Lights soon extended the principle to other lighthouses under their jurisdiction including the Bailey, Galey Head, Hook Head, etc. The last equipped with gas light was the Bellrock. He did not merely confine his inventive genius to the lighting question, but was also an inventor of several kinds of fog signals and airens for the benefit of mariners at sea, and these are now in general use.

A few days ago a man of aristocratic bearing made his appearance at Newton Stuart, Tyrone, and announced himself as a representative of Messrs. McAlpine and Company, railway contractors, and said that they had taken a contract for the construction of a railway between Newton Stuart and Omagh. Having secured the services of a local constable as guide, the "representative" visited the houses of unemployed labourers and engaged thirty men to begin work at 2s. 6d. a day. He then entered a saddler's shop and gave an order for four sets of harness. He intimated that he felt hungry, but added, "I have forgotten my pocketbook," whereupon the saddler handed his customer three shillings. The visitor next gave an order for four strong carts and received 10s. commission. Subsequently two farmers and horse-owners were honoured with the representative's custom. Next morning the "master" marshed his labourers to the railway station to begin work. But the stranger, recollecting an engagement at a blacksmith's forge near by, told his men to "go ahead," and he immediately vanished.

A novel inquiry was opened in Dublin recently, when a number of residents of Fairview, a residential suburb of Dublin, claimed against the Corporation of Dublin for compensation for broken sleep with injury to Fairview as a residential locality. Some time since Fairview was brought within the city area, and one of the works which the Corporation bound themselves to do was the filling in of a large piece of land and converting it into a public park. For these purposes they have been running electric tram lorries all through the night conveying rubbish and filling material, which is dumped in the "slob." The inhabitants complain that this interferes with their sleep, and also that Fairview is being injured as a quiet residential suburb, and their claims range in amoung from £100 to £900.

A curious accident occurred recently to a number of workmen who were engaged in the erection of the premises of the Irish International Exhibition at Ballsbridge, Dublin. About 100 labourers were engaged in the erection of a set of trusses to form the framework of a section of the Palace of Industries, a large section measuring some 300 feet by 160. Ten of the trusses were being placed in position a good distance from the ground, when a sudden gust of wind lifted one of them out of place, causing it to fall against the next one, with the result that the entire number lost their balance and collapsed. Five men were seriously injured.

OLD COUNTRY PEOPLE ARE RETURNING 'OME

Report Has It That Many Are Going Back to the Old Homes—Causes for This.

From the local depot of the C.P.R. it may be daily seen that there are a large number of Old Country people returning home. Almost every day there is some party or other going east to Montreal and Halifax, where they embark for the Mother Country. One of the liners that left the Canadian docks at Halifax had one of the largest passenger lists in its history. The people have either become homesick or are prosperous enough for the trip and intend to return or are tired of the country as it may not have come up to their hopes. Be it as it may, they are returning in large numbers as the railway evidences. The C.P.R. Montreal train of to-day was in two sections, owing to the heavy holiday traffic and will probably continue so during the present season.

SAFE AND SANE

In these days of inflated capitalization and wild optimism, it is worth any investor's while to study the sane business proposition which Western Oil and Coal Consolidated OFFERS to investors. One of the best opportunities for making large profits on a small investment that has come before you for a long time. The Company owns the only known oil lands in British Columbia that are on a railway. They own two wells that experts say will produce, at least, 100 barrels of oil per day. They have let a contract for drilling five more wells that are likely to be even more productive. They own 26,240 acres of oil and coal lands in Alberta and British Columbia; and there is little doubt but that within a year they will have, at least, a production of 500 barrels of oil per day on that land. Under their Charter, which is a very valuable one, being a special Act obtained from the Legislature of Alberta, they have the right to build pipe lines anywhere, and to construct tramways to carry their coal. They have successfully prospected for and obtained the oil on some of their lands, and there is every reason to believe that their other oil lands are as good, probably much better than those they have already Proved. J. W. Warren, of the Winnipeg Oil Company, says, in an official report, that he "never found anywhere a crude oil equal to the Alberta production," and he adds that "it seems impossible to doubt that the Alberta wells will in the future be able to supply the Canadian market."

WESTERN

Another oil expert, of well known standing, who has made a fortune out of oil, closes his report with the following:—

"I have no hesitancy in saying that it is the most promising oil field I have ever examined, and I have been in every oil field on this continent, excepting California and Texas, and operated both as producer and refiner in Canada, Ohio and Pennsylvania."

If you had invested $1,000 in the Home Oil Company, of California, seven years ago, your investment to-day would have been worth $375,000. If you had invested $1,000 in the Standard Oil Company twenty years ago your investment to-day would be worth $6,500,000.

The oil lands of this Company are only a part of the resources in which you have an interest when you invest in the shares of the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated. The Company owns fourteen square miles of coal lands in British Columbia, which adjoins the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's lands and through which the Great Northern Railway now passes, and fifteen square miles of coal lands in Alberta. The Company also owns a mine at Chipman Creek, in Alberta, on which it has been estimated that there are 12,000,000 tons of coal; that is to say, the Company has sixty times as much area of coal land unprospected as now constitutes the Chipman Creek mine, on which it is estimated there are 12,000,000 tons of coal.

OIL

Not one gold mine in forty has ever paid its shareholders a dollar; not one silver mine in sixty-four has ever paid to its shareholders a dividend. On the other hand, 97 per cent. of the coal mines and oil fields have been a great success, and have made their proprietors enormously wealthy. $1,000 invested in the Crow's Nest Coal Company ten years ago would be worth to you to-day $275,000. The late Robert Dunsmuir, with less than $1,000, laid the foundation on Vancouver Island for his great fortune, which it is estimated to-day is worth $41,000,000, and made it all out of coal.

Coal and oil are as necessary in the domestic economies of life as food and clothes. An eminant financier who died worth $70,000,000 said to a young man who enquired from him as to the source of his great fortune: "For certainty of profits invest in necessities." Oil and Coal are necessities. In the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated you will have an investment in two of the most profitable commodities that are produced by mining. Greater fortunes have been made in the production of these than have ever been made in any other class of mining. The Western Oil and Coal Consolidated own their properties and the titles are vested in the Company. The Company is managed by business men, who have invested largely in the Company's shares. If they are to make money for themselves they must make money for you—that is evident. In the consolidation of the various companies which are merged into the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated there was not a share of stock given to anyone for promotion. There is no one who received a share of this Company's stock without paying for it; everyone has been obliged to pay for the preferred stock the same price at which you can buy it now, but you will readily understand that when you are offered Cumulative Preferred shares bearing interest at 6 per cent., guaranteed by $367,500 worth of assets, and in addition to this you are offered a bonus of an equal number of Ordinary Shares, that you are getting an investment which is far beyond the ordinary. For this reason the Directors of the Company, who are men of business sense, feel that they cannot afford, in the interest of those who have already invested, to continue to give the bonus of share-for-share.

AND

COAL

Therefore, the bonus of share-for-share will be withdrawn after December 31st, 1906. Till then you can participate in this excellent opportunity; after that, if there are any of the 10,000 Preferred shares left, which is doubtful, the bonus will be considerably reduced, probably to over half, or withdrawn altogether. If you are a business man of ordinary business discretion, and have money to invest, you cannot make any mistake by carefully examining and investigating this proposition. The shares are selling rapidly, and it is not expected that there will be any left after the 31st of December. If you want to know more write to John N. IF YOU WERE BUYING an automobile you would want the latest improved style, or as near as you could get to it for the money you had to spend.

When offered a cheaply got up car, you would say: "I am afraid it will be too noisy and it won't ride comfortably."

You would want smoothness and noiselessness in an auto. Why don't you seek it also in your carriage? To improve it you have only to put on Dunlop Solid Rubber Tires. They will make riding more comfortable—add to the good appearance of your equipage—will stand any amount of wear on ordinary roads—will cost nothing in the end, because they pay for their cost in the wear and tear they save your rig.

You can't put Dunlop pneumatic tires on a carriage, but you can put on Dunlop Solid Rubber Tires, and they are the next best thing.

Everything in Dunlop rubber is made to preserve the credit of the name and of this trade mark.

RICH PLUM GOES TO THE CANADIANS

Over a Million Dollars Are Paid For Cobalt Lake.

SYNDICATE OF HUNDREDS

No Subscriptions For Less Than One Thousand Dollars—Offers for Kerr Lake Too Small—Big Bonus for Temiskaming Right of Way Mining Leases—Nearly $40,000 in Cash, and 25 p. c. Royalty.

Toronto, Dec. 23.—The Province of Ontario is the richer in cash for a realized asset by $1,085,000 the proceeds of the sale of Colt[illegible] mining location.

The sale was made by tender and the award went to a syndicate composed of several hundred subscribers and sponsored by Pellatt & Pellatt, Toronto; Thomas Birkett, Ottawa; Raymond Mancha, Detroit; George F. Henderson, Ottawa; D. B. Rochester, Ottawa, and Britton Osler of McCarthy, Osler & Co., Toronto.

Besides these a schedule of subscribers to the syndicate was handed to the Government. Subscribers are chiefly from the Ottawa district. The amount was $1,000 in every case except where a higher sum is indicated in the appended list.

The tender was accompanied, according to the specification, by a marked cheque for $108,500, signed by Pellatt & Pellatt, the necessary ten per cent. of the amount tendered. The balance is payable within 15 days. The Government appear to be satisfied with the result and have no doubt the transaction will be ratified.

It is stated that a higher tender, unaccompanied by a marked cheque, was received. It is even hinted that a day's grace was permitted, for the tenders were opened on Thursday and the result only declared yesterday, but somebody was not marking cheques that day.

Another informal tender, it is said, offered a partial cash deposit, and invited the Government to take out the balance in stock. Decision in this case was easy. In all five tenders were received. General satisfaction is expressed that Canadians got the plum.

Five tenders were received for Kerr Lake, but the highest, from an American source, was only $51,500, and the Government did not think it good enough.

The award was also made yesterday of the mining rights tendered for on the right-of-way of the T. & N. O. Railway, between the 90th and the 108th miles. A bonus of at least $1,000 a mile was required, the distance less three miles already leased being about fourteen miles. The tender accepted carried a cheque for $38,100 bonus, and the Government also gets 25 per cent. of the mining output. The cheque was signed by Miller, Ferguson & Hunter and T. A. Beament, Ottawa.

FRIENDS OF POLICYHOLDERS.

Association of Life Insurance Men For Uniform Practice.

New York, Dec. 22.—The first steps were taken yesterday toward the formation of an association of life insurance presidents. Broadly speaking, the purposes of the organization will be to further the interests of policyholders and to bring about a more nearly uniform practice in the conduct of life insurance business.

President Morton of the Equitable said last night that under the tentative plan the welfare of the policyholder would be the first thing considered, and next would come a better and more uniform practice generally in life insurance. Expenses were to be reduced where possible and waste eliminated. The association, he said, would publicly present its views to law-making bodies and all others wishing information on life insurance matters. There would be nothing about the proposed organization to keep from the public. It is their interest the organization was trying to serve.

REPORT ON CHURCH UNION.

Substantial Progress Appears to Have Been Made Towards Solution.

Toronto, Dec. 22.—The report of the session of the joint Presbyterian Methodist and Congregational committee on church union, which was issued last night, will unquestionably increase confidence that a solution of the numerous, difficult and delicate problems involved in the negotiations can be reached, more especially if the sympathetic and hopeful sentiment which has hitherto characterized its deliberations continues to be displayed.

The reports of the various sub-committees confirm the general consensus of opinion that substantial progress has been made.

BIG MAJORITY OF 245 FOR BILL

Deputies Carry New Religious Bill of France.

STRENGTHENS THE CABINET

Minister of Education Briand Made a Great Impression When He Declared the Government Would Never Permit Clergy to Successfully Assume the Role of Martyrs—They Beg to be Expelled.

Paris, Dec. 22.—The Government's bill, amending the separation law of 1905, was called up in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. All the members of the Cabinet were present. Some nervousness prevailed because of the attitude of the followers of ex-Premier Combes, following the incident in the Chamber Thursday night, when M. Pelletan, Radical Socialist, demanded time to discuss the report of the committee on the new bill, which drew forth a sharp reply from Premier Clemenceau regarding "friends and pretended friends."

M. BRIAND, French Minister of Education.

Many persons believed that the Combes' party was secretly ready, if the opportunity offered, to precipitate a Ministerial crisis. The Nationalists and Royalist group had decided in advance not to take part in the debate, and deposited a formal protest having fifty signatures favoring the re-establishment of the union of church and state.

Opposition Criticism.

The Opposition speakers were the first to speak, MM. Lascelles and Raiberti arguing that the least which the Government could accord the clericals was the inclusion in the new law of a distinct provision, that only priests having ecclesiastical authorisation should be allowed to conduct public worship, while ex-Premier Ribot, amid applause from the right, severely criticized the Government's "precipitate position into promising to leave the churches open for public worship and to allow a year's grace for the final devolution of church property."

Minister of Education Briand, the next speaker, declared that the Government had long foreseen the necessity for the present step. Continuing, he said: "Nevertheless we are not alarmed. The country is calm and public opinion supports our policy of moderation. Bishops, and even archbishops, are supplicating us to expel them in order that the Holy See may not suspect them of reaching an understanding with the Government.

"We know that the Vatican will refuse to abide by the law of 1905, but we will force it to keep within the law."

Carried by 413 to 168.

The Government's new religious bill carried by a vote of 413 to 168.

The supporters of the Cabinet consider that this legislation will greatly strengthen the position of the present Ministry for the continuance of the struggle with the Vatican.

The discussion of the bill was short and was confined to speeches by members of various political groups.

Minister of Education Briand made a great impression, especially by his statement that the Government never intended to close the churches, nor to interfere with the individual conscience, as this would permit the clergy to assume the attitude of being persecuted.

The Cabinet, he said, decided to retain the formality of a declaration, for holding meetings, in order not to capitulate to the Vatican, which was acting contrary to French law.

Vatican's Protest.

Rome, Dec. 22.—A note signed by the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Merry Del Val, protesting against the search of the papal nunciature at Paris, the expulsion of Mgr. Montagnini and the seizure of the secret cipher, enabling the French Government to take cognizance of the papal correspondence, and the alleged violation of the right of the Pope to correspond with Catholics all over the world, was presented to the diplomatic representatives accredited to the Vatican yesterday, together with a circular setting forth the motives of the Holy See in the action it has taken regarding the application of the law of 1905.

Officer Excommunicated.

Tours, Dec. 22.—The Archbishop of Tours yesterday publicly excommunicated a commissary of police for ordering the doors of the seminary here to be broken in as a result of the opposition of the students to the carrying out of the provisions of the law of 1905.

Will Be Repealed.

Montreal, Dec. 22.—Much satisfaction is expressed in business circles that an announcement made by Premier Gouin of Quebec that the tax on commercial travelers will be repealed at the next meeting of the Legislature.

WAS THE CHILD MURDERED?

Chief Justice Sir William Mulock Charged Strongly in the Woman's Favor—Evidence of Identification Was Very Weak—Prisoner on Being Discharged Was Re-arrested on Another Charge.

Brampton, Dec. 22.—The trial of Mrs. Carey for murder closed yesterday afternoon with a verdict of not guilty.

Mr. Godfrey, in his address to the jury, pointed out that the prosecution had entirely failed to establish the fact that any murder had been committed at all. It may have been a dead child, in fact the evidence pointed very strongly in that direction. Mr. Godfrey also emphasized the fact that beyond the evidence given by Miss Johnston identification had wholly failed.

Crown Attorney Field briefly reviewed the evidence, contending that the whole of the circumstances taken together pointed to the guilt of the accused.

After the adjournment for luncheon Chief Justice Mulock summed up very strongly in favor of the prisoner. He particularly impressed upon the jury that there were two points they had to consider, the first being was there a murder at all, did that child who was found in the Presbyterian Church shed die there from the effects of exposure? The second point was that they must be satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt that the prisoner at the bar was identical with the woman seen in Port Credit on the afternoon of March 17 last. He told the jury that they were not to consider anything about Mrs. Carey having adopted other children.

The jury retired at five minutes past three and after an absence of an hour and a half returned into court with a verdict of not guilty. The verdict appeared to receive the approbation of the chief justice.

Mrs. Carey was promptly discharged from custody, but immediately re-arrested and brought before the grand jury, who returned a true bill charging the woman with "misconduct in not taking proper care of human remains." Mrs. Carey was liberated on bail, herself in $500 and her husband furnished $200 surety.

HEAVY GUN TESTS.

Second Cruiser Squadron, Prince Louis of Battenburg Commanding, Stands at the Top—Marksmanship Good.

London, Dec. 22.—The result of the tests of gunlayers with heavy guns in the British fleet for 1906 has just been issued and shows a still higher standard of marksmanship.

The average points per man have risen from 68.2 last year to 80 this year, and it must be remembered that this test is a test of the ability of the gun captains to hit the target, and of the rest of the gun's crew that they can handle their gun smartly. The officers are not permitted to assist or interfere in any way, the test differing in this respect from the similar one carried out in the American navy.

The first fifteen ships in order of merit made over 100 points. Of these fifteen ships the first in order of merit made 124.49 points and the last 101.44 points.

In order of merit of the squadrons top place is taken by the second cruiser squadron, the Drake, (flagship of Prince Louis of Battenburg), being the first ship in the squadron. The score for this squadron averaged 98.7 points per man. The Mediterranean fleet came second, with the Formidable (Capt. Simons), as the best ship, the average points per man being 93.5. The third cruiser squadron is third in order of merit, the Carnarvon (Capt. De Robeck) being the best ship, and the points per man 90.8. The Atlantic fleet stands fourth, with the King Edward VII. (Sir Wm. May) leading, and the squadron score at 88.5 points per man.

ERINDALE POWER CO. SOLD.

Stark T. P. & L. Co. Gets the Plant For $47,500.

Toronto, Dec. 22.—The Stark Telephone, Power & Light Co. have bought the Erindale power concern for $47,500. The deal was put through yesterday by the official referee, acting for the liquidator of the York Loan.

About half the proceeds will go to the York County Loan & Savings Co., as all the bonds that were issued, with the exception of a small parcel which was pledged to a private creditor, was issued by that company.

The property consists of power basin dam, real estate, chattels, franchises and pole lines.

PREFERS THE ROPE.

Septuagenarian, Condemned to Death, Objects to Reprieve.

Regina, Sask., Dec. 22.—Condemned to be hanged in Regina jail on Jan. 18 for the murder of Barrett Henderson, the wealthy Prince Edward Islander, Josiah Gilbert strenuously objects to the efforts being made by his lawyers to secure a reprieve to life imprisonment on account of his old age. He prefers the rope to languishing in prison.

Nevertheless his lawyers are not relaxing their efforts on his behalf.

Negro Lynched By a Mob.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 22.—Henry Davis, alias Henry Chambers, colored, who committed a felonious assault on Mrs. John Field of Brownsville, five miles from Annapolis, last Friday, and who had confessed his crime, was taken from the jail here yesterday morning by a mob of about sixty masked men and lynched. He was strung up and his body riddled with bullets.

CHRIST'S RELATION TO THE MODERN CHRISTMAS IS HE STILL THE CENTRAL DOMINATING FIGURE?

Do we in Peterborough, in this the 20th century think of Christmas as the day on which to celebrate the birth of Christ, the Saviour of the world?

Is it a day of joy and gladness, because of the great fact which it is intended to celebrate, the advent into the world of the One by whose life and death its redemption was made possible?

Or, is it a day of pleasure, of giving and receiving to and from our friends, with our thoughts centred in ourselves and our own small pleasures?

Is the thought of Christ the central dominating figure in your Christmas and mine?

The statement was made to the Examiner this week that in the modern observance of Christmas the thought of Christ was being relegated to a secondary place, and that other considerations, of a more or less selfish nature were being given the first place in the hearts of the people of to-day.

With a view of learning to what extent this idea was prevalent, a letter was sent to the rector or pastor of each of the churches in the city, and to the heads of the various religious bodies represented here, pointing out the fact that a suggestion had been made that in the minds of many to-day Christ was very largely eliminated from their thoughts of Christmas, which was becoming more and more a secular holiday. This question was asked:—

"What relation does Christ bear to Christmas as expressed in the modern and prevalent secular observance of the day and season?"

In response a number of replies were received, and the opinions expressed by those who replied are given to Examiner readers to-day. Some of those to whom letters were sent did not respond, the extra work incidental to Christmas time probably making it impossible for them to give the time.

The prevailing opinion as expressed by those who were written to and who replied, is that while perhaps there is no outward expression of the appreciation of true significance of the day, so far as many persons are concerned, they are unconsciously, it may be, influenced by thoughts of its import, and that its spirit permeates the whole world wherever the day is celebrated.

These opinions are interesting, and, on the whole evidence an optimistic spirit, which, for the sake of the spread of the Christian spirit, it is to be hoped, is indicative of the actual conditions.

CHRIST THE SOURCE OF CHRISTMAS BENEFACTIONS CHRISTMAS HAPPINESS

Christmas the Festival of the Home and Christ the Dominating Figure in the Celebration of the Day.

"What relation does Christ bear to Christmas as expressed in the modern and prevalent secular observance of the day and season?"

I believe that Christ is still the dominating Figure of Christmas-tide celebrations.

With multitudes He visibly occupies the foremost place, the Recipient of their joyful worship and the recognized Source of Christmas inspirations, Christmas benefactions and Christmas happiness.

In the case of other multitudes, the figure of the Christ-child may be in the background of the picture, the outlines of His form being indistinctly discerned and not definitely acknowledged, but nevertheless the influence of Christ is strongly felt and largely shapes the forms of Christmas celebrations.

Thus it becomes the festival of the home because the Lord Jesus then entered and consecrated earthly home life. The Father's Christmas Gift prompts our gifts. It is Children's Day, being the Birthday of the Christ-child. The Saviour's coming among the poor causes our love to flow forth at this time towards the Father's needy and lonely children. And Christmas merriment is a reflection of what comes from One who loves to see His children happy and Who gives us all things richly to enjoy. Yes, men may lose the vision to be obscured, and concentrate attention more on themselves than on Christ when celebrating His own Birthday, but they cannot escape the Christian influences radiating at this season in all directions, and probably would not desire to do so.

J. C. DAVIDSON.

MORE PERSONALITY IN CELEBRATION OF THE DAY IS NOW NEEDED

Gift-Giving is Truly Christian and is an Evidence of the Proper Appreciation of the Day's Memory to the World

1. There is too much sacredness attached to the day, and not enough to the person of Christ Himself. There is no certainty that the 25th of December is the date of our Saviour's birth. Many of the best Bible chronologists believe it to belong to an earlier date. Both the time and place seem to have been kept in the secret counsels of God lest men should worship the thing rather then the Person. The observance of special days and seasons belongs more particularly to the Old Testament times. Such observances have passed away with the fuller light of the substance itself. (See Gal. iv., 10-11.)

2. The presentation of gifts is purely Christian, provided the giver has first given himself to Christ in full obedience, and then offers his gift to Christ as an act of worship, or, at least, out of love to Christ. Christ was God's love gift to the world. The wise men worshipped the Child with gifts. We demonstrate the principles of Christianity by our gifts to Him. Better than the common exchange of gifts would be a real sacrifice to the poor, or to the spread of the gospel in heathen lands. Luke, xiv., 12-14.

3. Feasting is a very common means of carnal indulgence during Christmas-tide. How Christ can be honoured by the very intemperate and harmful indulgence in the long list of delicacies is difficult to comprehend. Too much attention is directed to the gratification of self instead of the honour of the Christ.

4. Music is most appropriate as an expression of joy over the advent of the Saviour. An angelic choir heralded His coming. Christmas carols are honouring to Christ, provided they are sung by consecrated lips, for the glory of Christ, and not the applause of men.

5. The introduction of Santa Claus is the worst feature of our Christmas celebration, and most dishonouring to Christ. More monumental story-telling goes on about Christmas time than at any other season of the year. To many innocent, sweet children, Santa Claus, the prince of the nursery demigod, is the central figure in their horizon. Everything about Christmas is associated with him. He is portrayed with such a vividness and solemnity to the child's mind that he is almost an object of worship to millions. No human trust is so simple, absolute and unquestioning as that of a little child. Every word the father or mother says about him must be equally true with that about Jesus. The sacred, truthful story of Jesus, and the silly lies about Santa Claus are received upon the same basis of credulity. Consequently, the discovery of the fabrications about the one would shock the faith in the other. This was illustrated by a tiny girl who confronted her Sunday school superintendent a few years ago with questions about Santa Claus. The superintendent, being too conscientious to take advantage of the child's credulity, explained how that there was no such person, when the little girl with wondering eyes, eagerly inquired: "Is it all a lie about Jesus, too?"

6. The message of Christmas is that of "Peace." Christ was born a King. To Him every knee must bow, and every tongue confess that He is Lord to the glory of God. Only those who make Him King over their lives can celebrate, in any true sense, His advent.

7. The practical lesson to be drawn from the advent of Christ is not connected with the time and place or circumstance of His coming to Bethlehem, but in His being born now into the heart of every truly penitent believer who will bow the knee to His sovereignty. Every such one, and only such, can partake of the peace and joy which attended His advent to this earth. And all such will know something of that power whereby He will yet establish His peaceful reign over the entire earth. And instead of enjoying them for a single day or season, they will enjoy them unceasingly.

A. E. STEUERNAGEL.

DIRECT RELATIONSHIP THOUGH TO MANY IT MAY BE UNCONSCIOUS

Many Evidences of Connecting Links Between World and Christ, as Evidenced at This the Christmas Time

The suggestion that the modern observance of Christmas eliminates Christ may be true if the keeping of the festival is looked at superficially. But a closer examination reveals an intimate and direct relation to Christ, although men may be unconscious of it. Notice the good will so characteristic of the season. The very pivot of Christ's birth, work, teaching, death and intercession is love. And the season of "Good will towards men," and he delights in allowing his tenderer feelings to manifest themselves.

The sympathy which is displayed at this season is another connecting link with Christ. The unfortunate of all kinds, the poor, the sick, the imprisoned, all feel in some practical way that they have the sympathy of their fellow-men. A sympathy which finds expression in kindly, tender acts. What is this but following the steps of Him "who went about doing good?"

The practice of giving, so prevalent at this season, is another indication of its relation to Christ, because it is nothing less than a realization of His teaching that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

Loving, sympathizing and giving is being "like Christ."

CHRIST THE INSPIRATION OF CHRISTMAS GIVING; EXPLANATION OF JOY

In Spite of Possible Apparent Lack of Appreciation of Significance of the Day —Christ's Birthday Makes All Happy

In reply to your question, I would say it is very evident that in many hearts and homes Christ does not bear any direct conscious relation to the modern manner of celebrating Christmas. These are the hearts and homes where God is not, in all their so exalting to our natures, and so expressive of our Father's love! To such hearts and homes, the giving of gifts and the home joy are symbolical of even far more glorious realities. Little may be said directly on religious matters; the religious exercises in such a home may be few and simple, but the hallowing consciousness through all the day and delights is of Jesus. To such the Christmas yields an ineffably sweeter fragrance and beauty than to others.

In any case, Christ stands as the inspirer of what harmless Christmas giving and innocent Christmas joy

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY

No mother hath yet known how big with destiny was her baby's cradle, and so it was that many years ago a young woman bore a son and knew not he was a king. The glory of her motherhood bowed her on the roadside one night and the baby, by the divine right of innocence, first reigned in a manger.

The nation rejoiced not at the king's birth, for a certain dread power held the kingdom; but an elect few amongst the hill folk and the men of learning saw a portent and knew that he who should redeem the peoples had come.

As the child increased in stature he was apprenticed to a carpenter, but the blood of kings ran in his veins and he had strange thoughts at his work. As he learned the history of his people he seemed not to be learning but remembering what he already knew, and so he hastened far before the letter to the principle, the blood of the kings of old stirring him to the task of redeeming the people.

He thought it all out in the little hill town of Nazareth. He saw how the kings of his line had failed; how the kingdoms had fallen. He saw that even the firmly seated Caesar did not really rule. He determined that when he set up his kingdom it should have no end. Yes one saw he would be love. He did what is counted a most absurd thing—he loved men. He loved them that cursed him and entreated God for them that despitefully used him. He did not love the curses nor the spite; these to him were the delirium of the fever of life, the ravings of the loved child gone insane—but how he loved the stricken one still! Greater love had no man than the king in that he lay down his life for those who loved him not, so the king made himself the first subject of the kingdom of love, knowing that one day "One would crown him king far in the spiritual city."

Once he stood before one who was king by force and claimed his spiritual kingship—and they crucified him!

Only those who have lived can really die and it is the honour of the grave that makes the cradle memorable. The greatness of the king's sacrifice made the king's cross his throne and made his rough manger-cradle a beautiful heritage of memory. Beneath the great world altars you will find a grave, and such graves always hark back to unforgotten cradles.

And thus it came to pass that the world cared to remember the king's birthday—remembered it for the king's sake at the beginning, and then merged it with a heathen saturnalia.

The king's birthday was admitted to the world's calendar because it was one more excuse for feasting, as the sabbath of our nation—Memorial day—is a day of baseball and picnics. Christmas is accepted just as christianity is accepted—as a pleasant thing. The stock-manipulator appreciates the christian sentiment that looks abhorrence at the thief who steals his silver but to steal the nation's wheat for practicable" when it commands him plate, but christianity becomes "him-30 days, nor persuade men to "invest" in what is financed to profitably fail. There is little more thought of the king in the Christmas festivity than in the age's christianity.

As I look into the stores and listen to the people plan I am struck by the absence of any remark about the king.

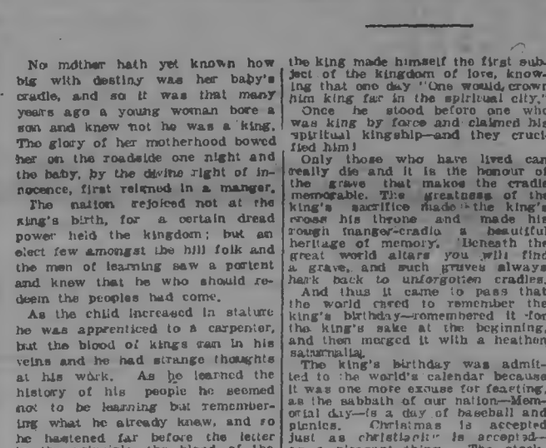
The twenty-fifth of this month appears to celebrate the nativity of dolls or turkeys—which, I have not been able to make out. In the saturnalia of the Romans, held at the same time of the year, they feasted, too, and exchanged little effigies called dolls and other trinkets. All the year they kept woollen shackles about the ankles of Saturn to detain him, but for the saturnalia they loosed these bonds. Do we, too, let the king leave us at Christmas? Are pale Mary and her child, for whom "there was no room at the inn", thrust from our homes to the stable again? Give answer—is Christmas for Kris Kringle or the Christ king?

Perhaps the reason the king is left out of our feasting is that he has few subjects here. It was taught by those who acknowledged the king's rule that there was a mystical secret imparted citizens by which they made sure of their citizenship. The birth of the king in Bethlehem was of immeasurable benefit to the world, but it was taught that he must again be mystically born in each soul before the new citizenship could be fully accomplished. Maybe those who thus know him fitly honour his birthday.

I know I am not pessimistic and I hope not assertive, for the king may view this matter very differently. No! No I am not advocating a funeral Christmas, but a return to the birthday spirit, to a gladness that the king is born. Gloria in Excelsis Deo Unto us a child is born! Unto us a son is given! The government shall be upon his shoulder! Wonderful Counsellor! The Prince of Peace! That's the birthday thrill.

Maybe our Christmas is all right. Maybe we can improve it. As I write there are loving preparations for the day going on about me. Upstairs are two sleeping babies whose birthdays are glad days in the house, and a glad day for them is the king's birthday, too, and although on that day they may not hear nor understand anything about the king, I think those little love-made gifts will be as frankincense and myrrh to him for it was he who said that inasmuch as one gave a good gift to any of his little ones it was given unto him.

W. J. C.



REV. WM. MAJOR

ahead amid the obstructions and difficulties of life, and when he allows the feeling to come to the surface in some kind deed he feels a little ashamed of it, and would rather that people knew nothing about it. But at Christmastide this disappears, his feelings have greater freedom. It is men are not ashamed to admit at Christmas time that they have some traces of this feeling. At other times, however, the feeling is not so pronounced—indeed we feel a little suspicious that the man who wears his heart on his sleeve has some ulterior object. From one Christmas to another the ordinary man is absorbed in pushing thoughts. In such cases, the observance of Christmas takes on no religious significance. It is nothing but a social custom to feast, give, receive and rejoice on that day. Notwithstanding the lack in such a Christmas celebration, Christmas is to such persons and families the gladdest and best day of the year—the "home-day," the day of family re-unions, the day of utter abandonment to joy and friendly expression.

But there are many persons and families to whom Christmas means much more. Underneath and pervading all the family joy is the tender, reverent, joyful consciousness of the Christ. Who is God, the Father's Great Gift to His erring children—born.

A Gift so necessary for our good, there may be. He is the explanation of all the tenderness and joy we see and experience in the world. And the basis on which He brings about the joy and unselfishness of our Christmas celebrations is His historical advent, about 2,000 years ago, with all it suggests to us of His earthly life, His death, His resurrection. Where there is no knowledge of Christ and His work for us there is no Christmas.

RECOGNIZED CHRISTMAS CHARACTERISTICS POINT TO A TRUE CONCEPTION

Of the Proper Spirit of the Day and Season—Christ Has a Direct Relation to the Joy Incidental to the Day

"What relation does Christ bear to Christmas, as expressed in the modern and prevalent secular observance of the day and season?"

The prevalent and modern observance of the Christmas season is the direct and spontaneous outcome of the birth of Christ into this world.

The bestowment of gifts, the cheer and sunshine that invades the abodes of poverty and gloom, the ringing of bells, and the peals of merry laughter, and the hilarious joy the wide world over, can be traced back to the true source—the manger cradle of the infant Christ.

Jesus was God's greatest gift to the world, it was the subject of the apostle's highest note of praise, viz, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift."

MATERIAL CONSIDERATIONS OUTWEIGH THOUGHTS OF CHRIST AT CHRISTMAS

House of God Does Not Reach Hearts to Extent That It Should—No Echo in Many Hearts to Message of Peace

In reply to your inquiry "What relation does Christ bear to Christmas, as expressed in the modern and prevalent secular observance of the day and season?" I would make the following observations:—

1. Not what he ought to bear. For, with the majority of people Christ appears to have very little to do with Christmas. The care of preparing the turkey and plum-pudding, and make ready a great feast for the "stomach" seems to have stronger claims upon some people than to go to church and worship Christ. The kitchen preparations are sufficient excuse to many people to stay away from the House of God on Christmas Day. It is the worship of self, the gratification of bodily wants which characterize the modern observance of Christmas Day.

2. The transcendant love of God manifested by the giving of His son for the sins of the world, does not reach the breasts of even professing Christians to the extent that it should; the message of peace and good will on earth does not find an echo in many hearts. If it did people would love each other better; they would forgive and bury wrongs and ill-feelings, and because they do it in only such a small proportion, proves that the realities of the Christian religion do not enter the practical life, though they may be there in sentiment. Must we not admit that after all the Holy Christmas season has become a certain play on the stage which must be played well to the satisfaction and entertainment of the human race. But "where is the Son of God in the whole proceedings?"

PRESS HAS INFLUENCE IN INSPIRING PROPER OBSERVATION OF DAY

Universal Spirit of Generosity Evidence of Popular Conception of the Proper Significance of the Day

I am sure that all Christian people have a proper regard for the Christmas season, as accentuating the advent of Jesus Christ, and do not forget its message — "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

Never was there a time in the world's history, when the daily press and the publishing houses, put forth more effort and expense to emphasize, in artistic fashion, the glory, beauty and value of the advent of Christ. When you consider the constituency of all the publications, printed and circulated in every country, you can have some conception of the extent to which the thought and recognition of the Christ have rooted themselves in the heart of humanity.

Then consider the musical talent of continents centred on this period of the year, and it is seen that the most sublime and inspiring music deals with the advent of Christ, in the carols, anthems and oratorios, that have carried hearers into ecstacies of joy and appreciation. There are many who respond, "Let us adore Him."

It is to be regretted that through selfishness and greed many make the season a time of weariness, labour and debauch. To such Christ is not in their thoughts; but I would be very slow to charge disloyalty to Christ to all who enjoy a Christmas dinner, in the many family re-unions that can only take place in this time of year. There is just as much danger in worshipping the manger at Bethlehem, as there is in worshipping the carcase of a goose or turkey, if our eyes are blinded to the fact that the birthday of it was the imitation of a great life for men that must be lived all the days.

The inspired prophet put it tersely when he said: "Is it such a fast that I have chosen? A day for a man to inflict his soul? Is it to bow down his head as a bulrush, and to spread sackcloth and ashes under him? Wilt thou call this a fast, and an acceptable day to the Lord?"

"Is not this the fast that I have chosen? to loose the bonds of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke?

"Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? When thou seest the naked that thou cover him, and that thou hide not thyself from thy own flesh. Then shalt thy light break forth as the morning, etc."—Isa. 58, 5-8.

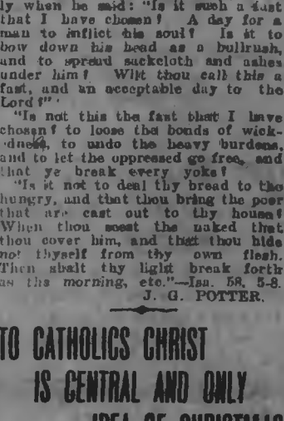
TO CATHOLICS CHRIST IS CENTRAL AND ONLY IDEA OF CHRISTMAS

Every Able Bodied Catholic will Attend at Least One Sacrifice of the Mass on that Day Says Rev. Father McColl

In answering this question: "What relation does Christ bear to Christmas as expressed in the modern and prevalent observance of the day and season?" I give you the manner in which we Catholics celebrate Christmas, by naming the order of our services on that day. Similar services are held by Catholics throughout the world.

Considering that every Catholic who is physically able will attend at least one celebration of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, and that the great majority of our people receive Holy Communion on that day, proves conclusively that, so far as Catholics are concerned, the Saviour is not only the central and prevailing idea, but the only idea of the celebration.

On Christmas Day, the following



REV. FATHER McCOLL

will be the order of religious services at St. Peter's Cathedral:

1. A Solemn High Mass will be sung at 5.30 a.m.

2. This High Mass will be followed immediately by a Low Mass, at the begining of and during which, Holy Communion will be given, but not during the first Mass.

3. There will be another Low Mass at 8 a.m., and the Children's Mass at 9.15 a.m., at each of which Holy Communion may be received at the usual time.

4. At 10.30 a.m. His Lordship the Bishop will celebrate Solemn Pontifical High Mass, during which he will give the Papal benediction.

5. Pontifical Vespers will be sung by His Lordship at 7 p.m.

6. Sermons will be preached at 8 a.m. and 10.30 a.m. Masses and at Vespers.

Mr. O'Connell Made No Apology To Police Magistrate Dumble

Lawyer Who Was Arrested at Instance of Magistrate for Alleged Remark that the Court was "Impertinent" Makes a Statement

DID NOT RETRACT OR APOLOGIZE

Mr. Dennistoun, who Effected a Restoration of Peace Supplements Mr. O'Connell's Statement by a Recital of Fact So Far as He Was Concerned

In connection with the incident in the police court on Thursday when, for what he considered contempt of court, Police Magistrate Dumble ordered Mr. D. O'Connell arrested, the latter has issued a statement to the press, setting forth his position in the matter, and reviewing the circumstances of the case.

A section of the press, both in the city, and outside, made a mis-statement of the facts, in reporting that Mr. O'Connell offered an apology to the Magistrate before he was allowed his liberty, and this, too is fully dealt with in the statement issued by the defending lawyer, who also furnished a statement from Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, through whose efforts a restoration of peace was effected, by his action in communicating to the Magistrate the position of Mr. O'Connell.

The statement, as furnished the press by Mr. O'Connell is as follows:—

Mr. Dumble having volunteered a statement to the press concerning the incident which occurred in his court Thursday morning in which I was concerned, and that statement not being entirely complete, demands some explanation from me. So that the affair may be properly understood, it is necessary to state the case in which I was engaged from the beginning.

The Circumstances

I was called by telephone at my house after twelve o'clock on Tuesday night and requested to appear at the police court on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, in the interest of a young man, who about twelve o'clock on Tuesday night had been arrested. The person so instructing me, being a friend of the accused. I appeared at the police court on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, without having an opportunity of consulting my client, or obtaining from him any statement of his defence. I had been informed by his friend who retained me, that there was a number of witnesses in the case and that some of them were commercial travellers, and had left town and it would not be possible to obtain their attendance for a few days.

Wanted Adjournment

When the case was called by the Magistrate, I requested, on behalf of my client, an adjournment, as I had not had an opportunity of consulting with him and receiving the necessary instructions for his defence. The Magistrate then informed me that he would adjourn the case until the following morning, and I replied that I would like to have it adjourned for a week as I was informed that some of the witnesses were commercial travellers, and their attendance could not be procured by the following morning. Without further discussion he capriciously insisted upon the evidence for the prosecution being taken forthwith, and stated that he would adjourn the defence until the following morning, notwithstanding the fact that he had been already informed that it was impossible to obtain what I considered necessary and material witnesses in the interest of the accused.

Concluded Efforts Were Unavailing

He thus proceeded to dispose of this case against this young man, who by his judgment Friday morning, has been pronounced innocent. Under these circumstances I came to the conclusion that my efforts on behalf of the defendant would be unavailing and I withdrew from the court room, (an act not being without precedent in the same court from similar causes) and the case for the prosecution proceeded in my absence, and in the absence of any counsel for the defence; the defendant also being examined. Upon this being done the case was adjourned until Thursday morning for further defence, and the accused and his friends strongly urged me to proceed with the defence and continue in the case until the conclusion thereof, which at their solicitation I consented to do.

Disparaged Evidence

On Thursday morning the defence was continued and a very large number of witnesses was called in the said defence, including to my own personal knowledge, some most respectable citizens, whose integrity and credibility are above suspicion. Dur-

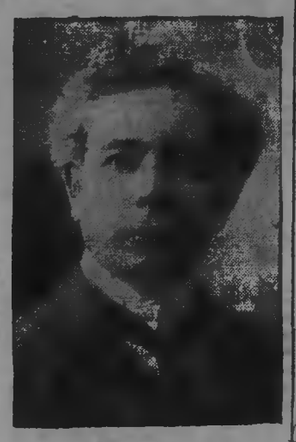
PRINCIPALS IN THE INTERESTING POLICE COURT INCIDENT IN CITY

POLICE MAGISTRATE DUMBLE



MR. D. O'CONNELL

Arrested For Interfering With Police; Two Others In Row at Police Station

A Fight Occured in Hotel Yard—Police Were Doing Duty When A Stranger Interfered--Combatants Go Free, The Other Was Arrested

DRUNKS THE CAUSE OF A DISTURBANCE AT POLICE STATION

With the great crowd of strangers in the city to-day, there was a corresponding increase in the number of rowdies. The fun commenced in the vicinity of the Peterborough House, when two drunks got into a fight. The police were called and P. C. Newhall was immediately on the spot, and in doing his duty he was interfered with by another man. The policeman tooted his whistle, and P. C. McGinty was soon to his assistance. They did not arrest the two combatants but took the man who was resisting the law and placed him in the cells.

Another Scene

Of course a crowd followed the police, and at the station another act took place. Two men, their names were not obtained, were also intoxicated, and they undertood to clean out the police, so it seems, and tried to force themselves upon the police in the station. Well, when anyone is so anxious for a row as to go to the station and try conclusions with the force, the Chief is never reluctant. Although general law and order seemed to be hanging by a thread, the police soon straightened things, and arrested the men. There are now three of them behind the bars.

And Still Another

Things were fairly straightened out when another call from another hotel came and P.C. McGinty and P. C. Adams were despatchjed to the scene of the new trouble. However, there was nothing doing, and the police had not to exert themselves a second time.

Such was just a part of the day's jubilee; there were undoubtedly other happenings, but they were not brought to light.

Funeral To-day

—The funeral of the late William Buteman took place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from Hellegheim's undertaking establishment, to the Little Lake cemetery.

SAFETY GATES AT G. T. R. STATION BEING REPAIRED

Castings Were Brought From Allandale — In Commission Next Week

The Grand Trunk have a couple of men at work removing the castings of the gate at the corner of Charlotte and Bethune streets which were broken by a street car last Saturday evening. New castings were secured from Allandale and towards the beginning of next week will probably be installed. The gates will again be in commission by the end of the week.

A JOINT INSTALLATION EARLY IN JANUARY

Court Stanley and Court Queen Alexandra Will Instal New Officers

Court Stanley A. O. F., met last night in the Sons of England Hall. There was a good turn out of the members. Bro. Hanwell, C. R., presided, and four candidates were initiated into the mysteries of Forestry, and four propositions were received for membership. Considerable business was transacted for the welfare of the order. At the next regular meeting, on Jan. 8th, a joint installation of the newly-elected officers of Court Stanley, No. 7680, and Queen Alexandra Circle, No. 136, will take place, after which refreshments will be served, and a choice programme given. A large attendance of the members is requested to be present of both courts.

VAGRANT MOTHER DEMANDED HER CHILD FROM CHILDREN'S SHELTER BUT THE REQUEST WAS REFUSED

Left Her Husband In Haliburton Because He Drank, She Stated, and Has Been Living with a Man in This City Since

HER STATEMENTS NOT CREDITED

The officials of the Children's Aid Society were a little taxed last night to known just what to do with a little child at the Shelter, who was demanded by its vagrant mother. They, however, after questioning the woman were of the opinion that her system of living was not conducive to morality, and her request was refused by Mr. Cochrane.

The woman who says her name is Mrs. Ashley states that she left her husband—a section man on the I. B. and O. railway at Tory Hill, Haliburton county—on account of his inebriety. She arrived in the city on Nov. 10th, and last Monday came to the Shelter with her four-year-old boy and left him there.

Wanted Her Son

Last night she again came to the Shelter and demanded her child, stating she was going back to her husband in Haliburton. After questioning her closely concerning her actions during the week, the officials would not allow her to take the child and discredited her stories. From her own statements, she was picked up on the street the other night by some man and taken to his home, where she had remained until yesterday.

A Stagnant Memory

Her memory appeared to be most defective. She could not remember the name of the man she stayed with, and neither could she recollect the street he resided on. She said she had received a letter from her husband, asking her to return to her home. She could not produce it however, as it had been thrown away she stated.

From these and other stories which apparently were mere fabrications, the agent of the Shelter refused to allow the little boy to leave the Shelter until an investigation was made. Mrs. Ashley left the city on one of the evening trains last night, presumably for her home. Her actions while here did not appear to be very commendable and for this reason the Society refused her request.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CONCERT AT WESTWOOD

An interesting event was held in the town hall at Westwood last night, it being the occasion of the annual entertainment of the Presbyterian church of that village. The programme consisted of musical and literary numbers and proved to be very interesting. The soloists from a distance were Miss Margaret Bryce and Miss Mabel Harrison, of Keene and Mr. Ruthven MacDonald of Toronto.

GREATEST CHRISTMAS SATURDAY IN THE HISTORY OF THE CITY IS BEING EXPERIENCED HERE TO-DAY

More People in the City and Greater Volume of Business Being Done Than On Any One Day in the City's History

A GREAT MECCA FOR SHOPPERS

To-day is "Christmas Saturday," and it is the greatest Christmas Saturday in the history of Peterborough. Never before has the Saturday preceding the holiday seen such a crowd of shoppers as has been experienced to-day.

From early morning the roads leading into the city were thronged, and by 8 o'clock some of the hotel stables were so filled that it was impossible to secure accommodation in them. From all parts of the county, as far as fifty miles north, shoppers were in the city to-day, the good weather and the excellent sleighing inducing those who, had the conditions been less favourable, would have remained at home or preferred visiting some of the villages, to take the long journey and come to the city where they could have a wider selection to choose from.

Train Crowded

All the local trains running into the city this morning were taxed to their utmost capacity, the G. T. R. train from Port Hope being so crowded that it had to be stopped below the diamond for some time in order to give the conductors time to collect the tickets. The Belleville local as well as the C. P. R. train from the east, was also filled.

The merchants are too busy to-day to talk to newspaper men, but a few were coaxed into giving a minute to tell of the business they were doing. They were all well satisfied, apparently. One of the largest merchants said that his business to-day up to noon had been far beyond his expectations, and he had been looking for big things, too. The buying spirit, which, during the week, has not been evidenced as clearly as many would like, has been thoroughly aroused, and it is with difficulty that all the customers can be accommodated at many of the stores.

This day will go down into history as the day on which the biggest Saturday's business in the memory of every merchant, has been done.

There will be few, if any, complaints to-night after the day's sales have been counted up.

FORT WILLIAM GETS INDUSTRIES BUT THEY REGRET LOSING THE COATES BIG CARPET FACTORY

"Fort William is getting its share of new industries, and there is no fear for the future. The city is in a dominating position — its claims cannot be overlooked by manufacturers looking for locations,—and with its power facilities and transportation advantages should get its full share of all industries catering to the western trade", said Mr. R. G. McCulish, managing editor of the Fort William Daily Herald, to the Examiner to-day.

Mr. McCulish, with Mrs. McCulish, is in the city for a few days visiting friends, and called on the Examiner to-day. The thriving city in which he lives, is, according to Mr. McCulish, experiencing a degree of prosperity which is quite satisfactory to its citizens.

The G.T.P. will, in the spring, commence active operations on the constructions on the terminals, which will be located in that city. Other construction work on new industries which will operate in the city will ensure a busy season's work for the city.

The completion of the power plant, at the Kakabeka Falls with a capacity of 50,000 horse power and the facilities for its transmission to the city an accomplished fact, will serve as a stimulus to the city from an industrial standpoint, and the expectations are that one of the immediate results will be the decision of a number of power using industries to locate their works there.

The city has no adopted policy of dealing with new industries, but in the past fixed assessment at a nominal sum or exemption, with free site have usually been the inducements offered to desirable industries. There is, however, Mr. McCulish states, a growing tendency on the part of the citizens to discontinue offering any of these inducements, the feeling prevailing that the natural advantages of the city should be sufficient to induce manufacturers to locate there.

The failure of the city to land the Coates Carpet works, which are coming to Peterborough, was a sore blow to the citizens, who had believed that it had been definitely settled that the works were going there.

Rome, Dec., 22. — The Pope speaking to some of his Cardinals, after his advent sermon, said: "The French Government seems to understand that certain conditions are not acceptable to us, because they are inadmissable with the organization of the church. ORDINATION TO THE PRIESTHOOD AT ST. PETER'S

Mr. Michael O'Learly, of Douro, will be Elevated to High Order in Interesting Ceremony at St. Peter's Cathedral To-morrow

HIS LORDSHIP THE BISHOP TO OFFICIATE

At St. Peter's Cathedral to-morrow morning, at 10.30 Mass, the ordination to the priesthood of Mr. Michael O'Leary, son of the late John O'Leary, of Douro, will take place, with the ceremony incidental to such an event. The ordination will be performed by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, who will be assisted in the ceremony by Rev. Father O'Leary, parish priest of Galway, brother of the candidate for ordination, and the cathedral clergy.

The young man who will, to-morrow, be elevated to the priesthood, has been studying in preparation for his high office, in the Grand Seminary, Montreal, where he has shown much aptitude in his studies, and is considered a very promising young man, and one who will do credit to the order of which he is about to become a member.

After his ordination he will be attached, for the meantime, to the staff of the cathedral here.

MR. L. M. WATSON IS TRANSFERRED TO BERLIN

His Removal From the City will be Severe Loss to the Hockey Team

Mr. L. M. Watson, of the Savings Department of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce this morning received notice of his transference to the Berlin branch of that bank. He will leave on Wednesday to take up his new duties. The removal of Mr. Watson from the city will be a severe loss to the hockey team as he was counted upon to fill one of the wing positions in the vacancy caused by the absence of "Bill" Cavanah. He has been showing up strongly in practice and would undoubtedly have proved a source of strength to the senior seven. Mr. Watson will also be missed in social circles. During his year's residence in Peterborough he has made a host of friends who will be sorry to learn of his departure from the city while at the same time they will unite in wishing him every success in his new position.

OBITUARY

MR. ELI SHEPHERD

A death occurred at the County Jail this morning at 7.30 o'clock, when Mr. Eli Shepherd passed away after a long illness. Deceased came to the jail some time ago, and when he was taken in he was suffering from apoplexy, which gradually increased its hold upon him. He could not talk at first and was rather feeble, and had grown worse and worse, until death released him today. The late Mr. Shepherd is supposed to have come from the neighbourhood of Warkworth or Campbellford, but as he was unable to speak it was not definitely learned. An inquest will be held to-day, at 5 o'clock, as is usual when an inmate of the jail dies. Coroner Gray will conduct the inquest. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

BARBERS' NOTICE

All Union Barber Shops will be closed all day TUESDAY, DEC. 25th, Christmas Day. — H. Gainey, Secy.

To-morrow in the majority of the city churches special Christmas music will be given, and, as will be seen by the programmes which are published to-day, the choirs have made special efforts to make the day's services, at least, so far as the music is concerned, bright and attractive, appropriate to the day and its spirit.

Peterborough church choirs have a reputation for rendering good music, and, judging by the preparations made for to-morrow, the reputation gained by their work in the past will be sustained.

In the greater number of the city churches to-morrow the pulpits will be occupied by the pastors or rectors, exceptions being made in the case of Mark Street Methodist Church, in which Rev. J. Thom, B.A., of Toronto, a former pastor to the church, will preach Sunday school anniversary sermons, and the pastor Rev. J. G. Lewis, will go to Oshawa for the same purpose, and in the Charlotte Street Church, where, in the illness of the pastor, the pulpit will be occupied by a student from Victoria College, probably Rev. H. Brown, B. A.

WATER COMMISSIONERS AND SALARIES

"Citizen" Thinks the Present Board Should Be Kept Intact

To the Editor of the Examiner:

It appears that there is to be a contest for the office of Water Commissioner, and why there should be a change in the one body who have won everybody's praise for their skilful management no one can understand. In fact the painstaking, intelligent and prudent management of the Water Commissioners has resulted in giving us good service at lower rates, has resulted large extensions of mains and has demonstrated that in this case at any rate a public franchise has been successfully handled. The Commissioners, though well deserving, got no recompense for the years they have served. The Council, however, voted them for the coming year a small salary and at once one of the members of that body grabs at the salary and seeks to oust Mr. Moore. Is this a course that commends itself to the ratepayers? Are the men who did the hard work and proved good servants to be kicked out on the first vacancy? No more laborious and faithful servant of the public than Mr. Moore has ever held office. And now when important questions of a new dam, filtering and developing power for manufacturing is before the people why turn out the man who has carefully considered these questions. "It is not wise to swap horses when crossing a stream". If we want good men to serve the public let us treat them decently and not show such ingratitude as will make such men shun public office. To show the Water Commissioners that we appreciate their faithful and good service let us give Mr. Moore such a splendid vote as will prove that we are neither unmindful of their merits nor ungrateful.

A PRESENTATION BY THE LEAGUE OF MERCY

Sergeant-Major Mrs. Lloyd Was Given a Beautiful China Tea Set by Other Members

SURPRISED AT HER HOME LAST NIGHT

Last night about twenty-five of the members of the League of Mercy of the Salvation Army met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Lloyd, 144 Rubidge street. Sergeant Major of the League and presented her with a handsome China Tea set, accompanied by an address. The presentation was quite a surprize to Mrs. Lloyd, who was so kindly remembered for her excellent work during the past year. The labourers of the League of Mercy are very commendable and the visitation of the hospital, the jail and the Protestant Home were of frequent occurrence.

The following address was read by Mrs. H. Dafoe, the presentation being made by Mrs. J. Carr and Mrs. J. Richardson:—

To Mrs. Lloyd, Sergeant Major of the Mercy League.

Dear Sergeant Major,—We, the sisters of the League of Mercy, of this corps of the Salvation Army, have assembled at your home this evening that we may spend an hour or two with you.

In the past number of years of your Sergeant Majorship of the League of Mercy, we feel that the work of God has greatly advanced and we must say that we, as sisters, have not only learned to love you, but have also learned to love one another, which is only essential in a League of Mercy.

It certainly has meant considerable labour and self sacrifice on your part and we all know that inasmuch as you have done, it shall not pass without God's notice and reward.

We humbly beg of you to accept this slight token of our esteem and devotion toward you and at this festive season we join heartily in wishing you the compliments of the season. We trust we shall all be spared many years to labour together for the honour and Glory of God and the extension of His kingdom. May the Lord abundantly bless you and yours.

Signed,—

Mrs. J. Carr, Mrs. J. Richardson, Mrs. H. Gray, Mrs. H. Pearson, Mrs. H. Naish, Mrs. W. Northcott, Mrs. Adj. Wiggins, Mrs. T. A. Slighe, Miss R. Brown, Mrs. John French, Mrs. T. Card, Mrs. E. Sergeant, Mrs. Hepburn, Mrs. J. H. DaFoe.

"GOOD GROWING WEATHER"

Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

A good head of hair is as much a "crown of glory," for man as it is for women, notwithstanding all the poetry on the subject applied to the female sex exclusively. In the season which flies bite, the bald-headed man can sympathize with the Egyptians who were so sorely plagued on account of the children of Israel. Why not try Newbro's Herpicide? Others have been benefitted and are loud in its praise. It cleanses the scalp, kills the germ at the root of the hair and by keeping the scalp sweet, pure and wholesome, the hair is bound to grow as nature intended, regardless of the temperature. Try it and be convinced. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

OTONABEE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS WILL BE HOT

Three Candidates Out for Deputy Reeve Honours and Seven for the Council

The municipal fight in Otonabee on January 7, 1907, promises to be one of the hottest of many years. It is not probable that the Reeveship will be contested, as thus far indications point to the unanimous election of Mr. J. Fife. The fight for the office of Deputy Reeve, however, so far as can be ascertained, will be three-cornered, Messrs. Jno. Miller, W. J. Porter and Jno. Moore are candidates for the position.

Among the candidates for the Township Council will be found Messrs. Wm. Stewart, Richard Howson, Donald Cameron, J. Elmhirst and R. Humphries. It is understood that a couple of others will also stand, but their names are in the background as yet.

JACKSON PARK HAD ANOTHER BIG CROWD

Slide and Rink Were Both Thronged Last Night

There was a large crowd at Jackson Park again last night especially on the toboggan slide which was thronged with gaily clad young people all evening. The ice on the rink was in splendid condition and a large number took advantage of the opportunity to have an enjoyable skate in the open air. The weather conditions were ideal and the presence of the band added another attraction.

MERRELL & MEREDITH

OUTFITTERS TO GENTLEMEN AND THEIR SONS

THE LATEST SPORTS

HOCKEY

Peterborough will play the Marlboros in Toronto on Christmas night and should make a good showing against the Dukes, judging by the speed which they are displaying in practice. Birmingham and Tyner are about all the old Marlboro team left and there is no line of dope on the other players with the exception of McLean, who played on the defence of the Port Hope juniors last season.

* * * *

The hockey team had their best practice of the season last night when the senior forwards lined up against the defence. The pace set was fast from start to finish and the team is rounding into shape. The forwards line was composed of Morgan, centre; Whitcroft, rover; Watson, right wing; Graham, left wing. The four united well and displayed great scoring ability. The defence with Laing in goal, Glover at point and Crowley cover point however, made the forwards extend themselves to the limit. The two teams lined up as follows:—

Lang	Goal.	Deroche
Glover	Point.	——
Crowley	Cover Point.	——
——	Rover.	Whitcroft
——	Centre.	Morgan
Rose	Right Wing.	Watson
McGrath	Left Wing.	Graham
Winch

Referee—W. Breen.

* * * *

There will be a special practice of the Peterborough hockey team to-night at six o'clock sharp, when the team will be picked to play in Toronto Christmas night. The following players are requested to attend:—Crowley, Graham, Lang, Vanevery, Glover, Whitcroft, Morgan, Watson, Easton, Rose, McGrath, Winch, Myers, Ferguson, Parnell, McStravick, Long.

CURLING

The curling rink was again the scene of four exciting games last night. The ice was keen and is now in an excellent condition for the game. The names of the skips of the rink are omitted owing to only the initials of the players being placed on the board.

The other games resulted as follows:—

C. N. Brown,	8.	W. G. Ferguson,	11.
Geo. Fitzgerald,	12.	D. Cameron,	7.
C. Rutherford,	8.	J. Stanger,	12.

"RICHARD IS HIMSELF AGAIN" SO IT APPEARS

Richard McBride and Another Drunk Appeared Before the Court This Morning

Magistrate Dumble had three more cases to deal with at the police court to-day. One was that of Mr. Rich. McBride, who was found last night the worse of liquor. He said that it was merely a lone glass of brandy that upset him. The Magistrate allowed him to go. Another man went out on a tout, a rather unusual occurrance for him and wanted to fight someone on George street last night. P. C. Meharry arrested him and his finances suffered a diminution of two dollars as a result.

For Family Gatherings and Reunions, the Richmond Studio, 147 Hunter Street will be open on Christmas Day from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

CHRISTMAS AT THE LOCAL ARMY BARRACKS

A Large Tree Has Been Loaded with Presents for Juiors—Special Song Service

Christmas will be spent in a festive manner at the Salvation Army barracks. In the evening there will be a song service, entitled "Captain Nell and her Heart's Desire." The band has prepared special music, and Miss Ethel Card will give a piano selection, "From the Cape to London." After this the annual distribution of prizes will take place, when the worthy soldiers will be given rewards for regular attendance, etc. Santa Claus is also booked to appear by way of a chimney, which is now being arranged. A tree will be laden with presents for each and every member of the Junior Corps. The hall has been prettily decorated for the occasion and everything should tend to make the evening one of enjoyment.

WESTWOOD GENERAL STORE WILL SOON CHANGE HANDS

Mr. Andrew Graham, of Westwood, Otonbee, has purchased the general store of that village formerly operated by Mr. M. F. Lynch. Mr. Lynch has run a very satisfactory business there for more than four years and there is no doubt that Mr. Graham who is a young energetic man, will continue in his footsteps.

Mr. Graham made the purchase recently and will take over the business at the beginning of the New Year.

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Dec. 22. — The stock market opened quiet and without much change; traders were decidedly bearish, and claimed that there was still distribution by powerful interests. Influenced by pronounced weakness in Reading the market sold off. Phila. was a heavy buyer of Read. Labour situation is not liked, and a switchman's strike would seriously disturb hard coalers. The bank statement was hardly up to expectations and the market did not improve on the announcement.

Movement of gold in quantity from Paris to London, represents important easing in foreign money conditions. London settlements begin on Monday and the stock exchange there closes Tuesday and Wednesday.

New York Central officials say car situation should be easier in a couple of weeks.

HOW CHRISTMAS WILL BE SPENT AT ST. JOSEPH'S

The House of Providence and Hospital are Making Special Preparations for the Great Festival.

DONATIONS RECEIVED FROM PUBLIC

While Christmas is being enjoyed in the homes of all the citizens, and the young and old are made happy by the spirit of good-will that exists at this time, the inmates of the House of Providence have not been forgotten. Christmas, a word that conveys to the minds of everyone peace and happiness, will not fail to cheer the lives (for the time being) of those whom fate has placed in the House. The people of Peterborough have a large scope for their generous impulses, and from a general notice it seems that they have been especially beneficient. The Children's Aid Society has received large donations, the Kermess has been well patronized, and various charitable institutions have been well supported. The House of Providence has not been forgotten; remaining somewhat apart from the general public's vision, it has, nevertheless, received many donations of Christmas goods. There are forty-four inmates in the House of Providence at present, and Mother St. Aldegondes, the Mother Superior of the institution, with the assistance of the nuns under her charge, are providing for a pleasant time for those now in the House. Everything will be made as homelike as possible for young and old, and everyone will receive presents. There will be a Christmas tree for the children, and Santa Claus will probably have a full pack when he reaches there. The many rooms are being decorated with the customary evergreens and holly, and when finished will have a very cheerful aspect. A fine dinner will also be an important factor, and a general good time is in store. There will probably be special devotions in the chapel.

St. Joseph's Hospital

The decorations in the hospital have been eliminated this year. Mother St. Michael reports that the sisters are very busy, there being a large number of patients under their charge. The day, however, will be marked in other ways. As there are no resident patients, and friends and relatives bring presents, etc., to those who are ill, the nuns will devote their interests in other lines. Special services will be held in the chapel in the morning and evening, and excellent "spreads" provided. The arrangements in both institutions are not elaborate, but they aim at providing happiness and peace.

STOCKING FILLING AT POTVIN'S

—Merry Christmas is coming, and coming right quick. The girls and the boys all dream of St. Nick. The old folks delighted, and feeling quite young—as when they their little red stockings hung—are plotting and planning and biding with stealth, big parcels, that come from POTVIN'S sweet shelf. His Christmas candy store is a busy spot—so much deliciousness to select in positively everyday creams and chocolates, bon bons, creamed almonds, nut candies, assorted chips, curls, sugar toys — a wonderful stock of sweets, with Christmas cakes and tea table dainties galore.

PRIVATE CHRISTMAS CARDS

The EXAMINER has the most complete lot of samples of Private Christmas Cards that has yet been shown in Peterborough. They do not cost any more than stock Christmas Cards, and you have your name and greeting printed on the card. Call in and see samples and leave your order so that you may have same in time to mail to your friends. tf

A BRIGHT CHRISTMAS FOR HOSPITAL PATIENTS

Nicholls Hospital Has Been Beautifully Decorated for the Holidays and Will Welcome Many Visitors

MANY PATIENTS IN THE INSTITUTION

Christmas at the Nicholls Hospital will be a day of great festivities, and promises to be one which will long be remembered by the inmates of that prominent institution. The hospital has already been beautifully decorated, and in the various wards and along the lengthy corridors hang garlands of green moss and bunches of the proverbial Christmas holly.

The Christmas dinner will be one above the ordinary, and besides the usual spread for that day, fruit of various kinds will be distributed. Christmas trees will be provided for the children who are patients, and these will be laden with the good things to make glad the heart of the child. Carnations of different hues will be placed in the wards to assist in the beautiful decorations.

The doors of the hospital will be thrown open to welcome visitors during the day to the sick. There are altogether thirty-five patients in the hospital, and as this number is many more than that of a year ago, a large number of visitors are expected. Christmas Day at the Nicholls Hospital will be made just as bright and cheerful for the patients as possible.

THE CHRISNMAS MARKET TO-DAY

A Large Market—Good Prices Demanded for Farmer's Produce—Ideal Weather

It was an ideal Christmas market. Everything combined to make it one of the best and largest in the history of the city. Contrary to all previous expectations, there was plenty of fowl. If turkey was too dear for some purses, geese were quite reasonable, as were chickens.

The country roads are in the best of condition, and the sleighing was never better, hence it was an easy matter to convey the produce to the city. The G.T.R. trains brought holiday crowds to the city from points north and south. In fact, the city was the Mecca of Christmas shoppers from the nearby villages and towns on that line. Many of them brought market goods to the city, but they generally spent the money in the stores. At an early hour this morning the heavy sleighs began to arrive, the horses covered with frost, owing to the somewhat severe condition of the atmosphere. However, it was a fine market. The townspeople who bought their fowl a week or two ago apparently made a mistake for the prices of almost everything were considerably lower. Potatoes ranged from 85c to $1 per bag; snow apples were as low as 90c a bag; turkeys sold from $1.25 to $2; birds that demanded $2.40 last week could be had for $2. There were so many bough last Saturday, and there was such a large market this morning, that there was actually a surplus.

The supply of fresh meat was also a surprise; load after load was for sale. The inside market was crowded, there being only moving room. However everyone seemed satisfied. The people are prosperous, the farmers have had a successful year, and the combined effect should be to make the Christmas of 1906 one of the happiest for the citizens of Peterborough, and the vicinity.

The following is a list of the prices:—

Potatoes, per bag	90	to	1 00
Apples, per bag	50	to	1 75
Onions, per peck	25
Beets, per peck	15
Cabbage, per head	5

SHOULD SUPPORT THE EXEMPTION BYLAW

Mr. G. W. Hatton Writes Letter to Ratepayers of North Monaghan on Carpet Co. and Sandstone Brick Company Bylaws

WILL GREATLY BENEFIT THE FARMERS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — Two bylaws for the consideration of the ratepayers of the township of North Monaghan, will be voted on at the date fixed for the municipal elections, viz., January 7th, 1907. One, the Brinton Carpet Company, of Canada, is asking for a fixed taxation of $10,000 for years.

This company is expending in the township about a quarter of a million dollars on their real estate, buildings, plant, sewer, water mains and railway sidings.

The city of Peterborough agreed, providing this property was taken into the city, to fix the assessment covering the above term at $5,000, one-half the sum mentioned in the Brinton Company's bylaw.

The company will employ about 250 hands. New dwellings will be built in this section, subject, of course, to the usual extension of the township; the property in the neighbourhood, and all through the township, will be increased in value.

The other, the Peterborough Sandstone Brick Company, has a capitalization of $50,000 which has been expended on their plant, situated in the township of North Monaghan, just at the southwestern limits of the city. The company has given employment to twenty or twenty-five men, most of whom live in the vicinity, and several of whom are erecting houses for themselves. The operations of the company have created considerable activity in real estate in this section, and already park lots are being laid out to the west of the company's property. The class of houses, too, that are being erected are of a very substantial nature and add to the general appearance of the section in question.

To deal justly with these companies in fixing their assessment, as asked, will doubtless encourage other manufacturing industries to locate in the township.

The location of the many industries now in the vicinity of the city, has greatly improved the value of the township real estate, and many dwellings are erected, and in course of erection.

The closer the industries are to the farmers the greater is the price of all farm produce.

Should our industries be located in Belleville, Kingston, or other cities, the freight and commission for handling produce must necessarily be deducted from the prices now received.

Produce from goods received from a distance cannot come into competition with the home market, even though lower in price, owing to the condition it is in when offered for for sale. Townships must hereafter be the location of the new industries; there is but little room left in the city, and it is to the direct interest — financially and in many other ways, for the farming community of this county to reasonably aid for a term of years all proposed manufacturers, who are desirous of locating here. Do not forget that the location and fair treatment such as is offered in other places of one industry, nearly always leads to others, and thus a manufacturing centre is formed.

Remember that a majority only of votes cast in favour of the bylaws is not sufficient, the assent of two-thirds of the ratepayers entitled to vote, is required, unless the votes cast against the bylaw do not exceed one fifth, in which event the assent of three-fifths is necessary.

The increased value of lands in the front of the township adds to the value of the whole township, and the additional moneys received from new dwellings and other improvements are spent on the roads of the township at large.

The bylaws received the unanimous consent of the members of the township council. Every ratepayer should make it a point to vote in favour of these bylaws.

G. W. HATTON.

HOW INMATES OF HOME WILL SPEND CHRISTMAS

Christmas Tree will be One of the Features of the Programme of Festivities

OLD PEOPLE ARE EAGER FOR THE EVENT

It is pleasing to note that amidst all the preparations for Christmas, the old folks are not being forgotten. On the contrary, at the Protestant Home, where twenty-two aged people are spending the last days of their lives, great pains are being made to make the event a most enjoyable one — an occasion that will serve to show the inmates that although they have to depend upon support from others for their sustenance, they are not forgotten at a time of universal rejoicing.

The rooms will be decorated with holly and evergreens and when completed will give ample evidence of the fact that Christmas is at hand. The chief event of the celebration will be the big Christmas tree, the distribution of the gifts from which will take place on Christmas Eve, and will be an interesting and enjoyable event. Many presents have been donated by the committee, and, in addition, a large number of gifts have been sent in from outside parties, so that the old people will have many reminders of the holiday season. The dismantling of the tree will be the occasion of the singing of Christmas songs, and other festivities, which should serve to make the inmates brighter and more cheerful.

Christmas day will be marked by an elaborate dinner, at which turkey, plum pudding and all the other delicacies, will be very much in evidence. In the afternoon the King's Daughters will visit the home, and will sing and in other ways entertain the old people.

It might be supposed that in the case of the inmates of the Protestant Home, who have almost reached life's goal, that the Christmas season, instead of bringing joy, would only serve to recall to them similar celebrations in days gone by, when their loved ones were with them, and when they had not to depend on the charity of strangers, not only for luxuries, but also for the necessities of life. Such is not the case, however. The old people on the other hand are looking forward to the events of Christmas with the eagerness of the most anxious child in Peterborough. The matron is authority for the statement that one of the inmates, an old lady of 93 years of age, is eagerly watching for the first appearance of the Christmas tree.

YOUNG GIRL ON THE WRONG ROAD

Found In Loft of Local Livery Barn With Male Companion

A state of affairs was brought to light this morning at the police court which is not only pitiful in the extreme but is a disgrace to the city's good name. A young girl, 17 years of age, appeared on the charge of being a vagrant and without a home. The chief was notified that at a particular livery barn a number of girls were sounding the night. He sent one of the policemen who found this young girl there. She stated that with young men she had spent the night in the loft of the barn. Just how many nights this continued is not known, but it was not very many. It was also learned that other girls had been at times in this barn with young men. The civic authorities wish to state that on the first appearance in court of the owners of these livery barns or whatever they are, if the case is proved against the owners, his livery license will be taken from him and he will be punished to the full extent of the law.

This young girl says she comes from Hamilton ,her parents are dead and her only relative, a married sister, resides in Hamilton. Of late she has been working in a very respectable family and left there on Wednesday evening to attend a dance or some such affair and did not return. It is a very deplorable circumstance and one which should receive extreme measures to eradicate it. The Magistrate talked with the girl, showing her the results of such a life and decided that her part be investigated before anything further was done. She was therefore remanded for a week. The girl appeared to be in a very repentent mood.

QUALITY is our watchword. We have a full supply for Christmas, of the very best in Pineapples, Tomatoes, Cauliflowers, Celery, Florida Oranges, Grape Fruit Figs, Table Raisins, Spanish Grapes, Shell Oysters, etc., etc. Also beautiful Holly for which we are making only a very small charge. A CHRISTMAS WHICH WAS SPENT IN AN HOSPITAL

"Christmas comes but once a year, and when it comes it brings good cheer," saith the old adage. But the brightness which we naturally associate with the great anniversary of the Christian world is often only realized when thrown into contrast with the darker experiences of human life. In perhaps no place do the boundaries of Christmas joys and sorrows so closely merge as in an hospital.

The writer once had the misfortune, or rather, good fortune, according to the point of view, of spending Christmas in one of the largest hospitals of the Dominion. The few days previous were given up to great preparations. Long strings of evergreen, gay bunting, holly and mistletoe were required for every ward. The patients on the surgical side, where illness if often not acute, employed their spare time in weaving garlands, fashioning fantastic shades for the lights, and in many other ways seeking to aid the nurses in making that particular division the most artistic in the institution. As a result of these efforts the ward was transformed into a perfect bower.

That will always be a memorable experience. At 9 o'clock on Christmas eve, the lights went out, and in the double row of white beds, the patients, one by one, sank to slumber. In the far corner, two men were talking quietly — talking of home and their little ones. To my right, a little fellow, who was just recovering from a frightful operation, was asking for the hundredth time if I thought that Santa Claus would be able to find his way to all the beds. Across from him a drama was being enacted in striking contrast to the bright picture being painted by the diminutive sufferer. A cold man, on whom Death had already fixed its clutches, lay restlessly unliving his head on the pillow. The doctors told him there was no hope; it was just merely a question of hours. All day, by his side, there had sat a quiet old lady, gazing with tearless eyes at the almost expressionless face of her husband. In the shadow, made deeper by the long, slanting rays of the moon, reflected on the polished floor, she kept her lonely vigil. Discipline had been relaxed in her case, and she was allowed to remain at the bedside of one dear to her through a long life.

A New Patient

Suddenly there sounded outside the sharp clang of the ambulance bell. Someone's expectations of a happy Christmas had been cruelly destroyed. The victim of an accident down-town was being hurried to the hospital. It was a case for the surgeon, and, later, the rubber-tired perambulator was wheeled from the operating room into the ward by a white-coated orderly. It was indeed a serious case. At intervals all night long, the doctor and the nurse hurried to and from the screened bed, in which lay the senseless patient, and their shadows in goblin-like shapes danced on the ceiling. They were fighting for a life; but before morning their labours were ended; a sheet was drawn over the face behind the screen. They had lost. Still the moon shone placidly on, the nodding rubber plants on the heaters between the rows of beds loomed up grim and solemn. A bell tolled faintly in the city, sleep had possession of all. There was peace in the ward.

A Present For All

"Merry Christmas! Wake up, every mother's son of you!" It was the cheerful voice of the red-cheeked Irish night nurse, who, trim and tidy in her neat print uniform, and white apron and cap, aroused the ward. It was still dark—just a little after 5.30 o'clock.

Soon there were sounds of laughter, the feeble kind that one hears from sick people. Mutual laughter followed, as the patients awakened. Beside every bed was a present graciously donated by the governors of the hospital. The small box of fudge which accompanied it was the work of nurses, who had stayed long after hours to contribute this little bit of extra Christmas cheer. Gradually the initial excitement died down. The nurse was opening the door leading into the long passageway. There was a feeling that something was going to happen. "Hush!" cried a man near the door, as he raised a warning finger. Faintly, but clear and sweet, like heavenly music it seemed, there sounded from far away, the strains of that old carol, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear." Nearer and nearer came the singers. Charles Wesley's sweet old inspiration, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," was now the theme—a glorious song of triumph and rejoicing. The nurses' choir continued on its way, past the door and up the stairway to the wards above. Suddenly someone sobbed. An overwhelming flood of emotion—part sadness and part joy—swept over all, as the full significance of the ceremony was realized. A few beds away a man who had confided in everyone the story of his little ones at home, hid his face behind his arms and cried like a babe. The wife, who had fallen asleep, worn out with watching, looked up at her husband and, as their eyes met, she impulsively threw one arm over him and burst into tears. The little lad commenced to weep in sympathy. For a few minutes it was a pathetic sight. Down every face tears were streaming.

This, I learned, was a time-honoured custom. Every nurse in the hospital goes voluntarily at this early hour, and two and two, in long procession, march slowly through the building from one wing to the other, singing these old Christmas hymns.

A rush of nurses coming on duty laughing and rosy, filled the door. "Merry Christmas!" they cried, and the doctors, in white coats, with a sprig of holly in their buttonholes, repeated the greeting. Sunshine began to steal once more into the ward.

The remainder of the day was free to visitors. Until late that evening, friends and relatives came flocking in. The Yuletide spirit was universal. At dinner, those who were able to partake, received a plentiful helping of turkey and plum pudding. The last thing that reached my ears as sleep once more stole over me, was the voice of the little lad murmuring as he caressed his toys, "I'm glad Trismas has come at last."

MR. D. O'CONNEL MADE NO APOLOGY

ing the giving of this evidence the Magistrate more than once disparaged it, and during the examination of one young man of an unblemished character, the Magistrate's remarks were, I considered, again objectionable in that regard, and I then and there informed him that I thought that his manner of treatment of the witnesses was manifestly unjust. He then said that he would commit me for contempt of court, I replied that I again repeated what I said. He then demanded an apology, and I informed him that I had no apology to make, and thereupon he ordered my arrest.

Was Arrested

Upon his instructions one of the officers arrested me and confined me in the cell and the case was again proceeded with in my absence and in the absence of any other Counsel. I then requested the person by whom I was retained to send for Mr. Dennistoun for the purpose of appearing before the Court on the behalf of the accused. Mr. Dennistoun came and saw me at the police station and as I am informed, went to the police court and endeavoured to ascertain the cause of the trouble. Mr. Dennistoun afterwards returned to me on a couple of occasions and informed me that the Police Magistrate said that I had used the word "impertinent," and that he insisted upon an apology.

"Unjust" Not "Impertinent"

I informed him that I had not used the word "impertinent," but that I had used the word "unjust" (which in my opinion was a much stronger word), and I would neither withdraw the statement nor apologize, and that I stood by, and intended to stand by, the position I had taken, and requested him to so inform the Magistrate.

What occurred in the police court in my absence, appears from Mr. Dennistoun's written statement, which I now hand to the reporter for the purpose of publication.

No Apology

The attitude then taken by me in regard to my position was not at any time afterwards changed, nor any retraction nor apology made. I was subsequently released, and proceeded to the police court, and instructed Mr. Dennistoun, who then continued in the defence of the accused.

Difference of Opinion

It will be observed from the statement made by Mr. Dennistoun that the Magistrate stated that I had used the word "impertinent," which I emphatically deny, and the fact that his thinking the word "impertinent" was used is readily ascribable by his want of acute hearing. It further appears from the information I received, and from Mr Dennistoun's statement, that the Magistrate appealed to the Chief of Police and to Police Constable Newall, as to what I said, and the Chief replied that he was not paying much attention, but it seemed to be to the effect I stated that the Magistrate intimated that the witnesses were committing perjury, and a similar statement was made by Police Constable Newball. Then the Magistrate asked these two officers if the word "impertinent" had not been used, when, after the word had been put in their mouths, they replied "Yes." Mr. Dennistoun then informed me that he asked at least 30 people in the court room if the word "impertinent" had been used, when he was informed by all of them that the word had not been used.

Spectators Appealed To

The Magistrate then appealed to the persons present in the court, the court room being crowded, if there were anyone present who heard me use the word "impertinent," to hold up his hand, and no response was made.

This is a full and substantial statement of what happened, and the action of the Magistrate charged with the high office of administering the law, and upon whose judgment the liberty of the subject, in many cases, depends, requires no comment from me—it speaks for itself.

Mr. Dennistoun's Statement

The statement made by Mr. Dennistoun, and to which reference is made by Mr. O'Connell, is as follows:

I was requested to go to the police court about 12 o'clock, and found Mr. O'Connell in one of the cells. I asked him what had occurred, and he told me that Mr. Dumble had committed him for contempt of court. I asked him what the contempt consisted of, and he said he thought he was charged with having made use of the word "ungentlemanly." He said that he had not used such a word, but he had used the word "unjust." He had placed a witness in the box, whose statement was discredited by the Magistrate, who intimated that he thought the witness was committing perjury, and that he, Mr. O'Connell, resented that it was unjust to make such an accusation against the witness on such slight grounds.

A Peace Maker

I then asked Mr. O'Connell if I could not in some way restore good relations between himself and the Magistrate. Mr. O'Connell replied that he had done nothing improper, and that he would not make any attempt to conciliate the Court. I then suggested that I should ask Mr. Dumble to adjourn the case which was being tried, to enable his client to give instructions to counsel.

I then went into court. The Magistrate was examining one of the witnesses. I asked permission from the Magistrate to intervene in the case on behalf of Mr. Graham, and I pointed out that as Mr. O'Connell who had been taking the case, had been placed under arrest, and as I knew nothing about the case, that it would be well to grant an adjournment.

Mr. Dumble said that he did not feel inclined to grant an adjournment. I then said, "Perhaps I can best serve the interests of my client by endeavouring to restore friendly relations between yourself and Mr. O'Connell, and as I am in entire ignorance of what has occurred, I ask Your Worship to let me know what the difficulty is."

MR. D. O'CONNEL MADE NO APOLOGY

Would Accept Apology

Mr. Dumble then replied, "Mr. O'Connell said the court was impertinent, and that was an expression no Canadian Court of Justice would tolerate from anyone." That, however, he was willing to accept an apology from Mr. O'Connell.

I told him I would consult Mr. O'Connell in reference to this. I then withdrew and consulted Mr. O'Connell. He informed me that he had not used the word "impertinent," and that the Magistrate was mistaken in supposing that he had done so. I then returned to court and informed the Magistrate that Mr. O'Connell stated that he had not used the word "impertinent," but that the word he used was "unjust," and that he had no apology to make, and that he intended to stand by the position he had taken.

The Constable's Opinion

The Magistrate then appealed to the Chief of Police and asked him what Mr. O'Connell had said, and the Chief replied that Mr. O'Connell had stated that the Magistrate was intimating that the witness was committing perjury. He then asked Constable Newhall the same question, and received practically the same answer. The Magistrate then said: "Was not the word 'impertinent' used by Mr. O'Connell, ?" and both policemen answered that it was.

I then went around the whole court and asked all the spectators present if the word "impertinent" had been used by Mr. O'Connell, and at least thirty men who were in the front row of the spectators informed me that the word "impertinent" was not used by Mr. O'Connell, but that the word used by him was "unjust."

No Spectators Heard It

I then said to the Magistrate, "There appears to be a difference of opinion with regard to the word used. I am unable to find anyone in the court-room who heard the word "impertinent" used, except the constables and yourself. The Magistrate then said, "Is there anyone in the court-room who heard the word 'impertinent' used, if so, will to please hold up his hand?" No one responded. The Magistrate then said, "Mr. O'Connell must apologize, for I heard the word myself."

I then said, "My difficulty, Your Worship, is that I am dealing with two gentlemen, both of whom hail from the Emerald Isle, and, both being satisfied that they are in the right it is impossible for either to withdraw, at the request of the other." I then said, "Surely, Your Worship, it is more satisfactroy to you that Mr. O'Connell should declare upon his honour that he never used the word to which you object, than that he should offer you an apology for something which he declares never occurred."

The Magistrate then said, "Then Mr. O'Connell declares he never used the word 'impertinent'?" I said, "He certainly does." "Then," said the Magistrate, "I assume that that means that he is not conscious of having used it, and that he would have apologized if he had been conscious that he had used the word."

Peace Restored

I said, "On the contrary, Your Worship, Mr. O'Connell is able to give you a much more satisfactory answer. He states that he remembers distinctly everything that occurred, and that he did not use the word 'impertinent,'" I then said "It seems to me, Your Worship, that this matter should terminate here. It is not of sufficient importance to be taken into the High Court, in view of the fact that there is a misunderstanding, and that Mr. O'Connell has practised in your court for many years, and his high standing in the profession has always been recognized by you, and I submit that you should accept his statement that the word objected to was never used."

The Magistrate then said, "Well, I suppose I must take his statement, but I understand it to mean that he was not conscious of having used the word." I said, "My instructions do not go to that extent, but I assume that the Chief of Police may now intimate to Mr. O'Connell that he is at liberty?" and the Magistrate said, "Yes."

No Apology Made

I have given above the substance of what took place. I went down stairs and interviewed Mr. O'Connell three times, and returned each time to court, and reported to the Magistrate what had taken place between Mr. O'Connell and myself, and, as there was a good deal of repetition in what took place, I have not thought it necessary to set out everything that was said. It having been reported in the press that Mr. O'Connell made an apology to Mr. Dumble for what had occurred, at Mr. O'Connell's request, I beg to correct that statement, and to say that the only negotiations which took place between Mr. O'Connell and Mr. Dumble were conducted by me, and that at no time did Mr. O'Connell recede from the position which he took in the first instance, namely,—That he did not exceed his duty or his privilege as an advocate, and that he had said nothing which he would withdraw. No statement that he made was withdrawn by me, but I was pleased to be able to convince the court that a genuine misunderstanding had taken place, which I think was accountable for the whole trouble.

FOR SUNDAY READING

THE MAGI

By John Ward Stimson.

The Magi camp, at Christmastide,
Into the night, with gifts resplendent—
Coursers, camels, robes of pride,
Wealth of satellites dependent!
They came with pomp; they came from far,
And followed fast the "Morning" Star!

Low, in a cradle made of hay,
A monarch from the heavens lay!
Was it a king in glory dight?
No—'twas a cherub in pink and white!
It, too, had traveled alone from far,
And came in the arms of the "Evening" Star!

Which of the twain shall we worship most
The Star with the train and the splendid host
The Star of triumph? the Star of power?
Or the Star that twinkles at twilight hour?
The "Love Star" tender? Now, watch and see,
It is the Magi bend the knee!

Ah, glory of genius, pride of Wealth!
Splendour of wisdom, knowledge, health!
Powers of busy brain and feet,
All of the treasures of earth complete!
Spirit of beauty and love, at last,
At Thy tiny feet, all crowns are cast!

S. S. LESSON

Lesson XII., December 23.—Jesus Ascends into Heaven.—Luke 24, 36-53.

Golden text.—While he blessed them, he was parted from them, and carried up into heaven.—Luke 24, 51.

NOTES.

Place.—In a house at Jerusalem; then on the eastern slope of the Mount of Olives, looking towards Bethany.

Time.—On the evening of Sunday, April 9, year of Rome, 783,—that is, A. D. 30. Then forty days later (Acts 1, 4), on Thursday, May 18, in the same year.

CRITICAL NOTES.

Verse 36.—Stood in the midst of them: St. John says (20, 19), "the doors were shut."—Peace be unto you: The usual Jewish salutation. (In this lesson, vs. 36, 40, 51, 52, have briefer marginal readings in the Revised Version. These omissions are supported by a Greek-Latin manuscript, designated D, which represents what is called the "Western Text". As this manuscript usually enlarges, its omissions are regarded as weighty evidence.)

Verse 37.—"Spirit" here implies the appearance of a departed spirit; hence the language of verses 39, 40.

Verse 40 is omitted in D. See on verse 36.

Verse 41.—For joy: But their joy was mingled with doubt.

Verse 42.—The weight of evidence is strongly against the phrase, "and a honeycomb," or, more exactly, "and from a honeycomb." It is difficult to explain how to crept into the text.

Verse 43.—And ate before them: The conclusive proof of the reality of his bodily resurrection.

Verses 44-49.—These verses, at first sight appear to have been spoken on the evening of the resurrection day. But v. 49 must be placed later; to allow for the visit to Galilee narrated by Matthew and John. Verse 50 must be placed forty days later, according to Luke's statement in Acts 1, 3-4. Probably verses 44-48 sum up the instruction given during these forty days (comp. Acts 1, 4), though verse 44 may have been spoken that evening.

Verse 44.—In the law of Moses: The Pentateuch (Genesis-Deuteronomy). A threefold division of the Old Testament prevailed among the Jews; but some think it was not current at this time.

Verses 47, 48.—Beginning from Jerusalem. Ye are witnesses. Or, "Beginning from Jerusalem, ye are witnesses." The latter view of the connection is more grammatical. The participle "beginning", according to the best authorities, is a nominative plural, most naturally agreeing with "ye", since there is no nominative in the preceding clause. The later scribes changed this participle to agree with what precedes, and then inserted "and" in verse 48. If connected with verse 47, the construction must be regarded as broken and irregular.

Verse 49.—Tarry ye in the city: "Of Jerusalem" is a later explanation. This verse must have been spoken after the disciples returned from Galilee.—Power from on High: Compare Acts 1, 8, "Ye shall receive power when (not "after that" (the Holy Spirit is come upon you."

Verse 50.—Over against Bethany: Literally, "as far as toward Bethany." So the oldest manuscripts. The change of two letters in Greek relieves a difficulty, for in Acts 2, 12, Luke places the ascension on the Mount of Olives. The correct reading here shows that it was on the eastern slope of the mountain facing Bethany.

Verse 51.—Parted from them: Active not "was parted."

Verse 53.—Continually in the temple. At the stated hours of prayer. It cannot be inferred that their place of assembling on the day of Pentecost was in the Temple.—Sunday School Times.

The Season's Greetings

In the happy words, of "Tiny Tim," we say, "God Bless Everybody," this Christmas Tide.

We have had a busy time. The great Christmas game of "give and take" has tested this store's ability to wait upon the "Givers and Takers," and if everybody was not properly waited on they will be considerate enough to overlook the fact.

Wednesday morning we will be open again bright and early with a "Gleaner's Sale" when forgotten friends can be remembered.

We have gift goods, enough and to spare, for another Christmas, notwithstanding the fact that we were greeted with a large increase in trade, and we believe we never served you so well.

We wish to thank all our friends for their favours during 1906, and to wish them all "A Merry Christmas.

IS NOT A CANDIDATE FOR MAYORALTY OF CITY

Hon. J. R. Stratton Announces That He Will Not be Able to Accede to Expressed Wish of Many Friends

HIS BUSINESS INTERESTS INTERFERE

For some time past there have been rumours to the effect that Hon. J. R. Stratton would be a candidate for the mayoralty. There seems to be this much foundation for such a rumour that several prominent business citizens have approached Mr. Stratton, and requested that, in the business interests of the city, he would be consent to be a candidate for the position. While Mr. Stratton was out of the city the past few days, this desire, thus expressed, assumed the form of a requisition, while many (who do not often sign requisitions, communicated personally with Mr. Stratton, urging him to consent to become a candidate.

While Mr. Stratton very warmly appreciates and is thankful for the kindness of his fellow citizens of all classes, in thus expressing their confidence in his ability, and willingness to give Peterborough effective service, in the capacity of Mayor, he finds that his varied business interests, which require so large a share of his time outside of Peterborough, will not permit him to entertain for a moment the idea of being a competitor for so great an honour as that of being Mayor of Peterborough. He would not think of assuming a responsibility which, for lack of time he would be unable to meet. While through circumstances, Mr. Stratton is compelled to decline the requests of prominent citizens, whose preference thus implied he heartily appreciates, he will in the future, as in the past, be ready at all times to use whatever influence, or whatever power, he may possess, to promote the advancement of Peterborough. For business reasons it would be impossible for Mr. Stratton to think of undertaking the work of Mayor of so important a city as Peterborough and he would not think of undertaking what he could not find time to attend to.

MUSICAL TREAT TO BE ENJOYED IN THE CITY

57th Regt. Band Arranging for Merry Musical Spectacle to be Presented in Near Future

The 57th Regiment Band make it their business to please the people with their own excellent music. Upon occasion they desire some form of practical appreciation essential to the existence of a musical organization. This generally takes the form of more music. Recently they provided a grand musical treat, unique in its class, by the visit of Victor's Venetian Band. Now they come before the public with another grand musical entertainment, "The Merry Musical Spectacle, Zephra," founded upon one of Hans Christian Andersen's Fairy Tales. This will be presented under the auspices of the band, some time towards the end of January — the 24th or the 25th. This beautiful production requires for its presentation a cast of over 150 persons, and with bright, tuneful music and splendid scenic settings, constitute a remarkable musical and entertainment production.

Christmas Will Be Fine But Cold

Christmas Day, from present appearances, will be bright, clear and cold—a day somewhat similar to to-day, but a little sharper. The present weather is ideal for this time of year. The lowest temperature on Sunday morning was seven degrees below zero. Yesterday was cold all day, the mercury never getting beyond six degrees above. The lowest temperature last night was four degrees below, and at noon to-day the mercury registered five above.

MEMORIAL TABLET DEDICATED YESTERDAY

Interesting Ceremony Took Place in St. Luke's Church

Yesterday morning at the celebration of the Holy Communion, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt dedicated a brass memorial and credence table. The memorial is of solid brass and has the shape of a cross. It has the following inscription:—"To the glory of God and in loving memory of Gawin Beresford Hamilton, who died 14th May, 1878. This credence table was carved and erected by his sister, Anne Seabourne Hamilton, Easter, 1896. Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

The brass memorial is the gift of Mrs. (Hon.) R. Hamilton, and is placed in the south side of the sanctuary.

PRESENTED WITH A WATCH BY THE DIRECTORS

Mr. Frank Adams' Services Recognized by the Peterborough Lock Company on Saturday

HAD BEEN TEN YEARS WITH COMPANY

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Peterborough Lock Company on Saturday afternoon, the retiring secretary-treasurer, Mr. Frank Adams, was presented with a handsome gold watch, on behalf of the directors and shareholders of the company.

Hon. Mr. Stratton, the president of the company, in making the presentation, spoke of the many years of pleasant relationship that had existed between the board and Mr. Adams. The directors always found in the retiring secretary-treasurer, a competent, reliable trustworthy official and they could not be doing themselves justice were they to allow Mr. Adams to retire from the company, without in some way expressing their appreciation of his past services. The directors had, therefore, decided to make the presentation on behalf of the company, and he hoped that Mr. Adams would accept the watch in the same kindly spirit in which it was being given. He also expressed the hope, that he would find his new position even more pleasant than the cordial relationship that had always existed between the company and himself.

Mr. Adams, who was taken completely by surprise expressed his thanks to the president and board for their kind recognition, and the very handsome watch which had been given him, and which he appreciated very much. He had done his best while associated with the company and he was pleased that his services had been appreciated. He would look with pleasure upon the years he had been associated with the Lock Company, and hoped that the company would prosper in the future as it had done in the past.

There had been great changes in the position of the company during the past ten years, since he took the position of secretary, and he hoped that the next ten years would see as great a growth and prosperity in the business of the company. He hoped that the business relations between the directors and his successor would be equally as agreeable as he had found them, and trusted that the expectations of the directors in appointing him would be realized.

OBITUARY.

GORDON VANBLARICOM

The Examiner learns with deep sympathy and regret, of the loss Mr. VanBlaricom, of the Review, has sustained by the death of his little fifteen-months son, after a brief illness. The child has been staying with its grandparents in Belleville, and a week ago Mrs. VanBlaricom was called to that city by ness, and the father went down on Saturday. Death took place on Sunday morning. The funeral will be on Wednesday in Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. VanBlaricom are to be very deeply sympathised with. Of late it would appear that they have had more than their share of illness, and now the death of their only son is a very severe blow.

JOHANNA SCHWERDT

A sad death occurred yesterday at noon at the residence of Mr. Schwerdt when Johanna, the bright five-year-old daughter passed away. The deceased was born in London, Eng., and the family are not long out from the Old Country. The deceased was ill about a week with swollen tonsils. The funeral will take place on Wednesday at 2 p. m. to the Little Lake Cemetery.

LOUIS DENNIE

A very sad death at this happy Christmas season is reported from St. Joseph's Hospital in the untimely calling away of Louis Dennie. He was the eldest son of Mr. David Dennie, residing on Concession street, East City. Deceased was 21 years of age and a promising young man. He was taken ill three weeks ago with typhoid fever and was placed in the care of the sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital in that institution. His constitution did not withstand the great ravages of dread typhoid and he succumbed this morning to its effects at 5 o'clock. Besides the bereaved parents there is also a sister Miss May Dennie and two younger brothers. The funeral will be held on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, 272 Concession street, south, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the R. C. cemetery.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas, the greatest anniversary in the history of humanity, comes with the undying message of cheer and good news that has accompanied it for nearly two thousand years. To its loving challenge every heart responds. No heart, so calloused with the scourge of evil passion,—so crusted with sinfulness,—but acknowledges, perhaps unwittingly, but no less surely, the spell of the day. Every soul in this Christian land, in his or her own way, honours the day, and though, in many respects, such observance may not square with orthodox conceptions and ideals; yet in some dim way the Christmas spirit gives them impulse and true expression—good will to others — though in imperfect form. As the day approaches, the Christmas spirit, unbidded by human consciousness, invades and pervades the very air. The central significance of the holy day in universal gift-giving, typifies the Great Gift, except in this. The Gift spells only love; our gifts too often spell value, or obligation, or social coercion. Yet it is a beautiful custom or habit, which gladdens thousands of hearts and homes. The happiest enjoyment of Christmas is the family re-union, the home-coming. Dead to homelove is the absent heart which does not turn homeward at Christmas tide. Over miles and miles they come, by plunging ship and rushing train, to gather at the home. The happiness of these home re-unions none can know, except those who share them. One beauty of Christmas is that those who have happy homes and appreciate them are prompt to think of others less richly dowered, and see that on this one day, at least, others share in the material bounty. The best sauce for Christmas meats is the thought that none whom one can reasonably reach is unfed on this day of universal feasting. One would think that in this prosperous city and prosperous land, no larder would be bare, but sickness and misfortune may mar the Christmas menu. In other cases the reflection if forced that the Prodigal Son was a married man (and left many descendants; but some of us are Pharisaic enough to think that if we had our deserts at the hands of Providence, we should have any more than the husk-fed children of the Prodigal Son.

CHRISTMAS WEATHER

Christmas comes to Canada in the brightest, merriest guise possible. From one end of the Dominion to the other, prosperity covers the country and people as the snow covers the bosom of the earth. Even the weather is on its best behaviour, and to the most delightful climate in the world, nature has added this year superbly ideal Christmas weather, which has lasted with unbroken steadiness and serene severity, from the opening of December to Christmas eve, and promises to be with us at least over Christmas day. Our newly-arrived citizens from the Old Country, must regard with delight the crisp, clear, frosty weather of Canada, so sharp and bright, in contrast with the murky, muddy, sloppy and Pluvius weather of England, Ireland and Scotland, where one in venturing out for the day is in doubt whether to equip himself with a fur coat or a canoe. The steady cold weather of the month, with its perfect sleighing, has imparted a splendid business aspect to the Christmas season. Never before in the history of the town, have all our merchants of all kinds, driven a more roaring and satisfactory trade. Never before have our shops of all kinds housed more magnificent and more magnificently displayed stocks. Never before have the people been more prodigal in purchases. As a result the faces of all — business men and buyers — are wreathed in smiles in sympathy with the laughing sky, which to-day looks down on the earth with the cold glittering smile of a beautiful stepmother.

COMMISSIONER EXPLAINS CHINESE CAFE QUESTION

Mr. W. H. Moore Writes Letter to the Press Regarding All Transactions

Editor of the Daily Examiner:

Sir,—Unfounded stories are commencing early and I expect they will continue plentifully until after election day.

"Ratepayer" in Thursday's Review became quite reckless of truth and abusive of me, as chairman of the City Trust, because the Ladies of the T.A.S. were permitted to hold a charity bazaar in the Market Hall, his object being to have a slap at them and to discredit me; but it failed; and it is, I suppose, another gentleman of the same sort, who is circulating false statements in relation to the Dominion Chinese Cafe in the Market Block, adjoining Mr. McCallum's. This block, as most people know, is property held by City Commissioners in trust for the city, under the act of 1868. Their duty under this act is among other things, to lease and keep let, the whole block, and they are personally responsible if they fail in obtaining all the rents it will produce; and which rents must be applied on the debenture dept of the city. Any neglect on their part would be detected by the City auditors and would have to be made good.

When Mr. Douglas had the shop a year ago, he failed to make ends meet, and left the city. Mr. Sheridan then got the lease and about two months ago notified me that he must give up the place. A number of large posters were put up in the window to the effect that his whole stock was to be sold at a sacrifice, and also that the lease would be sold. For over two weeks these posters remained, yet no new tenant was secured. Then the present occupant applied directly to Mr. Sheridan and agreed with him for purchase of his lease, and paid him $200 bonus for his good will. They then came to the Commissioners and asked allowance of the transaction. It appeared to be quite obvious that if the Commissioners refused the application, the premises would go vacant. These posters, as I say, had been up two weeks and it was after the new tenant had got possession, beyond recall, that Mr. McCallum told me, he would pay at a rate of $100 a year (just about one-quarter of the rent) while the shop remained vacant, if we would refuse to allow the new man in. I explained to him our position, and I do not believe there is a business man or any other in the city, who thinks the Commissioners could have taken any other course than they did.

Your obedient servant,

W. H. MOORE.

TEACHER HONOURED BY HER PUPILS

Miss Switzer was Presented With Handsome Fountain Pen

Ordination Of Rev. Father O'Leary To The Holy Office Of Priesthood

A Native of This Diocese, Born in the Vicinity of Indian River, After a Splendid Scholastic Career, Received Holy Orders--His Lordship Bishop O'Connor Celebrated Pontifical High Mass

THE SECOND BOY OF FAMILY OF TEN TO ENTER PRIESTHOOD

During the celebration of a Pontifical High Mass by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor yesterday morning at 10.30, at St. Peter's Cathedral one of the most august ceremonies of the Catholic church was performed, when Michael O'Leary was ordained to the holy office of priesthood. The Cathedral contained one of its largest congregations, every seat being taken and many people being forced to forced to stand during the long service. It was a most solemn and impressive ceremony and no doubt the most important event in the young man's life.

Rev. Father Michael O'Leary is 27 years of age and a resident of this diocese, having been born near Indian River. He is a member of a family of ten children, six boys and four girls, and is the second to have become a priest. Their father, John O'Leary, is dead some twenty years. Rev. Father P. J. O'Leary is the parish priest in Gatway, his church being that of the Immaculate Conception about six miles from Kinmount. He is also in charge of Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon. Twelve years ago the 28th of this month he entered the priesthood and now his younger brother had taken the same important step.

School Career

Rev. Father M. O'Leary attended the Norwood High School and obtained honours for himself. He then attended St. Michael's College in Toronto for four years where he also won great distinction in his examinations. After that he spent five years and three months in the Grand Seminary at Montreal, where he met with equal success, thus ending a brilliant scholastic career.

The Ceremony

His Lordship Bishop OCo'nnor performed the ceremony assisted by Rev. Father McColl as deacon, and Rev. Father P. J. O'Leary as sub-deacon; Rev. Dr. O'Brien acted as master of ceremonies and assistant to the postulant.

His Lordship celebrated the mass clad in full pontificals, amice, alb, cincture, cross, tunic, dalmatic, maniple and stole, emblematic of the sacred power he confers upon the supliant for ordination. Having previously received the minor orders and also the sacred orders of sub-deaconship and deaconship, after having been duly examined as to his conduct and morals, his knowledge of sacred scripture, theology, etc., the candidate arrayed in the vestments of a deacon was presented to His Lordship, and, it having been attested that as far as it was possible to judge, he was worthy of the sublime office, His Lordship addressed the assembled clergy and congregation, charging them that "should anyone have anything to say against the promotion, let him before God and for the good of religion come forward with all confidence and let him speak what he knows." There being no objection, his Lordship then addressed the candidate charging him to receive the office of the priesthood worthily and to perform, in a manner worthy of praise, the duties of the office when received. It behooved the priest, to offer sacrifice to bless to govern, to preach and baptise, therefore with great fear must he assume such an office and take care that Heavenly wisdom, exemplary conduct and a continual observance of all virtue commend him to it.

On the singing of the Litany of the Saints, the Bishop blessed the candidate thrice. At the conclusion of the litany the Bishop and attendant clergy performed the ceremony of the imposition of hands. After the recitation of certain prescribed prayers the Bishop seated, removed the stole from the candidate's left shoulder and crossing it over his breast, said:—

"Receive thou the yoke of the Lord for His Yoke is easy and His burden light."

The Bishop then invested him with the chasuble folded on the shoulders, with the words:—

"Receive the sacerdotal vestment by which charity is understood, for God is powerful to increase in this charity and every perfect work."

The ceremony continued, the candidate receiving the powers to bless and consecrate, to offer sacrifice to God and to forgive sins. Then the Bishop unfolded the chasuble and clothed the candidate entirely with it, says:—

"With the stole of innocence may the Lord clothe thee." After he had promised obedience to the Bishop and his successor the Bishop gave him the kiss of peace and admonished him in the prescribed form, and after standing and blessing him, the newly ordained priest, kneeling received a concluding injunction.

Father Michael O'Leary is the sixteenth young man, native of this diocese to be elevated to the holy office of priesthood. During seventeen years of Bishop O'Connor's charge over this diocese these sixteen young men have been ordained by him, as well as ten others who have taken holy orders in the churches and have gone to labour in other dioceses.

The church contained a large number of friends of Rev. Father O'Leary from the townships of Asphodel, Douro and Otonabee. His relatives were seated in a prominent part of the church and with his mother were the first to receive his blessing.

The regular sermon for the Sunday was dispensed with and one befitting the occasion was delivered by Rev. Dr. O'Brien. It was an eloquent address dealing with the importance of the Catholic church and its priesthood in the revelations of Christ. He spoke from the 21st verse of the 20th chapter of St. John: "As the Father hath sent me, I also send you." The speaker commenting on the long life of the Catholic church, stated that since the beginning of time there was no such perennial institution. Its name is found on almost every page of history, it has come down intact with the slow advance of ages to the present day. The prophets of the Old Law foretold it, and it became a reality in the New Testament. Quoting St. Augustine, Rev. Dr. O'Brien said, "Oh! Beauty ever old and ever new, too late have I known thee, too late have I loved thee."

Time the great destroyer, that has caused the decay of the greatest works of man had failed to make an impression on the church. Why is this the case? As the doctrine of Christ was to be preached through all the ages, and every man born into the world be saved thereby, the medium of its propagation should last until eternity. The ordination consisted in the Bishop as successor of the Apostles using his power given by God in raising to the holy priesthood a deacon of the church.

An Important Function

An ordination is one of the most important functions of the church of Christ. Once a priest in the sight of God, always a priest, according to His words. The priest is a leader among men therefore his duties are heavier than those of the ordinary layman. Sooner or later he will be placed over a part of Christ's vineyard there to do his duty in looking after the spiritual welfare of his flock. It should be a day of consolation for the family and friends of the young priest as it was among his fellow priests. It was of special importance because Father Michael O'Leary is the second boy from the family to enter the holy service of God.

Reason for Perennity of Christ

Rev. Dr. O'Brien then discussed the question, why the church was necessarily everlasting. The Scriptures, he said, were not the only and chief means of knowing God's will. When He died it was for the redemption of every man. But He did not write His lessons to His Apostles, nor did He tell the Apostles to have them written. Through all the Scriptures there is not one place where Christ mentioned that His words be put in writing. He was a teacher by His preaching and not by writing.

A part of the golden age of Christianity was from the ascension of Christ into Heaven, to the time St. Matthew, who was the first evangelist, was inspired to write his Gospel. During that time there were no Scriptures and it was then that the church was making tremendous strides. That was a period of eight years. It was two years later that St. Mark began his writings and 24 years after the ascension of Christ that St. Luke wrote his Gospel and many more years later when St. John did likewise. If the church flourished when St. Peter won on one Pentecost Sunday 5,000 people to the true faith, how can it be said that holy Scripture is needed to know, or is the only source of knowing God's almighty will?

A Competent Guide

In every undertaking where a guide is necessary, such a one should be competent. Therefore, it is surely needful that a Heavenly guide should possess special qualities. If the Scriptures are the only guide then they should first be open to everyone, second they should make themselves clear to everyone, and third, they should contain every truth.

The Scriptures were not open to everyone since the time of Christ, Dr. O'Brien stated, as above, and showed that down through all the ages even to-day this is not the case. For almost 400 years after the ascension of Christ the writings of the apostles were spread throughout the great cities of the world, some in Rome, some in Cornith and so on. St. Paul's epistle for instance, were written now to the Romans, now to the Thessalonians, and to the Corinthians, and also in different languages. Thus, taking St. Paul as an example, the Scriptures could not have been in the hands of everyone for the first 400 years mentioned. Again the printing press was not invented until ten centuries later, and was even then very crude, and its work costly.

Therefore it was not possible that the writings of the apostles were universally used in the first 1400 years. After that illiteracy was a hindrance, and is yet one. Again, there are so many languages that it makes the complete spreading of the Scriptures an impossibility. This was one reason advanced by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, showing that the writings of the apostles were not the only guide to the revelations of Christ.

Second Reason

The guide of man to heaven should also make itself clear to every living being. St. Peter himself declared regarding St. Paul's epistle, that the reading of such by the unlearned is for their own destruction. To-day they have one idea, and to-morrow a different one. Who is then to tell when they are correct in their belief? If every man was infallible, the Scriptures then would be a clear and concise means of knowing the revelations of Christ.

Third Reason

It is also a known fact that the Scriptures do not contain a full and complete account of Christ's life and doctrine. In the Gospel of St. John, 25th verse, chapter 21st, is found: "But there are also many other things which Jesus did, which if they were written every one the world itself, I think, would not be able to contain the books that should be written."

For instance, take the sanctification of the Sunday. In this good Canada of ours there is a universal and pious custom, but there is no portion of Scripture that provides for this. The commandment says "Remember that thou keep holy the Sabbath Day." Thus a sin must be committed every Saturday — for that is the Sabbath day—but the practice is to recognize Sunday as the day to be devoted to God.

There are many other truths professed and practised by almost every sect, and yet there is nothing found in the Scriptures regarding them. As regards the Catholic church and the Bible, Rev. Dr. O'Brien said that many outside that church falsely stated that it prohibited reading the Bible. It is very much to the contrary, the Rev. doctor stated. For many years that church was the sole guardian of the Scriptures and if there was anything contained therein hostile to the teaching of the church, it could have been easily eradicated.

The Church A Guide

The speaker said that a better means of knowing God's will was through His church. Instead of spreading abroad his teachings in the form of writing Christ told the apostles to spread His word throughout all nations by the voice reaching great multitudes at once, but He never advised having His teachings written. He said "Peter, but I have prayed for three that thy faith fail not, and thou, Peter, being once converted, confirm thy brethren." Rev. Dr. O'Brien said that Christ meant to "confirm thy brethren" in the faith.

In closing the speaker said the priest was the divinely instituted interpreter of the word of God. Revelation was never made by private interpretation. The priest has the same duties and powers as long ago. As the shepherd of the flock he must guard it, and watch over it, and do as Christ says in the Gospel of St. John, 10th chapter, 16th verse —"And other sheep I have that are not of this fold; them also must I bring, and they shall hear my voice, and there shall be made one fold and one Shepherd."

Bishop's Address

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, after the mass dwelt upon the great importance of the ceremony that had just been performed. A young man, well known to many people in this diocese, in which he was born, had been raised to the high office of the priesthood. He was made the representative of Jesus Christ to win sinners from their ruin, and restore them to God. It was pleasing, he said, that the young men were entering the priesthood, and he urged the congregation to pray that others would be influenced by the Holy Spirit in the same direction. It was the noblest of all vocations, and required the best young men to do the work, and mothers should be thankful who have raised a son for the glory of God.

Rev. Father M. O'Leary celebrated his first mass this morning at 7 o'clock, when a large number of his friends attended. It has not been arranged as yet where the newly-ordained priest will begin his labours.

AMALGAMATION OF THREE FACTORIES PROPOSED

Shearer, Indian River and Peterborough will Unite Their Forces Next Season

A MODERN FACTORY TO BE BUILT

A movement is on foot to amalgamate the Shearer, Indian River and Peterborough cheese factories, and to form a joint stock company to manage the business. The intention to build one big factory, moderately constructed and with a coolately constructed and with a cool curing room, and the latest improved devices for the making of the best quality of cheese. The cheese men of that section are very much interested in the scheme, and it is probable that a meeting will be called in the near future to discuss the matter fully.

A factory such as proposed would have about 140 patrons, and would mean one of the best institutions of its kind in Ontario.

THE STORE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

PRESENTED WITH ADDRESS BY SUNDAY SCHOOL

Mr. Jeffries, Former Superintendent, was was Honoured Yesterday Afternoon

HE WAS A VERY ACTIVE WORKER

A pleasant event took place at George street Church Sunday School yesterday when Mr. John Jeffries, a former superintendent of the school and an active worker in its interests right up to the present, was presented with a handsome illuminated address by the teachers, members and officers of the Sunday School. Ever since Mr. Jeffries came to Peterborough he has been an active worker in the Sunday School, and it is with great regret that his early departure for Toronto is viewed.

The address, which was handsomely framed, was read by Mr. A. E. Dixon, secretary of the Sunday School, and is as follows:—

John Jeffries, B. A., Peterborough, Ontario.

Dear Sir,—The officers and teachers of the George street Methodist Sunday School have learned with deep regret of your intention to leave Peterborough. We desire before you go to give expression to that regret, and to let you know how highly your work in this school during the past seventeen years has been appreciated. As superintendent of the school and a teacher of many classes you have been unremitting and zealous in the discharge of the duties of these positions. Your marked ability as a teacher and your talents for direction and organization have been of great value to the school and have been freely exercised on its behalf. In the work of every department of the school your counsel has been relied upon and your good judgment has been of great service in all undertakings. While, personally, we have found our association together very pleasant, we regret exceedingly that you have found it advisable to leave Peterborough and that we will thus lose a valued teacher and personal friend, but we hope you will meet with success and that you will continue your work in another part of the Lord's vineyard. We wish yourself and Mrs. Jeffries and your family all happiness.

Signed on behalf of the School,

W. J. CROTHERS, Pastor.

S. R. ARMSTRONG, Superintendent.

A. E. DIXON, Secretary.

Peterborough, Dec. 23rd, 1906.

Mr. Jeffries made an appropriate reply, expressing thanks for the kindness shown him on the occasion of his departure and during the many years he had been connected with the Sunday School.

Mr. Jeffreis' class, the young ladies' Bible class, presented him with a handsome stick pin as a slight token o ftheir esteem.

DOINGS AT THE POLICE COURT

Saturday Drunks Refused to Pay Fine, Although They Had One Hundred Dollars

The aftermath of the arrests made in the early part of the afternoon of Saturday was a few heavy fines for the offenders. They appeared at 5 o'clock. The first man was Fred Graham, from Bridgenorth, arrested for interfering with the police when they were taking two drunks into custody. Magistrate Dumble imposed the heavy fine of $20 on Graham, which should serve as a warning to all others who have but little respect for the law.

The other two were brothers, Charles and Philip Gravelle. They were charged with creating a disturbance on the public street. The fracas happened at the police station, and for their trouble were fined $5.80 each. One of them had one hundred dollars in his pocket, and refused to pay the fine, preferring to go to jail. Their obstinacy, however, may be overcome before the ten days they have to spend in durance vile are passed.

There was still another man nabbed by the police for being drunk on the street. This was a Millbrook man who brought a number of fowl to the Saturday market. Mr. Dumble bought a goose from him, and the man, his name is Carroll, delivered it. On Sunday he became drunk and was making a nuisance of himself on the street, when he was arrested. When in court this morning with the Magistrate questioning him, he did not seem to realize that Mr. Dumble was the Magistrate, or that the Magistrate was the man to whom he sold the fowl. He had spent all his money, and Mr. Dumble allowed him to go, as the man was in straits that surely warranted the clemency.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the Superintendent and all the nurses of the Nicholls Hospital for the very kind treatment of my little son Allan during his six weeks confinement in the hospital. I am certain we could not have given him the excellent treatment at home which he received while in the hospital.

CHILDREN'S SERVICE WAS A MOST SUCCESSFUL ONE

Mr. J. H. Burnham's Address on Story of Child's Life was Listened to With Interest

The Special Children's Service held yesterday afternoon in All Saints' church, was a most interesting one, and was largely attended. Mr. J. H. Burnham gave a talk, in which he told the story of a child's life. His story was that of a child who had been rescued by the Children's Aid Society. It was listened to with rapt attention by the children, who were deeply touched by the graphic story as told by Mr. Burnham. The collection, which will be devoted to the funds of the Children's Aid Society, amounted to $10.35.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS

When the New Scalp Antiseptic is Used

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man, whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root, and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than 3 month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

STILL ANOTHER RUNAWAY TO-DAY

Mr. R. Foster's Horse Caused Some Excitement This Morning

Two sleighs were badly damaged as a result of a very exciting runaway on George street about 11 o'clock this morning. The horse belonging to Mr. R. Foster, attached to one of his express sleighs, was standing at the C.P.R. station this morning, when, for some reason or other, it dashed away to George street and ran north at a fierce clip. The sleigh was swaying from side to side and managed to hit the delivery sleigh belonging to Carrol Bros., which was standing in front of their store, and upset it, entangling the horse in a mass of lines and straps. The cutter was damaged rather extensively. Its career was shortly afterward brought to a sudden and unexpected halt in front of Mr. Chas. Nixon's hotel, where the sleigh hit a telegraph pole and stopped the horse instantly, causing a decided rebound, sleigh and horse being thrown to the pavement in front of the hotel. The sound of the shock could be heard all around. It was considered that the horse was badly injured, but it was found that beyond a severe shaking up the animal had sustained but slight injuries. The sleigh was somewhat damaged, but it is a wonder that it escaped so fortunately.

THESE DARK DAYS

AUSE US TO REALIZE ANY DEFECT OF VISION OR EYESTRAIN

Many people think that an examination can only be made on bright days. This is not so, as we use a dark room and artificial light exclusively in our examinations. So we can give equally good results on dark, dreary days, as on bright, sunshiny days.

THE LATEST SPORTS

PETERBOROUGH BOY IS SECRETARY OF BIG LEAGUE

Mr. M. M. Robinson, Prominently Connected with Indoor Baseball League in Toronto Garrison

IS MOST POPULAR WITH THE PLAYERS

Peterborough boys seem destined to make a name for themselves in the field of sport wherever they may be found. The latest example is furnished by Mr. Melville M. Robinson, son of Mr. W. S. Robinson, Murray street who is secretary of the Toronto Garrison Indoor Baseball League. Mr. Robinson has many friends in Peterborough having lived here all his life until several years ago and they will be glad to learn of his success.

The Toronto News of Saturday publishes an excellent cut of Mr. Robinson, of whom it has the following to say.

"The popular little secretary-treasurer Pte. M. M. Robinson is one of the younger members of the garrison, being a member of A Company, 48th Highlanders, the greatest shooting company in the Toronto Garrison and the Dominion. "Robbie" is a graduate of that famous old sporting town, Peterborough, and is very popular with the boys."

The Garrison League is the largest indoor baseball organization in the world and comprises 32 teams.

The Sunday World published a group photograph of the league officers in which Mr. Robinson appears.

THE PETERBOROUGH TEAM FOR THE MARLBORO GAME

Seven Who Will Play the First Game of The Season To-morrow

The Peterborough team had a good workout on Saturday night with nearly all the men in line and they will be in good shape for to-morrow night's game with the Marlboros. Chris Graham was unable to play and the team will line up as follows:—

Goal—Lang.
Point—Glover.
Cover Point—Crowley.
Rover—Whitcroft.
Centre—Morrow.

Right Wing—Easton.

The Peterborough team will go up to Toronto on the 5.10 C. P. R. train so that the players can enjoy their Christmas dinner at home. Rose and Easton will play the boards, Chris Graham being unable to go. Other men will be tried out in Friday's game against Queens.

CURLING

The following games were played at the curling rink on Saturday night:—

Reid, 12,	S. Clegg, 3.
J. Stanger, 5.	R. M. Waddell, 7.
T. Brightman, 5	Clegg, 4.

—Just leave it to ED. HUFF, if you are thinking of a new suit, overcoat or trousers for the New Year. Now, while every yard of cloth in the store is cut in price, is a good chance—but the chance only lasts till December 31st.

ATTEMPTED TO STRIKE THE MOTHER FOR INTERFERENCE

A ludicrous spectacle was witnessed by a large number of persons on Saturday afternoon in front of a local hotel on Simcoe street. A Douro visitor who had imbibed too freely of the golden goblet, became very anxious to test his pugilistic abilities, and a quarrel arose between him and another resident of the same township.

The latter proved to be a better "scrapper," and knocked his assailant into a nearby sleigh. The visitor's mother happened along and interceded successfully for peace between the two, but the would-be pugilist was not satisfied. He took off his coat and was on the point of striking the woman for her interference. He was prevented from so doing, however, by the byatanders, and the affair was ended.

A PRESENTATION TO A DOURO TEACHER

At Closing Exercises in No. 1 School Miss Loreeta Dillon Was Given Toilet Set and Address

On Friday afternoon the parents of the pupils of S. S. No. 1, Douro, gathered in the school room and spent an enjoyable afternoon.

A programme of dialogues and recitations was well rendered by the children.

The chief feature of the entertainment was Santa Claus and a Christmas tree. The children showed unusual ability in performing their parts and took especial delight in the visit of Santa Claus.

At the close of the entertainment Loreto Dalton in behalf of the pupils presented the teacher Miss Loreto Mahoney, with a handsome toilet set and Annie Fitzgerald read the following address:—

Dearly Beloved Teacher,—On this, the closing day of your first year among us we feel that we cannot allow this opportunity to pass without testifying to you in some tangible manner, how greatly we appreciated the work you have done during your stay among us.

You have shown on every occasion by your untiring zeal and energy to what an extent you have been interested in our future welfare and it gives no small amount of pleasure to know that you are to be our teacher for another year.

In conclusion we ask you to accept this toilet set as a slight token of our esteem and of our appreciation of your services.

Signed on behalf of your pupils of 1906.

EVANGELISTIC BAND CONDUCTED THE MEETING

At the Y. M. C. A. Men's Meeting Yesterday Afternoon

Yesterday afternoon the evangelistic band of the Y.M.C.A. conducted the men's meeting, addresses being given by Messrs. W. Shea, G. L. Galley and J. F. Thornton, who are three prominent members of the band.

Their addresses were heart to heart messages, and the men listened with an attention that marked a very impressive meeting.

The male quartette sang an appropriate selection, and at the close of Mr. Thornton's address he sang "Shall We All Meet There."

CHRISTMAS SERVICES AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

At St. John's Church to-morrow morning there will be celebrations of Holy Communion at 7.30 and 8 o'clock.

At 11 o'clock there will be the service of morning prayer, with Christmas hymns and carols, and a short address. The service will end at 11.55 noon. At 12 o'clock noon there will be a third celebration of the Holy Communion.

At Matins yesterday the theme of Advent was well in evidence, "Hark! the Glad Sound" (Hall) was admirably sung as an offertory anthem, the men showing up well in their chorus. "He comes the Prisoner to Release" and Mr. H. Morphet impressively sang the solo "He comes the broken heart to bind."

At Evensong Mr. R. J. Devey introduced the opening numbers of the "Messiah" the work of all others that in Recit. Air, and chorus G. F. Handel has endeared to all music lovers the great theme of our Redeemer. The organ as an opening voluntary gave out the impressive overture, succeeded in the offertory by Mr. Chandler's sweet tenor voice in "Comfort ye My People" and then a great burst of praise from the whole choir in the chorus "And the Glory of the Lord" which gathered up the whole teaching of Advent.

The choir members are deserving of all commendation for the hours they spent in rehearsing this difficult work in the Master's service.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

WITH THE SAGES

Whatever other mistakes you make, forbear impressing on the younger the belief that he is a fool. This is the most sure way of making him one. Children with splendid intellectual endowments are sometimes thought to be stupid.

A sharp child who learn a lesson in the shortest possible time, who is first with his answers in the mental arithmetic class, who can produce dates and geographical names on demand, is the one the teacher loves, and most commonly he is the one who in after life goes on the safe road towards competence. But he is not one of those whose thoughts will be treasured by the world long after he has quitted it. And quite often the so-called stupid child is one of the dreamers in whom are the powers of the artist, poet or philosopher struggling for expression.—Scottish American.

THE CHILD'S IDEAS ARE FORMED EARLY

Rev. Mr. Thom Believes That Religion Should be Taught to the Children From Their Infancy

EVIL INFLUENCES DRAGGING MEN DOWN

"Their statistics show that not one in every ten are converted after reaching the years of maturity," said the Rev. J. Thom, of Toronto, at the Mark Street Methodist Church last night, in speaking of the Moravian Church. Rev. Mr. Thom was a former pastor of Mark Street Church, and yesterday he preached the Sunday school anniversary sermons there. His discourse was a most impressive one, dealing with the duties of parents in the moulding of the minds of the children and the age at which the child should be educated in morality.

The music was very appropriate for the Christmas season. A solo was splendidly rendered by Mr. Miller. Rev. Mr. Thom founded his address on the second epistle of St. Paul to Timothy, the third chapter and the fifteenth verse,—"And that from a child thou has known the holy Scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus."

The text, he said, raises the question, "At what age is life should the child receive instructions concerning Christ?" There are many who believe that the child should reach the age of reason and discretion before being taught the principles of the higher life, but experience teaches differently. Neither did Paul think so. The Moravians, he said, were a class of people very widely known. They were the grandest people on the earth breathing God's atmosphere. Their religion stands for absolute consecration to God; they deny everything that does not have a tendency to spread Christ's kingdom. Their statistics show that not one in every ten are converted after coming to the years of maturity. It is essential in their religion that they must be converted in their infancy. Their theory is built on the very statements of God Himself. It was a fundamental idea in God's Word that the child should be educated in Christ in its early years.

Love Dated From Infancy

Richard Baxter, that magnificent hero who lived in the Puritan era in England, said he had no recollection that he did not love the Lord with all his heart from his very infancy. To please the Lord had been the dearest thing he had cherished in his heart.

Believer of Revivals

Rev. Mr. Thom said he was a thorough believer in revivals. There was a tremendous backsliding in human nature, a dragging influence to keep men down, and revivals were therefore necessary to keep morality before the minds of the multitudes. That grand old writer, Bushnell, said the speaker, has written that at the age of three years the father and mother have already done more to form the child's character than one-half of all they can do in the after years of its life.

Age of Impression

The age of impression of a child's life is the time of his life just before he begins to talk. This is the age during which he does his thinking and forms his ideas. It is therefore the parents' duty to see that the impressions made upon the child's mind should be of the right kind. There is no fact more widely known, said Mr. Thom, than that the noblest men of any age are the sons of the noblest mothers. The first years of moral impressions in a life are such as cannot thoroughly be altered.

In every child's mind there is an immense "inquisitiveness" which should be developed by the parents. If he should ask questions too difficult to answer, the parents should confess their ignorance. If the mother and father don't feed the youthful mind of the boy, he will learn from eager teachers of evil on the street corners. Teach the child what to do, he concluded, and not what he should not do.

On Friday evening of last week, at the close of the term's labours in the public school of S. S. No. 3, North Monaghan, the teacher, Miss Luella Deyell, was presented with a beautiful lady's companion, accompanied by the following address:

Dear Miss Deyell—

Will you kindly accept this little remembrance from us.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE GIRL FROM THE RANCH

The Girl from the Ranch will be presented at the Grand opera house, Christmas, matinee and night, by Mr. H. B. Hearn. It is a very superior comedy drama. The story contains much that is new and interesting. Mr. George Heath a very popular New York actor and author, will play the principal role. Miss Maud Neal, a very charming little actress of great merit, will play the opposite lead to Mr. Heath. Miss Neal was formerly with Mr. Nat Goodwin. Miss Madge Douglass, Miss Kathleen King, Mr. Melville Hunt, and Mr. J. L. Wooderson and others, will ably support Mr. Heath. The play is brimful of comedy and pathos; the plot deals with incidents in and around a frontier army post in Texas. The opportunities for strong dramatic situations are numerous. The play ought to draw crowded houses at both performances on Christmas day.

NO PETERBOROUGH FARM IS GOOD ENOUGH

Mr. Samuel Hamblin, After Spending Three Years in the West Does Not Want to Live Here Now—West Suits Him Too Well

FORMER WARSAW RESIBENT PROSPEROUS

After an absence of seven years in the West, Mr. Samuel Hamblin, a former resident of Warsaw, has returned to spend a few months visiting his friends in this county. He arrived in the city on Saturday and spent the greater part of the day renewing acquaintances with those with whom he was associated with before his removal to the West.

Mr. Hamblin was a blacksmith before he went West, but since he has been living in the land of wheat he has turned his attention to farming, and now owns and operates three-quarters of a section of the best farming land in the Deloraine district. Seven years ago Mr. Hamblin bought the land at $3.50 per acre, and this year was offered $29 an acre for it—an evidence of the increase in land values in the West.

Times have been prospering with Mr. Hamblin. His crop this year will run about 4000 bushels of wheat, and, at the prices, from 60 to 66 cents per bushel, he will have a little something to show for his season's work.

Modern methods of farming are employed by the farmers of the West, and machinery has become so specialized that Mr. Hamblin and one son are able to do the work on the three-quarters of a section of land. Harrows covering forty feet of ground and drawn by six horses are used, instead of ten-foot harrows employed by Ontario farmers.

The Deloraine section is considered one of the best in the Province. The crops are not always as large, but they are sure. Some heavy yields are reported, too. Mr. Hamblin's crops have gone as high as 51 bushels to the acre.

The movement which has been going on in the Western States for some few years is being duplicated in Manitoba. The American farmers have been selling their improved farms for good prices, and have been going to the Canadian West, where they were able to buy land better than that which they left, at a fraction of the price. Now the Manitoba farmers are doing the same thing. Many of those who went to the Province ten years ago have farms which they can sell for ten times what they paid for them when the country was younger. Many of these are selling their farms and buying up homesteads farther west. Mr. Hamblin's son this summer took up a farm, which, at the time of locating it, was 20 miles from a railway, but shortly afterwards a line was surveyed, and is now being constructed to run within four miles of his farm, increasing the value many fold. In The West, Mr. Hamblin says, is good enough for him, and he is content to spend the rest of his life there. "You could not give me," said Mr. Hamblin, "the best farm in the county of Peterborough, if a condition was that I should have to make my living off it."

The Examiner is a weekly visitor to his western home, and his appreciation of its visits is evidenced by the fact that he has ordered it sent and paid his subscription to the year 1911. He has had it ever since he went to the West, too.

THE CHATELAINE CAUSES TROUBLE

Husband Returns for Chatelaine and Falls From the Train—No Serious Injury

A careless wife was the cause of a great deal of trouble and pain to a travelling gentleman at the Grand Trunk station this morning and she was also the means of the temporary separation of the two. The Belleville train had been at the station some minutes and on account of the lateness of the Port Hope train, it was transferred into the first section of the 8.25 train for Toronto.

When the two had secured comfortable seats in the train the lady recollected of having left her chatelaine containing tickets for Toronto and a number of other articles on a seat in the waiting room. It was, of course the husband's duty to "thank" his wife for giving him the extra exertions and hasten to the waiting room. He returned just in time to touch the last coach but the train was moving too rapidly for him to mount the step.

His foot slipped on the frosty rail and he fell almost beneath the train. He attempted to catch the vanishing train but his attempts were all in vain. The train had gone with his wife on board and the tickets and himself behind.

He received some severe injuries in the fall and on arising was scarcely able to walk. A number of sympathizing friends gathered round to offer their condolence but the injured man treated the matter philosophically to all outward appearances and decided to wire Lindsay to delay his wife while he took the second section.

No distinction is made as to the kind of piles that Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid cures.

The names, Internal, External, Bleeding, Blind, Itching, Suppurating, etc., are simply the names of the different stages through which every case will pass if it continues long enough.

Piles are caused by congestion or stagnation of blood in the lower bowel, and it takes an internal remedy to remove the cause.

CHRISTMAS DAY WAS MARKED BY MANY RE-UNIONS

Great Gathersng of Old Boys and Girls Took Place Yesterday

HOW THE DAY WAS SPENT IN TOWN

Christmas day was marked by the home-coming of the greatest number of old boys and girls that ever came home to this city to eat their Christmas turkey under the parental roof. From all parts of the continent they came to spend the day with the loved ones of the home circle. The result was that old friends saw each other for the first time in years in some cases, and the day was a happy one on this account. The holiday was happily if quietly spent. The weather conditions were ideal, bright sunshine and clear frosty air making the day a typical Canadian winter one.

Among the young people the chief amusement of the day was skating, Brock street rink and Jackson Park rink were crowded both afternoon and night. At Brock street the largest crowd of the season was present in the afternoon and the ice was in splendid condition. It is estimated that there were at least 1,000 people at the Street Railway rink during the afternoon, and the slide was thronged with merry-makers.

The church services in the churches in the morning were well attended.

The offering at the Grand was "The Girl From the Ranch," a strong melodrama which was greatly appreciated by the two large houses which greeted the company at both afternoon and evening performances.

NEW PASTOR HERE ON JANUARY 13

Rev. John R. Webb Will Preach at Murray Street Church on that Day

Rev. J R Webb, who has accepted the call to become the pastor of the Murray street Baptist church of this city, has written to the clerk of the church stating that he will be in Peterborough in time to commence his duties on Sunday, Jan. 13th. He was asked to be here to preach his first sermon to his new congregation on the first Sunday in the new year, but has found it impossible to do so, his farewell sermons to his present congregation being arranged for January 6th.

SEPARATE SCHOOL TRUSTEES ELECTED

No Contest This Year—One in Each Ward Elected by Acclamation To-day

There will be no contest for the office of Separate School Trustee this year. This morning nominations were held to fill the vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of one trustee from each ward, and, since but one name was placed in nomination from each ward they are elected without a contest.

The result of the nomination proceedings is the election of the following gentlemen:—

M. L. Henry, 1st Ward.
James Henry, 2nd Ward.
J. J. Lynch, 3rd Ward.
T. J. Lane, 4th Ward.
James Clancy, 5th Ward.

The startling assertion is made and admitted by the government authorities that in Saxony, two thirds of all the cattle in the kingdom are affected with tuberculosis.

WEDDING BELLS

CAIN--IRWIN

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Dunsford, Victoria County yesterday in which the groom was a Peterborough man and at which a large number of Peterborough people were present. The bride was Miss Leocen Irwin, of Dunsford and the groom Mr. Michael Cain, son of the late Jas. Cain, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed at one o'clock by the Rev. Mr. Wallace, of Lindsay. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Irwin, while the groom's nephew, Mr. Samuel Cain, assisted him. The bride was attired in a beautiful dress of cream silk. She wore the bridal veil and carried a wreath of white carnations. The bridesmaid was dressed in Nile green crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. After the ceremony the usual wedding dinner, spread on prettily decorated tables was partaken of. The presents were numerous and handsome.

Mr. and Mrs. Cain left last night on a wedding trip to New York, and on returning will reside at 167 Aylmer street, Peterborough. The bride's going away dress was a pretty navy blue with a hat to match.

JENKINS--LAWLOR

This morning, in the parlours of the priest's residence, a wedding was performed by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, when Miss Frances Lawlor, daughter of Mr. Jos. Lawlor, of this city, was united in Marriage to Mr. George Augustus Jenkins, of Ottawa. The bride, who was suitably and prettily attired, was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes Lawlor, while Mr. Laughlin Cameron acted as groomsman. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where the usual wedding dejeuner was partaken of, prior to the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins on the 11.35 C. P. R. train for Ottawa, where they will reside.

MINTZ--FERREN

At St. Andrew's manse on Monday afternoon a quiet wedding was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, the principals in the interesting event being Miss Susan Ferren and Mr. Jas. Henry Mintz, both residents of Kinmount, to which town they returned after the ceremony, and where they will reside in the future.

WEIR--SMITHSON

Keene, Dec. 26.—The residence of Mr. Joshua Smithson, Zion, was the scene of an interesting event last evening, when his daughter, Ada, was united in marriage to Mr. James Weir, of Berlin, son of Mr. Robert Weir, of Lang, in the presence of about 100 invited guests.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Harrison, pastor of the Methodist church, at Keene, in the drawing room, which was very prettily decorated for the occasion. The bride was dressed in white silk organdie, trimmed with sequins and baby ribbon, and carried white roses and maiden hair ferns. The bride was attended by her sister, who wore white colliene, and carried pink roses and maiden hair ferns. Mr. Fred Weir, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman.

After the ceremony the bridal party and the numerous guests sat down to a dainty repast, after which Mr. and Mrs. Weir left for Berlin, where they will make their future home. The bride was the recepient of a large number of handsome and valuable presents, evidence of the esteem in which her many Otonabee friends hold her.

CHILDREN'S AID SANTA CLAUS AT WORK

Many Gifts Distributed Throughout the City—Christmas at the Shelter

The annual distribution of Christmas presents by the agent and caretaker of the Children's Shelter, took place on Monday afternoon. A large number of donations was made to the children throughout the city by Mr. Cochrane, which brightened up many a lonesome home.

Christmas at the Shelter was accompanied with great festivities, the children there being royally entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Henry. A Christmas tree assisted greatly in making the day one long to be remembered.

PRESENTATION OF PIPE AND OUTFIT TO MR. P. CANE

Some of the Members of St. Peter's T. A. S. Present Him with Fine Pipe

On Christmas eve an interesting affair took place at the T. A. S. rooms, when a number of the members presented Mr. P. Kane, the genial caretaker, with a complete smoking outfit, and an accompanying address.

Mr. Kane was very much taken by surprise but thanked his donors for their kindness for so thoughtfully remembering him.

The pipe is a splendid briar with amber mouthpiece, and, needless to say, will be highly prized by Mr. Kane.

CHARITY COMMITTEE IS NEEDED IN THE CITY

Clergyman Points Out That There Was at Christmas an Overlapping of Gifts Charitably Donated

A BETTER SYSTEM IS DESIRABLE

The need of a central organization charged with the distribution of the Christmas offerings of the congregations of the various churches in the city, was pointed out to the Examiner to-day by a local clergyman. He referred to the fact that as the work of dispensing Christmas cheer was being done at the present time, there was considerable overlapping, and a flood of good things was poured into some houses at this particular season, making paupers of some of the recipients.

The clergyman who made the suggestion to the Examiner, as outlined above was of the opinion that a central committee should be appointed by the Ministerial Association, which representatives from all the churches, and have the donations made through them. He had found in his dispensation of the good things provided by the members of his congregation that members of other congregations had in some cases, been sending goods as well; and the result was that they had been given more than they could possibly use, with the prospect that in the near future they would not have enough to meet their necessities.

People at this time of the year, he remarked, have a mania for giving, and often their gifts are not wisely bestowed, not, of course from any lack of good inclination but because there is not a proper system.

If some of the money donated at this particular season were kept and spent later in the winter for fuel it would be a service to the persons who will be greatly in need of it.

Probably next season, if the matter is taken up earlier, some scheme may be worked out along the lines as suggested by the clergyman to the Examiner.

MR. W. J. M'CALLUM EXPLAINS MATTERS

In Connection With the Rent of the Store in the City Block—Says He Did Not Offer $100 a Year

To the editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — In the issue of the Daily Review of the 24th, is a letter headed "Election Roarback." In it Mr. Moore states that I made an offer for the store next to me, recently occupied by Mr. Sheridan, of one hundred dollars a year. Mr. Moore is certainly labouring under a delusion. No reasonable or sane man, would make such an unreasonable offer. Such offer I never made. What I did say to Mr. Moore was that I thought that I was entitled to some consideration by the Commissioners, being the oldest tenant in the block, and that I would guarantee the rent of the store until the commissioners secured another tenant suitable to the commissioners. Mr. Moore tries to connect me with the letter signed "Ratepayer." I state here that I had nothing whatever to do with it, and did not know of its existence until I read it in the paper. Therefore Mr. Moore need not attempt to make campaign capital at my expense.

W. J. M'CALLUM.

It will assist the Committee very much in making their preparations for the At Home in aid of the Deep Sea Mission in the Oriental Hotel on New Years Evening if the invited guests would kindly apply for their tickets of admission at the Canadian Bank of Commerce as early as possible

Learn Dressmaking In Two Weeks

We teach you everything, from the finest shirtwaist to the most elaborate toilet, that can be found in the fashion books. And we will offer $25 to anyone, who, after taking a course with us can show us an article in dressmaking they can't cut, fit and put together; not only the lining, but all the outer goods in coats, skirts, wrappers, sleeves, collars, etc. Why spend months in a dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes, and then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. For you will know no more how to cut out a dress at the end of a year than you did the first day you went there. So why spend your time there when we can teach you in two weeks. You can come and try for a week and see for yourself what it's like, and as there is nothing to be paid in advance you certainly would not lose anything by trying. We have taught over 2,000 girls in this way within the past six years in Western Ontario, and all recommend it very highly.

Charge for full course is only $10.00, to be paid when course is completed, if satisfied, including one of the most perfect fitting systems in use, which we give free. We guarantee that the waists made by this chart will not draw nor pull out of skirt when raising arm.

An evening class will also be taught. In this class we will teach shirtwaists, sleeves, sacques and skirts. This course will be $6.00, and hours from 7 to 10.

We will teach at Peterborough from Jan. 21st to Feb. 2nd. Hours from 8.30 to 5. All wishing to learn for full particulars be sure to see us at the Oriental Hotel, Hunter street, on January 19th, between 10 and 5 o'clock.

Remember there is no pay in advance, you can all come and try.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

PREMIER GIVES SHOT-GUN CHANCE

Party Pressure Probably Forced B. C. House-Cleaning.

WHY MR. GREEN DROPS OUT

McBride Lightens Load and Springs General Election in British Columbia—Polling Will Take Place on Feb. 2 and New House Will Assemble on March 8—Announcement Expected For Weeks.

Victoria, Dec. 26.—Two notable political events have taken place within the past four days. On Saturday evening Hon. R. F. Green, Commissioner of Lands and Works, arrived home on the steamer Charmer from the mainland, and at once announced that he had retired from the Ministry and would not again be a candidate for Parliamentary honors in his own riding of Kaslo at the forthcoming Provincial general election. Mr. Green assigned no reason for the step beyond the statement that private business made it impossible for him to longer remain in the Administration or in politics, and that he left the Government with a sincere admiration for the Premier.

The other event was the announcement last evening of the dissolution of Parliament, an election on February 2nd and the meeting of the House on March 8th. This last announcement has been almost hourly expected for weeks, although it is probable that had the Premier been permitted to get an immediate appeal to the country he would have an election following closely on his attendance at the Better Terms Conference. There seems little reason to doubt that the Governor took the position that more than a month should elapse between dissolution and an election in a Province presenting such topographical features as British Columbia, and that the Premier in consequence did not get the vote at the time he wanted.

Resignation a Bombshell.

Mr. Green's resignation is the bombshell, especially in view of the relations existing between him and the Premier. He was regarded as the wicked partner of the Government, and the cunning craft came very useful when election funds were to be raised or election artifices employed. He was the Premier's first lieutenant and principal confidant, and it is certain that extraordinary pressure was brought to bear on Mr. McBride to compel him to dispense with his services. No one believes he is leaving voluntarily. Some attribute his withdrawal to pressure from Government House and others to influence within the party. Perhaps both are in a measure responsible for the move. It was around Mr. Green and his department that the Kitamaat land scandal and later the Kaien Island scandal raged, and his connection with the famous "band of adventurers, male and female," in this latter case became notorious.

A Shot-Gun Choice.

If the truth were known it would probably be found that the Premier was given option of choosing between the services of Mr. Green and the support of his party at one or two important points throughout the province, and that his choice was the shot-gun one. The President of the Council, Mr. Carter Cotton, is ambitious to occupy Mr. Green's portfolio. The latter's reference to the demands of private business is not taken seriously, as he has no important interests in the province that demand his attention.

The Liberal party is getting into good shape for the fight and will make a strong campaign. There are persistent rumors that Governor McInnes of the Yukon will re-enter provincial politics, and it is known that strong pressure has been brought to bear on him to do so. He would be a tower of strength to the Liberal party, and the call of the party for his magnetic personality in the campaign may become too persistent to be ignored.

LOSS IS $200,000.

Disastrous Fire in Virginia Shipyards on Christmas Day.

Newport News, Va., Dec. 26.—A large frame and sheet-iron building, containing carpenter, sheet iron and pipe fitters shops and riggers' and molders' lofts, was destroyed at the Newport News Shipbuilding & Drydock Co.'s plant by fire yesterday.

The Old Dominion liner Jefferson, which is being repaired in the drydock, was damaged to the extent of $10,000. It is estimated that the total loss will amount to $200,000, and will be fully covered by insurance.

Eddie Eddins, a fireman, was struck by a falling telegraph pole and fatally wounded.

In the carpenter shops were tool chests containing 200 ship carpenters' chests belonging to 200 ship carpenters. It is estimated that these men will lose in the neighborhood of $10,000, and their lose is not covered by insurance.

Premier Scott Recovering.

Regina, Sask., Dec. 26.—Premier Scott, who has been seriously ill for the past few days with pneumonia and complications, passed a better night, getting about two hours' sleep, but his condition is still very critical. His physicians, however, are sanguine of his recovery should no further complications set in.

$10,000 SCATTERED IN STREET.

Many Persons Arrested for Forgery to Cash Pay Cheques.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—A despatch from Dayton, Ohio, says:

An express messenger lost packages containing cheques amounting to $10,000 here Monday night. The cheques were for the employes of the Indiana, Columbus & Western Traction Co. The packages were lost in the express wagon, and were scattered along the streets in the city. Part of them were restored to the traction company officers by Charles Mittendorf and Ex-Councilman Adams. Some of the cheques were cashed by merchants here, names of employes being forged.

Numerous arrests have been made of persons who cashed the cheques.

Forty Buildings Burn.

San Salvador, Salvador, Dec. 26.—A fire which broke out Monday night completely destroyed forty of the principal buildings of Acajutla, including the market building. The wharf at the old port of Acajutla was completely destroyed by the storm.

Spring Weather At Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Dec. 26.—This city yesterday enjoyed one of the merriest Christmas celebrations in its history. Beautiful spring-like weather favored the festival and throughout the day the spirit of Christmas actuated everyone.

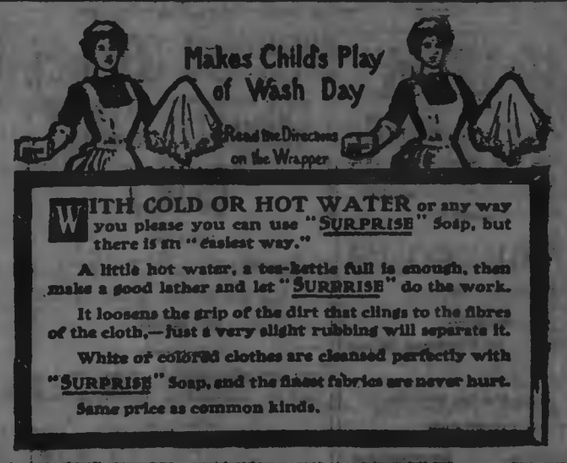
—Proprietor—



WITH COLD OR HOT WATER or any way you please you can use "SURPRISE" Soap, but there is an "easiest way."

A little hot water, a tea-kettle full is enough, then make a good lather and let "SURPRISE" do the work.

It loosens the grip of the dirt that clings to the fibres of the cloth,—just a very slight rubbing will separate it.

White or colored clothes are cleansed perfectly with "SURPRISE" Soap, and the finest fabrics are never hurt.

Same price as common kinds.

GENEROUS OFFER BY CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH

Largest Collection in the History of Sunday School Was Taken Up on Sunday

WILL BE DISTRIBUTED WHERE NEEDED

Christmas Sunday was a banner day in the history of the Charlotte street Sunday School. It was the occasion of the Christmas cheer offering. Scholars, teachers and officers together gave the largest collection in the history of the school, amounting to over $73.00, in addition to the regular offering—a total of over $80—for the afternoon.

A week previous each member of the school was furnished with a small envelope for Christmas cheer offering; and the result was a happy surprise for the school and many happy surprises for families where unfortunate circumstances would have prevented even a glow of brightness.

Of this amount $13.00 will be given to the Children's Aid Society. All families in need, that the committee could learn of, were relieved, but the major portion of the fund will be gradually distributed as occasion requires after the holidays as it is well known that the general munificence of Christmas week is a too flitting experience for many homes where continued sickness and misfortune exists.

The committee for distribution consists of Mrs. R. J. Kidd, Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, Mrs. W. Galbraith, Miss S. Campbell and Miss E. Morrow, and they will be glad to have deserving cases reported to them. An investigation of all cases will be made and the nature of the needs ascertained. Assistance is without regard to denominational affinity, in fact all cases relieved up to the present have been entirely separate from local church connections, the Ladies' Aid having generously provided for those immediately connected with the congregation, as well as others.

That it is more blessed to give than receive is the happy experience of the Charlotte street Sunday School. May it long be the practice!

CHRISTMAS BRIDES OF TOWNSHIP OF SMITH

Jopling--Kelly, Wilson--Blewett and Tedford--Stabler Nuptials Keep the Ministers Busy

ONE DAY'S CHAPTER OF WEDDINGS

Christmas Day in Smith township yesterday was a day of many weddings and in five homes at least it was a day of great rejoicing. In fact Smith township would be a rather poor place for a young man bent on matrimony to enter this morning. It was reported in the city this morning that the Methodist minister at Lakefield was so busy that he was forced to go without his Christmas dinner, and that he did not get supper until a late hour last night.

TEDFORD--STABLER

At 5 o'clock last evening at the home of Mr. Jas. Stabler, Smith, his daughter, Miss Charlotte, was united in marriage to Mr. Robt. Tedford, son of the late Robt. Tedford, of the same township. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Bedford, of Lakefield in the presence of a large number of the friends of the bride and groom. The bride was attended by Miss Nesbitt, of Peterborough and the groom was assisted by Mr. Roland Stabler, brother of the bride. The bride's dress was a pretty white silk and she carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid also wore white silk and carried carnations. A large number of wedding presents testified to the esteem in which the young couple are held in Smith. After the ceremony they left on a honeymoon trip for Toronto, Niagara, Buffalo and other places. Returning they will reside in Smith.

JOPLING--KELLY

A very pretty Christmas mid-day wedding took place in Bridgenorth yesterday, when Miss Whipple Kelly, daughter of the late W. B. Kelly, became the wife of Mr. Jas. Jopling, son of G. J. Jopling, of Bridgenorth. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Metzler, of Bridgenorth, at the beautiful residence of the bride's mother, which was artistically decorated for the occasion with flowers, evergreens and holly. The bridesmaid was Miss Beatrice Kelly, a sister of the bride, while Mr. Fred Jopling, brother of the groom, assisted him. Miss Jean Kelly, niece of the bride, was flower girl. The bride's dress was of pretty white silk trimmed with point d'esprit over chiffon taffeta. Miss Ida B. Sanderson played Mendelsohn's wedding march as the bride and groom entered the parlour.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome brooch set with pearls and emeralds, to the bridesmaid a pearl sunburst, and to the flower girl a pin set with pearls. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous dinner spread out prettily decorated tables. Many beautiful presents testified to the popularity of the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Jopling will reside in Bridgenorth.

BLEWETT--WILSON

The residence of Mr. John Blewett, Lakefield, was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening at 6 o'clock, when his daughter, Miss Effie, was united in marriage to Mr. George Wilson, son of the late Andrew Wilson, of Douro. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Bedford, of Lakefield. Miss Ethel Hunter, of Lakefield, assisted the bride, while the groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Harry Wilson, of Toronto. The flower girl was little Miss Hilda Wilson, of Young's Point, a niece of the groom. The bride's dress was of white silk, and she carried a bouquet of orange blossoms. The wedding march was played by Miss Stella Lennox, also of Lakefield. The usual wedding dejeuner was served after the ceremony. The happy couple were the recipients of a large number of useful and beautiful presents.

They will reside in Douro on the Warsaw Road, about seven miles from the city.

PRESENTATION BY EMPLOYEES TO MR. CLUXTON

Head of the Porcelain Department of the Canadian General Electric Company was Honoured by His Staff

AN ADDRESS AND LOCKET PRESENTED

An interesting event took place at the porcelain works of the Canadian General Electric Company on Tuesday, when Mr. W. Harold Cluxton, superintendent of that department, was presented by the employees with a beautiful gold locket set with pearls and opals. The following address, which accompanied the gift, was read by one of the employees: Mr. Cluxton.—

We, the members of this department, ask you to accept this small token as a mere remembrance of what you have done for us in the past years.

We assure you that you have fulfilled your duties towards us, in a manner that we cannot find words to express the good feeling that stands between you and your employees. We assure you that the highest respect and esteem is due you, and we hope that God may spare you for many long years to come. We all join in wishing you a merry Christmas and happy New Year.

OBITUARY

MATTHEW McCUE

A very unexpected death was that of Mr. Matthew McCue, which occurred at 3.30 this morning. The deceased returned on Monday to spend Christmas with his sisters, Mrs. M. Fitzgerald, of East City, and Mrs. McAuliffe who resides at the corner of Louis and Charlotte streets. On Monday evening he was suddenly stricken with paralysis, which gradually increased its hold upon him until death claimed him this morning.

The deceased was born in Fermoy, Cork county, Ireland, about 66 years ago, and has been in Canada for a period of 46 years. He was very well known in this city with tourists and sporting men. The only relatives here are Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. McAuliffe.

The funeral will take place Friday morning at 9 o'clock, from Mrs. McAuliffe's residence, at the corner of Charlotte and Louis streets, and proceed to St. Peter's cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

MR. R. S. COOK MAYOR OF PRINCE ALBERT

Former Local Man Wins Honours in the Canadian West

Peterborough men have not yet discontinued to make names for themselves in the Canadian North-West. A recent issue of the Prince Albert Advocate giving the particulars of the municipal elections there states that Mr. R. S. Cook, who is a former Peterborough man, was elected mayor of Prince Albert Sask. The same issue contains a large cut of Mr. Cook.

He defeated Mayor Bradshaw, who held the honour during the past year, by a majority of 5, the votes being 163 and 158. This was the largest ever polled in Prince Albert.

The Advocate, in commenting on the vote, says:

"The candidates and their friends were busy all day getting out as large a vote as they could. Public interest seemed to centre in the mayoralty and a good deal of money was wagered on the result. The odds had been on Mayor Bradshaw up till Monday morning but then Mr. Cook became the favourite and the feeling gained ground that he was going to be elected."

G. T. R. GATES ONCE MORE REPAIRED

Bridge Construction Men of G. T. R. Have Completed the Repairs

The work of repairing the gate at the G. T. R. crossing on Charlotte street is now completed, it being put into commission again this afternoon. The work was done by the G. T. R. bridge construction men under the supervision of Mr. Wm. Kearns. These gates are particularly unfortunate, having suffered frequent damage. The work of repairing them has been rather rapidly pushed, the material being obtained from Aldandale. The services of Mr. Chas. Noyes as flagman will be dispensed with now, as he can once more work both sets of gates.

STATEMENTS CREDITED TO DR. SYMONDS NOT UTTERED

Former Peterborough Rector in Letter to Rev. E. A. Langfeldt States He Did Not Say What Was Reported

NOT CONTRARY TO THE DOCTRINE

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — In a recent issue of your valuable paper you published a report from The World, to the effect that Rev. Dr. Symonds had preached in his church a sermon on the episcopate, in which he is supposed to have expressed views which are at variance with the formularies of the Church of England on that subject. After reading the same article I communicated with Rev. Dr. Symonds, and I am now able to say that the said article was a base falsehood and that Dr. Symonds did not express anything regarding the Episcopate contrary to the teaching of the Church of England.

In justice to Dr. Symonds, who has hosts of friends here, I made this statement yesterday from the pulpit, and would ask you to be kind enough to give it wide publicity.

Faithfully yours,

E. A. LANGFELDT.

OCCUPANTS OF CAB WERE UNABLE TO ESCAPE

Runaway Team Caused Great Excitement in East City Yesterday

An exciting runaway occurred yesterday in East City, which was almost accompanied with disatrous results. A cab containing a couple of gentlemen, was being driven over to East City, when the horses, which were a young and spirited team, became unmanageable and got away from the driver. The cab was turned over and for a time it appeared as if the occupants, who were unable to get out, would be injured.

Finally, however, one of the doors was broken open and the two rolled out. One gentleman received some injuries about the head, while the other escapd practically uninjured.

The cab was badly smashed and will need some repairs before it will be in commission again.

FIRST BANQUET OF LOCAL ENGLISHMEN

Held in the Montreal House on Monday Night—It Was a Decided Success

The dining room of the Montreal House on Monday night was the scene of the first annual banquet of the Englishmen in Peterborough. The event was a decided success in every respect. There were about 35 gentlemen who sat down to a full course dinner, which was one of the best ever prepared by Mine Host Laroque, which is certainly saying a lot. The banquet began at 8 o'clock, at the conclusion of which a number of toasts were run off. Mr. R. H. Shephard acted as toastmaster in a most satisfactory manner. There was also a good programme of songs and stories, which served to make the evening one of the most enjoyable possible.

With many thanks to Mr. Laroque for the excellent spread the gathering broke up at an early hour. The success that attended the promoters of the banquet on this, their first, gathering, should be encouragement enough to make it an annual event.

PETERBOROUGH VOCALISTS IN "MIKADO" OPERA

Mr. R. G. Denny Training a Number of Young People for Popular Musical Production—In Opera House

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 10th, 11th and 12th, about fifty young folks of Peterborough disport themselves in the Grand Opera House in Gilbert and Sullivan's most popular and famous production of comic opera, "The Mikado." Mr. R. J. Davey has been rehearsing them during the last few weeks, and with an augmented orchestra the production promises to be a most excellent one. The costmues are designed from those used at the original production at the Savory, London, Eng., and the wigs are provided by Clarkson, London, and Palmer, Montreal. The first dress rehearsal takes place in the opera house to-night, to which none but members of the company are to be present.

Further particulars will appear in these columns.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE GIRL FROM THE RANCH

"The Girl From the Ranch," the offering at the Grand yesterday, greatly pleased the large audience present at the matinee and evening performances. The play is a melodrama, the scenes of which are laid in the golden west at the time of the Indian troubles, and United States Cavalry, cow boys and Indians are the principal figures. The plot is a strong one, the unravelling of which proved intensely interesting. A strong vein of comedy ran through the play, an Indian scout, and an Irish Cavalry man being responsible for most of it. The presentation was the first given by the company in Canada and deserves crowded houses.

WERE PICKPOCKETS AT WORK IN CITY?

Young Man Lost Purse Containing Large Sum of Money

On Saturday night a local young man was relieved of his purse containing between forty and fifty dollars, in a store on George street. It is suspected that pickpockets were at work. The loss of several purses was reported to the police. Chief Rossel, however, thinks that the purses were lost through carelessness, and not through the work of light-fingered gentry who were unable to distinguish between "meum" and "tuum."

This year we have an unusually large assortment of

LAMP DEPARTMENT TO BE EXTENDED

Reported That Tenders Will be Called for in Couple of Weeks Time

It is understood that tenders will be called for in about two weeks time for the extension to the lamp department at the Canadian General Electric works. The brick has been purchased from Mr. Thos. Welch of Otonabee, and it is figured that the amount to be consumed will be about 300,000.

Mr. Welch will draw about 150,000 of the brick this winter, so that the work may be commenced as soon as possible after the contract is let. The remainder will be drawn next spring.

The building, it is said, will extend from the present lamp department south to Albert street, along Park, and it is probable will be about as large as the present lamp building.

RACE ARRANGED FOR NEW YEAR'S DAY

Driving Park Track is Now in Splendid Shape for Fast Work

The track at the driving park is in splendid condition at present, and many of the local followers of the turf are taking advantage of the opportunity to work out their horses.

A named race for local horses has been arranged for New Year's afternoon, and as a number of fast animals have been entered, the event should prove decidedly interesting.

The meeting towards the latter part of January should be one of the most successful ever seen in Peterborough. It is expected that there will be big fields of fast horses in all classes.

ICICLES A MENACE TO LIFE

Many Hang From the Eaves, Directly Over the Pavement, and Frequently Fall

A local gentleman made reference this morning to the icicles that hung over the entrance to the postoffice quite recently. He stated that he was entering the office by the Hunter street entrance the other day, when a large icicle dropped at his side. It was at least several feet in length, and, in his opinion, if it had struck him it would have killed him. This gentleman states that there were several of these in a row, just over the step where people are continually going in and out. If someone were killed or severely injured in this way there would be a general "howl" from the citizens, and therefore steps should be taken at once to prevent such a calamity. It seems that a local firm gave their estimates of the cost of putting up an eave-trough, but no further action was taken. This gentleman considers that an iron network placed about two stories up would be sufficient and would not be an eye-sore, and also would be comparatively cheap. There are many such masses of ice over the pavement in different parts of the city, and the wonder is that some person has not been injured before this.

FIRE BRIGADE GIVEN A MARK OF APPRECIATION

Mr. G. Walter Green Sends Cheque for $10, Which Brigade Gratefully Acknowledge

The Peterborough fire brigade received an appreciated Christmas gift in the shape of a cheque from Mr. B. W. Green for $10, as a recognition of the services of the fire brigade on the occasion of the last fire at the establishment of Mr. Green, some months ago.

In acknowleding this gift, the brigade has sent the following letter to The Examiner, with a request for its publication:

Editor Examiner,—

Kindly permit us the use of your columns to express, through them, to Mr. G. W. Green our sense of appreciation of the handsome cheque which he has forwarded our secretary, for $10, as a recognition of the work of the brigade at the time of the fire, of which Mr. Green was the victim. In doing what we did on that occasion, the members of the brigade were working to save, if possible, the property, and were not looking for reward, other than that which comes as a result of a realization of work conscientiously done.

Signed, on behalf of the members of the Peterborough fire brigade,

T. Rutherford, Chief.
J. H. Metheral, Asst. Chief.
J. Gibbs, Secretary.

QUALITY is our watchword. We have a full supply for Christmas, of the very best in Pineapples, Tomatoes, Cauliflowers, Celery, Florida Oranges, Grape Fruit Figs, Table Raisins, Spanish Grapes, Shell Oysters, etc., etc. Also beautiful Holly for which we are making only a very small charge. THREATEN TO BURN THE TOWN DOWN Negroes Fortify Themselves Two Miles From Wahalak, Miss.

SOUTH'S RACE WAR GOES ON

Troops Called Out After Fresh Clash Between Races In Which Several Persons Are Reported Killed—Whites in Country Around Have Armed Themselves and One Party is Fifty Strong.

Wahalak, Miss., Dec. 26.—Conductor Robert Harrison of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad was ambushed and seriously wounded by a negro Monday night, died yesterday. The origin of the racial troubles here was caused primarily by the meeting in a narrow roadway of wagons driven by a white farmer and negro respectively. The negro abused the white man, who reported the occurrence to the white villagers at Wahalak. Whites immediately organized themselves, and in a fight with the negroes of the community a number of white men were killed, including one of the most prominent of the villagers.

The number of negroes killed in the riots has not been approximated, but dead negroes have been found in many parts of the settlement since the trouble started.

Troops Called For.

Meridian, Miss., Dec. 26.—Railroad men who have just arrived from Scooba report a fresh clash between the races. Several persons are reported killed. This report, however, has not been confirmed. Scooba is seven miles from Wapeleka.

Under instructions of Governor Vardaman, 25 members of the local military company boarded an engine and left at 10 o'clock for Scooba. Additional troops will leave on a special train as soon as it can be made ready.

It was reported early yesterday that a body of negroes had fortified themselves two miles from Wahalak and announce they will resist any effort to dislodge them.

Threaten to Burn Town.

They threaten to burn the little town and the white people are alarmed. The whites all around the country have armed themselves and one party of fifty armed persons have arrived there from Columbus, Miss.

Two negroes, Tom and Jim Simpson, are reported to have been killed by whites Monday afternoon before the arrival of the troops.

At 3.30 yesterday morning firing was heard near the centre of the town, but after a few scattering shots quiet was restored and no explanation has been forthcoming.

Col. McCants announces that he will place a Gatling gun in position, and use it if necessary.

Wahalak is 25 miles south of Meridian, on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad.

The Negro Problem.

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 26.—Dr. Booker T. Washington of Tuskegee, at a banquet Monday night, speaking of the situation in the south, said:

"We cannot expect to win our battles in the south or north by a policy of antagonism.

"Civilization soon tires of a race, as of an individual, that continually whines and complains. And, likewise, the country will not tolerate any element in the population abusing and cursing the chief executive."

Disorders in Cuba.

Havana, Dec. 26.—In consequence of complaints of many depredations by armed bands of ex-insurgent negroes in the province of Santa Clara, which the rural guards have not been able to run down, four troops of the 11th Cavalry and two companies of the 27th Infantry will leave Camp Columbia to-day for Santa Clara to reinforce the 15th Cavalry stationed there and thoroughly scout the disturbed district. The orders are to continue operations until there is a complete restoration of order and confidence in the province.

Rumors were recently in circulation of an impending uprising in Santa Clara province, and it is not yet known whether the bands are revolutionists or merely bandits.

Interference in Congo Urged.

New York, Dec. 26.—A letter signed by J. Pierpont Morgan, Dr. Lyman Abbott and other prominent citizens of this city, was addressed to Secretary of State Elihu Root yesterday, directing his attention to conditions in the Congo Free State, where, it is asserted, "flagrant inhumanity exists," and urging him, on behalf of the American people to urge the "moral support" of the United States Government to correct the abuses the Congo natives are alleged to be suffering from.

Train Strikes Trolley Car.

Ashtabula, O., Dec. 26.—The Buffalo-Pittsburg Flyer yesterday struck a trolley car on the Ashtabula Rapid Transit Line at the Lake street grade crossing on the Lake Shore Railroad. The street car was demolished. Leonard Newbold of Ashtabula, aged 17, was killed, and 14 others more or less seriously injured.

500 Animals Cremated.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 26.—Five hundred horses and mules were burned in Harper Bros.' livery stable yesterday morning. The loss is about $100,000. The fire was started by safeblowers, who exploded the safe in the office, the shock overturning the lamp.

A Christmas Record.

Fort William, Dec. 26.—For the first time in the history of the port, a steamer entered the harbor on Christmas Day. The Woods yesterday morning was towed without difficulty by the tug Wayland from Port Arthur to Fort William.

Employees in salt works never get cholera, scarlet fever, influenza or colds.

SAFE AND SANE.

In these days of inflated capitalization and wild optimism, it is worth any investor's while to study the sane business proposition which Western Oil and Coal Consolidated OFFERS to investors. One of the best opportunities for making large profits on a small investment that has come before you for a long time. The Company owns the only known oil lands in British Columbia that are on a railway. They own two wells that experts say will produce, at least, 100 barrels of oil per day. They have let a contract for drilling five more wells that are likely to be even more productive. They own 26,240 acres of oil and coal lands in Alberta and British Columbia; and there is little doubt but that within a year they will have, at least, a production of 500 barrels of oil per day on that land. Under their Charter, which is a very valuable one, being a special Act obtained from the Legislature of Alberta, they have the right to build pipe lines anywhere, and to construct tramways to carry their coal. They have successfully prospected for and obtained the oil on some of their lands, and there is every reason to believe that their other oil lands are as good, probably much better than those they have already Proved. J. W. Warren, of the Winnipeg Oil Company, says, in an official report, that he "never found anywhere a crude oil equal to the Alberta production," and he adds that "it seems impossible to doubt that the Alberta wells will in the future be able to supply the Canadian market."

WESTERN

Another oil expert, of well known standing, who has made a fortune out of oil, closes his report with the following:—

"I have no hesitancy in saying that it is the most promising oil field I have ever examined, and I have been in every oil field on this continent, excepting California and Texas, and operated both as producer and refiner in Canada, Ohio and Pennsylvania."

If you had invested $1,000 in the Home Oil Company, of California, seven years ago, your investment to-day would have been worth $375,000. If you had invested $1,000 in the Standard Oil Company, twenty years ago your investment to-day would be worth $6,500,000.

OIL

The oil lands of this Company are only a part of the resources in which you have an interest when you invest in the shares of the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated. The Company owns fourteen square miles of coal lands in British Columbia, which adjoins the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's lands and through which the Great Northern Railway now passes, and fifteen square miles of coal lands in Alberta. The Company also owns a mine at Chipman Creek, in Alberta, on which it has been estimated that there are 12,000,000 tons of coal; that is to say, the Company has sixty times as much area of coal land unprospected as now constitutes the Chipman Creek mine, on which it is estimated there are 12,000,000 tons of coal.

Not one gold mine in forty has ever paid its shareholders a dollar; not one silver mine in sixty-four has ever paid to its shareholders a dividend. On the other hand, 97 per cent. of the coal mines and oil fields have been a great success, and have made their proprietors enormously wealthy. $1,000 invested in the Crow's Nest Coal Company ten years ago would be worth to you to-day $275,000. The late Robert Dunsmuir, with less than $1,000, laid the foundation on Vancouver Island for his great fortune, which it is estimated to-day is worth $41,000,000, and made it all out of coal.

AND

Coal and oil are as necessary in the domestic economies of life as food and clothes. An eminent financier who died worth $70,000,000 said to a young man who enquired from him as to the source of his great fortune: "For certainty of profits invest in necessities." Oil and Coal are necessities. In the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated you will have an investment in two of the most profitable commodities that are produced by mining. Greater fortunes have been made in the production of these than have ever been made in any other class of mining. The Western Oil and Coal Consolidated own their properties and the titles are vested in the Company. The Company is managed by business men, who have invested largely in the Company's shares. If they are to make money for themselves they must make money for you—that is evident. In the consolidation of the various companies which are merged into the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated there was not a share of stock given to anyone for promotion. There is no one who received a share of this Company's stock without paying for it; everyone has been obliged to pay for the preferred stock the same price at which you can buy it now, but you will readily understand that when you are offered Cumulative Preferred shares bearing interest at 6 per cent., guaranteed by $367,500 worth of assets, and in addition to this you are offered a bonus of an equal number of Ordinary Shares, that you are getting an investment which is far beyond the ordinary. For this reason the Directors of the Company, who are men of business sense, feel that they cannot afford, in the interest of those who have already invested, to continue to give the bonus of share-for-share.

COAL

Therefore, the bonus of share-for-share will be withdrawn after December 31st, 1906. Till then you can participate in this excellent opportunity; after that, if there are any of the 10,000 Preferred shares left, which is doubtful, the bonus will be considerably reduced, probably to over half, or withdrawn altogether. If you are a business man of ordinary business discretion, and have money to invest, you cannot make any mistake by carefully examining and investigating this proposition. The shares are selling rapidly, and it is not expected that there will be any left after the 31st of December. If you want to know more write to John N. PETERBOROUGH WON THEIR FIRST GAME OF SEASON

Defeated Marlboros After an Interesting Struggle by 13 Goals to 12 Last Night

TEAM MADE A FINE SHOWING

The Peterborough seniors demonstrated that they are fast enough for senior company last night when they defeated the senior Marlboros in Toronto by 13-12, after a see-saw struggle. The game was a good one and the locals apparently made a good impression on the Toronto fans. It was a fine start to what promises to be a successful season. A despatch says of the game:—

Peterborough squeezed out a one-goal victory over the Marlboros last night in the opening game at the Mutual Street Rink last night, and demonstrated very conclusively that they will take a lot of beating in the race for senior honours this year. The score was 13 to 12, and the holders of the intermediate championship won by running in three goals in the last few minutes of play, when the Dukes looked like pulling off the trick. The half-time record was 6 to 4 in favour of the visitors, who were apparently in much better shape than the local outfit. On form the Electric City septette were entitled to a victory, doing much better work individually and collectively than the blue-shirted crowd, who were without the services of Birmingham and Chappelle. The former's absence made quite a difference. Had he been on the job many of the well-meant centres of the fast Marlboro wing men would not have been wasted. Quigley did well at times, but on the whole was slow in taking advantage of his opportunities. Peterborough's line-up was changed about, also, Lang, a City League graduate, replacing Wasson, in goal, while Parnell and Rose, new men, were on the wings. All three made "good" without any question, and the impression was general that Peterborough will go a long way in the struggle for first place in the senior O. H. A. schedule. There was a fairly large crowd present, and the contest was played on good keen ice. The visitors were an hour late in arriving at the rink, owing to imperfect railway connections. Referee W. J. Morrison handled the game in fairly good style, and there were few complaints. Whitcroft was the star performer, his rushes from end to end taking down the house. Morgan was a close second to him in point of ability. Crowley played a strong game at cover-point. For the Marlboros, Kent and Brown carried off the honours. They are both good skaters and stick-handlers, and in addition shot well. Brown played junior last year, and on his last night's form is a decided "find". Quigley and Forbes were good in spots. Only Tyner's clever stopping saved the Marlboros from a decisive defeat. He was handicapped badly by the inexperience of the players in front of him, but stopped everything stoppable. The teams and officials:—

Referee—W. J. Morrison. Goal umpires—Dr. Crawford and Joe O'Grady. Timers—Herb Birmingham and T. McDonough. Penalty—Dr. Andrews.

The Marlboros got off at a fast clip and Kent scored from a pass of Brown's in 2.30. Peterborough got the next after Tyner had made some good stops, Glover making the point in 7 minutes from a pass over by Parnell. Brown and Quigley combined for the third in a little over three minutes, and Kent made the score 3 to 2 in favour of the Marlboros by a good shot at close quarters in two minutes more. The Marlboros had the better of the next game, but Crowley tallied for Peterborough by a long shot, the puck glancing off Upthegrove's skate past Tyner. Kent scored the sixth, cleverly taking the puck from Glover when he attempted to clear. Crowley was ruled off for slashing in the seventh game, but while he was an absentee Morgan and Whitcroft broke away for a nice count. With Forbes on the fence for a trip Peterborough landed the eighth, Rose getting the point on a scramble. Whitcroft scored in short order for Peterborough by a great end to end rush and then, after some even-up play, Whitcroft landed another in four minutes. Brown was hurt by a crack over the nose and Peterborough dropped Rose to even up. The half-time score was 6 to 4. In the second half the teams were complete and Whitcroft made the score 7 to 4 in favour of Peterborough, in less than two minutes. Then Rose was ruled off for loafing offside and Crowley for slashing, and though playing two men short Peterborough made it interesting. Brown got away and Kent took the centre neatly and scored in five minutes. Whitcroft and Kent mixed it in the corner and were ruled off and Morgan tallied by a nice shot after Rose had carried the puck down. Glover was hurt and retired, the Marlboros dropping Forbes, Whitcroft and Morgan combined for a score in two minutes and Peterborough led by 9 to 5. With Glover off the Marlboros worked like demons and seemed to have no trouble in piercing the Peterborough defence, scoring five goals in succession, three in less than a minute. Individual rushes by Upthegrove, Kent and Brown were responsible. Another was scored but it was not allowed, the referee's whistle having blown for an accident to Goalkeeper Lang, who was out of the nets. Peterborough got the twelfth on a good rush of Parnell, but the Marlboros came back with two more and score was 12 to 10 with less than five minutes to play. Then Rose pleaded illness and retired, taking Quigley off with him. With five men a side on the ice Peterborough's speed and condition counted and Crowley scored twice in three minutes and Morgan landed the winning goal shortly before time. The summary:—

They were defeated by the close score of 5 to 3, the half-time score being 3 to 1 in favour of Stirling. The game was played in the afternoon on an open-air rink. The boys report having a good time, although they were defeated.

Mr. Joseph Harris, jr., is not improving as fast as his friends would like.

Sunday was observed as Sunday school day in the Methodist church, two very timely, excellent and appropriate sermons being preached by the pastor, Rev. C. S. Reddick. In the morning his remarks were to the children and in the evening to the older members of the congregation, the subject—"How to study the Bible. On the Monday evening following a Christmas tree and entertainment under the auspices of the school, was given. An excellent programme was provided by the school.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means a destroyer, or killer, of "Herpes". Now, "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair: this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys, after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Examiner Special.

Havelock, Dec. 26. — On Friday last a man walked into Mr. S. S. Joyce's story in this place, and purchased $11 worth of footwear. He gave in payment a cheque endorsed by the Graham Bros., of Clarenfort, for $30, which he asked the merchant to cash for him, as the bank here had closed for the day. Mr. Joyce agreed to cash it, as he knew the Graham Bros. quite well, and the stranger received the boots and $19 in change. The cheque has since been discovered to have been forged.

The police are after the man but up to the present they have not been able to secure him.

THE GIFT THAT PAID

She Thought It Worthless, But It Saved Her From Penury.

"It must have been all of ten years ago," said D. G. Moran to an interviewer, "that I helped a certain Toronto man choose a queer Christmas gift for his wife; and it took her eight years to forgive me for my part in the choosing.

"This chap was supposed to be wealthy. He had a good income, and he spent every cent of it with an assiduity worthy of a better cause. This particular Christmas he was at his wits' end to think of something different to give her, and it was in sheer desperation that he finally decided to give her mining stock. She had furs enough for two, jewelry galore, and he had long before exhausted all the resources of his taste in lavishing gifts on her. The only thing that he could think of was mining stock for that Christmas. He came to me to help choose the stock, and I recommended Crow's Nest Pass Coal shares — a new company in a new country, but the shares were cheap, I thought, and had good possibilities.

"So this chap bought a thousand shares—paid some trifling sum per share for them, although it amounted to quite a lot in the total, and he gave her the shares on Christmas morning with pride. Of course she was too good a fellow to show disappointment; and it turned out afterwards that what she really had wanted that Christmas was a Great Dane pup — Great Danes were just coming into fashion. But she took the shares and thanked him and registered a grudge against me, (he had told her how clever I was to help him choose), and she packed those shares away in an old trunk and forgot that she ever saw them.

"It was about eight years after he died. When we came to look into the estate we found that he hadn't a dollar left — been living right up to his income. The widow was pretty nearly destitute. She made up her mind to go to some of her kin in Scotland. Bitter pill all right, but she hadn't any choice, she thought.

"When she started in to pack and get rid of the accumulated trash of years, she ran across this bunch of mining shares. I happened to be there, trying to do what I could to smooth things for her; and she smiled a sad little smile as she handed me the envelope bulging with Crow's Nest stock, and said, 'I never did forgive you for helping him get me that for Christmas. Burn it.'

"I had forgotten all about it years before. But I was knocked all in a heap for a moment. Do you know that those despised, forgotten shares were worth pretty nearly six figures? Well, they were.

"That woman is living comfortably now on the income from the Crow's Nest stock — you know what the dividends have been of late years. Shows that there are worse things to give your wife than mining stock—coal mining stocks especially — does it not?"

In its essentials the foregoing is a literal transcrip of facts. The woman in question is living in Toronto to this day, and is well known as a patron of many charities.

The business men back of the new and substantial oil and coal corporation, Western Oil and Coal Consolidated, believe that they have a property that will record as great and rapid an increase in values as even the famous Crow's Nest Pass itself. Would not a few shares of this company's preferred stock which bears guaranteed dividends of six per cent per annum, be a sensible and profitable Christmas gift for your wife?

Think it over and telephone or call upon John N. Lake, resident director of the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated, at 114 King street west, Toronto, for additional details and proofs of the strength of this proposition as an investment.

The Preston, Eng., Free Library Committee, has decided to distribute hundreds of pictures among the elementary schools of the town with the object of teaching them history. The pictures deal with the poetry, legends and history of the country, and the great events of the world.

BIGGEST HUNT YEAR IN HISTORY OF ONTARIO

G. T. R. Gives Returns Which Show Remarkable Increase in Number of Deer Killed During the Open Season

UNITED STATES HUNTERS INCREASE

From the latest returns received by the Grand Trunk Railway system whose lines tap the best territory in Ontario for fish and game, it appears in comparison that the season of 1905, the hunters of last fall had a full measure of success.

During the fifteen days open season of 1906 the Canadian Express Company alone transported 3,100 carcasses of deer with an aggregate weight of 318,215 pounds, all of these being shipped from points on the northern division and Ottawa division of the Grand Trunk, against a total of 2,796 carcasses in 1905, or an increase of 304 deer with an increase in weight of 11,820 pounds.

The districts from which the largest numbers were shipped were the Magnetawan River (Burk's Falls) Trout Creek, South River, Lake of Bays, (Huntsville,) Kearney, Powassen, and the Haliburton region. This number of course cannot be taken as an estimate of the number killed as a large number are eaten by the hunters in camp, and a large number are transported home by the settlers. When it is considered that nearly 5,000 hunters were in the several districts during the open season and that each hunter is allowed by law two deer, it can be conservatively estimated that close upon 10,000 deer were killed during the fifteen days of the open season between November 1st and November 15th.

From other authentic information it is found that during the last seven or eight years deer have been seen from 150 to 200 miles further north than they were found before.

Instead of diminishing in numbers, the deer in the "Highlands of Ontario" are increasing. The woods are full of them and the game laws are so well enforced by the Ontario Government that good hunting in that territory is assured for years to come.

Without a doubt the hunting season of 1906 in the Province of Ontario has seen the largest influx of hunters that has ever been. Not only from the towns and cities of Ontario have the nimrods turned out in large numbers, but from the sister province of Quebec and from the United States many have taken advantage of the well known attractions that appeal to lovers of sport and the life in the woods following the chase.

Peterborough Needs A New Collegiate Institute

Citizens Express Their Opinions on the By-law which Ratepayers Will Vote on at Next Municipal Elections -- Some Reasons Why It Should be Supported.

MR. DUMBLE BELIEVES IT WILL CARRY

Interest in the Collegiate Institute bylaw, which the ratepayers of the city will vote on at the approaching municipal elections, is being awakened, and, judging by the feeling, which seems to be pretty general, the vote will be favourable to the proposal of the Board of Education, as represented by the bylaw.

The business men, and the city's most substantial men, are heartily in accord with the Board of Education, in the determination of that body to provide Peterborough with a modern Collegiate Institute, one that will not only meet the requirements but will be a credit to the city.

The Examiner to-day had an interview with Mr. Dumble on the question, and his opinions are worthy of consideration. He was asked the question, "What do you think about the Collegiate Institute bylaw?" and his reply was:

"I think the bylaw should be carried."

"Can you give me some of your reasons?"

"Yes; Peterborough never owned an institute building; the trustees rented from the Public School Board. The School Board now want the building for Public School purposes and the building of an institute cannot be avoided. I have always been in favour of erecting such an building, but I did not approve of spending $100,000 on it.

"The present plans provide all required present accommodation, and can be completed for about $61,000. You know the people by their vote for $50,000, approved an expenditure of that much, but selecting the Central Park for a site took $10,000, leaving only $40,000 for the new building; meanwhile everything has got more costly, labour, materials, etc., and $40,000 will not now put up a building that would be creditable to the city. Why, Port Hope has a new Collegiate, Cobourg has a splendid new Collegiate, and is now finishing an eight room public school that will cost with the land, $40,000. Galt voted $50,000 for an Institute, but when half up the money was exhausted, they sent back to the people for more and were turned down. Our Board didn't want to get into that trouble, so they have candidly submitted the whole matter to the people. It is their matter. We have 300 pupils in the Institute, and we cannot afford to break up the school and be laughed at by the whole country. The Board have carefully gone into the whole matter. One thing is certain, they will not let the contracts unless they are within the amount the people put at their disposal. You see the Ontario Government are going back to Parliament for more money to build the Normal Schools, as the tenders ran far beyond the estimates. We are doing the same thing, and we believe the people will help the Board when they are making an honest effort to deal candidly with the people, and to put up a building without extravagancies, yet respectable and worthy of the site and the city. We are a good progressive city, but in school buildings we are a back number. Any new buildings put up must not bring shame on us."

"Then you think the people will carry the bylaw?"

"I certainly do; they want to be treated with respect and confidence, and what is reasonable and fair they will always support. So far I have not heard one man oppose the grant. With the armoury, the Collegiate, the Model School, the addition to the North Ward school, the big Coates concern, etc., we will have a booming trade next year; but it is only the beginning, as there are indications of great growth for our city, will add greatly to our population. Our city has doubled in fifteen years yet we have not increased our school accommodation. Our present school extension is forced on us, and we must meet the demands."

"Good-bye."

A NEW HACK ADDED TO MR. R. GIBBS' LIVERY

A Beauty in the Line of Modern Conveyances—Addition to Already Efficient Livery

The majority of people about town have no doubt noticed the fine new hack that Mr. R. Gibbs has added to his already well equipped livery. It has not a very large appearance, yet its capacity is the same as the ordinary hack. It is finished on the exterior in an up-to-date manner, the colour effect being particularly attractive. The prevaling shade is a dark green relieved in appropriate places by yellow and white. The inside fittings and upholstering are in keeping with the general excellence of the outfit. It was procured in Montreal and will no doubt be specially patronized by Mr. Gibbs' present patrons and others.

FRED McMASTER'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER OUSE

Young Norwood Man's Death Under Mysterious Circumstances—Cousin Found His Body This Afternoon

MISSING SINCE CHRISTMAS DAY

This afternoon Dr. Gray, the County Coroner, received word from Norwood to the effect that a nineteen year old youth, named Fred McMaster, a son of James McMaster, of that town had been missing from his home since Christmas night and that this afternoon his cousin had found his dead body in the River Ouse. No circumstances associated with his death, whether it was accidental or with suicidal intent are available, the coroner simply receiving word as above.

He will, however, go to Norwood to-night and make an investigation into the circumstances of the case.

The young man has been living in Norwood for some years, and was well and favourably known, and his sudden death under these circumstances has cast a gloom over the village.

A POPULAR FOREMAN IS HONOURED

Mr. J. A. Brown Given Address and Silver Shaving Set by Employees of C. G. E. Company

Mr. J. A. Brown, one of the foremen of the Porcelain Department, of the Canadian General Electric Company, is very popular with the employees of that department, as is evidenced by a presentation which he was the subject of on Monday, when, on behalf of the employees, he was presented with a silver shaving mug, a brush and safety razor, accompanied by the following address:—

Mr. J. A. Brown,

Dear Sir,—We, the members of this department, wish to show you upon your behalf, the many friends that you have made for yourself, in the past years, as foreman of this department. We ask you to accept this small token as a mere remembrance of us, and we wish that God may spare you for many long years to come, and that you may receive the highest esteem from every one of us.

We all join in wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Signed on behalf of the employees.

Mr. Brown acknowledged the receipt of the gift in a modest speech in which he spoke of the happy relations which had always existed between himself and the employees of the department, and expressed the hope that this condition would always continue.

Warmest Day Of The Whole Month

December has been a genuine winter month, the thermometer to-day at noon registering the highest temperature for the month, 34 degrees above zero. It will thus be seen that the last 27 days have been singularly cold for this month. The warm weather being experienced to-day, however, is not to be with us long. Strong winds are due from the west and north, and it will be a little colder to-morrow.

BANK OF TORONTO TO KEEP THE CITY'S ACCOUNT

Their Tender was Accepted by the City Bodies at a Joint Meeting Held Last Night

THEIR TENDER THE LOWEST RECEIVED

A meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council, the Water Commissioners, the Commissioners of the City Trust, and the Board of Education was held last night for the purpose of receiving a report from the Special Committee appointed to deal with the question of what bank would be given the city's accounts.

There were present, Mayor Boat, in the chair; Ald. Johnston, Elliott, Duncan, Bill, Graham, Mason, Wilson, McIntyre and McWilliams.

Board of Education—Messrs. Wm. Pringle, E. F. Ackerman, W. H. Hill, Robt. Fair, Dr. Morrison, L. M. Hayes and John Crane.

City Trust Commissioners—Messrs. W. H. Moore, John Carnegie, Robt. Innis, Jas. Stevenson.

Water Commissioners—Messrs. W. H. Moore and W. H. Hill.

The Special Committee had met in the afternoon, and had decided upon their report, which was presented as follows:

To the Committee of the Whole Council, Board of Education, Water Commissioners and City Trust Commissioners.

"Gentlemen,—Your Special Committee, appointed in reference to your banking business, beg leave to report that we asked the chartered banks doing business in the city, for tenders, and having considered the tenders received, we recommend that the lowest, that of the Bank of Toronto be accepted, and that the accounts be transferred to it from January 1, 1907."

In connection with the report of the committee Ald. Elliott expressed his opinion that, in view of the fact that during the past year, Hon. Senator Cox had come to the help of the council at least three times, in its efforts to secure new industries, and that, in all probability had it not been for his assistance they would not have been induced to locate in this city, the council should, as a mark of appreciation of his services, in this, and other respects, give the city's account to the Bank of Commerce, in spite of the fact that that that bank had not tendered for it.

He pointed out that as a direct result of the Senator's action in inducing the industries to locate here, at least half a million dollars would be spent in and near the city in the immediate future, and stated his opinion that the city could not do less than offer the account to the institution of which he is the head.

The report was adopted on motion of Ald. Johnston, seconded by Mr. W. H. Hill, although some of the members thought that the city's banking business should be divided up among two or more banks.

A PRESENTATION TO MR. J. M. GREENE ON TUESDAY

Was Remembered by the Members of the Salvation Army Band

A very pleasant surprise was in store for Mr. J. M. Greene, the leader of the Salvation Army Band, on Christmas morning. The members of that organization were assembled in the barracks, just prior to starting out for their usual Christmas serenade. The members were all present, when Adjutant Wiggins advanced and read an address to Mr. Greene, the efficient leader, eulogizing his services as musical director during the year he has served in that capacity. He then presented Mr. Greene with a beautiful gold watch, with his monogram engraved upon it.

Mr. Greene was, needless to say, much affected by the kindness of the bandsmen and the lady members in remembering him, and made a splendid speech of acceptance. He mentioned the goodwill that existed among the members and himself, and the willingness with which they followed his suggestions. He hoped that this condition would always exist, and it would surely result in the further development of the band, numerically and in point of excellence.

THE COLLEGIATE IN STITUTE BY-LAW SHOULD CARRY

This is the Opinion of Ex-Alderman Frank Adams—Reasons For His Views

NEW BUILDING IS BADLY NEE

Ex-Ald. Adams is strongly in favour of the bylaw to provide an additional $21,000 for Collegiate Institute purposes which will be presented to the electors on Jan. 7th. An Examiner reporter saw Mr. Adams this afternoon in reference to the matter and found that he thought that the bylaw should receive the support of everyone.

Mr. Adams said that he thought that anyone who had the best interest of the city at heart could not fail to support the bylaw. He had heard no opposition to it and did not think that there would be any. In fact he heard no one speak either for or against the bylaw.

The ex-alderman said that with $50,000 had already been voted for the purpose of building a Collegiate Institute, there was no other reasonable course to pursue but to vote the extra money needed to complete the building. He thought that there was no doubt that a new Collegiate Institute building was needed, and for these reasons was in favour of the bylaw which he thought would carry without trouble.

INTERESTING LECTURE WILL BE DELIVERED

By Rev. Father McColl on January 8th in Grand Opera House on "Crisis in France"

The lecture on "The Crises in France," by Rev. Father McColl, takes place in the Grand Opera House on Jan. 8th, not Dec. 8th, as was stated yesterday. Rev. Dr. Terrance will take the chair. The lecture will be preceded by a limited programme of good music comprising solos, vocal and instrumental and a few glees. The extraordinary excitement in Europe over not only the struggle against the Church of Rome in France but against all forms of Christianity in both Germany and France, has roused public interest in this continent to a high pitch. There will be an admission fee of 25 cents to all parts of the house. The lecture is the 4th of the winter series of the Young Conservative Club.

UNION LABELED

THURSDAY, DEC. 27, 1906.

BY WAY OF EXAMPLE

Capt. Chauncey D. Pool and Jacob O. Johnson, surfmen, are dismissed from the life-saving service by the United States authorities, says the Brantford Expositor, because they failed to make a satisfactory showing of effort for the rescue of four men who were lost from the Holland breakwater during the gale of November 21. It is not a demonstrable fact that they would have been able to accomplish a rescue, no matter what risks they had taken, but the fact that told against them was that, in the estimation of the contractor whose men were lost, they did not exhaust the possibilities of endeavour in behalf of the imperilled men. A shot line was thrown toward the imperilled men and it missed its mark. The gale was so furious and the sea so appalling in its power that there was probably not one chance in a hundred of reaching the men in a surf boat, but it would have been better for the reputation of the station crew if a determined attempt had been made at the risk of the lives of the rescuers. They did not make the attempt. They sought to reason why, rather than attempt to do, and hence, for the sake of example, they have been dismissed from a service which, by their cowardice, they dishonoured.

BENSFORT FRIENDS REMEMBER MR. RIDDELL

A Presentation of Which Mr. Robt Riddell was the Subject, Made Wednesday Night at the Bensfort Sunday School

HIS SERVICES WERE APPRECIATED

A more than interesting event took place last night at the Bensfort Union Sunday school, when the annual entertainment was held. Special interest however was lent to the occasion, by reason of the fact that a presentation was made Mr. Robert Riddell, who was one of the first members of the school; in fact he was the only remaining member of the few who organized the school many years ago. Mr. Riddell recently moved to Centreville, and the entertainment last night was accepted as an opportune time to express to him the regret of the members of the school at his departure as well as their appreciation of his services rendered on behalf of the school during the many years in which he was associated with the school.

A programme of musical and elocutionary numbers, was given during the early part of the evening, the former superintendent., Mr. John Riddell, occupying the chair. At its conclusion, Mr. D. N. Dodds, read the following address to Mr. Riddell, and on behalf of the school, Mr. Wm. Emberson, presented him with a handsome mantel clock.

Dear Mr. Riddell,—We, the members of the Bensfort Union Sabbath School, having met together this evening, for a few hours of entertainment, take advantage of the opportunity, to express to you in small measure, our profound regret, that you have removed from our vicinity, and in consequence, the ties that have united us, as Superintendent and friends of this school, must be severed.

For many years you have been associated with this school, and have, when your health permitted, given freely of your time and talents to promote its interests. On many a Sabbath afternoon, when we know your body demanded rest, you sacrificed your own needs, in order that you might attend the duties awaiting you here.

Your untiring efforts, and your loyalty will long be held in loving remembrance by us who yet remain, connected with this school, which is enshrined in the holiest affections of so many, whose duty has called them to distant parts of, not only our fair Dominion, but to lands beyond the seas.

Nor would we at this time forget the labour of love, of your most estimable sister, Miss Riddell. While domestic duties have prevented her from taking an active part in our Sabbath services, Yet we know that but for her hearty co-operation, we should often have been deprived of your presence with us. We regret much her present physical disability, but we trust and pray, that the Divine Healer may speedily restore your beloved sister to health and vigor again.

We miss you, Mr. Riddell from our midst; not only as a Sabbath School worker do we miss you, but as a friend and neighbour. Your patience, your zeal for the cause of right and above all the high moral precepts you have endeavoured to instil, backed, as it were, by your indomitable Christian spirit, have left an impress on our lives that shall forever remain. You will never be forgotten, Your name and your deeds will be as legible on the hearts you have left behind you, as the stars on the brow of evening."

We ask you to accept of this clock, as a slight token of the high esteem in which you and your sister are held, and we hope that it may recall to your memory, many profitable hours spent here in the Master's service.

While we thus reluctantly take leave of you, we are glad to know that you are not removing to a distance, and hope still to be favoured occasionally with your presence. Our prayers and good wishes follow you, and we trust that you may bear away with you, many pleasant memories of the hours spent in Christian work in the Bensfort Union Sabbath School. When meetings and partings here are over, may we all be gathered Home together in one fold with one Shepherd.

Signed on behalf of the school,

D. N. DODDS,
W. EMBERSON.

In acknowledgment of the address and the gift, Mr. Riddell spoke briefly, expressing his deep sense of appreciation of the action of his friends and assured them that he would always remember with pleasure his associations with the members of the Bensfort Union Sunday School.

As a result of the entertainment the funds of the school were materially augmented and it is probable that some repairs will be effected to the building in the near future.

THE POLICE COURT IS STILL A-GRINDING

Two Cases Before Magistrate Dumble This Morning

There were two cases before Magistrate Dumble this morning. One was that of a vagrant who wanted four months in jail, which he got, while the other was that of a man who was found on the street in a drunken condition. The latter was in a very repentant mood and intended turning over a new leaf for the new year. He was remanded for a week. Just here a few comments on the singular quietness that prevailed in Peterborough during the busy portion of the holiday season will be of interest. There would have been no police court case at all had not several Bridgenorth men caused a disturbance. Some of the citizens may have had a few toots, but they were peaceful in their demonstrations. Whether it is due to this cause or to the fact that the local police force have instilled respect for law and order into the minds of those citizens who might be inclined to become boisterous, is not known. The fact remains, however, that with such crowds that were in the city on Saturday and Monday, there was a remarkable absence of disorderly conduct.

Additions to North Ward School Not Needed Until Normal is Built

The contract for the addition to the North Ward School, for which tenders were called some time ago, will not be let for some time. The Board of Education have considered it advisable not to let the contract until the Government has given the contract for the erection of the Normal School. Until the latter is built, the addition to the North Ward School is unnecessary.

Smoked 133,590 Times — Whitney Consumed Six Pipes a Day for 61 Years

Concord, N. H., Dec. 26. — Elmer Whitney has just celebrated the eighty-ninth anniversary of his birth and is as hale and hearty as he was at forty-five. During sixty-one years of his life he has smoked a pipe and to this he believes he owes his fine physical condition.

"Tobacco is a mild antiseptic and kills off many of the minor germs," he said. "I believe it will prevent grip, not smoke to excess and thereby injure his constitution. As I began smoking when I was twenty-eight years old I have smoked 23,265 days of my life. I have averaged six pipes of mild tobacco a day and thus have consumed 133,590 pipefulls. I smoke once after breakfast, twice after dinner and three times before I go to bed."

Mr. Whitney does not know the taste of liquor, but in late years he has nibbled tea leaves occasionally.

THE CHRISTMAS MUSIC AT ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

Choir Acquitted Themselves with Credit on Tuesday

The Christmas music in St. Peter's Cathedral on Tuesday was of an especially interesting and excellent character, the choir, under the leadership of Miss Doherty, rendering the different musical numbers in a manner which reflected credit not only on the work of the young lady who had trained them, but as well upon the singers themselves.

In the morning the choir rendered in their usual fine style Mass in A, by Wiegaud. Holy Night, by Adam, was sung as an offertory. The Christmas hymn, Adeste Fidales, was also given. Solos were taken during the morning service, and excellently sung, by Misses A. Simons, M. Clancy E. Primeau, N. Simons, J. Delaire, and A. Primeau; and Messrs. E. Keon J. Honrahan, J. Wyer, F. Pope and J. Picard.

The programme at the evening vespers at 7 o'clock, was as follows: Solos by Miss A Simons, Mrs. G. Scott, M. Maher, and J. Clancy; Laudate Pueri, by Capocci; solo very sweetly sung by Miss L. Halliban, chorus by ladies of the choir; O. Salutes Bohn, quartette, composed of Mr. E. Keon, Mr. J. Picard, Mrs. G. Scott, and A Primeau; Tantum Ergo, Rossi, duet, Mr. J. Wyer, and Miss L. Halliban; chorus, full choir.

CHRISTMAS DAY AT THE BARRACKS

A Very Enjoyable Time Spent by Salvationists—Santa Claus Paid Them a Visit.

The Christmas festivities at the Salvation Army Barracks were very successful. The day was a very busy one for the members of the Army, especially of the band. They serenaded during the morning and assisted in the decorations in the afternoon. The platform of the hall was prettily decorated, as was the whole room. There was a large evergreen tree, with a small one near by. A representation of a chimney and fire-place was also represented, and down this Santa Claus appeared. It was a very realistic scene and a novelty in the line of entertainment. Mr. Fred Gray made a very humourous and efficient Santa Claus. He presented the scholars with presents from the tree, and those who were regular in attendance during the year also received prizes.

Previous to the Christmas tree, Miss Ethel Card rendered a splendid piano selection, which was followed by a song service, entitled "Little Nell's Heart's Desire," Miss Alice Leader reading the important parts, and the chorus singing the vocal parts. The evening was a great success in every respect, and will not soon be forgotten by those in attendance.

The band serenaded on Christmas Day and again last night, meeting with generosity from all those serenaded. They intend to go out again to-night. Judging from present prospects the band expects to surpass other years, financially and in the quality of their music.

New York, Dec. 27.—The stock market displayed a sold out condition to-day and following the inception of recovery after Wednesday afternoon's raid strength was broadened and the active worked upward. The specialties are likely to be brought to the front and improve along the the orders inaugurated, until the money situation which is improving shall permit a broadening of market. We believe as stated this morning that neutral positions should be modified so as to extend into conservative information, technique and other factors favour such a position at present. We would not neglect fair returns, but would buy with more confidence on soft spots.

Science In Selecting Proper Foods

People Are Unhealthy Because They Do Not Eat The Right Food.

In these days of adulterated foods and food products such a food as is known to be pure and wholesome is indeed welcome. We have heard of many breakfast foods and cereal products—some broadly advertised as whole products, others as cure-alls for every disease known to man. No doubt they are all good and possessed of some merit, but most of them are manufactured with some foreign sweetening agent to make them palatable. Among all the breakfast and cereal foods offered the public to-day, we believe we are warranted in saying that Malta-Vita is the only food that is simply and wholly pure grain product and nothing else, except a little salt. Malta-Vita as it comes to you from the factory is all of the wheat. It has been thoroughly cleaned, steamed to gelatinize the starch, then added to it is barley malt extract made from selected barley—this, acting upon the starch turns it into maltose or malt sugar pronounced by physicians and food experts the finest, purest, most healthful sweetening agent known. Then the grain of wheat is rolled out flat into a thin wafer flake and baked in the ovens. It comes to you fresh and pure and sweet—absolutely nothing but the grain product prepared in the cleanest and most wholesome way and turned into the most delicious whole wheat food that can be found. Malta-Vita is sold by all grocers. Now 10 cents.

WEDDING BELLS

WALTERS--MILLER

A very quiet Christmas wedding took place at the Baptist parsonage, Park street, yesterday, when Miss Alice Miller was united in marriage to Mr. W. C. Walters. Miss Louise Smart was bridesmaid, and Mr. O. S. Matchett was groomsman. The Rev. A. H. Brace officiated. The bride looked charming in a grey suit tastefully trimmed, and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid was very prettily attired and carried pink carnations. The bride was very popular among the young people of the Park Street Baptist Church, and on Friday last they gave her a surprise in the form of a "kitchen" shower, brooms, brushes and graniteware. Her presents are numerous and valuable. The groom's present to the bride was a pearl crescent brooch. After the ceremony the young couple drove to their new home at the corner of Dalhousie and Rubidge streets, where a tempting repast was in waiting.

FERGUSON--CRUTTENDON

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday at the home of Mr. J. Leavis, Sheridan street, when Miss Florence Cruttendon was united in marriage to Mr. E. J. Ferguson, a contractor of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park Street Baptist Church. Miss Eldga Leavis assisted the bride, while Mr. W. J. Nelson attended the groom. The bride's dress was most becoming, being a brown costume prettily trimmed. Her travelling dress was of grey ladies' cloth, tailor-made. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson will make their home in Peterborough.

EDMISON--BANTON

The wedding in Toronto last night of Dr. T. W. B. Edmison, of Hastings, a son of the late Rev. T. Edmison, who was a native, and for a number of years a resident, of Peterborough County, will be read with considerable interest here. The Toronto Star, of last night, reporting the wedding, says:

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Banton, eldest daughter of Mr. Thos. William Banton, to Dr. T. W. B. Edmison, of Hastings, Ont., eldest son of the late Rev. T. J. Edmison, B.A., B.D., of Brighton, Ont., will take place at 6 o'clock to-night at the home of the bride's father, "The Pines," Deer Park.

The ceremony will be conducted under an arch of evergreens, with white bell decorated with marguerites and white ribbons, and Rev. J. Hall Edmison, of Peterborough, cousin of the groom, will officiate. The bride will be led in through an aisle of white satin ribbon from stairway to arch, and given away by her father. She will wear a gown of white embroidered Brussels net, with applique of lace over chiffon and taffeta, with deep yoke and bertie of duchess lace, and long tulle veil and orange blossoms. Her sister, Miss Alethea Banton, will be maid of honour, and will wear lavender silk, with elbow sleeves and white bolero of Battenberg lace, with lavender kid gloves and shoes, and will carry lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids will be Miss Oliver Banton and Miss Marion Edmison, and will wear white silk organdie and lace, and carry bouquets composed of marguerites.

Rev. Alexander Edmison, of Millbrook, brother of the groom, will be best man, and the wedding march from Lohengrin will be played by the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. T. H. Banton.

After the ceremony a reception will be held by Mrs. Banton, who will wear pearl grey silk colienne and lace. A dejeuner will be served, the bride's table being decorated in a colour scheme of white and green, with marguerites, lilies of the valley and smilax. Later in the evening the bride and groom will leave to spend their honeymoon in Eastern Canada, the bride travelling in a smart tailor-made suit of dark blue cheviot, made with long coat, dark blue Peter Pan hat, with touches of pale blue, with handsome buckle and quills. They will be at home after January 15 in their new home, "Sunnyside," Hastings.

The guests will include the bride's grandmother, Mrs. T. Beales, and her uncle, Dr. Edwin Banton, of Rochester, with whom the bride has made her home for the last twelve years, and where a linen shower was given her by her girl friends before leaving; Mrs. T. J. Edmison, Miss Marion Edmison and the Misses Helen and Marjorie Edmison, of Brighton; Mr. Ralph Edmison, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Ross, Miss Marjorie Ross, Welland; Mrs. John Jones, Caledonia; Mrs. Edmison, Mr. Arthur Edmison, Steller, Alberta; Mr. and Mrs. Barwell, Mr. T. H. Banton, Mrs. John Hall, Deer Park; Mr. and Mrs. A. Lang, and Mr. William Wood, Toronto, and others.

The gifts, which are numerous and recently, have been received from friends in the United States, England, and in different parts of Canada.

LATIMER--LOCKE

A wedding of considerable local interest, by reason of the fact that the bride is quite well known in this city, was performed at Havelock on Christmas Day. The Belleville Ontario, reporting the event, says:

A very pleasing and happy event event, took place on Christmas morning at the residence of Rev. Mr. Locke, Havelock, Ont., formerly pastor of the Tabernacle here, when his youngest daughter, Bessie L., was united in marriage to Mr. William H. Latimer, son of ex-Ald. Wesley Latimer, of this city. The young couple were unattended and only the immediate relatives were in attendance. The bride was married in her travelling suit of blue chiffon broadcloth, and looked very charming. The young couple left on the morning train for Toronto and the west before taking up their residence at 98 Park avenue, Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Latimer have a host of friends in the city who will wish them every happiness in their wedded life. Mr. Lattimer is occupying responsible and honourable position in the eastern metropolis.

THE HOCKEY SEASON OPENS TO-MORROW EVENING

Queens and Local Seniors Will Cross Sticks in a Game That Should be Very Fast

THE 57TH BAND WILL BE ON HAND

Indications point to a very large crowd at the opening hockey game of the season to-morrow night, when the Queen's University seven will cross sticks with the local puck-chasers. Both teams are in splendid condition, and, on fast ice, such as is assured for to-morrow night, a lightning game should result. It will give a line on the locals, as Queen's have always begun the season here. Another attraction to-morrow night will be the band of the 57th Regiment, which will render a delightful programme during the evening.

SCHNEIDER'S THE JEWELLERS, 391 GEORGE ST.

HONOURED BEFORE LEAVING FOR BOLIVIA

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Scott were the Recipients of a Purse and Watch and Chain

PRESENTED BY THE CONGREGATION

The separation of the Rev. F. J. Scott from the pastorate of the Murray street Baptist church and also that of Mrs. Scott was marked by presentations and words of farewell last night at the conclusion of the regular prayer meeting. That the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Scott will be keenly felt by not only the congregation but also many citizens of Peterborough who have come in contact with them, was noticeably demonstated at the meeting last night. They leave the city on Monday morning next for the southern missionary field in Bolivia, South America and undoubtedly take with them the heartiest sentiments of the congregation they have laboured amongst during the past two years.

Last night Mrs. Scott was presented with a beautiful gold watch and chain and the Rev. Mr. Scott with an address and a well filled purse. The after-event was introduced by Mr. R. E. Harding, who occupied the chair. He referred to the most beneficial pastorate of Rev. Mr. Scott while in Peterborough and although regretting their departure he believed they were entering upon a new field of labour to which they were called by the command of God.

He then called upon Mr. Vincent Eastwood who presented Mrs. Scott with the watch and chain. Upon the former is inscribed the words "To Mrs. F. J. Scott, from the Ladies of the Murray street Baptist church."

Mr. Eastwood in making the presentation said:—

In assigning to me this pleasant task I feel quite sure that it will prove quite impossible for me to find language in my limited vocabulary to in any degree express fittingly the sentiments of this church towards our pastor and Mrs. Scott on this occasion. I might, however, say that I have heard several members express, and have also expressed myself similarly, that it seemed somewhat difficult to understand the choice of a mission field, in view of the magnificent prospects Mr. and Mrs. Scott certainly had here in our own Canada and more especially in good old Ontario. Here we have a land of sunshine and promise, a land of singular educational advancement and opportunity. Certain we are that neither Wm. Carey or Adoniram Judson were ever called upon to leave such inviting surroundings. However, we have now learned to know better and that there is a choice from the supreme standpoint of duty. The divine command has taken deep hold of their hearts and minds and I am well sure we can all have great hopes of a bright future for them in their chosen field. They have surely gained our affections and effectively secured our confidences and it is only fair to say that we know that in that foreign land they will also secure these confidences that will make for a harvest of souls and ultimately their own complete and all satisfying reward. This church will look forward to their return in due time that we may look into their countenances and know that in their labour, joys and sorrows that it has been well with them. On behalf of the church and congregation I now beg to ask Mrs. Scott to accept this watch and chain as a slight mark of our esteem and respect for you and sincerely trust and believe that as it marks the hours and days of your sojourn that you will be sustained hour by hour and day by day by the Master, in your especial sphere where bravery and heroism that the world seldom knows of is many times recorded in unwritten characters on the scroll of worldly fame.

Mrs. Scott replied briefly thanking the congregation for their many kindnesses to her and hoped they would remember her when she was gone.

Presentation To The Pastor

Mr. Aldridge was then called upon and presented Rev. Mr. Scott with the purse and read the following address:

Dear Mr. Scott,—As a church and congregation we sincerely regret that you are about to leave us, but we are glad that the love of Christ constrains you to enter a wider and perhaps a more heroic field of usefulness—foreign missionary work.

During your pastorate of over two years' duration, the blessing of God has rested on your labours, for the church has prospered.

We pray that the happy beginning of your career may be an augury of good things in the future, a foreshadowing of the time when the approval of the Master shall be yours.

When Mrs. Scott and you are in Bolivia the Peterborough friends will take deep interest and sympathy in your work, and hope that sometimes you may think of us.

With this purse please accept our heartiest good wishes for a Happy New Year.

On behalf of the Murray street Baptist church and congregation,

W. ALDRIDGE.

Peterborough, Dec. 20, 1906.

Rev. Mr. Scott replied, thanking the congregation of Murray street for the kind sentiments expressed in the address and for the presentation. What kept him, he said, from making his decision to go to Bolivia months before he did was the painful thoughts of leaving the congregation he had learned to love. However when he thought of the 3,000,000 people who were awaiting the Gospel in that dark land, he would not recall his decision now even if he could. He hoped that the congregation would lend their sincerest prayers for the sucess of Mrs. Scott and himself in Bolivia.

Many in the crowded school room supplemented the remarks which already had been spoken and read on the retiring ministers behalf and added many words of eulogy for the profitable wake he has left behind him.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott leave the city on Monday next and on January 19th they sail from New York for their new home in the Southern Hemisphere.

WANTS CANADA TO BEAR SHARE

In the Naval Defence of the British Empire—Navy League Passes Strong Resolution

The Executive Committee of the Navy League, Toronto Branch, on Dec. 11th, passed a resolution in which, what the League conidars the duty of the Dominion in the matter of naval defences, is pointed out. Mr. H. J. Wickham, who is well known to a number of Peterborough citizens has forwarded a copy of the resolution passed, to the Examiner, with a request for publication:—

"That it is not consitent with the true interests of Canada, either from a political or from an economic point of view, that we should continue to neglect all preparation to take our part in the Naval Defence of the British Empire, and that it is a duty we owe to ourselves to our floating commerce, and to the Empire, that we should lay the foundations of a broad National Maritime Policy, in which naval preparation will go hand in hand with the development of a Canadian Mercantile Marine, with the encouragement of the Canadian shipbuilding industry, and with securing for Canada her fair share of the world's Maritime transportation."

This year we have an unusually large assortment of

SKATES

and would particularly recommend those made by the Canada Cycle & Motor Co.

The quality of steel, the few parts and the extra fine finish, make them easily the best on the market.

We sell Henry Boker's, too, and our prices are right.

A POPULAR YOUNG MAN WAS HONOURED

Mr. W. G. Cochrane Presented With a Gold Ring by Fellow Members of the B. A. C. at Delightful Function

Mr. W. G. Cochrane, who some few months ago, was transferred to Montreal, to take charge of the sales offices of the Quaker Oats Company, in that city, and who was in the city spending the holiday, was the guest at a delightful little banquet tendered him by the members of the B.A.C. in Long's palm parlours last night.

Among the members of this organization a custom prevails of presenting each member who leaves with a gold ring, and Mr. Cochrane's presence in the city at this particular time, afforded the opportunity for the continuation of this custom, so far as he was concerned.

A majority of the members were present, and after the supper, a number of bright speeches were made, congratulatory in their nature, while at the same time, regret at Mr. Cochrane's departure was expressed. Mr. J. W. Wood, on behalf of the members of the organization, presented Mr. Cochrane with a gold ring, engraved in a suitable manner. The gift was acknowledged in a few words by the recipient who referred to his pleasant association with the members of the B.A.C., and his regret that he was not in a position to continue in the enjoyment of an association which had proved a source of extreme satisfaction to him.

Langfeldt, of this city. The special preacher for the evening service will be Rev. Canon Sprague, rector of Cobourg.

CANADIAN ALMANAC VALUABLE PUBLICATION

With the 1907 Issue it Celebrates it Diamond Jubilee—Many Valuable Features This Year

To a business man the Canadian Almanac is almost indispensible, and to those who, in the past, have depended on this valuable yearly publication, the receipt of the issue of 1907, which has just been sent from the publishers offices will be a pleasure. This issue is the Diamond Jubilee Number, and forms the sixtieth of the series. The Canadian Almanac has been published continuously since 1848, and during the years since its inauguration has steadily increased in usefulness, and in the qualities which have made it indispensible. The recent issue contains a complete copy of the new customs tariff, and for this reason alone every business man should have it on his shelves. Another feature which will prove of interest is a review of the last sixty years, written by Prof. Wrong, M.A.

The Canadian Almanac is now on sale at all booksotres, and the price is the same as in former years.

SASKATCHEWAN IS A WONDERFUL PROVINCE

Dr. T. H. Prust Tells of the Rapid Growth of Quill Lake, Whose Existence Began This Year

THE POPULATION IS NOW 200

The best province in the West, is what Dr. T. H. Prust, who, with Mrs. Prust, is visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Belleghem, says of Saskatchewan. Dr. Prust is situated at Quill Lake, in the Quill plains section of the province, and is most enthusiastic about the future of the province in general, and of that town in particular.

Quill Lake furnishes a wonderful example of the quick growth of Western towns. The place sprang into existence on April 18 of the present year, and at that time the only store in the neighbourhood was that a mile from the town site. This store has been moved over to the town, which now possesses a large number of business places. These include a modern three-storey hotel building, three or four hardware stores, a drug store, general stores, livery stables, etc. The Bank of Toronto has established a branch there, of which Mr. Sandford Hall, son of Sheriff Hall, city, is manager. The place now has a population of about 200, a pretty good figure for an infant village of only eight months' existence. Several Peterborough families are in the district, including the Dixons and Howsons.

The Quill Lake district is a wonderful section, according to Dr. Prust. From Wadina, 24 miles to the east of Quill Lake, to Watson, 13 miles on the west, there is a section of extremely rich land. Mr. Chas. Vokes, a surveyor, has 5,000 acres in this district. From the Canadian Northern south the land has a gentle slope, assuring almost perfect drainage. The climate of the district is milder than that of Manitoba, for the reason that the Chinook wind has a great effect in mitigating the severity of the cold weather. When Dr. Prust left, not three weeks ago, there were only a few inches of snow on the ground. Quill Lake is 1000 feet above the level of Dauphin, Man.

Speaking of the sale of real estate, Dr. Prust said that fabulously high prices were being paid. He knew of one case, in which a young man from Nova Scotia has started a drug store in Prince Albert. He bought a lot with a frontage of 200 feet, and succeeded in selling 150 feet at the rate of $300 a foot. The land in question was purchased by him at $60 per foot.

Like all live places Quill Lake has a flourishing Board of Trade, of which Mr. Sandford Hall is the president, and Dr. Prust, secretary.

CHRISTMAS DAY WAS A DAY OF FIRES

Government House, Dawson, and Bank At Duck Lake, Sask.

$50,000 FIRE AT BRANDON

Governor McInnes' Residence at Dawson, Y.T., With Its Contents, Valued at $100,000, Destroyed—Bank of British North America at Duck Lake, Sask., and Books, Total Loss—Branden's Loss.

Dawson, Y.T., Dec. 27.—The residence of Governor McInnes of the Yukon, better known as Government House, was burned Christmas Day, with furniture valued at $100,000, probably insured through Government officials at Ottawa.

It was the finest building north of Vancouver, and contained much personal property belonging to Mr. and Mrs. McInnes.

The fire started before noon and is supposed to have originated from an explosion in the furnace. There was no wind or the police barracks and the garrison building adjoining might have been burned. The temperature was only zero, but the firemen were covered with ice after fighting four hours. Only the tottering walls and gutted floors are left. The building is a total wreck.

BANK OF NORTH AMERICA BURNS

Cashier Jumps Through Window and Is Badly Hurt and Burned.

Duck Lake, Sask., Dec. 27.—The Bank of North America here was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday night, all the books being burned and the ledger only being saved. The condition of the safe cannot be ascertained at present.

Cashier Adam was asleep when the fire broke out and was only awakened by the crackle of the flames as they ran up the bed curtain. He jumped through the window, but is badly hurt and burned.

Manager Robinson is away on his holidays in Fredericton, N. B.

Yukon Block, Brandon, Burns.

Brandon, Dec. 27.—The Yukon Block, on Rosser avenue, was gutted by fire yesterday, the damage being about $50,000. The block was in the heart of the city and at one time it looked as if business houses along the whole street would be destroyed. The Confederation Block adjoining was badly damaged.

TENDERS FOR POLES.

Manitoba Government Already Active In Carrying Out Telephone Policy.

Winnipeg, Dec. 27.—The Government is losing no time in carrying into effect its telephone policy, and tenders have already been called for poles. Tenders will close on Jan. 15, 1907, and specify that poles shall be of cedar and of two different lengths, 30 and 25 feet respectively. Of the former length 5,000 poles are called for, and of the latter 45,000 shall be supplied in quantities of not less than 10,000 per month, delivery commencing April 1, 1907.

Hon. Robert Rogers left for Toronto last night. Before leaving he said he was in favor of the Government building local exchanges and rural lines in conjunction with the long-distance system.

Lawless Bands In Cuba.

Washington, Dec. 27.—United States Secretary of War Taft has received advices from Governor Magoon at Havana indicating that a more or less unsettled condition of affairs exists in certain parts of Cuba and that in Santa Clara Province some lawless bands are operating and pillaging. Therefore, at the governor's instance, Gen. Bell has ordered a considerable reinforcement of the garrison of American troops in that province.

NIAGARA FALLS HAS AN AWFUL TRAGEDY

Harris Family Nearly Wiped Out By Asphyxiation.

ONE SURVIVOR MAY YET DIE

Father, Mother, and Two Children Already Dead—One Little Girl Survives, But Her Chances of Recovery Are Small — Blazing Gas Fleming to Ceiling — Deadly Gas Stole on Them Unawares

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 27.—From inhaling the poisonous fumes of carbonic acid gas as they sat in a circle before the family hearth yesterday afternoon, four members of the family of James Harris, the father, mother and two children, are dead, and the sole remaining member, a girl of 8 years, is not expected to live.

James Harris lived in a little rough-cast cottage on Ferry street, at the south end of the city. At about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon little Lucy Campbell, the 11-year-old daughter of C. F. Campbell, and niece of Mr. Harris, had been skating on the sidewalk and went into the house of her uncle to get warm. Sitting in his chair in front of the natural gas stove was her uncle, apparently asleep. That was her first impression, but noticing her aunt on the floor with arms outstretched toward the door, and the little baby girl, Gertrude, aged 5, both dead, and her cousin, Myrtle, lying on the floor unconscious and groaning, and smelling the strong gas and feeling herself becoming partially overcome, she dragged the limp form of her cousin Myrtle out of the house, dropping her body on the snow. She then gave the alarm to a lineman working across the street.

The man rushed into the house, followed by others and found the father sitting in his chair cold in death, his wife and two young children both dead on the floor and a gas flume burning high up into the little living room, with two jets of the gas burner turned full on and a lid off the top of the stove.

Sick Boy Also.

In the next room lay the lifeless form of Arthur Harris, a 13-year-old son, in bed, where he had been confined sick. He had breathed the poisonous fumes and slept away in his sick bed unconscious of what was going on in the next room with his door open, through which the fumes entered his room.

Mr. Harris came here from Whitby about nine years ago and was employed as night furnaceman at the Vermillion Works on the American side. He got up each afternoon at 4 o'clock and evidently was enjoying the companionship of his wife and little 5-year-old daughter playing with her Christmas toys on the floor when the poisonous carbonic gas fumes from the burned natural gas from the open lid of the stove gradually stole on the little family group unawares.

The little girl Myrtle was taken to her uncle's home. A thorough search was made of the premises by Mr. Smith, superintendent of the Provincial Natural Gas Co., and two experts, whose pipes supplied the house. He says there was no free gas or unburned gas visible and claims the family died from breathing air from which the oxygen had been burned and charged with carbonic acid gas from the open flame.

The Dead.

The dead are: James Harris, father, 44 years; Ella Harris, mother, 35 years; Arthur Harris, son, 13 years; Gertrude Harris, daughter, 5 years. Myrtle Harris, aged 8 years, is not expected to live.

Mrs. Harris was a Miss Warner of Whitby. A gloom has been cast over the entire city by the calamity that has befallen the little happy family.

The only explanation why Myrtle had not succumbed to the fumes as readily as the others is that she probably had been out doors and coming into the house and finding the family unconscious completely collapsed.

INDIA AND HOME RULE.

Proposed at the Opening of National Congress at Calcutta.

Calcutta, Dec. 27.—At the opening of the Indian National Congress yesterday, Dadabhi Naorojid, formerly a member of the British Parliament, delivered an address, insisting upon the rights of Indians, as British subjects, to govern themselves.

The speaker pointed out that the Boers, who, the Indians helped to subjugate, had been given self-government, while India was still without it, and urged that a large patriotic fund be raised to educate Indians as to their rights and to carry on the campaign in England.

There were upwards of 10,000 delegates present and the speech was received with a tumult of applause.

Flagman Negligent; 3 Dead.

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 27.—Three persons were killed and 11 hurt, one fatally, in a collision yesterday between an interurban train from Seattle and a work train. The wreck occurred on a sharp grade in a deep cut. The flagman, whose alleged carelessness caused the wreck, cannot be found.

A Straight Denial.

Paris, Dec. 27.—The Foreign Office yesterday issued a second and the most categorical denial that it has made any reply of any sort regarding the Vatican's protest to the powers on the subject of the expulsion of Monsignor Montagnini.

Mr. Hyman Is Better.

London, Dec. 27.—The latest reports from Hon. Mr. Hyman, who is ill in the south, say that he is improving in health. He has been assured that there is no organic complaint. He has been suffering from insomnia and nervous troubles of an acute character, and it is hoped that rest and change of scene will prove effective in restoring him to full strength.

VARICOCELE NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me—or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, worry veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

THE PETERBOROUGH TEAM WON ON MERITS

Toronto News Says it was Better Aggregation than the Marlboros, which Team it Defeated

The Toronto News pays its respects to the Peterborough hockey team, which played in that city on Tuesday night; in the following terms:

Peterborough, the team that many are picking to land thee senior O.H.A. championship this season, averted defeat by a very narrow margin, last night at the Mutual street rink pulling out a victory by notching 3 goals in the last few minutes of play just when everybody thought the intermediate champions were beaten. It was a most exciting climax to a splendid game.

The visitors won on their merits, playing a better game at all stages than the locals, who were only saved from an overwhelming defeat by the remarkable work of Tyner in goal.

The game was a fairly good exhibition. Whitcroft was the pick of the men on the ice, while Morgan and Crowley were also prominent. The work of W. Brown for the Marlboros attracted considerable attention. Last year he played junior for the Broadviews, and looks like a "find."

FIRST HOCKEY GAME OF THE SEASON FRIDAY NIGHT

Queen's will be here to-morrow night with a strong team to open the local hockey season. There will no doubt, be a big crowd on hand for the match which promises to be decidedly interesting. The Collegians have defeated the locals for several years in succession, but they will have to exert themselves if they want to win to-morrow as the locals have apparently struck a fast gait from the start. They defeated the Marlboros handily on Tuesday night and look to repeat the feat to-morrow. The opening attraction should draw a large crowd.

THE FINAL PRACTICE FOR BIG GAME WITH QUEENS

Players Who Are Requested to Turn Out To Practice This Evening

The Peterborough seniors will practice to-night between 7 and 8 o'clock in final preparation for to-morrow's big game between Queen's and Peterborough. The following players are asked to be on hand:—Glover, Lang, Moore, Whitcroft, Morgan, Parnell, Graham, Crowley, Rose, Myers, McGrath, Winch VanEvery and Ferguson. The team for to-morrow night will be picked at this practice.

CITY LEAGUE SCHEDULE MEETING TO-MORROW NIGHT

Each Club Must Have Its Deposit of $20 in at This Meeting

A meeting of the City League will be held to-morrow night at 6.45 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of drawing up the schedule for the season. Every team intending to play in the league this year must be represented at this meeting and also have their deposit of $20 on hand before they will be admitted into the schedule. The delegates should be on hand early as it is the intention to finish the meeting in plenty of time for the big hockey game.

STRATHCONAS PRACTICE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

The Strathcona hockey team will practice this week to-morrow night, after the hockey game, instead of to-night, as originally arranged. Mr Bethural, the manager of the Strathconas, having kindly consented to withdraw his practice in order to give the senior team a practice in preparation for the game to-morrow night.

CURLING

The following games were played at the curling rink last night:—

R Neill,	7.	Geo. Giroux,	11.
D Cameron,	6.	Geo. Fitzgerald,	10
H Morphett,	10	T J Wallace,	4.

—Just leave it to ED. HUFF, if you are thinking of a new suit, overcoat or trousers for the New Year. Now, while every yard of cloth in the store is cut in price, is a good chance—but the chance only lasts till December 31st.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS IS TO-DAY'S DOPE

The 14th Team. of Kingston, Now Think Chances Are Better

Kingston, Dec. 26.—There is a possibility that Cyril Knight, the former crack centre of Queen's, may play with the 14th Regiment Hockey Club. He is home, and may remain all Winter, Van Horn is also likely to play, if his knee improves. The 14th officers have twelve men to pick from, and feel confident that they can put a strong team on the ice if the practices are well attended. With Hiscock, Constantine, Van Horn, Richardson, Potter, Knight and several others, a fine line-up is assured. "Jock" Harty, the former brilliant Queen's player, has consented to coach the military team.

BASKETBALL GAME IN TORONTO ON NEW YEAR'S

The Toronto Globe says:—On New Year's night at All Saints' gymnasium two fast games of basketball will be played between the Peterborough Alerts and the All Saints' Crescents of the Junior City League. A preliminary game will be played between the West End, junior city, and the All Saints' Watermelons.

There will be a fencing match between two Y.M.C.A. men before the games. The medals for the annual fall races will also be presented.

NAT RAY RETURNS FROM OLD COUNTRY

Famous Steeplechase Jockey Drove His Own Horse at Dufferin Park, Toronto

Nat Ray, the famous steeplechase jockey, returned from England in time to participate in the matinee at Dufferin Park yesterday, driving his own horse, Prince Greenlander, in the free-for-all, but was unable to land him in the money.—Toronto Star.

AN INDOOR BASEBALL LEAGUE IS PROPOSED

Want a Team from Peterborough Entered to Compete with Outside Military Teams

The secretary of the Toronto Garrison Indoor Baseball League, Mr. M. M. Roolnson, who has been in the city visiting his father, Mr. W. S. Robinson, Murray street, made a suggestion that should be favourably received by the local militia. It was to the effect that an indoor baseball team should be formed among the members of the 57th Regiment and games could be arranged with the Toronto, Windsor, and other city teams. The suggestion is entirely feasible and is well worth looking into. Indoor baseball is intensely interesting to play as well as to watch and there seems no reason why a number of teams could not be organized in this city. The drill shed would make an admirable place to play the games, which would not only serve the purpose of amusement but would also help to preserve the esprit de corps of the regiment and when the drill season opens in the spring the men are more easily available and more interested in the affairs of the regiment.

HOCKEY

MR. CLARKE TO REFEREE.

Mr. Fred. A. Clarke, has consented to referee the game between Queens and Peterborough to-morrow night, which assures a fast clean game. There promises to be a monster crowd present for the game.

• • • •

The first hockey match of the season will be played on Friday night when the Queen's University team will meet the local senior O.H.A. team. The match should prove decidedly interesting. For a good many years Queen's have opened the season and have always given the Peterborough team a hard game and no doubt Friday night's struggle will be of the same calibre. It will give the fans a good opportunity to get a line on the locals and no doubt there will be a large crowd on hand to see them make their debut.

• • • •

The Charlotte Street hockey team will practise to-night at the Brock Street rink from 10 to 11 o'clock.

• • • •

The senior team will practice to-night from 7 to 8 o'clock, and all members of the team are asked to be out.

• • • •

The Varsity team will, in all probability, meet the local seniors here on Friday of next week. The Toronto Collegians came near trimming the locals here last season and say that they will accomplish the feat this year.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Might I be allowed to ask what the street railway people mean by advertising the band at the Park and then disappointing the patrons by not having the musicians present. The band was advertised both in the papers and on the street cars but the unusually large crowd waited in vain for their appearance. If the company expects to have their rink patronized, they should not fool the people in this manner.

Yours etc.,

HANGMAN RADCLIFFE NOW A NERVOUS WRECK

And as a Result He May Officiate at No More Executions—He Says He Wants a Long Rest

HE IS TOO SICK TO TALK TO ANYONE

Fort William, Dec. 26. — Radcliffe, the hangman, he of the so-called indomitable resolution, has discovered that he has nerves, and it is possible that he will never again officiate at an execution.

A mental and physical wreck to all appearances, the noted executioner passed through Fort William Saturday, en route from the Pacific Coast, where he hanged a Vancouver murderer, to his home in Toronto. Knowing the man's aversion for newspaper persons it was with some misgivings that your representative accosted him in the smoking car compartment of a sleeper, but a single glance at the hangman was all that was required to dispel any fears. The executioner is not the Radcliffe of old. His much-mooted buoyancy has gone, and in its place has come reserve and a wrecked nervous system. His hair is streaked with gray, and his florid countenance is far from being that of a strong man.

"Yes, I remember you," he said, "It was that Cashel affair three years ago, I believe. My memory is not as good as it once was."

"The Western press has intimated that you have been hiding," was suggested.

"The proper authorities," he replied, "were well aware of my whereabouts. I have no desire to satisfy the curiosity of the press and public. No, don't ask me how many men I have executed. I am a sick man, too sick to talk. Yes, I have been sick a long time, very sick."

Asked if he would return West next month to hang the men condemned in Winnipeg and Port Arthur, he replied, that he did not know.

"I must have rest, first; lots of rest," he said.

NEW BRANCH TO THE POPULAR RESTAURANT

Mr. W. J. McCallum Secures New Chef and Adds Cooked Meat Branch to His Business

Mr. W. J. McCallum, proprietor of the well-known restaurant, has added a new branch to his business, and in future anyone who so desires, can secure a nicely dressed and well roasted chicken, duck or turkey, all ready for the table. Mr. McCallum has been able to meet this long felt want of the people by having secured a first class chef in the person of Mr. John Jeavery, of London, Eng. The need of a capable and experienced chef has long been known to Mr. McCallum, and he has now secured a good one.

This man comes very highly recommended from several of the best known cafes and restaurants in London, where he has had extensive experience. He is a specialist on meats and poultry of all kinds, and the public will undoubtedly appreciate the fact that they can secure a roast fowl for their dinner, and at a reasonable price. eod

OUTFALL SEWER ONCE MORE IN THE LIME LIGHT

Mr. Bogue Thinks That the City, as well as He, Should Abide by the Award

A short meeting of the Board of Works was held last night, when a letter was read from Mr. Jas. Bogue in reference to the Ashburnham outfall sewer. The communication stated that Mr. Bogue was prepared to accept Mr. Spence as arbitrator, but he thought that the city should abide by his award as well as the writer.

On motion, the city clerk was instructed to write Mr. Bogue that the Board of Works was prepared to carry out the terms of the resolution agreed to by him.

POPULAR TEACHER WAS HONOURED

Miss Margaret Ward Given Address by Pupils of S. S. No. 7, Douro—A Handsome Gift

The pupils of S. S. No. 7, Douro, at Christmas, expressed their appreciation of the work and esteem for their teacher, Miss Margaret Ward, by making her the recepient of a handsome gift, accompanied by the following address, which was read by one of the pupils:—

Miss Margaret Ward, S. S. No. 7, Douro;

Dearly Beloved Teacher,—The two happy years during which we have been specially favoured with your services, have passed quickly by and here in the class room, where we have spent so many pleasant and profitable hours with you, we have assembled this afternoon to say farewell.

We can assure you that it is not for outward show we have come, but to express sincerely the feelings of sorrow which fill our hearts.

By your departure we realize that we are losing one, who has always taught us by word and example what constitutes a kindly and amiable disposition.

As a slight token of your esteem and of our appreciation we ask you to accept this little gift, trusting that when far from those pupils who will always cherish the kindest thoughts for you, it will serve as a little remembrance of them.

Public Schools Will Use The Collegiate Institute Buildings

And in Viewof This Fact it Will Be Necessary to Provide Accomodation for the Institute Students

THE CITIZENS ENDORSE THE BY-LAW

That the ratepayers of the city will support the Collegiate Institute bylaw when it is voted on at the next municipal elections seems certain. A number of influential gentlemen who were spoken to to-day in reference to the matter expressed the opinion that the best interests of the city from an educational standpoint would be served by passing the bylaw to raise an additional $21,000 to erect a building which has become an absolute necessity to the city.

The circumstance, that as a matter of fact the city has no Collegiate Institute building, but that it is simply occupying for that purpose a building which belongs to the public schools of the city, is one of the strongest reasons why the bylaw should receive the vote of the electors.

The building, at present used for the purposes of the Collegiate Institute will in the near future be required for manual training and domestic science, so that it will be seen that some provision will have to be made at once.

Mr. E. A. Peck was seen last night by a reporter in reference to the bylaw and stated that he was heartily in sympathy with the proposition to grant the extra $21,000 for Collegiate purposes. He believed a new Institute was absolutely necessary to accomodate the young generation who are seeking for an education higher than the public school affords. The present building is altogether inadequate to meet the present demand and he considered that when a new Collegiate was being built it should be one in keeping with the standing of the progressive City of Peterborough.

By the addition of $21,000 to the amount already voted by the council Mr. Peck figured that the extra tax on the ratepayers would be so small as to be insignificant and that for the cause of education it was nothing.

Another argument is favour of the passing of the bylaw was the fact that Peterborough men would get the greater part of the extra expenditure as well as the $40,000 already voted. The way prices were at present, Mr. Peck considered that $61,000 was little enough money to expend on a Collegiate Institute which would improve the general appearance of the city.

MR. ERNEST SLIGHTE INJURED THIS MORNING

Had Both Index Fingers Severely Crushed in a Punch Machine at the C. G. E. Works

A very painful accident happened at the C.G.E. Works this morning, when Mr. Ernest Slight was injured in the punch press department. He was working at one of the punch machines and was using his two index fingers in the act of removing material that had been punched, when in some manner the press descended upon his fingers, crushing them rather severely. They burst out at the sides as a result, and caused Mr. Slight great pain. Dr. Young was called and attended to his injuries and it is not yet known whether the fingers can be saved or not. The Dan Spence Ambulance was called and removed the injured man to his home on John street.

TRAIN OF NEW BOX CARS PASSED THROUGH CITY

Were Much Admired by Those Who Saw Them—Were Westward Bound

A lengthy train of brand new C.P.R. cars passed westward through the city this morning and produced a sight pleasing to the eye. They were all box cars, nicely painted, uniform in size and were the subject of much admiration by all who saw them.

In fact even those who were forced to stand at the crossing at the station while the train passed by forgot the cold in their silent admiration of the iron horse and its heavy load.

PETERBORO' TEACHER APPOINTED DEAN OF FACULTY

Dr. Wm. Packenham, Former Teacher in This City, Given Important Post by Governors of Toronto University

APPOINTMENT WAS VERY POPULAR ONE

Dr. William Pakenham, who, to-day's Toronto despatches state, has been appointed dean of the Faculty of Education, of the Toronto University, has very many warm friends in Peterborough who will congratulate him upon this further recognition of his splendid services in the interests of education, not only in the city, but in the broader sphere of Provincial educational affairs. Dr. Pakenham has also been appointed professor of the chair in the science and history of education. Referring to the appointment, the Globe to-day says:

Dr. Pakenham, whose appointment will undoubtedly meet with general approval among the educationists of the Province, will assume the duties of his new office as soon as a successor can be found to take his place at the Technical High School. He will proceed at once with the selection and organization of a faculty, will arrange for the courses of lectures, for practical work by the students in the High and Public Schools of the city, pending the erection of a Model High School and a Model Public School in connection with the university, and will endeavour to have everything in readiness for beginning the work of instruction on October 1 next.

As an organizer and administrator he has made a striking success of every school of which he had charge. He has taught in Public Schools in Peterborough County, and in High Schools at Port Dover, Smith's Falls, Brockville and St. Thomas. Since his appointment in 1902 as Principal of the Technical High School, the staff has almost trebled, the day attendance has grown from 75 to 350 and the annual expenditure from $160,000 to $350,000.

Dr. Pakenham was born at Glen Millar, Ont., in 1866, and received his early education at Peterborough. He was a member of the class of '92, Toronto University, graduating with honours in modern languages.

FARMER FROZEN STIFF STANDING BY FENCE

Awful Death of Stanley Carnrite, of Prince Edward County

Belleville, Dec. 27.—Stanley Carnrite, a farmer of Ameliasburg township, Prince Edward county, went into the woods on his farm to cut cordswood a few days ago. He did not return that night, and search the next morning revealed him leaning against a fence, frozen stiff. He was subject to heart disease, which is believed to have caused his death.

The Masonic Celebration Of St. John, The Evangelist's Day

Brethren of the Craft of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons Observe the Day with Usual Ceremonies—New Officers of Two Peterborough Lodges Were Installed Yesterday at The Masonic Temple

BANQUET AND FESTIVITIES OF AN INTERESTING CHARACTER

"He's true to God, who's true to man, wherever wrong is done,
To the humblest, to the weakest; 'neath the all-beholding sun.
That wrong is also done to us, and they are slaves most base,
Whose love of right is for themselves, and not for all the race."

Shakspere, the great dramatist, combines the wisdom and moral teaching of the Masonic Order, when he said: "To thy ownself be true, and it shall follow as night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man."

The principles which appear to have guided Freemasonry in its actions from time immemorial, have been, and should continue to be, its strength, if the members be true to its precepts. Nothing can stay the onward rush of a brotherhood, which took its rise amongst a few thoughtful and benevolent philosophers in the dim past — who, keeping in view those words of stirring solemnity, from the Great Author, "Where is Abel, thy brother?" — worked out a system of love and fellowship for fellow men, which, planted in hope, as the mustard seed, has become a great and fruitful tree.

The Masonic Fraternity having adopted as its patron and feast day, St. John the Evangelist, look forward to the annual recurrence with feelings of gratitude, and pleasure. It is then that the brethren assemble in their different lodges, grasp the hand of fellowship, take counsel, and make merry around the festive board.

In Peterborough the day was observed with the customary honours, as it was throughout almost every part of Canada.

Somewhat of an innovation was introduced for the first time in this city, in the hour of meeting. By the direction of the Worshipful Masters of Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges, the brethren were summoned to attend their duties on St. John's day at 4.30 p.m., instead of 7.30 p.m., as formerly. The wisdom of this change was seen in the manner in which it facilitated the progress of the ceremonial work of installing the new officers, and in overcoming the necessity for continuing the festivities of the banquet table into the night, and close upon the early hours of the morning.

As the appointed time every seat in the Temple was filled, notwithstanding the unusually early hour. The register bore among the names of the brethren in attendance, many leading Past Masters, and skilled craftsmen. R. Wor. Bro. Droge of Grimsby, a former member of Peterborough lodge, being a distinguished visitor.

HAVELOCK J. P. SWINDLED BY CHEQUE MANIPULATOR

Information Has Been Laid Against Richard J. Grames Charged With Fraud

An information has been laid before County Magistrate Edmison against Richard J. Grames, accused of swindling Mr. Samuel S. Joyce, J.P., of Havelock, out of $31.50. The game he played was the old familiar one with the cheque. He purchased boots from Mr. Joyce to the value of $11, giving the merchant a cheque to the value of $31.50 on the Sovereign Bank, and endorsed by himself. Mr. Joyce cashed the cheque, giving Grames the change, and afterwards found out that it was worthless.

He is now after the swindler, who has probably given a fictitious name. Mr. Joyce has but recently been appointed a Justice of the Peace in Havelock, and has had an early opportunity to discover the feelings entertained by one who has been defrauded out of his hard-earned cash.

BUSTER BROWN AND TIGE FOR TO-MORROW

BIG CROWD NIGHTLY AT JACKSON PARK

Rink and Toboggan Slide Are Proving Great Attractions

Jackson Park continues to draw big crowds each night. The splendid weather of the past week has resulted in an increase in the attendance, and the park is a scene of great gayety every night. Both the slide and the rink is in splendid condition and are being well patronized. The slide is especially popular; tobogganing has evidently gained a firm hold upon the affections of the young people of Peterborough. The effect is shown in the increased sale of sweaters, toques, moccasins and other paraphernalia necessary for a proper pursuit of the pastime.

CANADA'S RAILWAY BOOM

The phenomenal development which Canada is at present undergoing, is strikingly illustrated by a statement published in the Toronto Globe, showing the amount of money spent during the past year in the construction and equipment of additional railways. Half a century ago there were only 55 miles of railway in the whole area of British America, the total cost of which would scarcely exceed $2,000,000. During this year it is estimated that 3314 miles of new road were under construction, and that no less a sum than $62,000,000 has been spent upon the work. Figures like these bring home to the minds of the people the growth and prosperity of the Dominion better than volumes of generalization. Verily, Canada is booming.

EMPIRE-WIDE CITIZENSHIP

Not many people know that under the existing laws a man may enjoy the full privileges of a British subject in one portion of the empire, and be considered an alien in another, says the London Advertiser. This unsatisfactory condition of affairs was ventilated in the Canadian House of Commons the other evening, while the Government measure to amend the naturalization act was being discussed. As explained by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the general law of the land is that naturalization conferred upon an alien in any part of the British Empire is effective and can give political and civil rights only in the territory which is covered by the legislature which enacts the law. The Canadian Government, and we believe the Government of New Zealand, also, feel that there should be an improvement in this regard. The object of the measure now before the Dominion Parliament is to provide that if a man has obtained the rights of citizenship in any part of the British Empire, he shall not have to reside in this country for three years before he can exercise the same rights here, but, subject to taking the oath of allegiance and having his certificate recorded, he can enter on the immediate enjoyment of all the privileges of a Canadian. That there was need for this reform has been proved in the Canadian West on numerous occasions recently, when men who had come from other parts of the British Empire—New Zealand and Australia—could not be admitted to the privileges of citizenship in Canada, and had to be classified with aliens, who must reside at least three years within the bounds of the Dominion, before they could take the oath of allegiance.

The legislation now proposed is certainly in the right direction, and ought to be copied in every part of the empire. But, as was argued by Dr. Stockton and other members of Parliament, the facilities for acquiring and retaining citizenship should be still further simplified. It certainly does seem absurd that this anomaly should be permitted to longer continue. The disability it seems is permitted to exist in the United Kingdom as well as in the outlying portions of the empire. An alien, naturalized in Great Britain, is not a British subject except within the limits of the United Kingdom. If he comes to Canada he is an alien; if he goes to any other country he is not a British subject, his citizenship reverts to his country of origin.

What is required is concerted action on the part of the imperial authorities and of all the self-governing auxiliary nations composing the empire, to have it provided that when any one of these nations grants a certificate of naturalization it shall not only give a man the rights of a British subject within the limits of the empire granting him such certificate, but shall make him, without question, a British subject throughout the length and breadth of the empire.

This subject of naturalization occupied the attention of the colonial conferences in 1897 and 1902, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier says there was a disinclination in the United Kingdom to admit a citizen of the outlying portions of the empire to the rights of citizenship, or to political rights in Great Britain. Canada can of herself do no more than is now proposed in the direction of establishing this simple empire-wide citizenship, and it seems there may have to be some international changes before all that is deemed desirable can be brought about. Under existing international usages a person who becomes naturalized in Great Britain or any other part of the empire, cannot, by so doing, relieve himself of his allegiance to the country of his birth, and there would have to be a special treaty to make a change in the case of persons who have been citizens of any foreign country. The Prime Minister strongly favours the view that this matter should again form the subject of discussion in the ensuing conference at London, at which Canada will be fully represented and it is to be hoped that a remedy may be soon devised. Meantime, the legislation now brought forward by the Canadian Government is in the right direction. By the removal of just such anomalies more can be done to effectively promote the unity of the empire than by sentimental rhetoric.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

THE OLDEST RESIDENT WAS MRS. LONDRY'S FATHER

Mr. Joseph Revell, Who Died in Chicago was Oldest Resident of Dundas —Related Here

DECEASED WAS IN HIS 86TH YEAR

The Dundas Banner in a recent issue, contains a reference to the death of the oldest resident of that town, and the father of Mrs. John Londry, Bethune street, Peterborough. The Banner says:

We regret to have to announce the death of our old and highly respected citizen, Joseph Revell, which took place in Chicago, on Saturday afternoon, while on a visit to his son, Mr. Revell was the oldest native born citizen of Dundas living here, and was well and favourably known by all old citizens. It is only a week or so ago that we announced that he and his wife were leaving for Chicago to spend the winter months with their children, and his son received a letter from them a few days ago saying that they were enjoying themselves and were in good health. The son whom he was visiting at Burwin was moving into a new house and to guard against the parents catching cold they went to visit another son in Chicago till the house is settled. It was while making this change that the deceased caught cold, which ended his life. Besides his aged widow, he leaves seven children: Albert, Terra Haute, Ill.; Mrs. Stephenson, Gardner, Ill.; W. J., of Dundas; Mrs. John Londry, of Peterborough; Mrs. Reese Tunis, of Hamilton; J. R., of Chicago; and Henry, of Burwil, Ill.; also two brothers, George of Dundas, and Benjamin, of Penetanguishene. The deceased was in his 86th year, and his life has been an active one. In 1873 he had a severe attack of inflamation and pleurisy which settled in his knee and caused it stiff joint, so that he had to use a wooden leg support from the knee down. For many years he carried on house building, masonry and plastering business, and kept in the harness until he left on his visit to his children. The remains arrived from Chicago on Tuesday, the funeral taking place on Wednesday to the Grove Cemetery.

WILL HOLD INQUEST ON M'MASTERS DEATH

Coroner Will Go to Norwood to Inquire into Cause of Mysterious Death Reported From There Yesterday

Dr. Gray, County Coroner, left this morning for Norwood to open an inquest on the death of Fred McMaster, who was found dead in the bed of the River Ouse there yesterday afternoon.

No further particulars, calculated to throw any light on the mystery, have been received as yet, and whether his death was due to foul play or an accident, no one has been able to determine.

The deceased was an inoffensive youth, and, so far as is known, had no enemies. He had lived in Norwood during his lifetime, and was well known in the district.

HAPPY RESULTS OBTAINED

By the Use of the New Scalp Antiseptic

It wouldn't take long to number the hairs in the heads of some people, the reason being that they haven't many to number. In most instances, however, the fault is their own. A germ at the root soon plays havoc with the most luxuriant growth and causes it to fade and fall out. A remedy for this has recently been discovered, called Newbro's Herpicide, that acts by destroying the germ that does the damage, besides removing all impurities from the scalp. In addition, it permits new life and vigour to enter the scalp, and happy results are sure to be obtained from its use. Try it. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sam, le to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. McDermid & Jury, Special Agents.

THE "HAPPY THOUGHT" STOVES SOLUTION

Of One of the Most Serious of the Problems which London's Poor Have to Face

"Fitz-Clare," a clever Canadian woman, writing to the Winnipeg Free Press, from London, England, makes some reference to Canadian stoves in general, and the Happy Thought stoves in particular, which will make interesting reading to Canadians, who have themselves demonstrated the truth of the statements made concerning this stove. Referring to the poverty-stricken condition of many of the dwellers of the world's metropolis, she says:

"If I was a working woman I would preach a crusade in favour of the Canadian cooking stove in the houses of the working people of this country, in place of the little open grate, which only warms a corner of one room and wastes the heat which might be drying as well as warming the upper rooms. Thousands of children are burned to death every year as a consequence of this fashion of open grates. "A Happy Thought" cooking stove would allow the people to indulge in a greater variety of cooking than they now have, and give them the advantage of drying their washing in an upper room rather than in the tiny living room where the reek and dump are terrible."

Police Court

—Another victim to whiskey appeared at the police station this morning in the person of Chas. Beavis. He was charged with vagrancy, and inability to support himself. The Magistrate remanded him for a week when he will appear again for sentence.

Mrs Scott The Leader

—In the reference to the Christmas music in St. Peter's cathedral yesterday, the Examiner mentioned Miss Doherty as leader. In this an error was unintentionally committed. Mrs. G. A. Scott is the leader of the choir, and Miss Doherty the organist, and to these ladies is due the credit for the excellent music rendered by the choir on Christmas.

Entertained Choir

—Last night the members of the Charlotte street Methodist Church choir were very pleasantly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Collier, Weller street. The regular practice was held in the early portion of the evening, and following this a delightful social time was spent, refreshments being served. In entertaining, Mrs. Collier was assisted by Mrs. (Dr.) Stratton, of Napanee, who is in the city visiting her brothers, the Messrs. Collier.

Aftermath At Stratton's

—The week before New Year's is always a busy and interesting week at Stratton's Bookstore. One reason for this is that all gift goods have ticket-of-leave orders and nothing will be exempt from radical reductions. Some goods have orders to go at half former prices, rather than carry them over to the new year. Some lines in fancy goods, the Poets, Grecian Ware, Jewel Cases, Framed Pictures, Cards, Calendars, etc., come in the half-price list. A. H. Stratton & Co.

Women's Strength Is Overtaxed
BY WORK AND WORRY, BUT GOOD HEALTH IS RESTORED BY
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

With her strength overtaxed by too much work many a woman finds herself weak, nervous and exhausted, subject to indigestion and headaches, and spells of discouragement and despondency.

Under such circumstances Dr. Chase's Nerve Food comes as a blessing of great value, bringing new hope and confidence and restoring vitality to the blood and nerves.

Dizziness, heart disturbances, pale, bloodless appearance, smothering, choking sensations, heavy heart beating and palpitation are some of the symptoms which give way before the persistent use of this great food cure. The appetite is sharpened, digestion is improved, the form is rounded out to healthful proportions and gradually and certainly strength and vigour replace weakness and disease.

Mrs. D. Scott, Cobourg, Ont., states: "After recovering from typhoid fever I was left in a very low state of health and my system was very much run down. I was very weak, nervous and in fact was not fit to do any work at all and began to fear that I was of little use in the world.

"A friend of mine, Mrs. G. M. Brown, had used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and told me that it benefitted her wonderfully. I took courage and began the use of this medicine. After taking the first box I began to feel an improvement in my health, and now after using four boxes I am completely cured. I now feel like myself once more and believe that I can attribute the cure to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

For men who are suffering from headaches, indigestion and sleeplessness, for women who besides these symptoms suffer from weaknesses and irregularities of the delicate feminine organism, for children who are pale, weak and puny, there is no preparation extant which will bring about such satisfactory results as the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food; 50 cents a box, 6 boxes $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Dec. 28th. — The stock market to-day was irregular and after an early bulge somewhat reactionary under professional bearish operations, which did not accomplish much more than fractional depressions outside of a few specialties. The buying on declines was reported to have been good but it was at concessions and there was a notable tendency to confine fluctuations within narrow limits up and down. While the market is likely to be a trading one for some time we think special pools are preparing for moderate bullish activity. We believe purchases on reactions when the standard actives are soft will be found to give fair returns.

Next week the whole building will be occupied for this purpose, the machines and equipment of the Amusement Company being removed temporarily.

These rooms are centrally located, and easy of access, and the friends of the candidate are requested to visit them as often as possible. Considerable work has been planned, and Ald. Hicks invites his supporters to make use of the committee rooms, and to be on hand to-morrow night, when arrangements for the work incidental to the campaign will be made.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE HALL ROOM BOYS

The appearance of the "Hall Room Boys" at the Grand last night was greeted with a good house. It was one of those productions that are classed under the much-abused title of musical comedy, but which might be more properly called a musical farce. Tom Whiffen and Will Clifton, in the leading roles, produced rounds of laughter. The story of the play revolves about the actions of two young men engaged at the dry goods counter in a departmental store. They keep up a fine appearance, but live in a seven-by-nine room on the top storey of a tenement. They get into many difficulties, and are generally broke. Mr. Percy L. Reed was one of the most pleasing of the players last night, his singing being one of the best features of the evening. His songs were, "You Can't Give Your Heart to Somebody Else and Still Hold Hands with Me." This was a duet with Miss Nellie Grant. He also sang a ballad in the second act. "The Pansy and the Owl" was another popular number, sung by Messrs. Whiffen, and Clifton, and Miss Esmer Cornwell. Miss Nellie Grant's number, "The Moon Has His Eyes on You," was perhaps the catchiest of the whole score, and is being whistled on the streets to-day. Last night's production was something similar to "Painting the Town," and as a mirth-producer, was not far behind it.

CALL WAS EXTENDED TO THE REV. A. BRIGHT

Large Majority of Congregation Sign Their Names to the Call For Him to Become First Pastor

NOT KNOWN WHETHER HE WILL ACCEPT

The result of the congregational meeting at Knox Presbyterian church last night, was that it was decided to take proceedings to extend a call to the Rev. A. Bright, to become the first pastor of the church. The call was signed by the majority of the congregation present, and also by 9 of the adherents.

It is not known whether Mr. Bright will accept it or not, as at present he is not in the city.

A special meeting of the Presbytery will be held in the near future when the question of the call will be considered. At this meeting a couple of representatives of the congregation will be present, to present the cause of the majority. In the vote taken last night on the motion that the church proceed to extend a call to Rev. Mr. Bright, the motion was carried by a large majority, and it evidently appeared that Mr. Bright's services as assistant pastor to the Rev. Dr. Torrance, have been appreciated by many.

REV. A. BRIGHT

To Whom a Call was Extended Last Night by the Congregation of Knox Presbyterian Church

The meeting was presided over by Rev. Dr. Torrance, who opened it with devotional exercises. Introducing the subject for which it was called, Dr. Torrance made a few remarks on the importance of the occasion. It was a very solemn thing, he said, to choose a minister. There was a vast difference, he pointed out, between engaging a certain person as a doctor of a family and the choosing of a minister. The former has to deal only with the body while the latter deals with the spiritual nature of man. His work is of tremendous importance, and of great difficulty. It was more difficult to succeed in the ministry, he believed, than in any other profession under the sun.

Not To Please People

The duty of a minister, he said, was not to please people, nor to set before them a smooth path, but to be faithful with them, for the benefit of their souls. He compared him to the watchman, the shepherd, the steward, and the ambassador, who go before to direct and protect. To call a minister, he concluded, was to ask him to assume great responsibility, and to become burdened with great difficulties.

Ready To Extend Call

The business part of the meeting was then proceeded with. A motion by Messrs. Griffin and Thomas Anderson that the congregation was ready to go on with the call to a minister, carried by a large majority.

Rev. Dr. Torrance next read the call, and it was moved by Mr. Duncan Campbell and Mr. Thomas Anderson that Knox church proceed to extend a call to Rev. A. Bright. This motion was also carried by a large majority. Those in favour of Mr. Bright as the first minister, were then asked to sign their names to the call.

The chairman explained that he would notify the Moderator of the Peterborough Presbytery to call a meeting of that body in the near future, to consider the action taken. Messrs. D. Campbell and Thomas Anderson were appointed representatives to attend a meeting to further the request that Rev. A. Bright be the first pastor of the Knox Presbyterian church.

COUNCIL HELD LAST MEETING OF YEAR LAST NIGHT

The Session was Neither Long Nor Busy—Routine Business Was Transacted

SEVERAL BY-LAWS WERE PASSED

The last meeting of the council for the year was held last night, when the business done was entirely of a routine nature. A number of communications were received and reports read, but beyond these and several bylaws, the only thing of importance was the resignation of Ald. Mason, chairman of the Finance Committee, who had to take this step in order to qualify for nomination as Water Commissioner. Ald. Graham was appointed chairman of the committee for the balance of the year.

There were present Mayor Best, in the chair, Ald. Johnston, Hicks, Mason, Elliott, Graham, Bell, Duncan, Wilson, McIntyre, and McWilliams.

The following communications were received and disposed of:

From R. Sheehy asking for an extension of time on his sewer contract. —Board of Works.

From Adam Hall, notifying the council that he had completed the work of the heating of the fire hall, and that he would assume no further responsibility. — Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From O'Connell and Gordon, solicitors for the Halpin estate, giving notice of a claim for damages in connection with the extension on George street south. — Board of Works.

From G. W. Frost, asking for a pedler's license free of charge to sell household articles in this city. He lost his arm on September 22nd in the Grand Trunk Railway yards and is unable to do any work. — Granted.

From T. Q. Quartermaine, enclosing a resolution passed at the last meeting of the Board of Trade re the proposed dairy show. — Finance Committee.

From A. Stevenson, secretary of the City Trust Commissioners, stating that $3716.85 would be required over and above the amount paid in the commissioners' demand to meet interest and sinking fund on debentures.—Finance Committee.

From F. C. Killam of the Railway Commission, enclosing an order-in-council respecting the C. P. R. trestle work at the foot of Simcoe street.

From the secretary of the Central Charity Relief Board, recommending $50 increase in the salary of the relief officer.—Finance Committee.

From E. A. Peck, stating that he had met with an accident at the C. P. R. crossing on Hunter street on account of the accumulated ice, and expressing the hope that the council would take immediate action to remove the danger. — Board of Works.

From the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association re fire fighting appliances. — Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Bylaws Passed

On motion of Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Hicks, a bylaw was passed to authorise the execution of an agreement with Daniel Belleghem in reference to the care and service of the Dan Spence ambulance.

On motion of Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Ball, a bylaw was passed authorising the appointment of poll clerks for the municipal elections.

Salary of Water Commissioners

Ald. Ball moved that a bylaw be passed providing for the payment of salaries to the water commissioners. The council however seemed to be of the opinion that the matter should be left to next year's council to deal with, and so Ald. Ball withdrew his motion. In doing so he stated that he had introduced the motion because it was part of the stand he had taken in the middle of the year when the matter first came up.

Ald. Mason's Resignation

Ald. Mason then tendered his resignation, which was accepted by the council. Ald. Elliott referred to the valuable services rendered by Ald. Mason in connection with the position of chairman of the Finance Committee. This was endorsed by the Mayor who spoke on similar lines of praise.

As it is necessary to have a chairman of the Finance Committee to sign the few checks that may be left for this year's council to attend to, Ald. Graham was on motion of Ald. McWilliams, appointed to the position.

Ald. Johnston called the attention of the council to the matter of the location of the light which had been asked for on King street 1500 feet from Park street. He thought the light would give a better service if placed at the corner of King and Boswell avenue. The matter was left in the hands of Ald. Johnston, who is now chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

PRESENTATION TO RETIRING CITY TREASURER

Services of Mr. Felix Brownscombe were Gracefully Recognized Last Night

PRESENTED WITH A HANDSOME CLOCK

An interesting event took place at the last meeting of the city council for the year last night when the services of the retiring city treasurer were recognized in a graceful manner by the council and city officials. Mr. Brownscombe was presented with a very handsome clock and an eulogistic address.

The affair took place before the business of the evening was taken up. Mr. Brownscombe was called upstairs and Mayor Best read the following address:—

F. Brownscombe, Esq., Treasurer of the City of Peterborough and Collector for the Water Commissioners.

Dear Sir,—We, the Members of the City Council, the Water Commissioners and City Officials, regret very much that you have decided to leave the services of the Municipality at the end of this year. We regret it because in you the city had an officer of marked ability, and one who was most careful and zealous in the discharge of duty. During the eleven years that you have held the position of City Treasurer and the five years that you have performed the additional duties of Collector of Water Rates, we have felt that the City's interests were carefully guarded in your department, knowing the integrity, accuracy and scrupulous carefulness with which you performed every duty connected with these important offices. We also wish to acknowledge the genial manner and kindly courtesy with which you always met, not only the Members of the Council, Commissioners, and Officials, but all who were brought into contact with you in your official capacity. It has been a pleasure to have your assistance and to work with you as a colleague, and we regret that these relations are to be discontinued. We hope, however, that you will have very many years of business prosperity and happiness, and as a memento of our very pleasant associations and as a token of our good will, we ask you to accept the accompanying gift.

Henry Best, Mayor; Ald. Elliott, Ald. Ball, Ald. McIntyre, Ald. Hicks, Ald. Graham, Ald. Duncan, Ald. Wilson, Ald. Johnston, Ald. Tovey, Ald. McWilliams, Ald. Mason, Ex-Ald. Adams; E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk; Geo. I. Rossel, Chief of Police; W. J. Green, Tax Collector; T. A. S. Hay, City Engineer; H. Evans, Street Commissioner; T. F. Matthews, W. H. Moore and W. H. Hill, of the Water Commissioners; W. Henderson, R. B. Martin, Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Brigade.

Ald. Mason in making the presentation said that he wanted to join the man and the hour by placing a little time on Mr. Brownscombe's hands with the best wishes of the council and officials.

Mr. Brownscombe, who was taken completely by surprise, said that the expressions of the address were very kind and he appreciated them very much. He was very pleased to know that his services were performed in such a manner that they were considered satisfactory. During the eleven years he had filled the office of treasurer he had done his best to give satisfaction not only to his employers but to the general public with which he had to deal. The speaker referred to the pleasant relations he had enjoyed with the council and officials, stating that he had pleasure in doing business with them.

Speaking of his successor, Mr. Brownscombe said that Ald. Adams would give entire satisfaction, referring to his intimate acquaintance with the affairs of the office. He felt that he could step out of the office and that Ald. Adams would satisfactorily fill the position.

Mr. Brownscombe has been a very faithful servant of the city having served in the position of treasurer for eleven years, during which time he has carried out his duties in a manner that have been entirely satisfactory to all concerned. In his retirement the city has lost a valuable assistant.

CONDUCTOR HOLMES WAS A MAN WELL KNOWN HERE

Was Killed in Smith's Falls on Monday—Buried by Oddfellows

The news of the death of Conductor C. R. Holmes of Smith's Falls, will be received here with great regrt by many citizens. The late Mr. Holmes had many friends in the city, having visited here at various times. He was also a great friend to the local hockey team on their visits eastward a couple of years ago. A Smith's Falls despatch says:

Conductor C. R. Holmes was killed here on Monday. He had taken the wreaking train out about three miles east to put a derailed freight car back on the track, and while working about the wreck was run down by the engine of his own train. Both legs were cut off, and his right arm was badly mangled. He lived half an hour, but never spoke. He was a clever, well-educated young man, one of the most popular in town. He came here from Ireland several years ago, and had no relatives in this country. He was a prominent Oddfellow, and funeral was conducted by that Order.

This year we have an unusually large assortment of

THESE DARK DAYS

CAUSE US TO REALIZE ANY DEFECT OF VISION OR EYESTRAIN

Many people think that an examination can only be made on bright days. This is not so, as we use a dark room and artificial light exclusively in our examinations. So we can give equally good results on dark, dreary days, as on bright, sunshiny days.

THE CHIMNEY CHOKED UP BY SOOT

Nothing Could Get Through Mass In Harris House Chimney.

CAUSE OF ASPHYXIATION

Burns on Body of Mr. Harris Explained—Little Myrtle's Condition—Partly Recovers Consciousness and Constantly Cries for "Mamma" —Lucy Campbell Ill From Effects of the Gas Inhaled.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 28.—The coroner's jury, on their personal investigation of the little cottage where almost the entire Harris family were wiped out of existence by the fumes of burnt gas late Wednesday afternoon, unearthed the cause of the presence of carbonic acid gas or fumes from burnt gas being in the room.

The chimney was found completely choked up with crumblings of brick that the gas had eaten out, and that had fallen down into the base of the chimney. With this was a lot of soot, filling it half-way up. It was of a moist nature, and solid, allowing no ventilation whatever up the chimney.

Over a bushel of the soot and debris was dug out of the chimney, when full vent was restored.

Heat Blistered His Side.

It is probable that Mr. Harris was in bed, and awakening, feeling himself partially overcome with the gas, put on his trousers, and, staggering into the living room, seeing his wife and children on the floor unconscious and the flame burning high out of the open lid of the stove, tried to shut off the gas and fell unconscious into the chair near the stove, where he was afterwards found, being so close to the stove that the heat blistered his left side through his woollen clothing.

The little daughter, Myrtle, coming in later, the strong fumes stifled her.

It has been learned that Lucy Campbell went back the second time and tried to drag her aunt outside, but was unable, and ran outside for assistance. She has been confined to her bed since, being very ill from the effects of the gas she inhaled.

Myrtle, the rescued girl, has partly recovered consciousness, and keeps up an almost constant cry for "Mamma! Oh, where is my mamma?"

The coroner's jury adjourned for one week. Arrangements have been made for the funeral of the four victims next Sunday at 2 p.m.

Accidentally Shot Grandpa.

Kingston, Dec. 28.—James Cambon of Mountain Grove, a station on the C.P.R. in Frontenac County, was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of his grandson. The lad was shooting at a target, and a misshot entered the eye of the old gentleman. He was 73 years old.

Frozen to Death.

Belleville, Dec. 28.—Leaning against a fence, frozen stiff, a search party found the body of Stanley Garrite, a Prince Edward County farmer. He was subject to heart disease, and had gone out in the woods to cut cordwood. He was a middle-aged man.

Fatal Christmas Tree.

Woodbury, N.J., Dec. 28.—Mrs. P. P. Abbott was burned to death here yesterday in a fire that destroyed the home of her son-in-law, Lewis P. Starr, prosecutor of the pleas of Camden County. The fire was started by children who were trying to light candles on a Christmas tree. Her daughter, Mrs. Starr, sustained painful burns.

TWO PRETTY PICTURES DONATED BY MR. T. RUSH

The T. A. S. Received Two Landscape Pictures From Mr. T. O. Rush

The T. A. S. received a handsome present a few days ago from Mr. T. O. Rush. It consisted of two handsome landscape pictures beautifully framed. Mr. Rush made the presentation through Rev. Dr. O'Brien, and needless to say the society is very grateful to him for his kind remembrance, and for the interest he has shown in its welfare. The walls of the various rooms are receiving new adornments from time to time and are now hung with many good pictures. Those donated by Mr. Rush were hung in a conspicuous place in the ladies' reading room, and are objects of favourable comment to-day.

JURY BRINGS VERDICT OF MURDER

Capelle and Murano Adjudged Guilty By Coroner's Jury..

CONSTABLES IN PURSUIT

Italians Wanted at Parry Sound For Stabbing Wm. Dow to Death at Whitestone on Christmas Day, and for Giving Three Others Knife Wounds — Faust, the Norwegian, In a Serious Condition.

Parry Sound, Dec. 28.—The report of the murder and stabbing by Italians near Whitestone on Christmas Day was inaccurate in some particulars. The murdered man was William Dow, not McDodd, as reported. He was a nephew of J. J. Grant, the railway contractor, aged about 21, and came from the County of Glengarry.

Frank Capelle was the name of the Italian who committed the deed, his companion in the fracas being one Eugene Murano. Three other Italians of the party ran away when the row began.

A Norwegian named Faust, who came to the rescue of Dow, was stabbed in the shoulder, and also in the right lung. He is in a serious condition. Two others were wounded by knife thrusts besides old man McCormick, the owner of the premises.

An inquest was held by Coroner Stone Wednesday, and a verdict of wilful murder returned against the two Italians, Capelle and Murano. Two constables are in pursuit of the men. It is thought they have gone out on the railway right of way towards Sudbury.

Lawyer Charged With Theft.

Owen Sound, Dec. 28.—H. G. Tucker of the law firm of Tucker & Patterson was before Magistrate Creaser yesterday on a charge laid by Mrs. Margaret Carr, Detroit, who alleges that he appropriated money collected from her son's estate. Mrs. Carr's son left $50,000, and Tucker claims he was to get 25 per cent. for collecting it. Mrs. Carr wants to pay him off with $600.

Alleged Hold Up.

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 28.—William Sutton, aged 23, a sailor, and David Whelihan, aged 24, Canada, were arrested by Chief of Police Maines of Port Huron at Alvinston, Ont., on a charge of holding up and robbing Peter McNeil of this city of $28. Both men have been bound over to the circuit court.

Mob Foiled In Its Revenge.

Las Animas, Colo., Dec. 28.—After several hours of diligent effort at storming the county jail, a mob which gathered after dark Wednesday night to avenge the death of Henry Lavenmeyer, a farmer, who was murdered in a most brutal way by a tramp, dispersed.

The mob worked its way into the jail as far as the steel doors by breaking down wooden doors.

A SURVIVOR OF THE SAN FRANCISCO DISASTER

Miss Lizzie Reid Returns to Peterborough After 17 Years' Absence—Her Experiences in the Earthquake

After an absence of seventeen years, Miss Lizzie Reid, a sister of Mr. R. H. Reid, has returned to Peterborough for a short visit, with her brother, and others of her former friends in the city and county. Miss Reid, during her absence, has been travelling through the United States, and was in San Francisco last spring on the day when the great earthquake occurred. She was a guest at the Palace Hotel in that city, and with the other guests had a narrow escape. She had to walk the streets all day and night following the quake, and part of the next day before she could get to Oakland, where she sought refuge.

During Miss Reid's visit in the city she will receive her friends at 171 Park street. She will be in the city until about the middle of January.

THE WEATHER

Last night the thermometer took another dip, and succeeded in getting within three degrees off zero. There was a heavy white frost this morning, and this with the accompanying dampness, made the morning quite sharp. We are about to have a change to milder conditions now, and a thaw is not unlikely.

CUTTING AT SIXTY HER FOURTH SET OF TEETH

A Lady Had Third Set Extracted to Make Room for Artificial Ones

Baltimore, December 26. — Mrs. Annie Page, aged 60 years, of Gore, Frederick County, Va., who is now visiting her son-in-law here, is cutting her fourth set of teeth.

While, as she says, it is very painful, she exhibits them proudly to her doubters. There are two canine teeth, one on each side nearly out of the gum, while all along the upper and lower gums are little white spots which denote other teeth to arrive. Her mouth is like that of a baby, all of her third set of teeth being extracted last spring by her son-in-law, Dr. Alfred M. Shaggogue, with whom she is staying, so that she might be fitted with a set of false teeth.

When she was told that she was cutting more teeth, Mrs. Pugh discarded her false ones and is now waiting for the new set.

THE LATEST SPORTS

QUEEN'S WILL HAVE STRONG LINE-UP TO-NIGHT

Richardson and Other Stars will be on Against the Local Senior Seven

THE ICE IS IN SPLENDID SHAPE

Splendid ice is assured for the big game with Queen's to-night and speed-limit hockey may be expected. There promises to be an enormous crowd present in view of the fact that this is the opening game and that Queens and Peterborough have always played close, hard contests. The Collegians will have a very strong team to-night as the strongest players not only in the College, but in Kingston will be on the line-up, including Richardson, Marty Walsh's running mate, and one of the best left wings playing the game.

The locals are in fine shape, however, and are confident of being able to take the measure of the visitors, who have, however, been uniformly successful in winning their games here. The team had a rattling practice last night after which the following line-up was selected:—

Goal—Lang.
Point—Moore.
Cover—Crowley.
Rover—Whitcroft.
Centre—Morgan.
Right Wing—Rose.

Dr. Lionel King will handle the bell, a guarantee of a clean fast game. The contest will begin at 8.15 o'clock, sharp.

The services of the 57th Band have been secured and they will contribute an enjoyable programme. With two such attractions as a band concert and hockey match the rink should be jammed.

KINGSTON'S SENIOR TEAM WILL BE STRONG

14th Regt. will Place a Fast Septette in O. H. A. as Contenders with Peterborough for the Championship

Concerning the team which will represent the 14th Regiment, of Kingston, in the O.H.A. senior ranks this season, and which many look upon as the strongest contenders with the Peterborough for the district leadership, the Kingston Whig says:—

The 14th hockey team had a fine turnout at the rink last night, from nine until ten o'clock. It looks from the material on hand as if the 14th officers have made no mistake in placing a team in the senior O.H.A. this season. New men are being got out all the time, and the material to choose the team from is extensive and good. There were a number of the "old-timers" at the rink last night, watching the practice, and they seemed satisfied with what they saw. The boys are getting down to systematic practice, and though the defence is not sure yet, and the forward line is not picked out, the management are well satisfied with the showing made last night.

SAYS CANADIAN SOO WILL WIN THE PENNANT

"Marty" Walsh Expresses Confidence in the Ability of His Team to Land on Top in the "Pro" League

A Kingston despatch says:—"Marty" Walsh, of the Canadian Soo hockey team, is in the city for a few days. He says his team will win the pennant this year, and that they have the best executive in the International League. Both Walsh and Wilson have made good with the team, Wilson surprising the people with his shooting.

PETERBORO' TEAM WILL HAVE NATTY UNIFORM

New Combination of Blue and White is Very Attractive

The local team will present a very natty appearance when they go on the ice for to-night's game with Queen's when their new uniforms will be used for the first time. The sweater is blue and white as usual, but the design is a novel and attractive one. The body of the sweater is of blue with a sash of white crossing it diagonally. On this is lettered the word "Peterboro". The toques and stockings are blue and white to match and the uniform is an exceedingly neat one. The boys have also blue and white over-sweaters in which to warm up. The outfits were secured by Fred. A. Clarke.

HOCKEY

CITY LEAGUE MEETING.

A meeting of the City League for the purpose of drawing up the schedule for the season will be held to-night at 8.45 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. All teams intending to be placed in the schedule must be represented and have their deposit on hand to-night.

BANKERS WITHDRAW.

The Bankers have decided to withdraw from the City League and will do so at to-night's meeting of the executive.

BELLEVILLE LOVES US!

Poor dear Belleville, how they do love Peterborough in that town where nothing always happens. Listen to the little love tap that refreshing journal the Intelligencer hands out to the locals:—

"Peterborough beat Toronto Marlboros 13 to 12 on Christmas night. The Toronto papers did not go into raptures over the play of the Petes, the Mail saying that Whitcroft's rushes were pretty to look at, but could have been easily stopped by good body-checking. The Petes are liable to find harder sledding in the senior division than they did in the funny intermediate series of last season."

If Peterborough finds hard sledding the other teams will have to discard the runners altogether.

• • • •

Mr. T. H. G. Denne, managing director of the Peterborough Hockey Club Limited, will face off the puck in the big game with Queen's to-night. Dr. Lionel King, of Cairo, Mich., the old Peterborough star will handle the bell.

• • • •

The Toronto Telegram last night said:—Peter McStravick, late of Ottawa and later of Peterborough, has flitted to Pittsburg, according to Fred. Whitcroft. Peter drafted with the Quaker Oats town in September, all unaware that the O.H.A. convention would make the residence rule read August 1. Probably somebody threw out a hint that Pete's chance of having his O. H. A. certificate marked O. K. was next to nil. At any rate he has flown, and true to that eastern second nature, has his weather eye out for his share of the loaves and fishes. Peterborough will get itself disliked in official circles if they don't look out.

Such paragraphs as the above are liable to leave a wrong impression in reference to the local club. While it is true that a number of men from outside places have turned out with the Peterborough team this year, among them McStravick and Watson, it should not be thought that the locals' management had any strings upon the men. They were at liberty to turn out and try to catch the team if they wanted to, and if they didn't want to the locals would have to make the best of it. How "Peterborough can get itself disliked in official circles" as the Telegram says, is not easily apparent, when the personnel of the team is considered. Every man on the line-up was either born here or has spent the greater part of his life in this city. No other team in the country can show such a combination of home brews.

• • • •

The Young Rough Riders went to Keene this morning to play a game with one of the village teams.

• • • •

In to-night's game Queen's will have their star defence, Mills in goal and McDonald at point. These two men constitute a defence that is extremely difficult to penetrate as has been seen on their frequent appearances here. Crawford, the diminutive young centre will also be in the game.

CURLING

Mr. Arthur Blade has the ice at the curling rink in excellent condition and again last night the wielders of the besom an' stane put in a graun' time. Four rinks were in operation and the following were the results:—

C. N. Brown, 7.	C. E. Frost, 8.
R. Neill, 10.	Geo. Fitzgerald, 17.
W. G. Ferguson, 11.	Arthur Blade, 9.
Moore, 16.	Parker, 12.

BASKET-BALL.

Midland Y.M.C.A. basketball team will play the local "Arrows" in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on New Years night. The Midlands are a fast team and some time ago defeated the Arrows in that place, so that an exciting and close game may be expected. The Arrows are in good trim and expect to add this to their many successes this season.

—Just leave it to ED. HUFF, if you are thinking of a new suit, overcoat or trousers for the New Year. Now, while every yard of cloth in the store is cut in price, is a good chance—but the chance only lasts till December 31st.

BAND DISSAPPOINTED THE RINK MANAGERS

Mr. Larmonth Makes Statement in Connection with the Failure of Band to Appear at Jackson Park

Mr. J. H. Larmonth, manager of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, to-day made a statement in connection with the failure of the band to appear at the street railway rink on Wednesday night, as had been advertised. Mr. Larmonth explained that in the absence of Bandmaster Gliddon from the city, one of the other members of the band was communicated with, and arrangements made for the services of the band for Wednesday night, and it was on the strength of this arrangement that the advertising was gotten out announcing the band for that night, and it was not until after 8 o'clock that night that it was learned that the band would not be present, and even then no explanation was offered. Mr. Larmonth expressed his personal regrets that those who went to the park expecting a band, were disappointed, but explained that so far as the management of the railway was concerned it was entirely unintentional.

Mr. Harper, of the band, later called the Examiner up on the telephone to explain that owing to the fact that a number of the members of the band were out of the city on Wednesday night they were unable to fill the engagement at the Park, since they had already agreed to send one band to the Brock street rink. Mr. Harper wished it understood that it was through no fault of the Park Rink management that there was no music at that rink.

The Toast List

Wor. Bro. J. G. M. Wilson occupied the chair at the festive tables, and proved himself equally creditable as a toastmaster.

After all had done justice to the good things provided several hours of social intercourse were indulged in during which toasts, addresses, songs and stories filled in an intellectual and mirthful programme.

"The King, the Proctor of the Craft," was the first toast from the chair, which was greeted in a right royal and fraternal manner by all present, all joining in singing "The National Anthem."

"The Grand Master and the Grand Lodge of Canada," was proposed by Wor. Bro. W. Conway, coupling with the toast the name of Rt. Wor. Bro. W. J. Drope, of Grimsby, P.D.D.G.M. Mr. Conway took occasion to refer to some pleasant remembrances of his and Bro. Drope's previous Masonic history, and complimented the latter on the marked progress which he had made in the craft.

Rt. Wor. Bro. W. J. Drope made a very felicitous and instructive address in replying to the toast. After a brief reference to the pleasure afforded him of being permitted to enjoy once more the fraternal fellowship of his Peterborough brethren, he reviewed the condition of the Grand Lodge and the progress of Masonry in Canada. He alluded to the importance of the annual convocations of the high body, and the privilege it was of being a member. The representative men to be met there from every walk of life was an inspiration of great value. He referred to what he characterized as the unwieldy character of Grand Lodge, and saw no remedy other than the elimination of the wardens from the status of membership. He did not think Grand Lodge was doing all that it could in the matter of its benevolent features. He hoped that as soon as the present $10,000 endowment was raised, someone would formulate a scheme for the establishment of a Masonic Home, which were becoming so general in the United States.

A song, "As Heroes and as Gentlemen," was rendered in fine voice by Bro. W. Mollroy, who also gave as an encore, "Loch Lomond." The contagion of this stirring Scottish melody infected the whole assembly, who joined in the sweet, flowing refrain.

"The Newly-Installed Masters" was proposed by W. Bro. Kenner, in a few complimentary remarks on the selection made by the two lodges for their representatives in the East.

A humourous song was rendered by Rt. Wor. Bro. Drope, "Since Father Rode the Goat," followed by an encore.

Wor. Bro. J. D. Craig, Master-elect of Corinthian Lodge, thanked the brethren for the high honour they had conferred upon him. He felt that his success in the East depended largely on the regularity of attendance of the members and the united co-operation of all the officers. He admitted the responsibility attendant upon the faithful discharge of his duties, but was encouraged by the confidence he had in the integrity of his brethren.

Wor. Bro. Jeffries, the Master-elect for Peterborough Lodge, responded in a thoughtful address, in which he referred to his position being one of mingled gratification and regret. Of gratification, because of being able to meet once more with his brethren in this social hour, and of regret because it may possibly be the last for some time. He referred to his removal to Toronto, where he had accepted a position on the staff of one of the Toronto schools, and thus severed his connection with Peterborough Lodge, and the pleasing marks of honour which the brethren had bestowed upon him, resulting in being elected to fill the Master's chair. He took high ground for Masonic preferment, and urged the brethren to imitate the good examples inculcated in the principles of the universal brotherhood of man.

"The Day, and Those Who Honour It," was proposed by Rt. (Wor. Bro. Drope, and responded to by W. Bro. M. A. Morrison, who delivered a carefully-studied and instructive lecture based on his researches in the realms of ancient mythology and more modern usages and customs.

A song was contributed by W. Bro Walter Stocker.

Bro. F. H. Dobbin entertained the assembly with some rare bit-bits of humour from his fund of facile and facetious witticisms, which keep everybody in laughter. His account of his bygone school days in Peterborough, some forty-five years ago, and his unique drawing lessons depicted on a blackboard, a la Bengough, "brought down the house."

"The Visiting Brethren," proposed by Bro. Dr. Malcolm McCullogh, in a few well-chosen words, drew responses from Bro. J. E. Hodgson, of the Collegiate Institute staff; Bro. Dr. Leach, formerly of Warkworth, but now of this city; Bro. John A. Macdonald, of Colorado; Bro. Kylie, of Toronto, and Bro. Rowe, who gave an effective recitation.

A song was rendered by Mr. Morphet.

Wor. Bro. H. R. H. Kenner then delivered a very exhaustive address on "Masonic Symbolism," which was listened to with close attention. The study and research necessary to prepare so elaborate a recital and to deliver it without note or book, in the scholarly manner which Mr. Kenner is so well qualified to do, was a revelation to the brethren.

"The Retiring Officers," by Wor. Bro. Crane, elicited a neat reply from Wor. Bro. George J. Tovey, the I. P. M., of Peterborough Lodge. He also spoke on behalf of Wor. Bro. W. H. Bradburn the I.P.M., of Corinthian Lodge, who was called away on urgent business.

"The Installing Master" was proposed by Bro. W. Menzies. He drew attention to the heavy task devolving upon the Installing Master, and the creditable manner in which it had been performed. The study and proficiency necessary to commit to memory so much ceremonial work and to effectually officiate at the entire ceremonies, without prompting, or a single hitch, as it had been done by Wor. Bro. Wilson, was an accomplishment few were qualified to perform. The brethren of both Lodges held Bro. Wilson in high esteem and his record that evening made them still prouder of him.

The toast was drunk amid applause. On account of a recent bereavement, Bro. Wilson was relieved from acknowledging the toast, and on his behalf Bro. Menzies made a suitable reply in his stead.

"The Junior Warden's Toast" was the last on the programme—"Happy to Meet, Sorry to Part, Happy to Meet Again."

Music and Drama

DOROTHY VERNON OF HADDON HALL

"Dorothy Vernon, of Haddon Hall," will be presented by Miss Laura Burt, and Mr. Henry Stanford, of the late Sir Henry Irving's company, at the Grand opera house, on Tuesday, New Year's Day. The play is a working epitome of Mr. Charles Major's novel, Dorothy is shown in Elizabethan raiment, as an imperious young beauty, who is determined to please herself in the management of her affairs of the heart. She is conducted under romantic circumstances through an ordeal of danger and difficulty. No more charming picture has been seen on the stage this season than Laura Burt, as Dorothy Vernon, with her saucy face her audacious red hair, her petulence, pouting and perversity, and her sweet femininity.

Henry Stanford, as Sir John Manners, is a picture-que hero of chivalrous days, when the gallants of England rode out for their Queen.

METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO. TO AGENTS

An Important Announcement Made by President Hegeman, of This Company, Referring to New Plans

A POLICY OF LIBERAL DIVIDENDS

What is in many respects the most informing and significant paper issued by any life insurance company during the present year has just appeared over the signature of John R. Hegeman, President of the Metropolitan Life. While the communication is addressed to the Company's agents, and is in the nature of a review and announcement covering matters chiefly interesting to the field force, it deserves attentive reading by every one who holds or intends to secure a life insurance policy.

It appears that the Metropolitan Life has for some time been engaged in the preparation of new "mortality tables" based upon its own experience. By comparison of given periods in recent years with corresponding periods in former years, back to 1890, the fact is established that among the Company's policy-holders there has been sufficient improvement in mortality (that is, a smaller average of deaths at various ages) to warrant certain changes affecting future premiums and benefits, all directly in the interest of those insured in the Company. With characteristic thoroughness and frankness these results and changes are specified in minute detail, not put forth as "estimates" or vague promises.

Their significance to the insuring public is a reduction in the price of insurance in the Industrial department, and through a readjustment of rates of commissions to agents, a reduction of premiums charged in the Ordinary Department.

Concerning the policies to be issued in 1907 this information is given:

"Our new policies will be found most attractive in substance. They contain all of the advantages and concessions which we can afford to give and which the public have the right to expect. The surrender values will be found to be generous and take the optional forms of extended insurance, paid-up insurance and cash. They are the standard forms of the New York Department, the work of experts which has legislative approval. They are as plain to the understanding as they can be made. We have discontinued many plans as unnecessary. We shall issue Ordinary Life, Limited Payment, Endowment and Term plans, and we have applied for permission and hope to issue in addition three plans which the public have stamped with their approval—namely, the Optional Life or Endowment, under a new name, the Modified Endowment with Life Option; the Guaranteed Dividend, also under a new and more descriptive name, the Guaranteed Increased Endowment; and the Reduced Premium Life under its new name, Life with Reduced Premium after 20 Years."

One noteworthy passage relates to the Company's liberal policy of distributing dividends and benefits not contemplated in its contracts with policy-holders. President Megeman asks his agents to note that "This year the Company has been disbursing the enormous sum of about two millions of dollars in voluntary dividends upon non-participating Industrial policies, bringing the total amount of unpromised dividends in twelve years to about ten millions of dollars to Industrial policy-holders in the form of dividends on premiums, dividends on death claims and increases of benefits upon existing policies." He adds: "We have been enabled to accomplish this work all these years by steady improvements in business methods, by steady extensions of business territory, by steady additions to insurance in force, by watchfulness in writing and taking care of business, resulting in a decreasing death rate, decreasing lapse rate and decreasing expense rate. These improvements we have announced to you from year to year, but perhaps from this very fact — their gradual, steady progressiveness —you have failed to grasp their full significance. Yet year by year we have told you our aim—to reduce expenses, to improve the death rate, to better the policies, to distribute the surplus, so that each year a larger proportionate amount could be returned to policy-holders and a smaller proportionate amount used in expenses."

He goes on to say that although the year is not ended; the records show, from July 1st to date (December 1st).. that the Company's increase of Industrial business exceeded the increase of any previous year with the exception of two, that in the Ordinary Life Department the business of September equalled that of September, 1905, while October and November showed a large increase, and December promises to be a record-breaker." Further he says:

"Taking the last six months for comparison—June to November, inclusive—you wrote more Ordinary than ever was written by the Company in corresponding months, and exceeded 1905 by over six millions and a half, and this, it must be remembered, by more than 3000 less men."

Other matters discussed in the announcement are no less interesting than those referred to in this brief review.

ANOTHET STRANGER FROM DISTANT LANDS

Mr. Joseph Goldstein Arrives in Peterborough from Zalosca, Austria, After Long Journey

The Jewish colony of the city is being gradually increased by arrivals from Europe. They are German and Austrian Jews. Messrs. Low and Eisenberg, the local junk dealers, who are doing a good business on Charlotte street, are members of that nationality. The latest addition is Joseph Goldstein, a brother-in-law of Mr. Eisenberg who with a friend arrived in this city last night. Mr. Goldstein is a native of Zalosca, Austria, and has not seen Mr. Eisenberg for over twenty years. He left Liverpool on Dec. 12, after a journey of a week or more from Zalosca. He arrived at St. Johns a few days ago and immediately proceeded west to Peterborough. It is not known what Mr. Goldstein intends to do here, but like his companion he will likely make a success of what he undertakes.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN SMITH WILL BE HOT

Reeveship Will be Contested—Seven Out for the Council

The municipal elections in Smith township promise to be among the hottest ever held there. From present indications the reeveship will be contested by Messrs. R. Scott and County Councillor Stinson. Both men are very popular in Smith and the election for reeve promises to be very close.

It is understood that there will be at least seven out for the councillors seats. Among those will be found the past year's councillors, Messrs. Richard White, W. J. Northey, W. Graham, and J. R. Garbutt. The new men whose names are spoken of are Messrs. Webster Blewett, Fred McKee and Jno. McConkey. It is probable though that nomination day will see one or two other names on the list.

A NOTED CANADIAN AUTHOR TO LECTURE HERE

Rev. R. E. Knowles will Appear in This City Under the Auspices of the Y.M.C.A.

As announced some time ago Rev. R. E. Knowles, the popular Canadian author will lecture in Peterborough under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Knowles has written to-day fixing the date for Friday evening, January 25th. His subject will be "The Secret of Scotch success."

Through the kindness of the trustees the George street church has been secured for the lecture.

The proceeds will be applied to the Boys' Department Camp Lot Fund, $100 being required to secure the lot at Clear Lake which is being held for that purpose.

Mr. D. Hughes Charles, a warm personal friend of the lecturer, has kindly consented to occupy the chair.

LOOKING FOR MICHIGAN WIFE OF STREETER

Chicago Millionaire, Accused of Bigamy, Flees to Canada

Examiner Special

Chicago, Dec. 26.— Mrs. Vivian Oliver Streeter has consented to push bigamy charges against her husband, A. L. Streeter, millionaire broker, railroad equipment magnate and fugitive from justice under indictments accusing him of undue friendship for 17-year-old Margaret Burkle in a disreputable hotel in Chicago.

Streeter is said to have found a refuge in St. Thomas, Ont. He cannot be extradited on the Burkle indictment, but the bigamy charge will suffice to bring him back to the United States. A demand will be made on the Canadian Government for his surrender as soon as the Grand Jury can act on the new case.

A second Mrs. Streeter, formerly a resident at 3222 West Fourteenth street, Cleveland, has left that address, but the police say that she can be found whenever wanted. A third, reported to be living in a Michigan town, has not yet been found, though the search for her is now in progress. Of a fourth wife the police can find no trace, and are satisfied that the woman they believe to have completed the alleged quartette of Streeter's matrial partners, is dead.

MME. NIMIDOFF SUES COUNT FOR JEWELS

Count Boni Bought Them But Failed to Failed to Pay and Now a Civil Action is Being Taken

THE AFTERMATH OF A DIVORCE SUIT

Paris, Dec. 28.—The decision of the court that Mme. Anna Gould is not responsible for Count de Castellane's debts means that Boni will have to settle with Mlle. Nimidoff, the Russian opera singer, for her jewels, which she maintains she sold to Count Boni for 120,000 francs, or $24,000, as a present to the countess.

Count Boni and the singer were old friends. They had known each other in the days when the count's life was a gold-paved way, when the countess still trusted him. Mlle. Nimidoff declared that the count long admired her jewels, and often urged her to sell them to him. Finally, after many conversations concerning them, she consented. Since then, the singer declares, she has not seen either the jewels or the money.

When the Castellanes separated and the countess sued for divorce, Mlle. Nimidoff, in great alarm, wrote the countess a personal letter detailing her sale of the gems to the count, and begging that the countess would send her the money in payment. The countess, however, declared that she had never even heard of the jewels, much less seen them.

The count, on the other hand, was equally vehement in saying that he had caused the gems to be reset in the diamond tiara which was one of the ornaments in the countess jewel case. The singer wrote to the countess again, insisting:

"Your husband bought my diamonds, promising to pay 50,000 francs. The money was never paid, and while you may never have seen them, I must insist on payment, as I cannot afford to lose money and diamonds."

The countess answer was a refusal, and thereupon Mlle. Nimidoff brought suit. It was bunched with the claims by other creditors.

It is now declared that the diamonds of Mlle. Nimidoff were taken by Count Boni to another jeweler and resold for 55,000 francs or $11,000. On this point the count is silent.

Mlle. Nimidoff is furious over the prospect of losing both money and gems, as it is known that the count has nothing wherewith to satisfy the creditors, who have been clamoring about him like hungry wolves.

MUZZLE VELOCITY OF 3,000 FEET A SECOND

Marvellous New Bullet Perfected by Sir Charles Ross—Will Use It in Sporting Rifles

The experiments carried on last summer by Sir Charles Ross with special high velocity cartridges have manufacture of sporting rifles to use Ross Rifle Co. have commenced the velocity of 3000 feet per second. The ridge giving the tremendous muzzle resulted in the production of a cartthese cartridges. Their superiority for large game is without question. It seems an absurdity that the Canadian militia cannot promptly reap the benefit of these great improvements in ballistics—the result of Canadian energy and enterprise, on account of the inertia of the Imperial War Office, which insists upon a rule for uniformity of a cartridge among the self-governing colonial forces, which is now existent when applied to the small arms in the British service, noted for its non-uniformity in arms and ammunition.

CORK TO BE USED FOR INSULATING PURPOSES

Heat and Cold Make No Impression On It—A Non-Conductor of Sound

A new insulating material has recently been invented by a Portuguese firm of cork merchants. It has for its principal component granulated cork, and is called 'corticite.'

Its application is unlimited, for it will resist the cold of a Siberian winter and the rays of the tropical sun, also the attacks of insects, even the white ant being powerless against it.

As a non-conductor of sound, it should be useful in city flats.

On boiler tubes and boilders it is said to reduce the temperature of the boilder room to an agreeable one. It is not inflammable, and may be generally adopted for partitions and linings of houses.

Bricks and slabs of "corticite" are made for this purpose, and can be sawed and bored like wood. It would seemm to possess special advantages for use on warships, taking the place of wood as far as possible.

A NURSE MAKES A CONFESSION

Ruined a Home, Destroyed Reputation, Drove a Woman to Suicide and Fooled a Jury—Remarkable Story From Australia

Vancouver, Dec. 28.—An astounding confession of wilful perjury that ruined a home, destroyed reputations, forced a woman to suicide, and made a fool of jurymen in Australia was brought to Australia by the Aorangi. The confession is that of a female nurse named Greville, who has just been sentenced at Sydney, N. S. W., to two years' imprisonment for obtaining goods under false pretenses. It has drawn attention to the terrible injustice that may be inflicted on innocent persons by willful perjurers in the courts.

The woman, according to her own statement, conspired with another woman nurse named Kathleen Dwyer to give false evidence in a civil case which resulted in the jury returning a verdict for $700 damages against Walter Benjamin, who was charged by Dwyer with having beaten her and torn her clothes at a private hospital where Dwyer was nurse, and where Benjamin's wife was a patient. The Greville woman stated in her confession that Mrs. Dwyer had also been recently jailed for two years for false pretenses, induced her to give evidence against Benjamin. She said, in addition, that she conspired with the Dwyer woman to bring a false charge against a well-known doctor of Sydney, Dr. Chisholm Ross, in connection with a divorce case. Dr. Ross has told that, owing to the false statements, he was joined as co-respondent in a suit for divorce against the matron of the private hospital mentioned, whose name also was Dwyer, and the latter woman was so worried by the untrue accusations that she committed suicide before the case came on for hearing.

This fearful record of undeserved suffering inflicted on innocent persons by two willful perjurers was performed, according to the confession, by a desire to extort money, so that the two prisoners might live in a whirl of excitement and pleasure.

Pleasant Place For Funeral

THE following advertisement is published in a Minot, North Dakota, paper:

"Death is only a dream so peaceful and sweet.
J. A. England has caskets both pretty and neat.

This should greatly strengthen Minot's claim to being a good place in which to die.

and drops a hint to the effect that she believes it was taken away by mistake—in other words, was stolen—from her in London by a chance acquaintance called Christabel Lee——"

"Ah," Chris cried, "how clever you are!"

"I have long suspected it," the thin voice went on, drily. "The full description of the star will be printed in the Police Gazette, a copy of which every respectable pawnbroker always gets regularly. I suppose the people where the star was pawned are respectable?"

"Highly so. They have quite a Bond Street establishment attached."

"So much the better. They will see the advertisement, and they will communicate with the police. The Reverend James Merritt will be arrested——"

"I don't quite like that," Chris suggested.

Oh, it's necessary. He will be arrested at the castle. Knowing his antecedents, the police will not stand upon any ceremony with him. You will be filled with remorse. You have plunged back into a career of crime again a being who was slowly climbing into the straight path once more. You take the blame upon yourself—it was at your instigation that Merritt pawned the star."

"But, really, Mr. Steel——"

"Oh, I know. But the end justifies the means. You save Mr. Merritt, there is a bond of sympathy between you, he will regard you as a great light in his interesting profession. You saved him because you had appropriated the star yourself."

"And go to gaol instead of Mr. Merritt?"

"Not a bit of it. The star you deemed to be yours. You had one very like it when you saw Miss Henson, when you were staying in London at the same hotel. By some means the jewels got mixed. You are confident that an exchange has been made. Also you are confident that if Miss Henson will search her jewel-case she will find a valuable star that does not belong to her. Miss Henson does so, she is distressed beyond measure, she offers all kinds of apologies. Exit the police. You need not tell Merritt how you get out of the difficulty, and thus you increase his respect for you. There, that would make a very ingenious and plausible magazine story. It should be more convincing in real life."

"Capital!" Chris murmured. "What an advantage it is to have novelist to advised one! Many, many thanks for all your kindness. Good-night!"

Chris rang off with a certain sense of relief. It was some time later before she had a chance of conveying to Bell what had happened. He listened gravely to all that Chris had to say.

"Just the sort of feather-brained idea that would occur to a novelist," he said. "For my part, I should prefer to confront Merritt with his theft, and keep the upper hand of him that way."

"And he would mistrust me and betray me at the first opportunity. Besides, in that case, he would know at once that I wanted to get to the bottom of his connection with Reginald. Mr. Steel's plan may be bizarre, but it is safe."

"I never thought of that," Bell admitted. "I begin to imagine that you are more astute than I gave you credit for, which is saying a great deal."

Chris was down early the following morning, only to find Bell at breakfast with every sign of making an early departure. He was very sorry, he explained, gravely, to his host and Chris, but his letters gave him no option. He would come back in a day or two if he might. A moment later Henson came into the room, ostentatiously studying a Bradshaw.

"And where are you going?" Littimer asked. "Why do you all abandon me? Reginald, do you mean to say that you are going to refuse me the light of your countenance?"

"Is Dr. Bell going, too?" Henson asked, with just a suggestion of uneasiness. "I mean—er——"

"Business," Bell said. "I came here at great personal inconvenience. And you?"

"London," Henson replied. "A meeting to-day that I cannot get out of. A couple of letters by this morning's post have decided me."

Chris said nothing; she appeared to be quite indifferent until she had a chance to speak to Bell alone. She looked a little anxious.

"He has found out about Van Sneck," she said. "Truly he is a marvellous man! And he had no letters this morning. I opened the post-bag personally. But I'm glad he's going, because I shall have James Merritt all to myself."

CHAPTER XXXIX.

On the whole Mr. James Merritt, exconvict and now humanitarian, was enjoying himself immensely. He did not sleep at the castle, for Lord Littimer drew the line there, but he contrived to get most of his meals under that hospitable roof, and spent a deal of time there. It was by no means the first time he had been "taken up" by the aristocracy since his conversion, and his shyness was wearing off. Moreover, Henson had given his henchman strict instructions to keep his eyes open with a vie wof getting at the bottom of the Rembrandt mystery.

Still, there is always a crumpled rose-leaf somewhere, and Merritt had his. A few days after Henson departed so hurriedly from town the stolen Rembrandt disappeared from Merritt's rooms. Nobody knew anything about it; the thing had vanished, leaving no trace of the thief behind. Perhaps Merritt would have been less easy in Littimer's society had he known that the missing print was securely locked away in the latter's strong room. Still, had Merritt been acquainted with the classics, carpe diem would like as not have been his favorite motto. He declined to worry over the matter until Henson's return. It was not for him to know, yet, that Chris had actually gone over to Moreton Wells, and during the absence of Merritt's landlady, calmly walked into the house and taken the picture away.

"You are going to see some fun presently," she said, coolly, to the astonished Littimer, as she laid the missing picture before him. "No, I shall not tell you anything more at present. You shall hear the whole story when Reginald Henson stands in the pillory before you. You know now that Henson was at the bottom of the plot to destroy Dr. Bell's character?"

"I always felt that our Reginald was a great scoundrel," Littimer purred over his cigarette. "And if you succeed in exposing him thoroughly I shall watch the performance with the greatest possible pleasure. I am not curious, my dear young lady, but I would give sixpence to know who you are."

"Keep your sixpence," Chris laughed, "and you'll know all in good time. All I ask is not to be astonished at anything that happens."

Littimer averred that he had long since lost the power of astonishment There was a brightness and restlessness about Chris to-day that considerably added to her charms. It was nearly a week now since Bell and Henson had departed, and in the meantime Chris had heard nothing from Longdean. Half an hour before a telegram had arrived to the effect that a gentleman in a blue coat might be expected at Littimer Castle at any moment. The police were coming, and Merritt was late to-day. If Merritt failed to turn up the whole situation would be spoilt. It was with a feeling of unutterable relief that Chris saw him coming up the drive."

"Come on the terrace," she said. "I have something very serious to say to you. Mr. Merritt, you have got us both into very serious trouble. Why did you do it?"

"Ain't done nothing," Merritt said, doggedly. He repeated the old formula. "What's up?"

"Er—it's about my diamond star," said Chris. "I lost it a few days ago. If I had known what was going to happen I should have put up with my loss. But I made inquiries through the police without saying a word to anybody, and now I find the star was pawned in Moreton Wells."

"Oh, lor," Merritt gasped. "You don't mean to say the police know that, miss?"

"Indeed I do. You see, once I allowed matters to go out of my hands I was powerless. The case now rests entirely with the police. And I am informed that they may come here and arrest you at any moment. I fear there is no escape for you—you pawned the thing yourself in your own name. What a thousand pities you yielded to sudden temptation."

"But I found it," Merritt whined. "I'll take my oath as I found it under the terrace. I—I—was rambling along the cliffs one day and I found it. And I didn't know it was yours. If I had known it was yours, I'd never have gone and done no such a thing."

Chris shook her head sadly.

"And just as you were getting on so nicely," she said.

"That's it," Merritt whined, brokenly. "Just as I was properly spoofing everybody as I—I mean just as I was getting used to a better life. But you can save me, miss; you can say as you were hard up for money and that, knowing as I knew the ropes, you got me to pawn it for you. Put it in that way and there's not a policeman in England as can touch me."

"I had thought of it," Chris said, with a pretty assumption of distress. "But, but—Mr. Merritt, I have a terrible confession to make. It was not I who started the police: it was somebody else. You see, the star was not my property at all. I—I got it in London."

Mr. Merritt looked up with involuntary admiration.

"You don't mean to say as you nicked it?" he asked. "Well, well."

Chris bent her face lower to conceal her agitation. Her shoulders were heaving, but not with emotion. The warmth of Merritt's admiration had moved her to silent laughter, and she had made the exact impression that she had desired.

"I have telegraphed to the lady, who is more or less of a friend of mine," she said. "I have urged her to take no further steps in the matter. I fancy that she is a good and kind girl and that—but a reply might come at any time."

There was a reply on the way now, as Chris knew perfectly well. The whole thing had been carefully arranged and planned to the moment by Steel and the others.

"I dare say they'll let you down easy," Merritt said, disconsolately; "but it'll be hot for me. I've copped it too many times before, you see."

"Yes, I see," Chris said, thoughtfully. "Mr. Merritt, I have made up my mind: if I had not—er—borrowed that star, it would not have been lost, and you would not have found it, and there would have been no trouble. My conscience would not rest if I allowed you to be dragged back into the old life again. I am going to save you—I am going to tell the police that you pawned that star for me at my instigation."

Merritt was touched even to tears. There was not an atom of chivalry in the rascal's composition. He had little or no heed for the trouble that his companion appeared to be piling up for herself, but he was touched to the depths of his soul. Here was a clever girl, who in her own way appeared to be a member of his profession, who was prepared to sacrifice herself to save another. Self-sacrifice is a beautiful and tender thing, and Merritt had no intention of thwarting it.

"Do that, and I'm your pal for life," he said, huskily. "And I never went back on a pal yet. Ask anybody as really knows me. 'Tain't as if you weren't one of us, neither. I'd give a trifle to know what your little game is here, eh?"

Chris smiled meaningly. Merritt's delusion was distinctly to be fostered.

"You shall help me then, presently," she said in a mysterious whisper. "Hain—s and keep your own counsel, and there will be the biggest job you ever had in your life. Only let you and I get out of this mess, and we shall see what we shall see presently."

Merritt looked speechless admiration. He had read of this class of high-toned criminals in the gutter stories peddled by certain publishers, but he had never hoped to meet one in the flesh. He was till gazing open-mouthed at Chris as two men came along the avenue. They were both in plain clothes, but they had "policeman" writ large all over them.

"Cops, for a million," Merritt gurgled, with a pallid face. "You can tell 'em when you're asleep. And they are after me; they're coming this way. I'll be all right presently."

"I hope so," Chris said, with a curling lip. "You look guilty enough now."

Merritt explained that it was merely the first emotion, and would pass off presently. Nor did he boast in vain. He was quite cool as the officers came up and called him by name.

"That's me," Merritt said. "What's the trouble?"

One of the officers explained. He had no warrant, he said, but all the same he would have to trouble Mr. Merritt to accompany him to Moreton Wells. A diamond star not yet definitely identified had been handed over to the police, the same having been pawned by James Merritt.

"That's quite right," Merritt said, cheerfully. "I pawned it for this young lady here—Miss Lee. Of course, if it is not her property, why, then——"

The officer was palpably taken back. He knew more than he cared to say. The star had been pledged by Merritt, as he cheerfully admitted, but the owner of the star had lost the gem in London under suspicious circumstances in which Miss Lee was mixed up. And at present it was not the policy of the police to arrest Miss Lee. That would come later.

"I am afraid that there has been a misapprehension altogether," Chris said. "Allow me to explain: Mr. Merritt, would you step aside for a moment? I have to speak of private matters. Thank you. Now, sir, I am quite prepared to admit that the ornament pledged does not belong to me, but to Miss Henson, whom I met in London. I took the star by mistake. You may smile, but I have one very like it. If Miss Henson had searched her jewels properly she would have found that she had my star—that I had hers. I heard of the business quite by accident, and telegraphed to Miss Henson to look searchingly amongst her jewels. She has a large amount, and might easily have overlooked my star. Here is a boy with a telegram. Will you take it from him and read it aloud? It is addressed to me, you will find."

It was. It was signed "Enid Henson"; it went on to say that the sender was fearfully sorry for all the trouble she had caused, but that she had found Miss Lee's star with her jewels. Also she had telegraphed at once to the police at Moreton Wells to go no farther.

"Looks like a mistake," the officer muttered. "But if we get that telegram——"

"Which has reached the police-station by this time," Chris interrupted. "Come into the castle and ask the question over the telephone. I suppose you are connected?"

The officer said they were; in fact, they had only recently joined the Exchange. A brief visit to the telephone, and the policeman came back, with a puzzled air and a little more deference in his manner, with the information that he was to go back at once, as the case was closed.

"I've seen some near things in my time, but nothing nearer than this," he said. "Still, it's all right now. Very sorry to have troubled you, miss."

The officers departed with the air of men who had to be satisfied, despite themselves. Merritt came forward with an admiration almost fawning. He did not know quite how the thing had happened, but Chris had done the police. Smartness and trickery of that kind were the highest form of his idolatry. His admiration was nearly beyond words.

"Well, strike me," he gasped. "Did ever anyone ever see anything like that? You, as cool as possible, and me with my heart in my mouth all the time. And there ain't going to be no trouble, no sort of bother over the ticket?"

"You hand over that ticket to me," Chris smiled, "and there will be an end of the matter. And if you try to play me false in any way, why, it will be a bad day for you. Give me your assistance, and it will be the best day's work you ever did in your life."

Merritt's heart was gained. His pride was touched.

"Me go back on you?" he cried, hoarsely. "After what you've done? Only say the word, only give old Jim Merritt a call, and it's pitch-and-toss to manslaughter for those pretty eyes of yours. Good day's work! Aye, for both of us."

And Chris thought so too.

CHAPTER XL.

Waiting with the eagerness of the greyhound in leash, David Steel was more annoyed and vexed over the disappearance of the wounded Van Sneck than he cared to admit. He had an uneasy feeling that the unseen foe had checkmated him again. And he had built up so many hopes upon this strangely-uninvited guest of his. If that man spoke he could tell the truth. And both Cross and Bell had declared that he would not die.

David found Cross in a frame of mind something like his own. It was late in the afternoon before it transpired that Van Sneck was gone, and, unfortunately, David did not know where to find Bell at the moment. Cross had very little to say.

"A most unpleasant incident," he remarked. "But these things will happen, you know. We have been so busy lately, and our vigilance has been slightly relaxed. Oh, it is impossible to guard against everything, but he is certain to be found."

"You don't think," David suggested, "that anybody secretly connected with the man's past——"

"No, I don't," Cross snapped; "that would be impossible. The man had something on his mind, and so far as bodily condition was concerned he was getting quite strong again. In his dazed state he got up and dressed himself and went away. He seems to have been seeking for somebody or something for days. We are certain to have him again before long."

With which poor consolation David returned home again. He was restless and desirous of human companionship. He even resented it, as a kind of affront, that his mother had chosen at

FOOD IRON

You need Iron. Everybody does. The harder you work, the more you worry, the more Iron you require. But Crude Iron won't do. Iron Pills, Iron Tinctures, Iron Tonics are useless in nineteen cases out of twenty. You must have pre-digested Iron or your blood will not assimilate it.

FERROL

furnishes the Iron you need in combination with Cod Liver Oil, and so intimately incorporated with the oil that the most delicate digestive organs cannot fail to assimilate it.

The value of the combination cannot be overestimated. It builds up and fortifies the system against Coughs, Colds, Bronchial Affections and kindred troubles. If any of these diseases have already been contracted, or if the lungs are affected or threatened, FERROL cures by enabling nature to throw off the disease, not by "killing the germs," which is a physical impossibility.

FERROL is an absolute specific for Croup and Bronchitis, and no household where there are children can afford to be without it.

FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the best Physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals. It is used in the prominent Hospitals, Sanatoriums, etc.

SIXTEEN KILLED IN THIS WRECK

Over 30 Injured in Collision on North British Railway.

DIE THROUGH SNOWSTORM

Banffshire's Member of Parliament Among the Injured—Britain Suffers From Worst Snowstorm in Thirty Years—Snowladen Warehouse Collapses and Endangers Lives of 50 Women.

Dundee, Scotland, Dec. 29.—In a railroad collision, caused indirectly by the heavy snowstorm of the last few days, sixteen persons have been killed and over thirty injured.

The accident occurred near Arbroath, on the North British Railroad, between Edinburgh and Aberdeen, and some distance north of here.

Among the persons injured is Alex. Wm. Black, member of the House of Commons from Banffshire, Scotland.

The accident is attributed to the heavy fall of snow, owing to which trains from London for Aberdeen were held up at Arbroath.

Worst in Thirty Years.

London, Dec. 29.—The continuing snowfall has created a situation, the worst known in thirty years in Great Britain, and the conditions existing here apparently are general throughout Europe.

From all parts of Great Britain come stories of trains buried in snowdrifts, the worst case being that of a passenger train bound from Dundee to Edinburgh, which ran into a snowdrift at 6 o'clock Thursday night, three miles from St. Andrew's, and is still imbedded. A relief train sent to its assistance stuck in the drift and all efforts during the night to reach them were futile. Yesterday morning a small quantity of provisions was conveyed to the hungry passengers and crews. The equipment of the British railroads is quite inadequate to deal with the conditions, heretofore almost unknown in this country.

Narrow Escape of Fifty Women.

Forty or fifty women had narrow escapes from death yesterday owing to the collapse of a snowladen warehouse. Most of them were rescued from the wreckage with only slight injuries.

Nine persons have been found frozen to death in roads in England alone during the past 24 hours. The list, doubtless, will be much lengthened when communication with isolated parts of the provinces, now snowbound, is restored.

Vessels in Trouble.

All the members of the crew of the Japanese steamer Awa Maru, from Antwerp for Middlesbrough, which ran on the rocks off Red Car Thursday night, were safely taken off by the lifeboats.

A telegram from Holy Head says that it is learned there that an unknown vessel had foundered off Rhoscolin Point, Wales. Distress rockets were sent up late Thursday night and a lifeboat put out, and searched for hours, but found no sign of the vessel in distress.

Spanish Ship Founders.

Corunna, Spain, Dec. 29.—The Spanish fishing steamer Primero has foundered in a storm. All of her crew were lost, with the exception of one.

Madoc Farmer Crushed By Tree.

Madoc, Dec. 29.—Daniel Bird of Madoc Township, sawmill owner and farmer, living near Allen Station, on the Bay of Quinte Railway, while, together with his two sons, felling a tree by means of a cross-cut saw, was almost instantly killed by the tree falling upon him, crushing his ribs in over the heart. Mr. Bird was one of the oldest residents of what is known as Allen Settlement. He leaves a wife and eight children, all grown up.

Lad Cut In Two.

Cobourg, Dec. 29.—David Andrews, about 14 years of age, was accidentally killed here yesterday afternoon. He was jumping on a Grand Trunk freight shunter when he fell between the cars and was cut in two.

In Poor Health, Suicides.

St. Catharines, Dec. 29.—Mrs. Bernard Ball of Thorold, who has been in poor health for some time, was found hanging in her bedroom Thursday afternoon. Her husband died some time ago, and something over a year ago a brother of Mrs. Ball committed suicide.

Unknown Found Dead.

Brockville, Dec. 29.—The body of an unknown man was found on the G. T. R. tracks a short distance west of Brockville station Thursday night. He had evidently been struck by or fallen from a train. Deceased is thought to have been a brakeman.

BROKE UP MASONIC MEETING.

Disturbance In Paris Due to Interpretation of the New Law.

Paris, Dec. 29.—There were rather serious disturbances at a late hour Thursday night at the Masonic headquarters in Paris, where the police dispersed a crowd of Catholics who had forced an entrance to the building and expressed their intention to carry out certain Masonic rites.

Certain members of this crowd had previously made legal declarations at the prefecture of their intention of holding a public meeting.

The demonstrants said they considered that the formalities required for the holding of religious meetings apply equally to Freemasonry.

Vatican's Official Note.

Rome, Dec. 29.—An official note issued by the Vatican yesterday says:

"The comparison between the Prussian cultural law of 1875 and that of the Clemenceau Cabinet as made in the French Senate was entirely wrong. The Prussian law, although hard and unjust towards the church, explicitly recognizes the Catholic hierarchy as the foundation of the church, while the fundamental principle of the church and state separation law and of M. Briand's bill is to ignore the hierarchy and to impede in an unjustified manner the ordinary practice of religion."

RELEASE OF HOLLWEY.

Charge of Conspiracy Against Real Estate Agent Falls.

Toronto, Dec. 29.—The charge of conspiracy to defraud the University of Toronto, preferred against T. W. Hollwey, real estate agent, has failed, but Judge Winchester, in discharging the accused, declared that the evidence showed that he had intended, and had succeeded in defrauding the university.

"The charge is conspiracy. The crown has been unable to prove that. Those who acted for you knew nothing about the matters," said the judge. "The deceit by you against Foulds was barefaced, and there is everything to show that you took advantage of your clients. I find you not guilty of this charge. It depends on the crown whether or not you will be prosecuted on the charge I have mentioned."

GOVERNOR KILLED.

Gen. Litvinoff Is Struck Down in the Street by Unknown Men.

Omsk, Asiatic Russia, Dec. 29.—Gen. Litvinoff, governor of the Province of Akmolinsk, was assassinated in the street close to his office yesterday by two unknown men.

Russian Police Activity.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 29.—The secret police made 588 arrests here during the last three days.

The prisoners, who include thirty-three women, are charged with "revolutionary activity and illegal election agitation." Further arrests and searches are proceeding vigorously.

U.S. Supports Congo Reforms.

Washington, Dec. 29.—It was said at the State Department yesterday that the United States Government, through its Ambassador in London, had pledged to Great Britain its support in any steps taken by the British Government towards ameliorating the condition of affairs in the Congo, but

AFFAIRS IN THE BIG COBALT SUIT

Injunction Against Newly Organized Company Dissolved.

AN UNDERTAKING PRESCRIBED

Enough Money in the Treasury Must Be Kept By the Cobalt Mining Co. to Satisfy All Claims of Subscribers to the Syndicate or Syndicates After the Closing of the Books.

Toronto, Dec. 29.—The injunction against the Cobalt Lake Mining Co., granted on Thursday to Frank Scott Malcolm, was yesterday dissolved by Justice Mabee.

James Bicknell, K.C., claimed that the syndicate trustees had refused the list of subscriptions offered by S. D. Maddin, while accepting two marked cheques after the books were closed.

Britton Osler argued that the action should be against Maddin for default in agency or against the McDougall Audit Co., not against the defendants, who never heard of Malcolm, and were in no way contractually connected with him. Mr. Osler represented that the $1,085,000 would have to be put up immediately, and that a writ of this kind on the eve of floating a large affair might very easily stampede the subscribers and spoil the whole project.

G. F. Henderson of Ottawa declared that the Ottawa syndicate had found themselves unable to make a satisfactory tender, and had merged with the Toronto syndicate. He had been asked by a member of the Cabinet to furnish a list of those on whose behalf he was acting. That list, he thought, had influence with the Government in their acceptance of the tender. When the Ottawa syndicate came in touch with the Pellatt syndicate they found that the Pellatt syndicate had already disposed of the promotion stock. The trustees had got nothing.

Mr. Bicknell objected to the firm of Pellatt & Pellatt getting $280,000 worth of promotion stock and $80,000 brokerage.

It was explained by Mr. Henderson that this was a condition of the amalgamation.

The order of the court dissolved the injunction, reserving for Mr. Malcolm the right to sue for damages. It read as follows:

"Upon the defendants, the Cobalt Lake Co., undertaking to retain in the treasury sufficient of the capital stock of the company for distribution among such persons as subscribed to the syndicate or syndicates in question, after the closing of the books, if the plaintiff or such persons is or are able to establish any rights by reason of such subscriptions, and without prejudice to the plaintiff proceeding in this action for the recovery of damages for any of the alleged breaches of trust committed by the defendants, or any of them; otherwise, as the plaintiff may claim, it is ordered that the injunction be dissolved. Costs in the cause, unless otherwise ordered by the trial judge."

HIS TOTTERING THRONE.

King Peter's Intentions Raise Opposition In Servia.

Belgrade, Dec. 29.—When the Deputies left the Chamber after the passage of the loan bill Thursday night there was a serious student demonstration against the Government and the dynasty, which had to be suppressed by gendarmes.

There was much resentment among the students because of a rumor that King Peter intended to give $600,000 out of the loan as a dowry to his daughter, Princess Helene.

It is reported that the King contemplates the promulgation of an edict on Jan. 3, giving to himself absolute authority over all his relatives, including the notorious crown prince, his son, George.

THE RUSSIAN FAMINE.

30,000,000 Peasants Will Require Assistance From the Charitable.

London, Dec. 29.—Nicholas Shishkoff of the Samara zemstvo relief committee has sent to London, accompanied by an appeal for funds, a terrible account of the present famine conditions in Russia.

He says that two or three months must elapse before this year's famine attains its full intensity. "Fifteen years ago," say Mr. Shishkoff, "when the famine was less serious, we had $4,000,000; now we have only $500,000."

M. Shishkoff estimates that about thirty million peasants will need assistance.

A DOUK ACCESSION.

Man Arrested For Walking Naked, Heading For Canada.

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—The mounted police have been advised that a family living at Cheyenne, Wyoming, and calling themselves Adam II., Eve II., with their son, Lee Adam, contemplate emigrating with a party of thirty-one persons to Western Canada in the springtime, to proclaim that they are the Messiah.

Adam II. says that he saw a star fall and he felt that he was the Messiah, and subsequently he and his wife walked through the street naked and were arrested. They intend joining the Doukhobors in the spring.

Mr. Tucker Acquitted.

Owen Sound, Dec. 29.—In the police court, Magistrate Creasor acquitted Lawyer H. G. Tucker of any intent to rob Mrs. Carr in the management of her claim for her son's estate. Mr. Tucker will now proceed against the estate of George Welsh, Mrs. Carr's son, in the Nevada courts, for his commission of 25 per cent., which will amount, if granted in full, to between twelve and thirteen thousand dollars.

THE GROWTH OF CULTURE

The day is past when culture and true social enjoyment were confined to the few—to the privileged classes. We live in a day of enlightenment and democracy. Equal educational advantages, equal opportunities for culture and enjoyment of those things in life that are best worth while.

The luxuries of yesterday are the necessities of to-day, and in the musical world nothing is more noticeable than the demand of all classes for the highest possible grade of piano. The piano manufacturer who meets this demand is never slack for want of orders.

THE
New Scale Williams

is Canada's greatest piano. Its improvements and latest features have gone far toward creating a better appreciation of good music all over Canada. It more nearly approaches the ideal piano than any other.

Its tone, quality, construction and architectural beauty are unexcelled. For good music, for accompanying the solo voice or chorus of song, great artists all over the world are loud in its praises. And yet it is a Canadian instrument—perhaps the highest exponent of Canadian industry.

If you will fill in the coupon below, cut it out and take to your dealer or send to the Williams Piano Co., we will send you ABSOLUTELY FREE SEVERAL BEAUTIFUL BOOKLETS, "The Making of a Great Piano," etc. We will also tell you of easy purchase plans that will interest you.

Christmas Entertainment

No more appropriate conclusion to the day of merry-making could have been made than in attending the Christmas tree entertainment given by the pupils of the Methodist Sunday School.

The programme was a lengthy one, consisting of recitations, drills, etc., which were rendered in good form.

The excellent work of the teachers was apparent, and much credit is due them for their assistance in the preparation of the entertainment. The distribution of the numerous presents, which took place at the conclusion of the programme was an interesting feature of the evening's pleasure.

For Family Colds.

A reliable cough and cold cure should be always in the house ready for use the moment the first symptoms appear.

It is always easier, cheaper and better to check a cold in the very beginning.

It is safer, too.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, has been tested for thirty-three years, and tens of thousands of homes in Canada and the United States to-day are never without it.

A dealer writes: "Shiloh's Consumption Cure is without doubt the best remedy for Coughs and Colds on the market. Once used, my customers will buy no other."—L. Elsley, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont.

If it were anything but the best would this be so? Try it in your own family. If it does not cure, you get back all it cost you. We take all the chances. Neither you nor your dealer can lose. Isn't that fair? 25c. is the price. All dealers in medicine sell

ENGLAND

An absorbing drama of love and fortune lies behind a charge of bigamy preferred against a wealthy woman named Dorothy Josephine Wagstaff, of Manor Park, Potton, Bedfordshire, who was remanded at the West London police court recently. This woman astonished the officer in charge at the Kensington police station, by walking in, accompanied by her private secretary, and calmly stating that she wished to give herself up for bigamy. She said: "My second husband, who is now dead, knew my first husband very well, and knew that he was alive. He persuaded me to do it." Mrs. Wagstaff is 45 years of age, and her action in surrendering herself on the present charge hinges on a lawsuit pending in the courts respecting the will of Mr. Wagstaff, who died some time ago. When a little over 20 she met a medical student, Alfred Gibson Jahhand, to whom, in 1884, she was married. This marriage was not a happy one, and the wife resolved to earn her own living becoming a nurse. Fourteen or fifteen years ago, as the result of a romantic meeting, an acquaintanceship sprang up between the pretty Irish nurse and James Poole Wagstaff, a wealthy London land owner, and ultimately the couple went through the form of marriage at St. George's church, Hanover Square. Mr. Wagstaff died in 1903. The former nurse now found herself in possession of an income of between $50,000 and $60,000, and proceeded to act as a fairy godmother to the poor of the neighbourhood. For three years she enjoyed the great hall, noticed that a cell door lady of the manor. But all this time she was aware that her first husband was alive; the secret leaked out in the village, and finally reached the ears of persons interested in the estate.

An organized plot to escape from Portland convict prison came to a head recently, and was frustrated by the promptness of a warder. The conspiracy, although its details were simplicity itself, was probably one of the most daring ever conceived within a prison. One of the convicts, probably with the connivance of his comrades appears to have conceived a plan of escape as ingenious as it was desperate. After the convicts are locked in for the night the huge hall is left in charge of one solitary warder, who is unarmed, save for a club. This fact seems to have suggested the idea to the convicts that if only one of their number could get his cell open the warder might easily be overcome, and his adversary could then release either a portion or the whole of the 400 prisoners, who would make a combined effort to escape. The officer on duty, a warder named Carder, whilst parading the iron corridors of the great hall, noticed that an cell door was slightly ajar. With commendable promptitude he at once rang the electric alarm bell communicating with the governor's house and the orderly room. He had no sooner done so than a muscular convict clad only in his shirt dashed out and closed with Carder. The arrival of the civil guard put an end to the struggle.

A novel presentation is being made by the citizens of London to the captain and officers of the H.M.S. London, in the shape of a wonderful silver model of the White Tower section of the Tower of London. The model, which is exactly to scale, is manufactured in solid silver, and the amount of labour involved may be estimated when it is said that it has taken the Goldsmiths' and Silversmiths' Company twelve months to produce. Supported by silver dolphins on a solid oak base, the chief characteristics, perhaps, of the presentation is its extraordinary fidelity to the original. Every crevice in the stonework is faithfully represented, every age-worn disparity on the surface of the four weather-beaten walls is given with exact fidelity. The selection of a model of the "White Tower" as a presentation was determined by the choice of the captain and officers of the London, the reason for this decision being that the tower is the most ancient portion of the city after which their ship is named. The tower, according to tradition, was built by Julius Caesar, but the nucleus of the present building was begun in 1078 by William the Conqueror.

Interesting information with regard to the habits and growth of various species of fish is contained in the annual report of the scientific investigations carried out during the year by the Fishery Board for Scotland. A herring does not reach maturity until five years old. Herrings over 12 inches long, like the large Lochfyne fish, may be 10 years old and more, and the very large herrings that are occasionally caught, measuring 14 to 15 inches, are probably over 15 years of age, and may be 20. Two adult plaice about to spawn were put into a tank, and their eggs collected daily. The first produced a total of about 163,500 eggs in 36 days, and the second 252,700 in five days longer. An incidental result of experimental trawling by the Board has been to show the enormous destructive power of the modern otter trawl when employed in shallow bays at certain seasons. In six hauls in the Dornoch Firth at the end of September, the duration of the actual fishing being 23 3-4 hours, 25,553 fishes were caught, and of these, 18,809, or 73 1-2 per cent., were thrown overboard as unmarketable. The number of haddocks taken in these six hauls was large, namely, 10,361, but only 394 of them were large enough to be marketable, 96 per cent. of the catch being returned to the sea. To return the small fish to the sea, however, is not to revive them. All the young haddocks and a proportion of the young plaice caught in this way perish.

Burglars and house-breakers have been very busy in Scotland during the past few years. The criminal and judicial statistics for 1905, published recently, show that while crime generally north of the border has decreased, the number of cases of burglary and house-breaking have steadily increased for many years past. If the period of 1897 to 1905 is taken, a total increase in this class of crime amounting to 47 per cent. is shown, the numbers of cases rising from 3,200 to 4,700. Roughly speaking, only one person is captured for every four crimes, so that the activity of the police appears to leave something to be desired. Drunkenness and disorder appear to prevail to a very large extent in Scotland, the total number of persons convicted during the year reaching 94,768, nearly 3,000 more than in the previous year. The little towns, with populations ranging between 2500 and 5000, seem to be the worst in this respect, the record being held by Blairgowrie, where one in every 12 inhabitants was convicted of either drunkenness or disorder during the year. Of the large towns and cities, Greenock holds the worst reputation, one in every 21 inhabitants having appeared in court. Glasgow came next with one in every 26 inhabitants.

A singular affair concerning the disappearance of a horse and machine, and a hurried midnight shipment at Dundee harbour, has come under the notice of the Dundee police authorities. The whole circumstances are of a mysterious nature. The hour of departure of the Newcastle steamer Alderney on a recent sailing was at midnight, and the deck hands were busy putting the arrangements shipshape. From the darkness towards Dock street, there appeared the outline of a cab. The vehicle was horseless and was pulled towards the ship by a man, who stated that he wished it forwarded to Newcastle by steamer. Some objection to this summary shipment was raised by the ship authorities, but the man argued his point with persuasive ability, and he was ultimately told "to bring it aboard." The hour for sailing had arrived, and the heavy and large vehicle formed an awkward consignment to place on board. Several people who were waiting to see the ship set sail, lent their aid, and a police constable also lent willing assistance in getting the cab on to the vessel's deck. Then the mooring ropes were cast off, and the ship stood out to sea. Next day the constable learned that a cab was missing from Glasgow.

The Edinburgh Town Council has interested itself in an appeal to the Scottish people for the completion of the National Monument to serve the purpose of the Scottish National Gallery. The neglected condition of the Calton Hill is commented upon, and it is urged that the skeleton monument should now be completed on the model of the Parthenon at Athens, and that the finished building should constitute the National Gallery of Scotland. A Parliamentary Committee presented a report in August, 1903, in which it asserted the need of a new National Gallery for the northern kingdom, and suggested that towards the cost a sum of £20,000 should be advanced from the accumulated capitals of the Board of Manufactures, which was constituted under the Treaty of Union, and receives an annuity of £2,000 for the promotion of science and art, and that the rest of the cost should be borne by the Exchequer.

IRELAND

The romance of an old country mansion that was found to be literally littered with wealth was told in Dublin recently before the Master of the Rolls, in connection with the administration of the estate of the late Mrs. Megan. Every passage in her house and every room to which access could be obtained was packed with parcels of every description, old papers, deed boxes, valuable pieces of furniture, and old silver, and thrown about in confusion. The main staircase and the vestible were literally knee-deep in rubbish. It took the valuator three days to valuate the litter, and his search resulted in the discovery of thousands of pounds, in cheques, bank notes, shares, securities, coins, jewelry, and silver. Bank of England and Bank of Ireland notes were found adhering to old pieces of newspaper or thrown carelessly aside in waste paper baskets. Sovereigns were found on the floor of every room, on the stairs, and hidden away in tea cups, and vases, and even in the kitchen utensils. There were also large sums represented in uncashed checks, dated in some cases, fifty years back. Plate chests, containing large quantities of silver, were found hidden under great piles of papers and judging from their appearance they had been untouched for decades. Large quantities of wearing apparel were also found, the gowns in some instances being covered with rare Irish lace.

An exciting chase by a policeman was recently witnessed in Belfast. Constable Taylor saw a light in a public house, and looking inside, observed a man named M'Murray. He sent for assistance, but in the meantime the man rushed out by the rear of the premises and crossed the roof of the Hamilton Laundry. Constable Stafford then came on the scene, and climbed up after M'Murray, who thereupon leapt into the Blackstaff River, some fifteen fee. below. Nothing daunted the policeman divested himself of his coat and boots, and, plunging into the river after him, gave chase. After swimming 500 or 600 yards he saw M'Murray crouching under a bank. The latter then promptly turned and swam in the opposite direction, back near the spot where he had taken his initial dive. After him again swam the constable holding his baton, which he had taken with him in one hand, but M'Murray eluded his pursuer by diving and turning under the water. Then he made for the side and climbed up a steep embankment, five feet over the level of the water. The policeman had to swim some 100 yards down the river before he could find a landing place. The prisoner was then captured by the other constable.

The miners of Coalisland, Co. Tyrone, are panic stricken by what they declare to be a ghost which is evincing a habit of standing four hours in prayer under a chestnut tree near the mine. The apparition, which is of the gentler sex, and wears the customary garb of white, began her revisitations a week ago, when on the stroke of midnight she was seen gliding down a lane near the pit's mouth. When she reached the tree she knelt in prayer, and remained on her ghostly knees until the clock struck four, when she resolved herself into thin air. Every night since then she has repeated the programme with business-like regularity, and has got on the miners' nerves to such a degree that some of them declare that they would rather lose their work, than go on night duty. The local clergymen were skeptical at first but those of them who have visited the place are now prepared to admit the genuineness of ghost. Local tradition has it that Mass was celebrated under the chestnut tree in by-gone days and the place around it is known as the "Mass garden."

An unusual form of agrarian outrage took place near Roscommon, recently, a large crowd, armed with sticks and stones, preventing the members of the Roscommon Harriers Hunt Club from carrying out their run arranged for the afternoon. The origin of the demonstration lies in the objection of the cottars and small farmers to the existing system under which large tracts of land are laid out as grazing ranches, yielding little or no employment to the people of the congested districts in the neighbourhood. Several members of the Roscommon Hunt Club are large graziers, and it was stated that the opposition to the hunt was due to this fact. The crowd attacked the dogs and threatened the members of the hunt with violence should they persist in carrying out the run.

A beautiful stained-glass window, costing $15,000, has been placed in the Tanderagee parish church by the Duchess of Manchester in memory of her mother, Marietta Zimmerman, of Cincinnati, O. The unveiling ceremony was conducted by the duchess. There are four lights or panes, decorated with angels and religious symbols, the panes showing the four evangelists, and under each a scene in the life of Christ.

Sir Thomas Echlin, who has just died in Dublin, at the age of 62, was for many years a member of the Royal Irish Constabulary. There were originally large family estates in Dublin, Kildare and Carlow, but prolonged litigation by the fifth baronet disposed of them. By the death of his father, Sir Thomas Echlin joined the police force, and rose to be a sergeant, retiring in 1893.

Lunatic, Dying in Hospital, Gives Non-Existant Riches to Imaginary Daughter

Examiner Special.

Franklin, Pa., Dec. 28.—Mrs. Esther Marshall, of this city, to-day cleared the mystery of a remarkable will made by her son, Robert Marshall, who died in Denver two weeks ago. Following Marshall's death on the operating table in St. Luke's Hospital, a will was found in which he bequeathed $35,000 to a daughter he had never seen.

The daughter was said to have been born in a hospital in Mercer, Pa., in 1881, shortly after his wife had fled from him at Warren, Pa. He did not know her name or where she lived.

The Denver authorities to-day succeeded in locating Mrs. Esther Marshall, the mother of the dead man, who said that her son's will was the product of a diseased imagination, his mind having been unsound for several years.

She says the absurdity of the will is shown by the fact that in 1891 he was only 13 years of age, and that at that time there was not a hospital in Mercer. Besides, he was worth less than $1,000 when he died.

Calling a water "pure" does not certify it safe for you to drink. Water can be pure and yet be harmful. Boiled water is pure, in one sense, because heat destroyed the bacteria it contained, but heat does not remove harmful salts from water, nor the organic matter. ¶ Distilled water, used so much on shipboard, is chemically pure; but seafaring men will warn you against drinking too much "condenser" (distilled) water. It brings on bowel trouble, because the salts it should contain have been distilled out of it. ¶ Some spring water is fairly pure; but even the purest spring water contains dissolved mineral matter—sulphate of lime, carbonate of lime, magnesia, common salt, potash, iron. ¶ Even pure water, if it contains too much of some of these salts, does you harm. ¶ So what are you to do? You shouldn't drink boiled water because the salts are not boiled out of it. You musn't drink distilled water because the salts are boiled out of it. Most spring waters have too much of the wrong kind of salts. What are you to drink? ¶ Why not drink a water that is not only ideally pure, but in which are naturally present exactly the salts that are good for anybody, in exactly the proportion that is right for everybody? ¶ Why not drink a water that is zestful, sparkling, limpid, with no excess of mineral, no trace of harmful salts? Millions In Treasures Lay At Bottom Of Great Lakes

Valuable Cargoes Have Gone Down and Never Been Recovered—Six Thousand Vessels Lost in Twenty Years--The Erie Alone Carried $18,000 in Specie.

While the oceans and the islands in them undoubtedly contain the greater part of the hidden treasure of the world, there are other places which are beginning to attract those infested by the germ of "treasureitis," and among these are the Great Lakes. From time to time treasure-hunting expeditions have been fitted out at various ports, but they have been generally regarded as such businesslike ventures that only now and then has one seen much of romance or adventure in them. The majority of these expeditions were unsuccessful in their efforts, but a few of them have reaped rich rewards.

Probably no similar area of any ocean, if suddenly robbed of its waters, would expose to human eyes more sunken ships or more valuable cargoes than would the five Great Lakes. This is easily understood, says the Detroit News-Tribune, when one knows that during the twenty years between 1878 and 1898 only one less than 6,000 vessels were wrecked on the inland seas, and that 1,093 of these were total losses.

Millions Unrecoved

The loss of cargo during those years, which represent but a little more than one-fourth of the years of navigation on the lakes, was $6,548,900, and from this it is quite safe to reason that the total amount of property which has gone to the bottom of the lakes, counting only cargoes, would make the enormous total of at least $12,000,000.

Of course the greater part of all this sunken property has been destroyed by time and water, but much of it was indestructible, and is as good to-day asb it was when it was lost. It is also true that at the bottom of the lakes would be found valuables of less romantic interest than the gold and plate of Spanish galleons and the riches of pirate chests. There is little doubt but that there are large sums of money hidden in the inland seas, but most of their lost treasure is made up of copper, steel, iron, coal, machinery and other practically indestructible things which go to make up lake cargoes.

The Loss of the Erie

How a ship may lose herself in the Great Lakes and for years, perhaps forever, defy all attempts at discovering her is illustrated in the tragic story of the Erie, a treasure ship which was lost in Lake Erie during the season of 1841. This vessel under the command of Capt. T. J. Titus, left Buffalo for Chicago on the afternoon of Aug. 9. When about 33 miles from Buffalo, off Silver Creek, a slight explosion was heard and almost immediately the whole vessel was enveloped in flames. On board the Erie were scores of immigrants bound for the west and specie amounting to $180,000, but in the excitement and appalling loss of life which followed no thought was given to the treasure.

The steamer De Witt Clinton came up in time to save many lives, but in going down the Erie carried 100 souls with her. For years after this the trasure ship lay half buried in the sand 70 feet under water. Not until fourteen years later in 1855, was a successful attempt made to raise her. In that year a treasure-seeking party left Buffalo and towed the hull into shallow water. A fortune in foreign money was secured, mostly in five-frane pieces.

Treasure Recovered

Other stories of treasure recovered from the bottom of the lakes are quite numerous. In 1902 the steamer William H. Stevens, loaded with $101,880 worth of copper, caught fire and sank between Conneaut, Ohio, and Fort Burwell, Ont. Underwriters worked on her all one autumn, securing only 19 tons of copper. Then Captain Baker of Detroit, began operations, which resulted in the recovery of nearly $100,000 worth of property. In 1895, the William Home, loaded with $20,000 of steel billets, sank in 96 feet of water off Swishwush Point, Lake Michigan. In 1901 she was raised, one diver being killed in the operation and another paralyzed. Captain Baker also recovered treasure in steel billets amounting to $31,000 from the Alva Bradley, which sank in deep water off North Manitou Island. Captain Quinn of Detroit, has also recovered many valuable cargoes.

Somewhere along the south shore of Lake Erie between Dunkirk and Erie lies a treasure ship which will bring a fortune to the lucky discoverer, if she is ever found. One night the Dean Richmond, with $50,000 worth of pig zinc on board, mysteriously disappeared between those two places. Every hand on board was lost and their bodies were picked up on shore. In vain have the searching parties spent much time and money in the hunt for the lost vessel. The last attempt was made by the Murphy Wrecking Company of Buffalo, which had a vessel and several divers searching all one year without success.

Lake Huron's Record

Somewhere in the deep waters of Saginaw Bay lies the steamer, Fay, which went down with $20,000 worth of steel billets. Efforts have been made to locate her but like many other treasure ships in the Great Lakes she is so deep down that no diver can live to reach her. Under sea workers cannot go deeper than 100 feet and work, for while they can descend to 130 feet they must rise immediately or suffer a terrible death.

Near Walnut Creek, in Lake Erie, lies the Young Sion, with a valuable cargo of railway iron. In the deep cold waters of Point Pelee is also the Kent, with a small treasure in money in her bulk and the skeletons of eight human beings in her cabins. Somewhere between Cleveland and the Detroit River, are a deckload of locomotives lost from the Clarion in 1851. In Lake Huron in the neighbourhood of Saginaw Bay, are said to be more lost ships than in any part of the Great Lakes, and for that reason Huron has been frequently referred to as "The Lake of Sunken Treasure." In the days when the country along the bay was filled with lumber camps, large sums of money were brought up in small vessels which were frequently lost. In the deep waters of Saginaw Bay it is believed lies the city of Detroit which went down in 1873 with about fifty thousand dollars worth of copepr aboard. All hands were lost and no wreckage of the vessel was ever found. The R. G. Coburn, also laden with copper, sank in the bays in 1871, with a loss of thirty lives. Although searches have been made for her, the location of the Coburn is still one of the unsolved mysteries of the lakes.

Liquor Cargoes Lost

Of the treasure which is awaiting discovery in the inland seas, whisky forms quite a part. Scores of vessels with cargoes of this liquor have been lost, and while whisky does not age under water, it would be fully as good as when it went down.

In 1846, the Lexington, commanded by Capt. Peer, cleared from Cleveland for Port Huron, freighted with 110 barrels of whisky. In midlake the vessel foundered with all on board, and though sixty years have passed since then, she has never been located. To-day her cargo of whisky would be worth $113 a barrel. In 1850, the Anthony Wayne went down in Lake Erie with 300 barrels of wine and whisky, and five years later the Westmoreland sank near Manitou Island with a similar cargo. These are only a few of the many cargoes of whisky and wines which are now at the bottom of the Great Lakes.

It is estimated that at the present time there are several hundred thousand dollars' worth of coal at the bottom of the lakes, and that the day is approaching when modern invention will make it possible to recover much of this there is little doubt. In Tobermoray Bay, a device is now being used which, according to the description of its work, might be employed successfully to bring up cargoes of coal. This invention is a long pipe which can be thrust down deeper than divers can work, and which, by means of powerful suction apparatus, draws up sand, stones and articles small enough to find passage through it.

Coal Goes To Bottom

Of treasure in lost coal, that of the Gilcher and Ostrich, a steamer and tow, that disappeared in Lake Michigan, is one of the largest. The two vessels carried 3000 tons, and as yet they have not been located. In 1895 the steamer Africa went down in a gale on Lake Huron, carrying 2000 tons of coal with her, and in 1898 the St. Peter sank in Lake Ontario with a valuable cargo of fuel. These big cargoes are only a few of the many which may some day be recovered.

The history of lake treasure hunting is not without its romance. In 1865 the Pewabic was lost with a fortune in copper aboard. She disappeared as completely as though she had been lifted above the clouds. Expedition after expedition was fitted out to search for her—a search which continued over a period of 30 years. In 1897 a party of fortune-seekers from Milwaukee were successful, and located the long-lost ship six miles southeast from Thunder Bay. As yet, on account of the depth of water in which she lies, only $7,000 worth of copper has been recovered from her.

When 300 Lives Were Lost

One of the most terrible events in lake history was the loss of the Atlantic, with 300 lives, off Long Point, Lake Erie, in 1852. She went down with a valuable cargo, and for many years searches for her were made from time to time. She was not found until a few years ago, when cargo to the value of $30,000 was raised.

Another lost treasure ship, the location of which remained a mystery for more than a quarter of a century, was the propeller Ironsides, which went down with a valuable cargo and 23 lives, near Grand Haven, in 1873. She was discovered a few years ago, but is in such deep water that nothing can be done with her.

Perhaps the most romantic of all disappearances of ships from the Great Lakes was that of the Griffin, built by La Salle at the head of Lake Ontario, in January, 1679. The Griffin sailed across Lake Erie, up the Detroit River, and continued until she entered Lake Michigan. In the autumn of 1680 she started on her return trip loaded with furs, and with $12,000 in gold coin on board. She was never heard of again, and historians are generally of the opinion that the little vessel sank during a storm on Lake Huron.

SPREADS TERROR, THEN IS SHOT DEAD

Ohio Bandit Runs Amuck Until Bullet Stops Him at Last

Examiner Special.

Mansfield, O., Dec. 28.—Bert Hollingshead, who terrorized the lower part of Mansfield in true bandit style, lies dead to-night, having been shot through the heart by Captain Christy Marks, of the police force.

Hollingshead has been out of the penitentiary but six months, having been sent there for burglary and larceny from this county. He was 25 years of age and came here a short time ago from Columbus.

On Friday night he broke into the hardware store of Geo. Breidenstein and secured eight revolvers. He went to the home of a sister, Mrs. Mary Davis, and confessed to the burglary.

"The police will never take me alive," he said.

Hollingshead met John Ost and Wm. Lomax, two well-known citizens at the corner of Sixth and Franklin streets.

"Hands up," he said. Lomax ran, but Ost stood, and was relieved of some change.

Twenty minutes later he held up a boy named Zimmerman near the same place. A block away he met Harry Wentz. He shoved both guns at him, saying, "Now, I have got you," and fired. Wentz ran.

Captain Marks hailed Hollingshead, who fired. Marks returned the fire.

Hollingshead ran, and was found 20 minutes later, lying dead with a revolver grasped in his right hand.

The largest sum paid for a single novel is said to have been $200,000 to Alphonse Daudet, for Sappho, published in 1884. Eighty thousand dollars was received by Victor Hugo for Les Miserables, which was published in ten languages.

SAFE AND SANE.

In these days of inflated capitalization and wild optimism, it is worth any investor's while to study the sane business proposition which Western Oil and Coal Consolidated OFFERS to investors. One of the best opportunities for making large profits on a small investment that has come before you for a long time. The Company owns the only known oil lands in British Columbia that are on a railway. They own two wells that experts say will produce, at least, 100 barrels of oil per day. They have let a contract for drilling five more wells that are likely to be even more productive. They own 26,240 acres of oil and coal lands in Alberta and British Columbia; and there is little doubt but that within a year they will have, at least, a production of 500 barrels of oil per day on that land. Under their Charter, which is a very valuable one, being a special Act obtained from the Legislature of Alberta, they have the right to build pipe lines anywhere, and to construct tramways to carry their coal. They have successfully prospected for and obtained the oil on some of their lands, and there is every reason to believe that their other oil lands are as good, probably much better than those they have already Proved. J. W. Warren, of the Winnipeg Oil Company, says, in an official report, that he "never found anywhere a crude oil equal to the Alberta production," and he adds that "it seems impossible to doubt that the Alberta wells will in the future be able to supply the Canadian market."

WESTERN OIL AND COAL

Another oil expert, of well known standing, who has made a fortune out of oil, closes his report with the following:—

"I have no hesitancy in saying that it is the most promising oil field I have ever examined, and I have been in every oil field on this continent, excepting California and Texas, and operated both as producer and refiner in Canada, Ohio and Pennsylvania."

If you had invested $1,000 in the Home Oil Company, of California, seven years ago, your investment to-day would have been worth $375,000. If you had invested $1,000 in the Standard Oil Company twenty years ago your investment to-day would be worth $6,500,000.

The oil lands of this Company are only a part of the resources in which you have an interest when you invest in the shares of the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated. The Company owns fourteen square miles of coal lands in British Columbia, which adjoins the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's lands and through which the Great Northern Railway now passes, and fifteen square miles of coal lands in Alberta. The Company also owns a mine at Chipman Creek, in Alberta, on which it has been estimated that there are 12,000,000 tons of coal; that is to say, the Company has sixty times as much area of coal land unprospected as now constitutes the Chipman Creek mine, on which it is estimated there are 12,000,000 tons of coal.

Not one gold mine in forty has ever paid its shareholders a dollar; not one silver mine in sixty-four has ever paid to its shareholders a dividend. On the other hand, 97 per cent. of the coal mines and oil fields have been a great success, and have made their proprietors enormously wealthy. $1,000 invested in the Crow's Nest Coal Company ten years ago would be worth to you to-day $275,000. The late Robert Dunsmuir, with less than $1,000, laid the foundation on Vancouver Island for his great fortune, which it is estimated to-day is worth $41,000,000, and made it all out of coal.

Coal and oil are as necessary in the domestic economies of life as food and clothes. An eminent financier who died worth $70,000,000 said to a young man who enquired from him as to the source of his great fortune: "For certainty of profits invest in necessities." Oil and Coal are necessities. In the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated you will have an investment in two of the most profitable commodities that are produced by mining. Greater fortunes have been made in the production of these than have ever been made in any other class of mining. The Western Oil and Coal Consolidated own their properties and the titles are vested in the Company. The Company is managed by business men, who have invested largely in the Company's shares. If they are to make money for themselves they must make money for you—that is evident. In the consolidation of the various companies which are merged into the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated there was not a share of stock given to anyone for promotion. There is no one who received a share of this Company's stock without paying for it; everyone has been obliged to pay for the preferred stock the same price at which you can buy it now, but you will readily understand that when you are offered Cumulative Preferred shares bearing interest at 6 per cent., guaranteed by $367,500 worth of assets, and in addition to this you are offered a bonus of an equal number of Ordinary Shares, that you are getting an investment which is far beyond the ordinary. For this reason the Directors of the Company, who are men of business sense, feel that they cannot afford, in the interest of those who have already invested, to continue to give the bonus of share-for-share.

AND COAL

Therefore, the bonus of share-for-share will be withdrawn after December 31st, 1906. Till then you can participate in this excellent opportunity; after that, if there are any of the 10,000 Preferred shares left, which is doubtful, the bonus will be considerably reduced, probably to over half, or withdrawn altogether. If you are a business man of ordinary business discretion, and have money to invest, you cannot make any mistake by carefully examining and investigating this proposition. The shares are selling rapidly, and it is not expected that there will be any left after the 31st of December. If you want to know more write to John N. A DREAM DRIVES A MAN TO DESPAIR

A. C. Edgell, La Crosse, Kills Himself Because of Vision

Examiner Special.

Lacrosse, Wis., Dec. 28.—Driven to morbid despair by the oft-recurring dream of violent death, A. C. Edgell, one of the leading financiers of Lacrosse, sought relief from the horrible vision by sending a bullet to his heart. It is believed that the dream so impressed him that he conceived the idea that fate was pursuing him and became convinced that the best method was to bring it about with his own hand. His friends had noticed his condition of mind and took great precautions to protect him from himself. He often told of his dream, and confided to business associates that he believed it foretold his fate. Last night he eluded his friends and relatives and went to his room. This morning, when the door was forced open, his dead body and the revolver told the story of the realization of the strange vision.

Mr. Edgell was treasurer and cashier of the Lacrosse Plow Co., and was prominent in the larger business affairs of the city. He was wealthy, and it is said that there could have been no motive for his suicide other than the influence of the dream.

Thirteen of the boarders were arrested and a half dozen or more were attended by surgeons.

Citizens Strongly In Favour Of The New Collegiate Institute $21,000 By-law

Aldermen and Public Men Express Their Views on the Question — Educational Facilities Which Peterborough Must be Provided With

IN THE CITY'S BEST INTERESTS

Higher Education the Necessity of the Age — Peterborough Young People Should be Equipped for Life's Battle With Best Possible

The bylaw to raise $21,000 to be used for Collegiate Institute purposes, supplementing the sum already voted by the ratepayers for the erection of a Collegiate Institute building in the city seems to be arousing considerable interest in the city, and the opinion of sound business men is that the bylaw will receive the support of the ratepayers at the forthcoming municipal election.

The fact that alreay $50,000 has been voted, and $10,000 of it expended in the purchase of a site is considered sufficient justification for voting a further sum to enable the building to be completed in a manner which will make it a credit to the city.

Some of the aldermen and other public men in the city have expressed their views on the question of the bylaw, and their opinions may be considered as having some weight.

ALD. TOVEY SUPPORTS THE PROPOSAL

Strongly in Favour of the Collegiate Institute By-law—Ratepayers Should Vote in Favour of It

Ald. Tovey is another citizen who is very much in favour of the passing of the bylaw to grant an extra $21,000 for Collegiate Institute. He was seen by a reporter last night and gave a number of reasons to subscribe why the bylaw should be voted on by the citizens.

The ratepayers he explained had already voted $50,000 for the building and grounds and there was nothing to be gained he believed in letting go by a proper Collegiate Institute for the sake of an extra $21,000 which to the taxpayers would be so insignificant that it would never be noticed.

"The city must have a Collegiate Institute," he said, "and a $10,000 building would not fill the bill according to the way the city is advancing at the present time."

In five years hence, he believed the city would look back and wonder why there was any opposition at all in the erection of a $61,000 Collegiate Institute. He considered it a disgrace to a city with such expectations as Peterborough has, not to have an Institute to meet the requirements of the citizens built at once. Since the Government has decided to erect a Normal School here he thought that the citizens should agree to the building of a good Collegiate to provide students for it.

"The extra $21,000 doesn't amount to much," he concluded, "but it is very material to the improvement of the city and besides, enterprises seeking location here always inquire about the educational advantages which the city affords. We need some public buildings which we may be able to point to with pride to visitors from larger cities."

HIGHER EDUCATION MUST BE PROVIDED

Ald. Johnston Expresses His Unqualified Approval of By-law to Vote $21,000 For New Collegiate Institute

Ald Johnston, chairman of the City Fire, Water and Light Committee, expressed to a newspaper man yesterday his unqualified support of the bylaw to raise an additional $21,000, for Collegiate Institute purposes. Higher education, he said, is the rock upon which the rising generation must rely for the betterment of mankind in general. He had no patience with people who because they either would not or could not give their children a high school education, denounced any measure tending to im-

Names A Trust Board For The Public Library

At the Request of Nicholls Estate Trustees Board of Directors of Library Suggest Names of Five Gentlemen for Trust Board

THEY TO ADMINISTER THE BEQUEST

Last night a meeting of the Directors of the Public Library Board was held to consider and act upon a request which had been received from the trustees of the Nicholls Estate to suggest the names of five gentlemen who would act as a trust board for the administration of the funds of the Estate, so far as they related to the Public Library.

It will be remembered that by the provision of the will of the late Mrs. Nicholls $10,000 was left for public library purposes. Up to the present time the administration of this money has been in the hands of the trustees, Messrs. Richard Hall and Charles McGill, but these gentlemen have asked the Board of Directors to name five men, who would act as members of a trust board, and, if they are acceptable to the trustees they will no doubt be appointed.

At the meeting of the directors last night the following gentlemen were suggested to comprise the trust, and their names will be submitted to the trustees:—Dr. Burnham, Mr. W. H. Hill, Mr. T. A. S. Hay, Mr. W. Pringle and Mr. Jas. English.

The duty of these gentlemen, if they are appointed by the trustees will be to take charge of the $10,000 and any further sums of money which may be available from the funds of the Estate and administer them for the benefit of the Public Library.

At the present time the library receives from the Nicholls Estate annually $400, which amounts to four per cent. of the sum set apart by the will.

BOLIVIA A HARD PLACE FOR THE MISSIONARIES

A missionary's life in Bolivia is not by any means a bed of roses, according to the testimony of those who are engaged in that work. In view of the fact that to-morrow Rev. F. J. Scott will preach his farewell sermon to the congregation of the Murray Street Baptist Church and will leave on the day following for Bolivia to enter missionary work, the following from the Toronto World, of to-day, will be read with interest:—

Rev. A. B. Reekie and his wife, Canadian missionaries in Bolivia, in writing to Rev. J. G. Brown secretary of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board, report that they were attacked by a drunken mob that was disturbing church worship. The police came promptly to the rescue. The government have promised full protection in future.

WILL DISCUSS THE DAIRY SHOW PROPOSAL

Mr. Cowan, of Toronto, will Meet Finance Committee on Monday

The Finance Committee of the City Council will meet on Monday night, when Mr. Cowan, of Toronto, secretary of the special committee appointed by the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Association to deal with the question of holding a dairy show, will be here to discuss the matter with the local authorities. Mr. Cowan will no doubt have much important and interesting information to impart.

Vandalism Committed In A Church In Lakefield

Stole Cross From St. John's Church of England at Lakefield— Unexplainable Action of Some Very Evil Disposed Person

CHURCH PROPERTY WAS DESTROYED

Lakefield, Dec. 29.—Some unknown mortal, opposed to the presence of the cross on the altar of the English Church, took the high-handed method one day last week of removing it and hiding it behind the reredos. In order to accomplish this he was obliged to mount from one of the chancel chairs to the altar, leaving dents from hob-nails visible on both. An act of desecration such as this, shows supreme ignorance and impudence and a total lack of reverence for sacred symbols. The cross, in the English, as well as in the Roman Catholic Churches, is placed on the altar, not for the purposes of idolatry, but as a reminder of the great event by which we obtained our chances of redemption. A man capable of such conduct as above stated is in need of, not so much the penalty of a prison, as of a few rudimentary lessons on the origin of Christianity.

LITTLE BOY HAD RIGHT ARM BROKEN

Met With an Unfortunate Accident While Tobogganing at Jackson Park

Orus Ballard, the little 12-year-old son of Mr. Wm. Ballard, Aylmer street, had both bones of the right forearm broken while tobogganing yesterday afternoon. He was enjoying the pleasures of the toboggan chute at Jackson Park, when the unfortunate accident happened.

He was immediately taken to Nicholls Hospital where the broken bones were set. The injury was rather severe and it will be some time before he will be able to use his arm again. The accident happened about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

DECEMBER THE BUSIEST MONTH IN HISTORY OF LOCAL CUSTOMS HOUSE

Not So Much Money Paid for Duty But a Greater Number of Parcels Than Ever Before in Peterborough Office

THE OFFICIALS HAD A BUSY MONTH

The month of December has been the busiest twenty-seven days of business that the staff at the local Customs House has ever experienced. This condition, of course, is largely accounted for by the fact that it is the holiday season, and while, so far as revenue it has not been a record-breaking month, in the number of entires made and the number of parcels passing through the customs it surpasses any previous month, and the staff has been on the jump all month.

The rush is by no means over yet, either, one of the officials stating to-day that there were still hundreds of parcels, the great majority of them Christmas gifts which have not yet been taken out of the Customs by the persons to whom they were sent.

Christmas, in the Customs, is not a very heavy revenue-producing period, and considerable work is done for very little money.

The officials have their own troubles too in establishing a basis of value on the gifts which pass through. Everything has to be opened, and valued, and, while the officials do not want to make the recipient pay too much for his gift, he has to look to the interests of his employers; the Government. In many cases the recipient is asked to set a value on the article, and, in the case of ladies, especially they do not want to make it too low; they would rather have to pay a little more duty than admit that the presents were of little value.

It is probable that the receipts for this month will exceed those of the same month last year, but it will not be a record-breaker by any means.

The Temperature Still Going Up

To-day at noon the thermometer went up to 35 degrees above zero. This is three degrees above the freezing point, and the highest mark reached by the thermometer during December. The Examiner yesterday predicted that a thaw was in prospect, and although it can hardly be said that the thaw is actually here the indications point to the probability of its experience soon. Perhaps this is the usual January thaw anticipating matters by a few days. At any rate, some warmer weather is in prospect, the indications pointing to a continuance of the present mild conditions for a few days. It would not be surprising if some rain or snow fell.

BIG MOOSE CROSSES JACK'S LAKE ON THE ICE

On Friday of last week, Captain Frank Young, sealer for the Rathbun Company, witnessed the unusual sight of a large moose crossing Jack's Lake on the ice. Fortunately for the moose Captain Young was without a rifle and the animal escaped through the woods. — Lakefield News.

PETERBOROUGH CLUB'S ANNUAL AT HOME, ENJOYABLE EVENT

The annual at home of the Peterborough Club was held last night, and proved to be one of the most successful social events of the present social season. The commodious quarters of the club in the Bank of Commerce buildings were very artistically decorated, and the spacious billiard room was placed in a condition for dancing. The office of the Trent Canal, Union Life Insurance Company, the dental parlours of Dr. Holloway and Dr. Morrison, on the second floor, were very kindly placed at the disposal of the At Home Committee, and were used to good advantage. The offices of the Trent Canal and Union Life provided a splendid dining hall.

Much regret was expressed that the president of the Club, His Honour Judge Weller, through indisposition was unable to be present. The guests were, however, received by Dr. H. P. Boucher, vice-president of the Club, and Lt. Col. H. C. Rogers, a life past presidents.

Dancing commenced at about 9 p. m., the official set of honour being composed, viz., Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers and Mrs. R. R. Hall, Dr. H. P. Boucher and Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., and Mrs. (Dr) Young, Mr. R. E. Wood and Mrs. (Dr.) Eastwood, Dr. Eastwood and Mrs. W. R. Morrison, Mr. R. Morris Saunders, and Mrs. R. P. Boucher, Mr. W. S. Davidson and Mrs. John Crane, Mr. E. S. Clarry and Mrs. R. E. Wood.

Music was provided by the Grand opera house orchestra and was excellent. During the evening the card rooms were well patronized.

Supper was served by Messrs. Long and Hooper, and was of a very high order. The decorations were artistically arranged by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons. The chairman of the at home committee was Mr. W. S. Davidson, the secretary being Mr E. S. Clarry.

INDIAN WOMAN GAVE HIM $10 AND AROUSES SUSPICIONS OF THEFT

An Indian Claims He Was Robbed of $45 While Staying at a Chemong Indian's Home Over Night

STRANGE PARTS IN THE STORY

A Chemong Indian was in the city the other day complaining of the loss of $45.00 which he claims was stolen from him on Friday night, Dec. 21, while going home from Peterborough. His story is to the effect that he had been in the city on that day and drove home with a couple of white men and another Indian.

When he arrived near the village he took out his money and counted it and discovered it was all there—some $35.00 or $60.00. That night he slept at the Indian's house but on waking in the morning he found that all the money had disappeared.

While eating his breakfast at the same house that morning he states that the wife of the Indian who kept him over night handed him a ten dollar bill not telling him how, when or where she came by it nor why she gave it to him. He is now, however, minus his roll and has no information to forward regarding where it has gone. It is believed that the day he came to Peterborough he had been drinking and that his memory is not very clear regarding all the circumstances but nevertheless it is certain that his cash has disappeared somewhere.

Learn Dressmaking In Two Weeks

We teach you everything, from the finest shirtwaist to the most elaborate toilet, that can be found in the fashion books. And we will offer $25 to anyone, who, after taking a course with us can show us an article in dressmaking they can't cut, fit and put together; not only the lining, but all the outer goods in coats, skirts, wrappers, sleeves, collars, etc. Why spend months in a dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes, and then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. For you will know no more how to cut out a dress at the end of a year than you did the first day you went there. So why spend your time there when we can teach you in two weeks. You can come and try for a week and see for yourself what it's like, and as there is nothing to be paid in advance you certainly would not loose anything by trying. We have taught over 2,000 girls in this way within the past six years in Western Ontario, and all recommend it very highly.

Charge for full course is only $10.00, to be paid when course is completed, if satisfied. Including one of the most perfect fitting systems in use, which we give free. We guarantee that the waists made by this chart will not draw nor pull out of skirt when raising arm.

An evening class will also be taught. In this class we will teach shirtwaists, sleeves, sacques and skirts. This course will be $6.00, and hours from 7 to 10.

We will teach at Peterborough from Jan. 21st to Feb. 2nd. Hours from 8.30 to 5. All wishing to learn for full particulars be sure to see us at the Oriental Hotel, Hunter street, on January 19 h. between 10 and 5 o'clock.

Remember there is no pay in advance, you can all come and try.

CITIZENS STRONGLY IN FAVOUR OF COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE $21,000 BYLAW

proved advantages and accommodation in educational courses beyond those of the public schools.

When asked what he thought of Peterborough's public buildings, generally, Ald. Johnston replied that while Peterborough poses as "the banner baby city of this Province, she is away behind many other communities in the way of public buildings of any kind. In fact, he said, barnew fire hall is the only real up-to-date building we have, and that is a creditable beginning along a line of public structures which shall prove a credit to this city, and in keeping with its past and future progress in other respects. When we are going to erect a Collegiate Institute, and not before it is wanted, the Electric City should, he urged, see to it that the structure is modern and presentable in its architectural design, and not wanting in approved 20 century appointments. He could not understand why Peterborough should be behind all surrounding small towns in the matter of magnificent schools and institutes, and said he was strongly in favor of the place of his birth enjoying all the advantages of a good up-to-the-times high school, as such an institution offers that class of education needed, and which must be available, if Peterborough is to keep pace in educational matters with other localities of less importance than the Electric City.

The press representative next asked the worthy alderman if he considered a Collegiate Institute education of sufficient importance to citizens as a whole to warrant the expenditure of $61,000 on the proposed building.

Ald. Johnston replied that it is the desire of every parent to give at least some of the family such educational advantages as will enable them to make substantial progress to distinction amongst their fellow citizens. Such men and women are needed and sought after, and no municipality can afford to be without them. And there is no cheaper stepping stone toward higher educational attainments than a good Collegiate Institute. It stands between the public schools and the universities, and thousands who could not afford a course at one of the latter institutions, have by matriculating at a high school carved out for themselves an eminently successful and honorable career. Therefore, he said, I am not going to be one to stand aside and criticize my fellow citizen who has been fortunate in securing the benefits of an education I did not get myself, and who rightly contends that the interests of higher education should be promoted at any cost.

Ald. Johnston was here asked if he thought a Collegiate Institute course was within the reach, and taken advantage of by the poor.

Why, he replied, I could name families in this city today, who have struggled manfully against tremendous odds in the battle for family necessities, supplementing their incomes in divers ways, and as a result have given from one to four of their children a collegiate education. And those children are now a credit to their parents, the community, and to themselves. A great many people have attained to high callings in our land by struggling with all manner of difficulties to educate themselves. Thousands who could not afford to give their children a university course have managed to put them through the Collegiate Institute, and thus placed them in a position to earn a better living than otherwise attainable, and to make further advance in education if they desire to do so.

Then you think the new institute is needed? was next asked.

I should say so, answered Ald. Johnston. I see a great need of bettering our educational facilities as we grow in size. We cannot reasonably expect the schools of thirty, twenty, or even ten years ago, to accommodate our present needs. Why should not the institute be erected next year? We have the land to build on, not a better site can be found anywhere; we have the plans of the building required; and now we (the people) have the opportunity of saying by our votes on January 7th, whether we are to at last experience the realization of our hopes by having a building constructed in the Central Park for Collegiate Institute purposes that will answer the requirements of higher education for years to come.

That by-law should carry, and by a big majority, concluded the Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

PRACTICAL BUILDER WILL SUPPORT

The $21,000 By-law to Provide Building Which The City Stands in Sore Need of—Should Not Delay Work

Major William Langford, who spent ten years in the city council and is thoroughly conversant with the needs and progress of the city, when asked to-day if he would vote for the bylaw to raise $21,000 in order to complete the sum — $61,000 —necessary to put up a new Collegiate Institute, he replied "Yes, I intend to vote for the bylaw. I did not support the previous bylaw to raise $50,000, but I am going to record my vote in favour of this one.

Major Langford, who has had long experience as a builder and contractor, expressed the hope that as beautiful and attractive a building as possible would be placed on the site of the new Collegiate in Central Park. His only fear is that $61,000 may not be sufficient for a structure that will be an architectural ornament to the city.

The location which cost $10,000 is a splendid one, and the building should be such that it will be an asset to the city, and an edifice to which the citizens can point with pride. However, Major Langford is of the opinion that the longer construction work is delayed the more expensive will be the undertaking, and he intends to vote on January 7th, for the bylaw to raise $21,000 in order to enable the Board of Education to go ahead with the work, and make use of the funds, $40,000, which they now have on hand.

ADDRESS TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

To the Electors of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In compliance with the request of a large number of influential ratepayers, I have decided to offer myself as a candidate for the mayoralty of Peterborough for the year 1907. I assure you that, in aspiring to the position of Mayor, I appreciate the responsibility of being intrusted with the duty of promoting the interests of a city of whose position and progress, I, in common with every other citizen, am justly proud.

Identity of Interests

All my material and business interests and their betterment and advancement are centred in, and bound up with the good government, good standing and progress of Peterborough. Therefore, to put the matter upon no higher ground, if I receive the honour of being elected Mayor, it will be to my interest to do all in my power for the growth, up-building and general welfare of my home City, in which I received my education in the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute, and in which, as remarked, my present and future are centred.

Systematize Municipal Work

As a member of the Council for the past three years I have endeavoured to serve the interests of the ratepayers faithfully, and the knowledge gained by service on all the committees of the Council, and, for the past two years, respectively, as chairman of the Manufacturers Committee and Board of Works, and the careful study I have devoted to all municipal questions, give me such experience as will place me in a position to so systematize the operations of the machinery of municipal government as to give the best results for the least expenditure of money.

General Policy

My policy for the coming year can be briefly stated — promoting the interests of the general mass of the ratepayers which is the first consideration — a liberal and prudent attitude of encouragement to industries to establish themselves in Peterborough, and the adoption of a general policy looking to making Peterborough the industrial and commercial centre, and the railying point for the Midland District and Eastern Ontario. This would involve the provision of accommodation, within reasonable limits, for conventions gatherings — district, Provincial and Dominion—dealing with the agricultural, dairying and other interests of the district of which Peterborough is the natural centre.

Exemption Conditions

My policy in regard to the improvement of conditions in the City will be a continuance of that I have advocated in Council and which has been adopted in principle by the Council.

In regard to the exemption of, or fixed assessment for, industrial establishments, I have advocated, and still advocate, the adoption of conditions which will require such establishments, not to obstruct local improvements, such as sidewalks or sewers, but, on the contrary, require them to bear their proportion of the cost.

Permanency of Improvements

With regard to pending street extensions, I shall continue the policy, adopted by the Council and put into motion by myself, till Aylmer street as well as George street (which is practically open now) is extended to the southern boundary of the city.

I firmly believe that all expenditure of money upon streets should be, as far as possible, for works of a permanent character. In the building of permanent pavements, I hold that the policy I advocated (which was adopted by the Council,) of building crossings at street intersections at the same time as the general work is done, should be continued.

With a full appreciation of the great injury done to our streets by promiscuous disturbance of the surface, I introduced a bylaw providing for the laying of connections to the street line at the time of sewer construction, thus avoiding the necessity of digging up the streets at frequent intervals. In this connection I will, if elected, use my influence to make financial and executive provision to restore the streets disturbed by sewer, waterworks, gas, and other excavation operations to their original condition, with the least possible delay and at the minimum of expense to the general ratepayers, so that the public for whose use the streets are intended will have the advantage of the best street conditions.

Surface Drainage

In the interests of the business men and citizens generally, I regard the proper care of our streets as of the utmost importance, and as proper surface drainage is one of the easiest and most essential means of maintaining them in good condition, and as this can be effected with comparatively trifling expenditure, I shall, if honoured with your confidence, make it a point to provide the best condition of surface drainage possible.

Municipal Ownership

In regard to the question of municipal ownership and operation of public utilities in general use, I am in favour of the principle, subject to the condition that, as Mayor of the city, if elected, I must be convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt that the acquirement and operation of any public utility will be in the interests of the citizens at large and reasonably certain of yielding satisfactory results. This covers my position, in regard to the general principle, as well as to the electric lighting, gas, and power propositions now before the public. The acquirement of such utilities should be done on purely business principles —the city should not, because it is a corporation, pay one cent more or one cent less than their carefully ascertained value.

To Get Good Advice

To this end I would advocate the constitution of an Advisory Board, to consist of representatives of the Trades and Labour Council, of the Manufacturers' Association, of the Board of Trade and of the Water Commissioners, such Advisory Board in consultation with the City Council, or Manufacturers' Committee, to pass upon the details of any proposition before its submission to the people.

In respectfully soliciting your votes and influence, I might say in summary, that in addition to what I have specified, I shall use my best efforts if elected, to so discharge my duties as to promote the best interests and progress of the city, and to creditably and satisfactorily represent the citizens, without distinction of class or interest.

Yours very faithfully

ROBT. HICKS

NOTHING CITY NEEDS AS BADLY

Dr. Halliday Thinks Peterborough Should Pass the New Collegiate Institute By-Law on January 4th

"I have noticed by the papers the last couple of days that the Collegiate Institute bylaw is creating considerable interest in the city," said Dr. Halliday to a reporter last night.

"Yes," was the reply, "the people are beginning to realize that the municipal elections are at hand, and that they will be given another chance to vote in favour of building a new Collegiate Institute."

"I sincerely hope the bylaw carries," said the doctor. "There is really nothing which the city requires more than a Collegiate. I will certainly vote for the bylaw and do all I can to induce others to vote for it. I did so last time, because I was perfectly satisfied that the present school is inadequate in every respect. It is really a shame to crowd the pupils into those rooms the way the Board of Education is compelled to do. But the crowding is not the worst feature by any means. The Board is held back, and are not able to adopt any new courses, such as domestic science and manual training, which are to-day very necessary to the young people. Even the subjects which are taught are sacrificed, to a great extent, for the lack of room, and the large number of pupils in each room. The teachers cannot do themselves or the pupils justice.

"The whole thing is," concluded the doctor, "we need a new Collegiate Institute in the worst way. The people will, if they have any interest whatever in the future of their children, vote for the bylaw

WEATHER CONDITIONS FOR MONTH OF JANUARY

Iri Hicks Forecasts the Weather for the First Month of the New Year. Predicting the Usual Storm

SOME OF THE CONDITIONS FORETOLD

The usual storms incidental to the first month in the year are predicted by Iri Hicks, in his monthly forecast of the weather, which is given below.—

The first thing to be fixed in mind, in the study of our forecasts for 1907, is that the meteorological elements of our globe and atmosphere are under the direct or combined strain of the equinoctial perturbations of the planets Jupiter and Saturn. Let every student of these forecasts note the white braces in the storm diagrams, marked "Jupiter at" "Saturn", extending over the whole year. The storm charts for May and April, in our 1907 Almanac, show that these two great disturbing elements are central in those months, and that their continuous influences will be felt in all the storm and seismic phenomena of the year.

A regular storm period is central on the 4th, covering the 3rd to the 5th. The Mercury period which was central on December 27th, extends to the 7th and will excite the normal tendency to rain, sleet and snow on and touching the 4th, 5th and 6th. These storms will culminate on and touching the 6th, guided by low barometer, higher temperature and possible lightning and thunder to the southward. Rain will, in rapidly, to sleet and snow, all followed by a full-grown cold wave, which will spread dangerously far into the south and east, progressively from the north-west, from about the 7th to the 12th. Be on the watch for Boreas, he will rake the country from his northern home, far into the southward.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 11th, 12th and 13th. This period embraces new moon, at a solar eclipse node, also at greatest declination south and in perigee. For special reasons we give for the remainder of January, substantially our forecasts as they appear in our 1907 Almanac. Continuing forecasts for the second January period, note the following: Barometer, wind currents and clouds will all show growing storm conditions by the 11th and 12th, but the crisis will fall on and touching the 13th. High winter gales, rain southward, and snow storms amounting to blizzards and blockades northward should find no student of these forecasts napping at this time. Seismic disturbances will be natural and almost necessary within a period of six to seven days, taking the 13th as the central day. Watch the world's telegraphic news and see. Another wide and wicked cold wave will come on the scene about the 18th to the 16th. "The critic on a thousand hills" and plains will suffer if prudent and merciful men do not have the care of them.

A regular storm period is at the beginning of a Venus period, as illustrated in the storm diagram. Storm conditions at this period will develop and culminate from the 16th to the 20th. The crisis will be on and touching the 19th, at the passage of the moon over the celestial equator, indicated by the letter E under that date. Renewed rain and snow storms will pass over the country during this period, with high barometer, gales and cold wave following close behind and reaching most parts about the 20th and 21st.

A reactionary storm period will lie between the 21st and 24th, touching perhaps the last of the 21st and the first of the 24th, its crisis being on the 22nd and 23rd. Moon's first quarter being on the 21st, indicated by phase under that date, and its apogean point being on the 22nd, indicated by A under that date, the disturbances of this period will extend in greater or less degree to these days. Renewed snow squalls will be general about these days and quickened cold will follow up to about the 26th.

A regular storm period covers the 27th to 31st, having its centre on the 29th. As shown by the storm diagram, this last January storm period brings us well toward the centre of the Venus period. The full moon, or moon's opposition with earth and sun, is on the 29th. This full moon is also an eclipse node, causing a direct line of moon with earth and sun, and hence an eclipse of the moon. Particulars of this eclipse will be found in our Almanac for 1907. By the 27th decided fall of the barometer will appear in western sections, and as this condition moves eastward it will merge into cloudiness, higher temperature and storms of rain, turning into snow. The crisis of this period will centre on the 29th. Within thirty-six hours of noon on the 29th, especially on and following that date, heavy rain and wind storms will cross the country to the southward, and in central and northern latitudes rains will turn to snow and sleet, with indications good for severe gales and blizzards out of the north-west. Such is our calculation, and we venture to admonish all concerned to watch against blizzards, snow blockades and a wide and dangerous cold wave, all to culminate in natural order and succession during the last five days of January. Another seismic period, or time of greatest earthquake and volcanic activity, lies within this last storm period, especially on and touching the 29th and 30th. As we have often said in our Almanac and in our Magazine, Word and Works, there is little or no danger, except at long intervals and in very rare cases, in the seismic shakes predicted in these forecasts; but to establish the fact that they have their origin in the same astronomical causes, and recur with the same periodicity as storms and other phenomena, is a fact too vital and far-reaching to be overlooked by any honest seeker after scientific knowledge—a fact which any one may prove who will devote to it the necessary time and observation. We think it best to call attention here to the outlook for February, as some might wait before studying the forecasts for that month. In every reasonable probability many heavy storms and much severe weather will come, and prudent, thoughtful people will want to look the probabilities in the face beforehand.

THE BEST FRIENDS OF PE-RU-NA ARE THE MOTHERS AND CHILDREN

Pe-ru-na Should Be Kept In Every Household

Where There Are Little Children.

Peruna should be kept in the house all the time. Don't wait until the child is sick, then send to a drug store. But, have Peruna on hand—accept no substitute.

Children are especially liable to acute catarrh. Indeed, most of the affections of childhood are catarrh.

All forms of sore throat, quinsy, croup, hoarseness, laryngitis, etc., are but different phases of catarrh.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna, if taken according to printed directions, is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. It does not produce temporary results, but it is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh.

Mrs. F. Brockman, 813 Meade street, Appleton, Wis., writes:

"I have never had a return of the catarrh, which had made me so miserable and unhappy before I began taking Peruna.

"I would not be without it in the house, now.

"I have a baby boy, two years old, to whom I give Peruna for a cold, and my husband also takes Peruna.

"I thank you and wish you well."—Mrs. F. Brockman.

No Doctor Required.

Mr. Edward Otto, 927 De Soto street, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"I cannot say enough for Peruna. It has done great work in my family, especially for my oldest boy. We had doctored with three or four different doctors and they did not seem to do him any good.

"We gave up hopes of cure, and so did they, but we pulled him through on Peruna.

"We had several doctors and they said they could do no more for him, so we tried Peruna as a last resort, and that did the work. Since then we keep it in the house all the time, and no doctor is required."—Edward Otto.

There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years.

Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any narcotics.

The Benefit Which the Children of the United States Have Received From Pe-ru-na Can Never Be Put Into Words.

The chronic ailments it has prevented, the suffering it has mitigated, will never be fully recorded.

But at least this much can be said that the coming generation owes a great debt to Peruna, for it is in the tender years of youth that slight ailments are liable to develop into lasting disease, thus blasting the whole career of the individual.

The mothers who are bringing up their children to-day to believe in Peruna are speaking from their experience.

These children brought up to believe in Peruna from the start, will, when they become heads of families themselves, use Peruna with unquestioning faith.

A Child's Life Saved.

Mr. G. H. Farmer, New Martinsville, W. Va., writes:

"Our little son, Harry, is well and healthy now and we think if we do as you directed us, he will keep his health and grow strong.

"We know that our little son's life was saved by your wonderful medicine, Peruna, and we shall always praise Peruna and use it in our family when needed.

"Should we have any more catarrhal trouble in our family, we shall always write to you for treatment."

—G. H. Farmer.

Medical Advice.

For free medical advice, address Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

All correspondence held strictly confidential.

Mrs. J. C. Sterling, 123 Brown Avenue, Norfolk, Va., writes:

"My little boy, Meredith, suffered with indigestion so badly he could not eat anything without it making him very sick, so I thought (as many others have) that I would try Peruna, and it worked like a charm.

"Now he eats anything he wishes, and I would not be without it for anything.

"My other little boy, Alfred, two and a half years old, has taken it and received as much benefit from Peruna as his brother.

"I hope my testimonial may be of some benefit to others, as I feel as though I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. J. C. Sterling.

Mr. Howard Andrew Sterner, Muddy Creek, Pa., writes:

"I have Peruna in my house all the time and won't be without it. It is good for children when they take a cold or croup. It cured my baby boy of croup.

"I have introduced Peruna into six families since I received your last letter, and four have seen relief already."

—Howard Andrew Sterner.

Pe-ru-na Protects the Entire Household.

As soon as the value of Peruna is appreciated by every household, both as a preventive and cure, tens of thousands of lives will be saved, and hundreds of thousands of chronic, lingering cases of catarrh will be prevented.

When Sickness Comes to the Little Ones

It Is the Mother Who Chiefly Suffers.

She suffers even more than the child who happens to be sick.

Her sympathy is deeper than that of any other member of the family.

The mother looks forward with dread to the torrid heat of summer, thinking of her children and the many liabilities to disease that are before them.

Spring and summer are sure to bring ailments, especially among the little folks.

It does not take a mother very long to discover that Peruna is the best friend she has in time of illness among the children.

A Multitude of Mothers

Have discovered that Peruna is their stand-by, and that in many of the ailments of spring and summer to which the children are subjected, Peruna is the remedy that will generally quickly relieve.

Whether it is spring fever or stomach derangement, whether it is indigestion or bowel disease, a catarrhal congestion of the mucous surfaces is the cause.

Peruna quickly relieves this condition of the mucous membranes. Its operation is prompt, the children do not dislike to take the medicine, it has no deleterious effects in any part of the body.

It simply removes the cause of the disagreeable symptoms and restores the health.

Every mother who has not tried Peruna in her family should familiarize herself with Dr. Hartman's booklet, The Ills of Life. This booklet should be in every family. It gives most valuable advice as to the use of Peruna for the various catarrhal diseases so general to-day.

Peruna is a household remedy for all catarrhal ailments of winter and summer, acute or chronic.

The mothers all over the United States are the best friends that Peruna has.

The Mothers Hold Pe-ru-na in High Esteem.

Not only because it has cured them of their various ailments, but because it promptly rescues the children from the throes and grasp of catarrhal diseases.

We have in our files many testimonials from mothers whose children have been cured by Peruna. However, the large majority of mothers who use Peruna, we never hear from.

But we do hear from a great number of mothers who are so overjoyed at some special good they have received from Peruna that they cannot restrain their enthusiasm. They are anxious to share these benefits with other mothers.

COLE THE NEW BOSS OF CIRCUS

Circus Matters on the Other Side That May Interest Peterborough People

New York, December 24th. — The circus man dropped in on the editor yesterday with some typewritten items of public interest from which we cull the following:

W. W. Cole, who has made millions in the show business, will be the managing director of the Barnum and Bailey show in place of the late James A. Bailey.

Mrs. Bailey retains her interest in the Barnum & Bailey circus and the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show. She went recently to England where these enterprises have important stockholders, and took out letters of administration upon her husband's estate, in order to arrange matters with the English stockholders, and to adjust her claim to $125,000 a year, for the use of the Barnum & Bailey name, in connection with the circus.

J. T. McCadden will look after her interests in the business. He is Mrs Bailey's brother. He left the "big tent" several years ago to take a circus to Europe, which came to grief and he has since returned to the fold.

The directors of the Barnum & Bailey show are now Mr. Cole, Mr. McCadden, the two Hutchinsons, Mrs. Bailey's nephews, and Mr. Starr.

John Ringling, of the Ringling Bros. shows called yesterday on Mr. Cole, and they had a long talk. It is understood that this ends or should end the talk of the impending circus war, and that a certain community of interests has be n arranged.

"Tody" Hamilton, for many years famous as the most artistic and original slinger of circus adjectives ever seen in captivity, resigned from the Barnum shows before Mr. Bailey's death. It is said that he will be with the Ringlings. His successor as chief of the press staff will be W. D. Coxey, long associated with that branch of the business.

The Barnum & Bailey show will begin the season at Madison Square Gardens in March. To be followed in April by the Buffalo Bill Show, which has been in Europe for four years. Bridgeport will continue to be the winter headquarters of the circus.

ADDRESS

of W. H. MOORE, Water Commissioner, to the Electors of the City of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

My term of office as Water Commissioner will expire on the first of January, 1907, and as I have time to devote to the duties, and a strong inclination to serve the city in the same capacity for a second term, I solicit your support at the election to be held on January the 7th next.

Mr. Hill and Mr. Matthews, the one in 1905 and the other in 1906, asked for renewal of your confidence as commissioners at the end of their first term, and it was given to them without a contest.

Services Rendered

I have had the honour to serve in the City Council, the City Trust, and Little Lake Cemetery Board, for many years, and have yet to learn that I ever failed to give full attention to duties; and I believe I might in all fairness, have expected the recognition on the Water Commission that was accorded Mr. Matthews and Mr. Hill. It will be for my opponents to show I did not deserve it.

A Business Asset

The early years of every great undertaking are always difficult and trying times, and the management of our system of water supply has been no exception to this condition. It has required the continued attention of the Commissioners and their best exertions to bring the works to their present state of efficiency. Their conduct has always been based, as no doubt you have observed, on the same strict business considerations they carried into their own affairs, and therefore the general expression of confidence extended to them, and the success that has attended their efforts. But one of the greatest amendments to the works was beyond their powers. I refer to the present dam, on which everything depends, which is of timber held in position by stone, gravel and earth. It was built by the old company fourteen years ago. It has lived almost its life, leaks badly, and is one the city cannot rely on with that sense of security its vital importance demands.

New Dam, Revenue Produced

Over two years ago the Commissioners obtained a report from Mr. Keefer, an eminent engineer, upon a new concrete dam, which he estimated would produce 1400 h.p., or about 800 h.p. over what would be needed for pumping for many years to come, that could be applied to public lighting or be sold, and worth at least $12,000 per year, a sum sufficient to redeem the debt to be incurred, without adding to general taxation, and with still a substantial surplus for city purposes. The subject must continue to engage the most earnest attention of all concerned in the welfare of our city.

A year ago the Commissioners employed Mr. Allan Hazen of New York, an expert engineer on water filtration, to devise and report on a water filtration scheme, which he did. He estimated the cost at $80,000, with an annual charge of $7000. If undertaken, the city would have to supply the money and pay for the yearly outlay. Personally, I approve of any reasonable expenditure for this purpose, although the water now is of fairly good quality, but not always free from sediment.

Prepared Regulations

Upon entering upon my duties three years ago it fell to my lot to frame a set of regulations and by-laws in relation to the use of water, and for the information of citizens generally, which occupied my attention for upwards of two months, in their preparation, the draft of which with a full index of subjects, having been placed before the Commissioners and amendments agreed on, and a complete tariff of rates appended, was printed in book form, and is free to all who apply for it.

Legislative Work

Last year I undertook the legislative work of obtaining more effective laws against the pollution of streams of water, used by cities and towns, and I secured from Parliament provisions covering our river and the lakes to the north, which if enforced by the Board of Health, as no doubt they will be, will subject offenders to extremely severe penalties, and water users may rest assured of a much improved water, without resource to expensive filtration.

Preparing Legislation

I have lately been preparing at the request of the Board further legislation for the next sitting of the House in Toronto, giving the Board larger powers in the public interests, particularly in relation to the laying down of mains adjoining property that pays no water rates, so that such property shall contribute in respect of the mains that front it, a sum that bears a just rate to the value conferred by the main. This certainly will, if obtained, tend to materially lower charges to all water users, and lead to a more rapid extension of the system. If again honoured by you, I will present this matter in the Private Bills Committee at the next session, and am very hopeful of success.

It is a matter for congratulation, indeed, that the purchase of the works, which many supported with the gravest fears, and others opposed with predictions of failure, has, because of good management, proved an eminent success, has reduced the cost to consumers over thirty per cent., given ten miles increase in mains, and a relative increase in fire protection, in five years.

If re-elected, I shall continue to take my share of the work, and do my duty, in every respect.

I am very faithfully yours,

W. H. MOORE

CHRISTMAS TREE WAS AN ENJOYABLE EVENT

Many Gathered at Knox Presbyterian Church Last Night for the Function

A very enjoyable time was spent last night at Knox church by the children of the Sunday school, their parents, and teachers. A Christmas tree laden with all sorts of attractive articles, formed the centre of attraction for the juvenile eyes.

Supper was served between 5 and 7 o'clock for the children, by the Ladies' Aid, to whom a great deal of credit is due for their assistance. About 7.30 Santa Claus, in the person of Mr. William Shea, arrived on the scene to the great delight of the children, and the many presents from the well laden tree were handed out. Not only the children, but also many of the teachers were remembered.

The Sunday school, too, wish to thank Mr. Herbert McCannon for the splendid manner in which he arranged the Christmas tree and the presents and, judging from the expressions of the superintendent, Sheriff Hall, he was much pleased with the results.

NO CONNECTION WITH A POLITICAL PARTY

Has Rev. Father McColl's Lecture on "The Crisis in France"

Owing to the nature of the subject of the Rev. Father McColl's lecture, "The Crisis in France," it is deemed advisable by the management to discontinue advertising it in connection with a political organization. The public generally is naturally deeply interested in the religious crisis in France and in order to afford full opportunity to all those ladies and gentlemen who desire to hear Father McColl it is thought best to avoid all political connections whatsoever.

THE MARKET THIS MORNING WAS A GOOD ONE

Considering the Holiday Just Past The Market Was Most Favourable

The holiday market of last Saturday undoubtedly left its effets upon to-day's as the farmers were not out in very large numbers. But considering this the market was a good one being the equal of any ordinary Saturday market. There was not an over supply of fowl and the sellers found that they could easily get rid of their articles in that line. Turkeys were somewhat cheaper. There was a good supply of geese which sold at reasonable prices. The soft weather enabled the farmers to bring to the city vegetables and apples. There were talmans, spys and greenings, which sold at moderate prices. Beef and pork were well represented and were unchanged as to prices. There was practically no lamb for sale. There was plenty of butter which sold at the usual price of 25 cents per lb. One feature of to-day was the large number of loads of wood and hay that were for sale. Good sleighing makes it an easy matter for the farmers to get out these articles, and convey them to the city. As a result the wood was sold at good prices from the standpoint of the burner.

The following is the list of prices:

Mr. George Pert wishes to extend, through the press, his appreciation of the many kindnesses with which he has been favoured since his arrival in this city, and especially during the Christmas season. FROZEN TO DEATH WHILE THE WORSE OF LIQUOR

Coroner Gray Presided at the Inquest Into the Cause of the Death of Fred McMaster

CRAWLED INTO RIVER, WAS EXHAUSTED

"That the said Fred. McMaster came to his death from exposure while intoxicated."

...is was the wording of the verdict yesterday in Norwood by the jury who heard the evidence regarding the death of Fred. McMaster in Norwood on Christmas night. The body was not found until the 27th after being in the river Ouse two days. The jurymen were John Doherty, foreman; Adam Patterson, John McLaughlin, Stanley Hendren, Robert McNeeley, Jas. L. Johnston, Hugh Beckett, Stuart Lennox Wm. Cook, Wm. Spence, Colman Elliott, Chas. Tucker, John F. Elliott, Hugh Scott, Michael Higgins.

Coroner Gray presided over the inquest which was begun at 1 o'clock and which lasted until 4.30.

Evidence

The old town hall was filled to its utmost with a curious and interested assembly of the villagers of Norwood, who had been stirred from their usual quiet existence by the finding of the dead body of McMaster at noon on the twenty-seventh, after his untimely death on Christmas night.

The first witness called was Fred. Wood, who stated that he had last seen the body at 8.30 p. m. Christmas evening. Deceased came with witness to his house at about twenty minutes past seven o'clock. There were present Mr. Cross McMaster, witness and his family. McMaster said that he was going to the shanty at 10 o'clock that evening and left the house of witness at 8.30 for Barkins. McMaster could walk straight when he left witness' house. Wood said that he had been ill and had not searched for the body nor had he seen it since the finding. Witness had been drinking as had McMaster, but neither were very drunk.

Robert J. Cross

Robert J. Cross was the next witness. He said he was at Wood's house after 9.15 Christmas night. He had made the rounds of the two hotels and went to Wood's at the hour stated. Wood and McMaster were "pretty well boozed." They wished to give witness liquor, but he did not take much. He stayed at Wood's house about a half an hour and left about 10 p. m. McMaster was still there laying on a lounge. Witness said he had not seen body and did not know McMaster was missing. McMaster seemed asleep when he left. The night, he said, was very cold.

Philip Livingstone

Mr. Livingstone said that he know nothing at all about McMaster's death. Saw him last Friday night, December 21st. He saw the body taken from the Ouse by Mr. Geo. Patterson and Andrew Spence. Water was about 10 inches deep.

James Morrow

James Morrow, sworn, said, that on Tuesday night last, he saw McMaster in Scales' Hotel, the King House, Fred. Wood was not there. McMaster went into the bar, seemingly sober, remained there for some time and went out again. He did not have a drink at that hotel.

Harold Scales

Harold Scales, son of the proprietor of the King House, said he was behind the bar all day but did not see McMaster there. He saw him at 7.30 p. m. on the street when he appeared to be sober.

Mrs. Fred Wood

Mrs. Fred. Wood stated that she had been home all day. McMaster had his tea with her husband and family. Mr. Cross came in the same evening. Neither Wood or McMaster had any liquor in her house. A bottle of it was on the table. Mr. Cross took but very little of it.

When he went away McMaster was sitting on the couch and was not lying down asleep. McMaster left shortly after. He said he was going to the woods and had to be ready at 9 o'clock. It was then exactly 8.30. McMaster turned up the street towards the central part of the village. Did not see any foot-marks from her house to the water where McMaster was found.

Dr. S. P. Ford

Dr. Ford said he merely made a superficial examination of the body of McMaster at the shore of the creek. There was a broad bruise on the forehead such as would be received by falling on the ice. Clothes were not disarranged. Body was found on the shore opposite Wood's house. It was not covered with water. McMaster might have fallen from the bridge and floated to where found.

J. B. Pearce

Mr. J. B. Pearce stated he was at the place where the body was found. Oscar Howson, son of Mr. Wm. R. Howson, found the body. The face was in the water, head towards the shore, feet towards the centre of the creek. Messrs. Patterson and Spence took body out. Water not more than 12 inches deep.

It appeared as if he had been in the creek and was trying to crawl out and had collapsed before he was able to get out. Ordered the body to be removed to the Town Hall until the coroner arrived. Saw no bruises.

Timothy Lewis

Timothy Lewis, sworn, said that he did not live in Norwood. On Wednesday evening, December 26th was at Fred. Wood's door. There were present Roy McMaster and himself. Went to Wood's house to enquire. Wood said he had not seen Fred. McMaster since Monday evening. Looked for him on Tuesday evening with Ollie Barkin, but failed to find him. Witness corroborated Mr. Pearce's evidence.

Fred. Garlick was the next witness. He saw McMaster at 5.30 on Christmas afternoon. He was then the worse for liquor. He came from the McGregor yard and walked with witness to the station. Last saw him there. McMaster said that he had had 15 glasses of liquor that afternoon.

This was the last witness examined and concluded the evidence. The jury was out about a half hour and returned with the verdict as given above.

FARMER HAS DIFFICULTY IN COOLING OFF STEED

A little incident on Chambers street to the rear of the Examiner office caused considerable excitement yesterday afternoon for a few minutes. A gentleman, presumably a farmer, had been driving his horse rather rapidly and had brought it to this secluded spot to cool off. He probably, too, had been indulging too freely in the spirits that make one feel good or bad.

A large number of boys gathered around, as boys will, and tormented both the farmer and his tired steed until finally he managed to remount his cutter and was last seen vanishing around the corner eastward bound.

Review of 1906 and Announcement for 1907

Bulletin No. 475.—New York, December 8th, 1906

To the Field Force

GENTLEMEN:

It is our custom to address you each year at the time of our annual Superintendents' Convention. Usually this is held about the middle of January, and the Topic of the BULLETIN is naturally the Annual Statement of the Company. This year the Superintendents meet in convention the middle of December, and obviously the record of the year is not made up, and it would be premature to set forth the progress of the Company in its business and finances. We shall have something very pleasant to say to you before we close about what you have accomplished; but our immediate object is to tell you about our plans for next year.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

You have known from numerous addresses, both oral and written, what our ambition has been for years in the Industrial part of our business. You will bear us witness that our treatment of the policy-holders has been one of progressive liberality ever since the present administration of the Company began. The very first year of its incumbency Paid-up policies—theretofore unknown to Industrial insurance in this country—were announced; and every year since then something has been done for Industrial policy-holders beyond any promise made in the policies. Bulletin No. 195 set forth these concessions and bounties up to its date and since then the successive years have been marked by progressive gifts and benefits offered to policy-holders: and this year the Company has been disbursing the enormous sum of ABOUT TWO MILLIONS OF DOLLARS in voluntary dividends upon non-participating Industrial policies; bringing the total amount of UNPROMISED DIVIDENDS in twelve years to about TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS to Industrial policy-holders in the form of dividends on premiums, dividends on death claims and increases of benefits upon existing policies.

We have been enabled to accomplish this work all these years by steady improvements in business methods, by steady extensions of business territory, by steady additions to insurance in force, by watchfulness in writing and taking care of business, resulting in a decreasing death rate, decreasing lapse rate and decreasing expense rate. These improvements we have announced to you from year to year; but perhaps from this very fact—their gradual, steady progressiveness—you have failed to grasp their full significance. Yet year by year we have told you our aim—to reduce expenses, to improve the death rate, to better the policies, to distribute the surplus, so that each year a larger proportionate amount could be returned to policy-holders and a smaller proportionate amount used in expenses.

Within the last few years our disbursements for death claims have been so continuously and markedly less in proportion to income and our improvements in ratio of expenses shown so steady an improvement, that we thought the time had come to make a scientific resurvey, so to speak, of the technical features of the business. We have made investigations into our mortality and drawn off into various periods our experience of mortality. The mortality tables upon which our present tables are founded were taken from the experience of 1890-1893. A comparison of this with tables taken from the experience of other periods has shown a steady improvement in morality. In the case of children the result is really startling. Take, for instance, age two next birthday. Our present table shows 49.3 deaths per thousand; a table 1896-1905 shows but 36.9; age three the figures are respectively 32 and 24.3; age five 16 and 9.8; age ten 5.5 and 3.8, and this improvement runs through the Infantile table. As to adults there is also a marked improvement.

These facts convince us that the time has come to construct new tables of benefits founded upon our experience of 1896-1905; and we are confirmed in our conviction by the fact that a table drawn from the years 1901-1905 shows a better experience than that of the full decade. And it seems to us just to base these tables upon the experience of white lives; and to give benefits based upon the improvement which we feel certain is permanent. How great this improvement is we illustrate by a few figures comparing the table upon which our present benefits are based with a table of white lives for the last ten years. Deaths per thousand; age two next birthday 49.3 reduced to 34.7; age three 32 to 22.5; age four 21.5 to 13.2; age five 16 to 9.5; age ten 5.5 to 3.4; age twenty 10.5 to 7.1; age thirty 15.7 to 11.1; age forty 19.3 to 14.3. The other element besides mortality involved in a table of benefits is of course the expense. As you know, our ratio of expense to premium income has been falling for some years; this year the reduction has been phenomenal and will reach, we think, by the end of the year, THREE PER CENT.! This alone means a saving of nearly one and a half millions of dollars! We shall show a lower ratio of expense for 1906 than has been experienced by any Industrial company in the world.

One other element goes into the construction of tables of benefits; and that is the maturity of the policies. When we made up our present table we were convinced that the public was enamored of endowments. Our Industrial business has been based for ten years, as you know, mainly upon Endowment tables—Increasing Life and Endowment policies and Twenty-year Endowments forming a very large proportion, in some years over 90 per cent. of our total business. One disadvantage of this table has been that it largely increases the reserve. Our Children's Increasing Life and Endowment policies have been endowments payable after periods of 47 years and upwards according to age at issue. Compared with the Whole Life tables issued by other companies these have made necessary the accumulation of an increase of many millions of dollars in reserve. Unthinking persons come to the conclusion that this piles up the WEALTH of the Company, forgetting that along with the increase of assets runs the increase of liabilities, and that the WEALTH of a company consists in its SURPLUS; and completely overlooking the remarkable fact that we have deliberately kept down our surplus to about ten per cent. of our assets by annual distributions of the excess of surplus earned to the policy-holders who contributed to it. Public opinion has changed and now cares more for death benefits than endowments. We are in business to please the public. We have a good deal of evidence that Ordinary Life and Limited Payment Life contracts are thought preferable to Endowments. We have resolved therefore to discontinue our Increasing Life and Endowment policies, which were designed to meet the public demand formerly existing, and which were, we believe, the first tables ever really scientifically constructed for Industrial policies. Our new Industrial policies will therefore be Whole Life contracts. But we think that as to these there are signs of a belief on the part of the public that payment of premiums ought to cease with old age. It is hard for people to see what to any mathematician is self-evident, that in life insurance the companies are enabled to pay the policies in full on lives of those who die soon after insurance only by the receipt of premiums from those who live out and beyond their expectations; and that the apparent hardship upon those who live long is only the contribution to the unfortunate which is the essential basis of life insurance. However, it is possible of course to make tables for limited payments, and the problem is therefore to fix an age that shall not be so young as to raise the premiums or (what is the same in Industrial insurance where the unit is the premium and not the amount of insurance) to reduce the benefits unduly; and on the other hand to fix the age not so old that the benefits of the limits of payment of premiums shall be lost. We have fixed age 75 as the limit of payment of premiums because at that age we are enabled to only slightly reduce the benefits during life and because we have not received many complaints of the necessity of paying premiums up to that age. And to the occasional complaint that "people never live to such old age," we may answer that in 1906 we shall have voluntarily as matter of grace, paid about 2,700 claims as ENDOWMENTS on policies issued as WHOLE LIFE on persons reaching age 80 after paying premiums for 15 years or over.

Constructing a table of benefits upon these four principles—Whole Life instead of Endowments; our recent mortality experience instead of our old; a loading proportioned to our reduced expenses; and the payment of premiums ceasing at age 75—we shall put forth for 1907 new tables in the Industrial department which which are better than any company has heretofore issued and better than we have ever before this felt it safe to issue.

The most striking change is in the Infantile table, because there we substitute Life tables with payment of premiums limited to age 75 for our comparatively short Increasing Endowment tables now in use; and are therefore enabled to pay in benefits what we have been compelled to hold as reserve liability upon the endowment features.

OUR NEW INFANTILE TABLES WILL PAY NEARLY AS MUCH IN DEATH BENEFITS FOR A WEEKLY PREMIUM OF FIVE CENTS AS WE HAVE HERETOFORE PAID FOR A WEEKLY PREMIUM OF TEN CENTS. It is of course understood that the law fixes a maximum of benefits payable upon children and this we cannot exceed. We have therefore increased the benefits at the later ages for persistence. Thus at age two at entry the benefit in case of death at age nine is $173, while the benefit at age three at entry dying at age nine is $160, and the benefit at age four at entry dying at age nine is $155, and so on. This is a recognition of the additional additional years for which premiums have been paid by those entering at earlier ages when death occurs at the same age. It follows from this large increase of benefits for five cents that hereafter no policy will be issued under the Infantile tables for a total premium of more than five cents. And to meet a desire for less insurance, especially in large families, we have a table with proportionate benefits for a weekly premium of three cents.

OUR ADULT TABLES SHOW AN INCREASE OF BENEFITS FOR THE SAME PREMIUM based strictly upon our tables of mortality. At age ten the increase is 12½ per cent. over our present Life table and nearly 18 per cent. over our Increasing Life and Endowment table. At age 20 the increase is over nine per cent. and over 23 per cent. respectively; at age 30 the increase is nearly six per cent. and nearly 20 per cent. respectively; at age 40 the increase is two per cent. and over 13 per cent. respectively, and so on. And in comparing these tables with our present Whole Life tables (and with those of most of the other Industrial companies) it must not be forgotten that these old tables provide for payment of premium during the whole of life, while under our new tables payment of premiums ceases at age 75.

We have increased the immediate benefits under all of these policies in accordance with the rule we made retroactive this year, to half benefits during the first six months and full benefits thereafter.

We have introduced into all of these policies new features in the way of surrender values. Paid-up policies will be granted after THREE years instead of five; extended insurance will be granted after three years at the option of the holder; and cash surrenders will be paid after ten years. The policies will be in new and attractive forms, with three pages instead of two, in order to set forth all of the concessions, making the rights of the policy-holders so plain that any one will be able to tell what he is entitled to. And the whole contract will be expressed in the policy, doing away entirely with the necessity of a copy of the application, using the form in this respect for ALL policies which we adopted many years ago for policies under $300.

ORDINARY DEPARTMENT.

One of the most striking results of the Armstrong Investigation was the adoption of a provision restricting expenses for the first year of the life of the policy. And what is most interesting as well as complimentary to the METROPOLITAN is the fact, which appeared in the newspaper discussion at the time of the adoption of the report and bills, that this restriction by law was justified by the experience of this Company in the matter of expense as shown by an analysis of its annual reports. It is true that this Company kept its expenses almost within the limit prescribed by the new statute. But the statute is a penal one and we cannot run any risk of over-running the limit of expense. This necessitates a reduction of commissions, but the reduction will be very much less than that made necessary by the companies issuing participating policies. THIS COMPANY WILL NOT ISSUE AFTER THIS YEAR ANY OTHER THAN NON-PARTICIPATING POLICIES. In fact, in the true sense of the term we have not issued any other for nearly fifteen years; for, as we have often explained, the Intermediate and Special Class policies were based upon stock or a non-participating loading and the dividends promised, if earned, were expected to be derived from the mortality. These policies were entirely novel and we had little experience to guide us. The Intermediate policies were based upon our Industrial table of mortality and were designed for Industrial risks who could afford to pay annual instead of weekly premiums; and the mortality of such a class could not be foretold. The Special Class policies were for sub-standard risks as to which the mortality could not be accurately predicted. What we undertook to do was to pay back to the policy-holders the gain from such improvement in mortality over the expected as should be actually experienced. As participating policies are based upon a higher or so-called mutual loading out of which dividends are expected to be earned, we claim that our Intermediate and Special Class policies based upon a stock loading were in principle non-participating. All of our other policies in the Ordinary Department were by their terms non-participating. The law has justified us in the principles we adopted fifteen years ago, and to-day the Armstrong laws and the similar ones prepared for other States are a vindication of the METROPOLITAN principles in which you have been trained. We have now an experience of Intermediate and Special Class risks which enable us to prepare non-participating tables. The tables of premiums as to these policies have heretofore been completely readjusted. We think you will find them most attractive.

We realize that we shall henceforth have more competition in non-participating policies. Other companies have announced their purpose to restrict their issue to this form. We have therefore thought it in your interest as well as our own and in the interest of the public, which is superior to both, to use a part of the reduction of commission to effect some reduction of premium. New tables have been prepared which we think will be attractive to our customers and which therefore will be profitable to you. In adjusting these commissions we have thought it only just to restore to the Superintendents an interest in them which we were compelled to withdraw a few years ago and which you remember the Vice-President promised at the time to restore when we should be able to arrange it. And we have also recognized the good work of Assistant Superintendents by giving them an interest in the work of their agents. We realize that the duties of Superintendents and Assistants include the instruction and training of Industrial agents in the work of the Ordinary Department. We want all of our agents to be all-around insurance men. Our Superintendents and Assistants have imposed upon them as a duty the supervision, the constant help and encouragement and the education of their agents. We have made it an interest as well as a duty.

Our new policies will be found most attractive in form and even more attractive in substance. They contain all of the advantages and concessions which we can afford to give and which the public have a right to expect. The surrender values will be found to be generous and take the optional forms of extended insurance, paid-up insurance and cash. They are the standard forms of the New York Department, the work of experts which has legislative approval. They are as plain to the understanding as they can be made. We have discontinued many plans as unnecessary. We shall issue Ordinary Life, Limited Payment, Endowment and Term Plans; and we have applied for permission and hope to issue in addition three plans which the public have stamped with their approval—namely, the Optional Life or Endowment, under a new name, the Modified Endowment with Life Option; the Guaranteed Dividend, also under a new and more descriptive name, the Guaranteed Increased Endowment; and the Reduced Premium Life under its new name, Life with Reduced Premium after 20 years.

Gentlemen, we are entitled to say that the Armstrong Investigation was a vindication of the methods and practices of the METROPOLITAN LIFE. The Armstrong laws are in many respects a distinct recognition of the work we have done together these many years. See that you appreciate this fact to the utmost. Show that you do by making the year 1907 an unparalleled year for the issue of more policies, for larger insurance, for greater gain, for less lapses and not-takens, at a less expense, at a greater return to policy-holders than you have ever done. Live up to your blessings! Show that you appreciate the reward which the Legislature has conferred upon your good work of the past! Make 1907 the greatest because the best year in the Company's History!

THIS YEAR, 1906

You have started well. Last year, the year of the investigation, you did the largest business we had ever done. The first part of the year the paralysis which seized, unreasonably and unnecessarily, to have fallen upon the business in general, appeared to have effected even you—even more unreasonably and unnecessarily. Finding this to be the fact, the Vice-President appealed to you in personal conferences with the Superintendents in little groups all over the country; pointed out to you the facts and conclusions of the Armstrong inquiry and the results as embodied in legislation; showed you the essential approval we had received in our work in both departments, and asked you to respond to all this for the remainder of the year by making the best record you had ever made. This was in May and June. It would be most ungrateful not to make this public and general acknowledgment of your response to the appeal, and on behalf of the Vice-President I give you his personal thanks and add our official acknowledgments. The year is not yet ended and we cannot therefore tell the whole story. But for the months July to November, inclusive, compared with the same months of previous years:

You made the largest amount of Industrial increase which the Company ever made except in 1894 and 1903.

The agents wrote the largest amount of Industrial business average per man, of any of the last ten years.

The average increase per man was larger than for any of the past ten years.

The ratio of lapses was the third lowest for ten years past.

The number of transferred accounts was the lowest for eight years, notwithstanding the larger force of men with which we started and the larger reduction in the force we have made this year.

The collections were the best in the HISTORY OF THE COMPANY!

The death claims reached the lowest ratio for the last 25 years—notwithstanding the increased average age of the policy-holders.

The special agency to agents AVERAGED the largest amount in the last ten years; and yet we saved $100,000 in the total compared with last year.

The saving in total cost in these items alone, medical fees (because of a reduction in number of applications), Assistants' salaries and special salary, is at the rate of a million dollars a year.

We may add that the Pacific Coast kept up with the procession by the remarkable feat of covering for the year the enormous lapse caused by the earthquake and is certain to close the year with a handsome increase.

In the Ordinary Department September about equalled September of last year, while October and November largely exceeded the corresponding months of last year, and December promises to be a record-breaker!

And taking the last six months for comparison—June to November inclusive—you wrote more business than ever was written by the Company in the corresponding months and exceeded 1905 by over six millions and a half; and this it must be remembered by more than 3,000 less men.

We are proud of this record and we are grateful to you for your generous response. We cannot say more than to wish for you and yours the happiest and most prosperous year of your lives in 1907!

Very sincerely yours,

John R. Hegeman

Sometimes Help the Hair To Go

In any changeable climate the hair is apt to become brittle and to break off stubby here and there. This makes a hair dressing almost a necessity, especially to ladies. In using a hair dressing, why not get the best, one that combines with it the efficiency in killing the dandruff germ, the germ that eats the hair off at the roots, causing what is called falling hair, and, in time, baldness. Newbro's "Herpicide" is that kind of a hair dressing. You have no idea how delightful your scalp will feel and how stylish your hair will appear after an application or two of Herpicide. It is certainly a wonderful innovation as a scalp antiseptic and hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. QUEENS, AS USUAL, WON FIRST GAME OF SEASON

Defeated Peterborough Senior O. H. A. Team After a Hard Fought Contest Last Night

WINNERS HAD A LIGHTNING FAST TEAM

Queen's, of Kingston, opened the local hockey season last night as usual by defeating the Peterborough senior O. H. A. team by 10 goals to 8, after a hard-fought contest. Eight hundred spectators saw the game, which was marked by splendid hockey in spots, and in others by just an ordinary brand. The victory of the Collegians can be summed up in two words, combination and condition. They broke away better and were in better shape, showing it by the way in which they came back in the second half. While they had all the luck that was going, they certainly were the better team on last night's showing, and their victory was clearly earned. In the first part of the second half they had the locals faded, leading at one time by 10 goals to 5. Peterborough were coming strong at the finish, however, scoring the last three goals.

Considering the fact that it was the first game of the season, the quality of hockey displayed was astonishingly good. Some of the play was of a spectacular nature and the spectators were given their money's worth. The locals were not in the best of shape, and although they rallied towards the latter part of the game, it was too late to snatch a victory from the speedy Collegians, whose superior condition won for them.

The result of the game was no surprise. Queen's have an aggravating habit of winning whenever they play here, and somehow it would not seem like starting the season right without dropping a game to the Collegians. The locals were clearly not at their best last night. They appeared to be disorganized, and the machine-like team play that won games for them last season was not in evidence. There was a lack of effective combination, and the shooting was not of the nature that causes an ache in the goal umpire's arm. Their individual work was not effective against the cool and stubborn defence of the visitors. In Mills and McDonald they had a very formidable defence to beat, and the only tactics that could win for them against such a pair was combination and team play, and these were not in sight. The defence refused to be drawn out, and Peterborough's shots from outside were, for the most part, cleverly handled by Mills, who was frequently applauded by the crowd for his good work.

The forward line did not check back as closely as has been their wont in other games, and this fact was responsible for some of Queen's scores. When the Collegians broke away there were generally three or four in a bunch, and with no one bothering them from behind they gave the local defence a bad night.

The defeat is not causing the management of players any worry. The locals displayed just the same brand of hockey in their initial game with Queen's last year, and should soon round into their old-time form as they did last year after the first few games of the season. It requires three or four games to put the team into proper shape, and this fact was clearly seen last winter when they almost dropped a game on their own ice to the Port Hope seven.

The intercollegiate champions have a splendid team, a fact which no one who saw them perform last night will attempt to deny. Of course, they were strengthened by Richardson, probably the best left wing man in the business, who was given permission by the O. H. A. to play in this game. The defence, with Mills, McDonald, and Kea Williams, the well-known rugby player, is one that is hard to beat any way you take them. They play a game of the stay-at-home character, rarely attempting a rush, but contenting themselves with putting up an entirely defensive article of hockey. They checked and blocked to perfection. The forward line is light, but very speedy. They break away like a flash of lightning, and generally sweep down the ice in a line, playing splendid combination. Richardson, of course, was the pick of the bunch, but Crawford, the little centre, was not far behind the famous wing. Both had speed to throw away, and carried the puck well.

The game was very clean, although the checking was at all times hard and close. The only one to be punished was Lang, who got three minutes on the fence for slashing a Queen's forward.

Rose and Lang, two graduates of the City League, made their local debut in senior company last night. Lang made some good stops, although he appeared slow in clearing, and this slowness was responsible for several of the goals scored by the Collegians. Rose played a fine game at right wing, where he was stacked up against the pick of the visitors' forward line.

Dr. Lionel King, the old Peterborough star, refereed the game to the entire satisfaction of both teams and the crowd. The line-up was as follows:

Queen's.		Peterborough.
Mills	Goal.	Lang
McDonald	Point.	Moore
Williams	Cover Point.	Crowley
Lowe	Rover.	Whitcroft
Crawford	Centre.	Morgan
Dobson	Right Wing.	Rose
Richardson	Left Wing.	Graham

Almost on time, Mr. T. H. G. Deane, the managing director of the rink, faced off the puck and the game was on. Play started fast and for a time it looked as if the locals were going to make a runaway game. The Peterborough forwards commenced with a series of rushes which looked dangerous, but the stubborn defence work of the visitors kept them away from the scoring stage. Three or four times the forwards got away together, but something seemed to go wrong at the critical stage. Finally, after six minutes' play, in which Peterborough had entirely the best of it, Whitcroft found the nets with a neat shot, after a scrimmage. One minute afterwards another score was added. Moore broke up a rush and started a jaunt. Whitcroft secured and beat Mills, putting the locals two in the lead. Peterborough kept pressing, and some brilliant rushes were made by the forward line. Queen's were the next to score, however, Crawford doing the trick after a combined rush. The next goal went to Peterborough, after a rush that looked good had gone astray. Finally, after some clever passing, Rose put a dint in the nets by a pretty shot from the side. With the score 3 to 1 it looked easy for Peterborough, and the locals apparently began to get careless. The visitors were not all in by any means, and they started off at a lightning fast clip that made things decidedly interesting. The forwards began to break away together and the local defence had a busy time. Lang at this stage was sentenced to three minutes on the fence for slashing. After he had returned to the ice, Crawford scored for the visitors, after a nice rush. One minute after Richardson broke away for one of his famous dashes, which resulted in a score, tieing the two teams. The Collegians were, however, not satisfied with this. The Peterborough team were working hard, but it did not seem very effectively. Richardson managed to get loose once more, and the result was another goal. Half-time was called a minute afterwards.

Queen's seemed to have gained fresh vigour when they took the ice after the rest period. Richardson and Crawford rushed repeatedly, and it was not long before the former, after his shot had been blocked, was able to push one in when Lang, failed to clear quickly.

The locals were not checking back fast enough to hold the fast Queen's forward line at this stage. The Collegians were coming down three and four together, and, with nothing to interfere with them from behind, they had little difficulty in drawing out the defence. Richardson came down the side in a dazzling rush and made the score 6-3 in favour of Queen's.

Even this did not satisfy the visiting team, and their forward line kept pegging away. Peterborough did a lot of individual work, but the strong defence of Mills and McDonald made their efforts futile. Richardson and Crawford combined for another goal, the former doing the trick. Score 7-3.

Peterborough took a brace for a few moments, and after several rushes had been blocked, Whitcroft got away and scored on a nice shot from ten yards out. Score 7-4.

Queen's were not to be held long. Richardson made several rushes, after one of which the puck went out to Crawford on the side, who, after a scrimmage with Rose, managed to score on an easy shot. Score 8-4.

The Collegians never let up for a moment, and in another minute landed another goal, Crawford again doing the trick on a neat shot from the side. Score 9-4.

Peterborough got the next score. Moore broke up a rush, and, getting away nicely, transferred to Morgan, who fooled McDonald by tipping the rubber over to Graham, and the latter made the score 9-5.

Queen's then got their last goal of the game, Richardson carrying the rubber down the ice and passing over to Lowe, who scored easily. Score 10-5.

With eight minutes to play, Peterborough's best work of the night was done, the locals jamming in three goals in that period. Morgan was responsible for the first one. He secured the puck in centre ice, passed to Rose, who carried the rubber up the boards and sentred nicely, Morgan being there with the needful shot. Score 10-6.

Whitcroft and Morgan combined nicely for the next goal, carrying the puck together through the Queen's defence, Whitcroft doing the trick.

Queen's seemed to be dying fast, and if there had been a few minutes more left, the blue and white would undoubtedly have pulled off a victory. As it was, they managed to score once again just before time was up, Morgan scoring on a pass in front. Final score: Queen's 10, Peterborough 8.

YOUNG ROUGH RIDERS WON GAME IN KEENE

Defeated Village Team on Their Own Ice by 5 Goals to 3

The Young Rough Riders journeyed to Keene yesterday and succeeded in administering a trimming to a village outfit by 5 goals to 3. The Keene team included several old Trent Valley League players and their checking was not of a parlour variety. The winners showed up well, their combination winning for them. The Rough Riders lined up as follows:—

Goal—Shook.
Point—Rosedale.
Cover point—Faux.
Rover—Gaele.
Centre—Wade.
Right wing—Carton.

HOCKEY

Berlin had troubles of their own in defeating Varsity last night. The Dutchmen won but it was only after a very hard game in which the visitors led on three different occasions. Berlin won by 8-5, but the Collegians were ahead at half time by 2-1.

* * * * *

The fine showing by Rose in last night's game was one of the features. Considering the fact that this is his first year in senior hockey, jumping from the City League into the highest rank of the O.H.A., and that he was checking Richardson, undoubtedly the fastest left wing playing the game, his work was splendid and caught on with the crowd. He shot well and never let up although he received considerable hard usage.

—Just leave it to ED. HUFF, if you are thinking of a new suit, overcoat or trousers for the New Year. Now, while every yard of cloth in the store is cut in price, is a good chance—but the chance only lasts till December 31st.

Two Candidates In Field In The Mayoralty Contest

Municipal Nominations Took Place This Morning, When Twenty-Seven Were Nominated for Aldermen and Eight for School Board

MORE THAN THE USUAL INTEREST WAS MANIFESTED

The nominations for the Mayoralty, Council, Board of Education and Water Commissioners took place this morning in the Council Chamber, and now the race is on in earnest. The third man for the Mayoralty was not in sight, and it will be a straight fight between Messrs. R. F. McWilliams and Robt. Hicks, the two nominated this morning.

More than the usual interest was taken in the nominations, and the hall was well filled with a representative body of citizens. The fact that there was to be a contest for the Mayoralty added interest to the event.

At 10 o'clock the returning officer, S. R. Armstrong, took the chair and announced that he was ready to receive nominations. That of R. F. McWilliams for the Mayoralty was the first in, and was followed by that of W. H. Moore for the Water Commissioners.

The nominations for Mayoralty, Board of Education and Water Commissioners were as follows:

For Mayor

R. F. McWilliams, barrister, proposed by Jas. Burnett and Joseph Maher.

Robt. Hicks, coal merchant, proposed by William Langford and Joseph Batten.

For Water Commissioner

W. H. Moore, barrister at law, proposed by Jas. Kendry and W. H. Meldrum.

Vincent Eastwood, merchant, proposed by George H. Duncan and Joseph Batten.

E. F. Mason, merchant, proposed by W. S. Robinson and M. McFadden.

For Board of Education

Benjamin F. Ackerman, proposed by Williams Yelland and Jas. Kendry.

William G. Ferguson, merchant, proposed by Robt. Hicks and Wm. Pringle.

Dr. M. A. Morrison, dentist, proposed by Wm. Pringle and Robt. Hicks.

Robt. Fair, merchant, proposed by W. H. Moore and W. H. Meldrum.

William S. Robinson, mechanic, proposed by T. J. Wilson and J. A. Tully.

R. C. Braund, merchant, proposed by Vincent Eastwood and W. S. Robinson.

E. A. Peck, barrister, proposed by Wm. Langford and Vincent Eastwood.

Dr. Wm. McFall, physician, proposed by John Sawers and Geo. H. Duncan.

THE SPEAKERS

As is customary, the hour between 11 and 12 o'clock was devoted to speeches. Mr. Armstrong was voted to the chair.

Mr. McWilliams

Mr. McWilliams, the first speaker, said that he did not think he needed any introduction to the people of Peterborough. He had been before them in various ways, and they knew his record. Speaking of the questions before the city, he said that the most important matter at present was the proposition to purchase the Light and Power Company's plant. Three years ago the franchise of the company had run out, and it had been urged that the city take over the business then. For various reasons they had thought it wise not to do so then. He thought that the city should be congratulated upon having an opportunity of buying the plant now. Speaking of the offer, he said that the time had come when the city should step in and own the business. He believed that it could be made a success as had been the waterworks. There was the question of power to be faced. If it was possible to get power at the waterworks a dam could be built there now instead of waiting. If the city wanted to keep pace with its competitors it must have cheap power. He referred to the competition of Welland and Hamilton.

Speaking in regard to the streets, Mr. McWilliams spoke of the securing of Mr. Evans to do the work of street commissioner. The work that the city had carried on on its own account had been better and more cheaply done than under the contract system. Sidewalks were needed through the city. There should be permanent crossings all over the city.

In conclusion he stated that he had no interests that conflicted with those of the city. As long as he remained in the Council his own interests would remain secondary to those of the city.

Ald. Hicks

Ald. Hicks, the other candidate for the mayoralty, said that public speaking was somewhat out of his line. Speaking of the Light and Power Company's offer he said that the question was "Can it be operated as a commercial enterprise?" During his three years in the council he stated there was no case on the records where Ald. Hicks did not vote. He referred to the building of concrete crossings. The Board of Works of 1906 was the first to lay down the present policy in connection with these crossings. Another matter was the filling in of the water front which was a credit to the city and a material advantage.

Referring to the day labour system, he read a motion moved by him that the Boswell avenue sewer be constructed by day labour system. As far as adopting a settled policy in the line he thought that the policy of the Board of Works of having the city engineer tender on all contracts was the best.

The Way Money is Spent

Speaking of the way in which the money of the city was spent Mr. Hicks stated that the income was $130,000. The expenditure for Public School purposes was $35,000, for Separate School purposes $6,000 for City Trust Commissioners $16,500 and for the administration of justice $9,500.00. This only left about 50 per cent. of the total income under the control of the council and of this sum half was taken up with salaries, the cost of municipal government, etc., so that only about 20 per cent. of the total was available. Most of this money was spent upon the streets and keeping roadways in repair.

Mr. Hicks in conclusion said that he thought the ratepayers of the city would show their confidence in him by electing him to the position of mayor.

W. H. Moore

It was the Water Commissioners' turn next and Mr. W. H. Moore, the first nominated, was the first speaker. In beginning he referred to the fact that other members of the Commission had been given a second term on the Board and thought that he should be similarly treated. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to Mr. T. F. Matthews, the chairman of the Board, whom he said had done as much work as Mr. Hilt and himself together.

Speaking of his opponents he said that they were both good men and had served in public positions one with the School Board and the other on the city council. He referred to Ald. Mason as having made a name for himself as chairman of the Finance Committee and said that his name had been heard most often in connection with the mayor's chair. Why he was condescending to seek a position on the Water Commissioners he did not know.

The first year as Mayor or Councillor was never the best as it took experience to make a good man for the position. He thought that this was equally true in the case of the Water Commissioners. The three years he had spent on the Board had been years of great experience.

The speaker referred to the services he had rendered the city in the past. For the last 25 years he had served the city in some capacity. Reference was made to the digest of the laws pertaining to the town which had been made by the speaker.

In conclusion Mr. Moore touched briefly upon the questions of the new dam at the water works and also the filtration system.

Mr. V. Eastwood

Mr. Vincent Eastwood, the next speaker, in his address touched upon the importance of municipal ownership, which he said was coming slowly, but would increase in speed. He referred to the successful fight made in Manitoba with the Bell Telephone Company.

Speaking of the position for which he was asking election, Mr. Eastwood stated that he thought he could do as good work as Mr. Moore had done. He had nothing but the best of good feeling for his opponents. He thought that a man with a good business education should be able to grasp the situation. He had always taken a great interest in the maintenance and extension of the water works.

The work done by the Commissioners in the past had been good. The work of supplying good water had been alright, but it had not gone far enough.

He closed by asking for support.

Mr. F. F. Mason

Mr. E. F. Mason, the third candidate was the last speaker. He said that the three candidates had records behind them of which they had nothing to be ashamed. Speaking of the position of Water Commissioner, he explained that there was no salary attached to the office. Although the commissioners had asked for remuneration, the council had laid the matter over until next year. Mr. Mason referred to a letter from Ratepayer which was published recently and denied that he had anything whatever to do with it. He would not abuse his opponents in any shape or form.

The speaker had always taken a great interest in the water works. As chairman of the Finance Committee he had tried to save the city every cent possible and he would, if elected, pursue the same policy in connection with the water works. He referred, in conclusion, to the great work done by the first commissioners, Messrs. Hill, Matthews and Dennis, whom, he said, had done the heavy part of the work.

Aldermanic Candidates

There will be, judging from the number of nominations, a warm fight for the twelve seats on the council. No less than twenty-seven names were placed in nomination. It is probable, however, that a number of them will retire between this and election day, but enough will remain to make an interesting contest.

The list of nominations is as follows:

George Edward Elliott, proposed by Dr. George Burnham, seconded by Wm. Rudkins.

Archibald A. McIntyre, proposed by E. F. Mason, seconded by Adam Dawson.

Henry Phelan, proposed by A. A. McIntyre, seconded by D. Rollenhein.

John J. Hartley, proposed by J. F. Thornton, seconded by G. H. Howson.

Jas. G. Graham, proposed by A. E. Micks, seconded by A. R. Moore.

William George Morrow, proposed by T. F. Matthews, seconded by W. Langford.

Wm. Langford, proposed by W. G. Morrow, seconded by T. F. Matthews.

Robert H. Leary, proposed by Geo. K. Martin, seconded by Jos. Batten.

THE NOMINATIONS.

The nomination for eligible civic officials takes place to-day — the very latest date at which, according to law, it is possible to hold them. In our case, a pretty formidable slate will be placed in nomination — two candidates, at least, for Mayor, 27 for aldermen, eight for school trustees, and three for Water Commissioners. The contest for civic honours has taken rather a peculiar course—there has been no public excitement whatever, and, so far as known, the several candidates offering are spontaneous quantities, the evolution of a desire to serve the city, or of ambition—perhaps a little of both in all cases. With the multiplicity of candidates and several bylaws to vote upon, the electors will find the exercise of their franchise no sinecure. They will have to make pretty shrewd calculations if they make full and fair use of their franchise.

To the nominations in the county the greatest interest attaches. The new form of constituting County Councils from the reeves and deputy reeves of the townships, invests the the election of those officials with a new importance. It is therefore probable, or rather, certain, that in nearly every one of the large townships there will be a most energetic struggle for the honour of constituting the first County Council under the new law.

MR. BRADBURN ON THE BY-LAW

Member of Parliament for West Peterborough Tells Why the Collegiate By-law Should be Supported

Among the important bylaws to be voted on at the elections next Monday are more vital to the interests of the ratepayers than that for $21,000 for the Collegiate Institute. On Saturday the Examiner gave a number of citizens' opinions on the advisability of supporting the bylaw. To-day Mr. T. E. Bradburn tells why, in his estimation, the ratepayers should give it their votes:

A press representative called upon Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Saturday in reference to the Collegiate Institute question. Mr. Bradburn, while not going into the mattor at length, said he recognized that the building at present used for a Collegiate Institute must be totally inadequate to properly accomodate its present attendance of 300 pupils. He agreed with his interrogator that a city like Peterborough, rejoicing in the establishment within its boundaries of a modern Normal school, would assume a more creditable appearance by offering for high school purposes a modernly equipped and up-to-date institute building on the site already purchased. He did not think the Board of Education were excessive in their demands for an additional $21,000 with which to construct such a building.

Mr. Bradburn offered however, that the Normal School and the Institute buildings were two distinct measures, separate questions entirely.

Aftermath At Stratton's

—The week before New Year's is always a busy and interesting week at Stratton's Bookstore. One reason for this is that all gift goods have ticket-of-leave orders and nothing will be exempt from radical reductions. Some goods have orders to go at half former prices, rather than carry them over to the new year. Some lines in fancy goods, the Poets, Grecian Ware, Jewel Cases, Framed Pictures, Cards, Calendars, etc., come in the half-price list. A. H. Stratton & Co.

ADDRESS TO THE ELECTORS

OF THE

CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

To the Electors of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In compliance with the request of a large number of influential ratepayers, I have decided to offer myself as a candidate for the mayoralty of Peterborough for the year 1907. I assure you that, in aspiring to the position of Mayor, I appreciate the responsibility of being intrusted with the duty of promoting the interests of a city of whose position and progress, I, in common with every other citizen, am justly proud.

Identity of Interests

All my material and business interests and their betterment and advancement are centred in, and bound up with the good government, good standing and progress of Peterborough. Therefore, to put the matter upon no higher ground, if I receive the honour of being elected Mayor, it will be to my interest to do all in my power for the growth, up-building and general welfare of my home City, in which I received my education in the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute, and in which, as remarked, my present and future are centred.

Systematize Municipal Work

As a member of the Council for the past three years I have endeavoured to serve the interests of the ratepayers faithfully, and the knowledge gained by service on all the committees of the Council, and, for the past two years, respectively, as chairman of the Manufacturers Committee and Board of Works, and the careful study I have devoted to all municipal questions, give me such experience as will place me in a position to so systematize the operations of the machinery of municipal government as to give the best results for the least expenditure of money.

General Policy

My policy for the coming year can be briefly stated — promoting the interests of the general mass of the ratepayers which is the first consideration — a liberal and prudent attitude of encouragement to industries to establish themselves in Peterborough, and the adoption of a general policy looking to making Peterborough the industrial and commercial centre, and the rallying point for the Midland District and Eastern Ontario. This would involve the provision of accommodation, within reasonable limits, for conventions — gatherings — district, Provincial and Dominion—dealing with the agricultural, dairying and other interests of the district of which Peterborough is the natural centre.

Exemption Conditions

My policy in regard to the improvement of conditions in the City will be a continuance of that I have advocated in Council and which has been adopted in principle by the Council.

In regard to the exemption of, or fixed assessment for, industrial establishments, I have advocated, and still advocate, the adoption of conditions which will require such establishments, not to obstruct local improvements, such as sidewalks or sewers, but, on the contrary, require them to bear their proportion of the cost.

Permanency of Improvements

With regard to pending street extensions, I shall continue the policy, adopted by the Council and put into motion by myself, till Aylmer street as well as George street (which is practically open now) is extended to the southern boundary of the city.

I firmly believe that all expenditure of money upon streets should be, as far as possible, for works of a permanent character. In the building of permanent pavements, I hold that the policy I advocated (which was adopted by the Council,) of building crossings at street intersections at the same time as the general work is done, should be continued.

With a full appreciation of the great injury done to our streets by promiscuous disturbance of the surface, I introduced a bylaw providing for the laying of connections to the street line at the time of sewer construction, thus avoiding the necessity of digging up the streets at frequent intervals. In this connection I will, if elected, use my influence to make financial and executive provision to restore the streets disturbed by sewer, waterworks, gas, and other excavation operations to their original condition, with the least possible delay and at the minimum of expense to the general ratepayers, so that the public for whose use the streets are intended will have the advantage of the best street conditions.

Surface Drainage

In the interests of the business men and citizens generally, I regard the proper care of our streets as of the utmost importance, and as proper surface drainage is one of the easiest and most essential means of maintaining them in good condition, and as this can be effected with comparatively trifling expenditure, I shall, if honoured with your confidence, make it a point to provide the best condition of surface drainage possible.

Municipal Ownership

In regard to the question of municipal ownership and operation of public utilities in general use, I am in favour of the principle, subject to the condition that, as Mayor of the city, if elected, I must be convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt that the acquirement and operation of any public utility will be in the interests of the citizens at large and reasonably certain of yielding satisfactory results. This covers my position, in regard to the general principle, as well as to the electric lighting, gas, and power propositions now before the public. The acquirement of such utilities should be done on purely business principles —the city should not, because it is a corporation, pay one cent more or one cent less than their carefully ascertained value.

To Get Good Advice

To this end I would advocate the constitution of an Advisory Board, to consist of representatives of the Trades and Labour Council, of the Manufacturers' Association, of the Board of Trade and of the Water Commissioners, such Advisory Board in consultation with the City Council, or Manufacturers' Committee, to pass upon the details of any proposition before its submission to the people.

In respectfully soliciting your votes and influence, I might say in summary, that in addition to what I have specified, I shall use my best efforts if elected, to so discharge my duties as to promote the best interests and progress of the city, and to creditably and satisfactorily represent the citizens, without distinction of class or interest.

Yours very faithfully

ROBT. HICKS

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Dec. 31.—Depression under the influence of a little more liquidation, manipulation and bearish professional pressure, occurred in the stock market this morning, but around the low level an oversold condition was shown when the support was positive and a big rally followed. The market is well liquidated and is in shape to have a substantial recovery on technical conditions alone. In the late trading the recovery grew fast and the market closed strong at about the best of the day.

YOUNG MEN ARRESTED FOR BOISTEROUS CONDUCT

Singing and Fast Driving on Sunday Night Bring a Number of Young Men Into the Hands of the Law

A number of young men were acting in a very unseemly manner last night on the public streets, singing and talking loudly, some of them driving at a fast pace, and as a result they were fined by the Magistrate this morning. One of them appeared in court and was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $5.35. The police will certainly not stand for such actions and such a glaring breach of the peace.

COLORED GOODS.
Maybe you've found it hard to bring your colored clothes out of the wash clean and bright, without fading or running or looking messy. If you try "SURPRISE" Soap you will see the difference in results. You know, "SURPRISE" is a pure soap, and there's nothing in it to hurt either the color or the fabric. And then no hard rubbing or boiling is necessary, so the colors don't get weakened and smudgy.
Some folks say they would buy and use "SURPRISE" Soap for colored clothes if it cost a dollar a cake, so it's pretty plain why so many people use it when it costs no more than common soap.

WAS RECIPIENT OF GOLD LOCKET AND CHAIN

Newly Appointed City Treasurer Frank Adams Remembered by Employees of Lock Company

TO-DAY WAS LAST DAY WITH COMPANY

At the conclusion of the week's labours at the Lock Manufacturing Company's works, on Saturday night, Mr. Frank Adams, the secretary-treasurer of the company, was surprised by the employees, and presented with a solid gold watch chain and locket, accompanied by an address. The employees gathered to the number of about 65 at five o'clock, in the shipping room, where the presentation was made.

On the locket was inscribed the words, "Presented to F. Adams, by the employees of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company, Dec. 31st, 1906."

The locket and chain were presented by Mr. E. R. Ward, the oldest employee of the company, and the following address was read by Mr. O. J. Taber:

Mr. Frank Adams, Peterborough,

Dear Sir, — It is with deep regret that we, the employees of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company, have learned of the severance of your connection with the company, at the end of the present year, and, as our business relations with you have always been of a pleasant nature, we feel that we cannot allow you to leave without giving some slight expression of the regard in which you are held by us.

We would therefore ask you to accept this chain and locket as a slight token of our esteem, and we trust that it will always bring back pleasant memories of your relationship with us.

We all join in wishing you a happy and prosperous New Year, and every success in your new sphere of duty.

Signed on behalf of the employees.

ERNIE G. TAYLOR,
R. SHELTON,
E. R. WARD,
C. CLANCY,

Peterborough, Dec. 29th, 1906.

Mr. Adams, in a brief reply, expressed his thanks to the employees for the gift, and also for the many kindnesses accorded him during his term of office at the Lock Works.

OBITUARY

LOTTIE WALTON

The death occurred at the home of her parents near Estevan, Sask., on Dec. 14, last of Miss Lottie Walton. Deceased was aged 19 years, 5 months, and 18 days.

JEREMIAH CROUGH

Douro, Dec. 31.—The death of one of the oldest residents of this township took place last night, when Jeremiah Crough passed away after a brief illness. Deceased had passed eighty years of age, and had spent the greater part of his life in the township in which he died. He leaves to mourn his loss four daughters, Mrs. Michael Quinlan, of Peterborough; Mrs. John Sullivan, Otonabee; and Misses Catherine and Rosanna, at home. Mrs. Crough pre-deceased her husband about a year ago.

MRS. WM. THOMPSON

After nearly half a century's residence in Peterborough and Ashburnham, Mrs. William Thompson passed away on Saturday evening, at the age of 92 years, after a short illness, death being due to old age.

The late Mrs. Thompson was one of the best known residents of the eastern part of the city, having lived there and in the same house for 47 years. The deceased, whose maiden name was Ann McAnern, was born in Ireland, and came to Canada in 1849, settling in the township of Douro, where she lived with her husband until ten years later, when they removed to Ashburnham. Her husbadn died about four years ago, but she leaves one son, Henry, to mourn her loss. Two brothers, Robert, who lives in Ireland, and William, in New Zealand are also survivors.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 2.30 from the family residence, Hastie street, to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

VERA GLADYS LYLE

"But Oh! fell Death's untimely frost,
That nipt my flower too early."
—Burns' "Highland Mary."

After a very short illness of only one week, Vera Gladys, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morley W. Lyle passed to eternal rest at the family residence last evening shortly before ten o'clock. The first signs of sickness were manifested on Sunday the 23rd inst., developing later in cerebro-spinal meningitis. It was thought by the bereaved family that the little girl was withstanding the effects of the malady, but a sudden relapse on Sunday destroyed those hopes.

Little Miss Lyle was thirteen years of age and a very matronly little girl. She was a pupil at the South Ward School being in the Junior IV. class. With the pupils and teachers, as with all who knew her, she was always a favourite, her gentle manner and sunny disposition appealing to young and old. She was also a member of the Charlotte street Sunday School, and of the Olive Mission Band of that church. She was much interested in the work of the Mission Band, assisting on all occasions, when there was anything to be done.

Besides the bereaved parents a brother, Vernon, and a sister Lenore, are left to mourn her sudden demise. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 3 o'clock from the family residence 301 Park street, to the Little aLke Cemetery for interment.

JOHN O'KEEFE

The death occurred on Saturday evening of John O'Keefe, at his late residence, 784 Water street. The late Mr. O'Keefe was 69 years of age and had only been ill three days. He was suffering from bronchial trouble.

The deceased was born in the County of Cork, Ireland, and in 1852 he came to Canada, settling in Asphodel township where he engaged in farming. About 15 years ago he retired from the farm and came to Peterborough where he resided until his death. The late Mr. O'Keefe was unmarried. In 1901 he in company with his sister, returned to Ireland where they spent three months at their old home which was very dear to Mr. O'Keefe. The deceased was widely known in this city and was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends who will learn with deep regret of his death. Two sisters and one brother are left to mourn his loss. The sisters are Mrs. R. Healy, Toronto and Miss K. O'Keefe, who resided with her brother. Mr. Michael O'Keefe, of Norwood, is the surviving brother. The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock from his late residence 784 Water street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the C.P.R. station. The body will be conveyed by train to Norwood and interment will take place at Westwood Cemetary.

POPULAR BANK TELLER LEAVING FOR MONTREAL

Mr. Geo. Easton, of the Bank of Montreal, Transferred to Staff of the Head Offices

On Saturday Mr. George Easton, who for almost a year has been on the staff of the Bank of Montreal, as teller, received notice of his transfer to the head office of the Bank of Montreal, and will leave for that city to-morrow. His departure from the city will be greatly regretted, since there is probably no more popular young man in the city than Mr. Easton. During the year that he has spent here he has made a very large number of friends, who, while they will regret his departure, will congratulate him upon the recognition of his abilities represented by his promotion to the head office staff.

PREACHED FAREWELL SERMON IN THE CITY

Rev. F. J. Scott Occupied Pulpit for Last Time Before Leaving for Bolivia Last Night

OTHER MINISTERS WERE PRESENT

Rev. F. J. Scott preached his last sermon to the congregation of the Murray street Baptist church, last evening, and said farewell to the flock of which he has had charge for the past two years. The event was an impressive one. There was an unusually large congregation present, every member of which appeared to feel deeply the fact that Rev. Mr. Scott was leaving the work here. During the time he has been associated with the Murray street church he has gained a firm hold upon the people of the congregation, who have learned to love and revere him in a manner that made it possible to do a great work in this city. A feeling of sadness seemed to pervade the church last evening and it could easily be seen that the affection of the people for their pastor was very great.

That this feeling is shared by his brother ministers, as well, was shown by the fact that Rev. Canon Davidson of St. John's, and Rev. Dr. Crothers, of George street, hurried to the Murray street church as soon as their own services were through, to pay their tributes to Rev. Mr. Scott.

The pastor delivered an inspiring sermon, taking as his subject the New Year. He spoke of how much there was in the past to look back to — the mercies and blessings, as well as the sins and mistakes, stating that parts of all ages had contributed to our present state. Civilization was not the product of a moment; its foundations had been laid by our ancestors.

The speaker said that people must look to the future as well as the past. They were children of the future. "What about the coming year?" he asked. If people did not love God their future would be destitute of joy, while if they loved and served Christ their future would be one of great joy and praise. In closing his sermon the speaker made a stirring appeal to young men to give themselves up to God.

In his farewell remarks to the congregation Rev. Mr. Scott said he was sorry to leave Peterborough. He had been treated with nothing but kindness and consideration from the people of Peterborough in general, and the members of the congregation in particular. He would liked to have remained very much. Explaining his reasons for going away, he said that in Bolivia there were 3,000,000 people and only two or three Protestant missionaries. Roman Catholicism was in its worst state, and the people were beginning to turn away from their priests, the men especially. The people were becoming skeptical and giving up religion. They were, however, quite accessible. The Baptist church had opened up a mission there and the call came for volunteers in the work. He at first did not think that he could go, but there were no others to volunteer. "It does seem hard to go," said Mr. Scott; "I would rather live in Peterborough than in any other place in the world. It is a beautiful city and I love it."

He went on to explain that in Bolivia however there was a city, the capital of the country, with 85,0000 people and not a single Protestant missionary. They did throw stones and bricks there occasionally, but such scars were precious. They were going to do all the good they could. They were going to take a printing press with them and scatter literature broadcast over the land. There was a new language and a new people before him, which meant a readjustment of their lives. "This is not a funeral," he said in conclusion, as he asked his hearers to pray for him and always love him.

A standing vote was called for of those who would promise to pray for Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Scott, and almost the entire congregation rose to its feet.

Rev. Canon Davidson said said that while Rev. Mr. Scott's departure would be regretted, yet there was a certain feeling of pride that he was going forth from this city into the great mission field, where the people would follow him with earnest prayers and good wishes. He expressed a warm regard for Rev. Mr. Scott, referring to his gentleness of character and militant powers.

Rev. Dr. Crothers thought that the congregation should congratulate itself upon having a representative on the far flung battle line of missions. He for one would take a deeper interest in Bolivia from now on. The speaker also paid a tribute to Rev. Mr. Scott, and referred to the sacrifice he was making. He and his wife were giving up a great deal. Rev. Mr. Scott could have filled high positions, but he laid them at the Master's feet.

Rev. Mr. Scott and Mrs. Scott will sail on January 19th from New York for Bolivia.

At the morning service Rev. Mr. Scott gave a very instructive, discourse on prayer. At the close of the service, the ordinance of the Lord's Supper was observed, and sixteen new members were given the hand of fellowship.

The Sunday evening services for the past two or three months have been of an evangelistic character, and each Sunday has witnessed conversions, the majority of whom were young men.

A RATEPAYER WARNS VOTERS TO CAUTION

Believes that $40,000 is Enough to Spend at Present for the Erection of a Collegiate Institute

Mr. Editor,—You will kindly let me say a few words. I think every ratepayer should look at both sides of this monstrous question. In the first consideration, the Collegiate does not educate the masses. There is at least ninety per cent. of our pupils who do not take the full Collegiate course. Many of our pupils who enter the first and second forms drop out, and this will only continue under the present regulations. If the pupils who enter the Collegiate were allowed the choice of taking some special branches of study and cast aside the others they would be more specialists in the world of business professions to-day, who are wanted in every class. It would be a very much better plan to adopt a fifth form in our Public Schools in the city. By this means there would be left about three to five percent. to take a full Collegiate course. Now, as to the cost of building. A common schoolboy would know that $40,000 would erect a substantial building, fully equipped, sufficient for many years to come, when we could build additional wings if required. But if we want to copy after some American architect to make a public show of our building, with frescoed walls and ornamental woodwork, that do not put brains or ability into teacher nor pupil, it is an easy matter to spend $21,000 extra of the ratepayers' money in lofty ideals to do credit in appearance to our city. Down with such an idea!

But this $71,000 is not the limit of our indebtedness in school matters. We must consider the accrued interest to be paid on this amount, and the increased debt that we have assumed during this last year for Public School buildings, and will assume for years to come for Public School improvements in building. The spending of money for Public School purposes is a keen necessity. But let us curb the extra expenditure in Collegiate building.

Now, I think that next year will be a good time to spend $40,000 in building, as there is likely to be a great lull in house building. There are many vacant houses in the city today, and, as already a reaction has set in, which was certain to come, the balloon valuation of property will come to its proper level owing to the increased demand for money at the present time.

It behooves every ratepayer to be cautious in casting his vote.

RATEPAYER.

While The Examiner opens its columns freely to the discussion of public matters, it necessarily gives place to much that is self-evident, not in the public interest. "Ratepayer" is entitled to his opinions, but he takes a narrow, incomplete view of the object of a Collegiate Institute. In asserting that the Collegiate Institute "does not educate the masses," he makes a grave error. In one sense, it is true the masses are educated in the Public Schools. What makes Public Schools possible? What creates our Public Schools? Of what use would our Public Schools be without teachers? Where should we get our teachers if it were not for the Collegiate Institute, which is essentially our training school for teachers? We are now at the beginning of conditions which make it impossible to furnish a good supply of that is indispensable for Public School efficiency—teachers. With a good and sufficiently-equipped Institute building, we can give the literary training to pupils, fitting them for becoming teachers; with a well-equipped Normal School we can give to the necessary pedagogical training, and thus produce a first-class supply of teachers by means of which our Public Schools can be well supplied. At such a time it is unfortunate that narrow-minded views of the responsibility of the ratepayer should be urged upon them with a possible effect of interfering with the promotion of our best educational interests.

PASTOR AGAIN TAKES UP PULPIT MINISTRATION

After an Absence of Four Weeks Through Illness, Rev. H. M. Manning, Again Preaches at Charlotte Street

The services in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church yesterday were conducted by the pastor, who has been indisposed for the past four weeks. He is now considerably better, though the circumstance of his preaching yesterday is due to the fact that the supply preacher who was to have taken the services did not come.

The sermons yesterday were appropriate to the season, reference being made to the fact that it was the last Sunday in the old year.

The Christmas music, which was rendered with so much acceptance on the preceding Sunday, was repeated yesterday, the order, however, being reversed.

THE CAMPAIGN FOR COMMISSIONER

"Ratepayer" Points Out That Some Credit is Due the Members of Board who Still Remain in Office

Editor Examiner.

I have read with considerable interest Mr. W. H. Moore's appeal for votes, as a candidate for the office of Water Commissioner for another three-year term, and while I intend to support him, I must take exception to the manner in which he appropriates to himself all that has been done by the Waterworks Board.

To one who has not followed closely the city's affairs during the past years it would appear that it is through Mr. Moore's efforts alone that the Waterworks Department has been run successfully. I have been interested in following the affairs of the Water Commissioners during their term of office, and I wish to correct some impressions that might be gathered from reading Mr. Moore's letter.

In stating that Mr. Hill and Mr. Matthews asked and received, without a contest, a renewal of the confidence of the people after their first term, is hardly correct. The facts are: In January, 1902, Messrs. Matthews and Hill were elected in a field of five or six candidates to act with the then Mayor, Mr. H. Denne, as a Board of Water Commissioners. During that year the Council asked and received permission from the Legislature to have all three Commissioners elected by the people, and quite independent of the Council, and to hold office fro three years, one to retire each year. In January, 1903, Messrs. Matthews, Hill and Denne were elected for three, two and one year terms in the order named, and it was at the expiration of this term that Messrs. Matthews and Hill were returned without a contest.

Mr. Moore was elected a Water Commissioner without opposition in January, 1904, and has no doubt done his share of the work of the Board. It is quite natural that matters having a legal aspect should be referred to the lawyer member of the Board. The bylaws and regulations of which Mr. Moore claims to be the author, I understand, were copied from those issued by other corporations, and were but assembled and indexed by Mr. Moore after they had been recommended to the Board by Mr. Henderson. The reorganizing of the whole system of bookkeeping, the appointment of new officials, the working out of a new tariff of rates and charges are matters that were practically decided before Mr. Moore joined the Board, although the new rates were not put into effect until 1904. In my opinion, it was the good work of the Commissioners during the years 1902-1903, assisted by the advice of Mr. Henderson, that has contributed in a very large measure to subsequent success. It is not the purpose of this letter to belittle Mr. Moore's efforts in serving the city as Water Commissioner, but to simply point out that there are other members of the Board who no doubt have done their full share of the work during the five years of public ownership.

Yours truly,
RATEPAYER.

AN ACCIDENT TO THE G. T. R. LINDSAY EXPRESS

Cylinder Blew Out, Causing a Delay of Forty Minutes in the Time

An accident occurred this morning on the G.T.R. near Reaboro, on the Lindsay line, causing a delay of forty minutes in the arrival of that train here. As it drew into Reaboro the cylinder head was blown out and as a result the engine was put out of service for the time being. Fortunately there was a double header attached to a freight at Omemee and one of these engines was dispatched to the scene of the break-down and brought the express to Peterborough. Instead of arriving at 8.10 this morning it did not reach here until near nine o'clock. It proceeded with the passengers to Belleville, the end of the run.

Accidents are bound to happen on any line and when the G.R.R. suffers one it generally meets the difficulty with commendable dispatch.

TOM WELLER LEAVES CANADA THIS WEEK

Expenses of His Department will be Defrayed by His Relatives in This County

SATURDAY A DAY FOR REJOICING

Arrangements have at last been made by which the now notorious character Tom Weller will leave the land of the Lady of the Snows for his native home in old London. County Police Court was held this morning before Magistrate Edmison when the final details were arranged and Weller who has been held in the jail awaiting department will leave the city on Friday next on the long journey home.

The vessel he sails on leaves St. John, N. B., on Saturday and he will be accompanied there by Constable Archie Moore. His relatives in the city and vicinity have agreed to advance the money to defray the expenses necessarily arising and are rejoicing to-day that he will soon be out of the danger line. The expenses will amount to about $80.00.

Weller's departure will undoubtedly be a great relief to at least one young lady of the country whom he had repeatedly threatened to murder. Not only she, however, but a number of his relatives will rejoice to learn of his retirement from the country and it is possible that not many requests will be made for his return

WANTS CANDIDATES TO NAME PLATFORM

Aspirants for Civic Honours, a Correspondent Thinks, Should State a Policy as Claim for Support

To the Editor of the Examiner:

The time has arrived when those persons who are seeking our suffrage as citizens to elect them to office of Aldermen, that they must adopt certain principles by which we should be governed. The person who seeks for the vote of electors should have honour enough to let the public know where they stand regarding the operative questions of the city of Peterborough. How are we to judge or discriminate who to elect to office if we do not know what position they take on general public questions. I fear there are those who seek office that are so illiterate that they have no platform, but want to run into office in a haphazard style. If so, they will transact business in the same manner. I will name a few planks for their platform seeing they are so bashful. To what extent should we adopt municipal ownership? Should we elect Aldermen for the long term of two years' office and educate crude men at the expense and loss of the city's best interests?

Should we elect an artisan or mechanic to office to officiate with millions of dollars that belong to our citizens at large, or shall we not put the professional man, merchant, mechanic and labouring man as one class to be united in the common wealth of mankind.

Shall we support unionists, socialists and combines? Should we support a municipal council that introduce by-laws to create office and increase expenditure?

Should we support bonuses to corporations directly or indirectly making a few rich at the expense of many, this being a mild way of graft.

THIRTY-FILE DEAD IN A RAILWAY WRECK

Dead Head Train Crashed Into By a Passenger Special.

INJURED ARE MORE THAN 60

Signals on B. & O. Railway Could Not Be Seen at Tekoma Park, Three Miles From Washington, In the Dense Fog—Train Was Going at 60 Miles an Hour—Engineer and Fireman Were Arrested.

Washington, Dec. 31.—An appalling disaster occurred last night at seven o'clock on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at Terracotta, about three miles from this city, in which about thirty-five persons were killed and over sixty injured, some of them so seriously that they will die.

The accident was caused by the collision of train No. 66, due here at 6.25 p.m. from Frederick, Md., known as the Frederick Special, with a dead-head passenger equipment special of eight cars. Over 200 passengers were aboard the ill-fated train. The railway officials late last night were unable to explain the collision.

As soon as the news of the wreck reached this city, all ambulances available, with as many physicians as could be assembled, were sent to the scene.

The dead bodies were found lying beside the track for a considerable distance. The wreck occurred at 6.39 p.m. A dense fog was prevailing and made objects imperceptible a few feet ahead.

It was impossible at first to determine the exact extent of the catastrophe. The passengers in the forward coach, who were but slightly bruised, heard the groans of the dying and wounded, and did what they could to give aid. A number of passengers started to walk to Brookland, three-fourths of a mile away.

The moment the first of the survivors reached Brookland a general call was sent out for doctors and ambulances. Several Brookland doctors responded and were taken to the scene in automobiles.

District Attorney Baker, whose heel was cut off, walked the one and a quarter miles to Brookland and brought the first news of the wreck. He was completely exhausted, and, after medical treatment, was sent to this city.

The wreck is attributed to the second train running past the signal against it in a fog.

It has been proved that the signal at Tokoma Park, at the scene of the accident, was set when the train of empties passed. The train was going at the rate of 60 miles an hour, and Engineer Hildebrand says that on account of the heavy fog he could not see the signal.

Both Engineer Hildebrand and the fireman on the train of empty freight cars, were placed under arrest and brought to Washington in the charge of officers.

Trolley Runs Away.

Cincinnati, Dec. 31.—At least 30 persons were injured, one of whom, William H. Curnayne, a passenger, has since died, in the wreck yesterday of a runaway electric car on Warsaw avenue hill.

Wreck on the I.C.R.

Quebec, Dec. 31.—About 11 o'clock yesterday morning an immigrant special on the Intercolonial Railway, bound from Halifax to Montreal, met with an accident about 17 miles west of St. Andre station, supposed to be caused by the spreading of the rails. The engine and four cars left the track and were overturned.

Two passengers, a man and woman, Conductor Lemieux and Brakeman Plante were injured, the latter having an arm broken. The line was blocked for several hours.

NATURAL GAS EXPLOSION.

Inflicts Frightful Burns on Mrs. Howie's Head and Shoulders.

Brantford, Dec. 31.—Mrs. Howie, an elderly lady residing on Dundas street, received terrible burns in a natural gas explosion at six o'clock last evening, which may prove fatal.

In company with her son and daughter, the woman was about to take supper, when she repaired to the pantry, carrying a lighted lamp. As she opened the door a terrific explosion resulted, which moved the house off its very foundation and inflicted frightful burns to the woman's head and shoulders.

Her clothes caught fire. With presence of mind she went outside, where she prostrated herself in snow and water. She was subsequently taken to the hospital, where her condition is reported as extremely critical.

The interior of the house is a complete wreck, with the plaster all knocked from the walls and windows and pictures smashed.

The fire department was called out to extinguish the blaze. The cause of the trouble was a leakage of gas, which has been installed in the house for heating purposes only a short time.

NOVELIST BLACK DIES.

Of Injuries In the Dundee Wreck—Dead Now Number 23.

Dundee, Scotland, Dec. 31.—Three more persons who sustained injuries Friday are dead. This brings the total of deaths up to 23.

Gangs of men were working Saturday night by the light of huge bonfires clearing away the wreckage. Aberdeen has been cut off since Thursday, but the demoralized Scottish train service is being restored.

The Board of Trade has appointed a commission to investigate the Arbroath railway wreck.

A. W. Black, M. P., Dies.

Alexander William Black, member of Parliament from Banffshire, who was injured in the railroad accident near Arbroath on Friday, died at midnight Saturday.

TWO YOUNG MEN DROWN.

Sleigh Breaks Through Ice Near Kingston—Two Save Themselves.

Kingston, Dec. 31.—Two young men, named Gibson and Instant, were drowned Friday night while crossing the ice from Amherst Island to Bath in a cutter.

Four were in the sleigh. The soft weather had weakened the ice. The horse and cutter were lost.

Two men, named McFern and Cook, saved themselves.

The men were going to Bath for a doctor.

Belgian Steamer Lost.

Cadiz, Spain, Dec. 31.—The Belgian steamer Heidelberg, bound for Havana, has been lost, Several of her crew were drowned.

Four Laid In One Grave.

Niagara Falls, Dec. 31.—The funeral of the four victims of the Harris family gas tragedy took place yesterday afternoon in Lundy's Lane Cemetery. Not in the 125 years' history of the cemetery has such a throng of people turned out to any one funeral. At the interment at the cemetery, where the three caskets were lowered in one grave, there was a short service. Little 8-year-old Myrtle, the only survivor of the family, was present. The little girl did not seem to realize what was going on.

SOCIALISTS MURDER IN RUSSIA

Score of Nationalist Workmen At Lodz and Force Lockout.

100,000 PERSONS OUT OF WORK

Proprietors of Largest Factories Shut Down Because Militant Socialists Make Conduct of Business Impossible — Terrorists Threaten to Organize Street Riots and Force Citizens to Feed Idle.

Lods, Dec. 31.—The situation here is rapidly becoming acute. Sanguinary encounters were frequent during Saturday. Six persons have been killed and 12 wounded.

The authorities, at first supine, are now more active and are preparing to meet emergencies. It is believed that the workmen will eventually secure the upper hand over the Socialists, drive out the agitators and resume work within a few days.

Factories Are Closing.

Four of the largest cotton mills have been closed, and the proprietors of seven of the largest factories here, employing 100,000 persons, have announced their intention of closing their establishments in consequence of the system of terrorism inaugurated by the extreme Socialists. The announcement caused great excitement among the inhabitants generally of this city, as well as among the better classes of the factory employes, who fear that when this great army of unemployed persons begins to feel the want of bread, rioting will occur.

The factory employes, as a rule, are without any means to support themselves and their families during the hard winter prevailing.

One of the principal mill owners said that the employers were compelled to close down because the militant Socialists control the entire city and are murdering all those who do not accept their demands, which makes the continuance of business impossible.

Socialists Murder Workmen.

The Socialists Saturday murdered no less than a score of Nationalist workmen in this city and vicinity, and they threaten to organize street riots and compel citizens at the point of revolvers to feed and lodge the unemployed.

The manager of the Scheibler's cotton mills and the foreman and engineer of another factory were murdered during the night by Socialists, and the engineers of those and other establishments fearing assassination, refused Saturday morning to return to their work. Consequently, four of the largest cotton mills shut down early Saturday. The four which locked out their men Saturday morning were the two Scheibler mills and the Poznanski and Grohman mills, which collectively employ about 25,000 men, but double that number are indirectly affected.

Many of the wealthiest inhabitants of Lodz have left in anticipation of grave disorder.

Jap and Russ Treaty-Making.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 31.—The Russo-Japanese negotiations for the conclusion of a treaty of commerce were interrupted Saturday by the departure of Dr. Motoni, the Japanese Minister to Russia, for a fortnight's stay in Paris. The conferences were continued up to the last moment, but no final agreement was reached. The two principal points of contention, namely, the fisheries question, and the navigation of the Sungari River, are difficult of solution. An official communication, issued last night by the Russian Government, confirms statements previously made, that the negotiations are proceeding smoothly. The commercial details of the treaty have been practically drafted.

GOOD ADVICE GIVEN TO HOCKEY PLAYERS

The Linasay Post Tells the Midgets How They May Win Games—Puck First and Men Afterwards

"Everybody gives them good advice"—the Lindsay hockey team, the champions-on-paper, of the junior O. H. A. This is the way the Post tells them where they get off at:—

The Midgets go to Port Hope on Tuesday. Do they win? Well, there will have to be a shift in the team, at any rate. To "Jimmie" Dougan it will be "a little more practice, old boy." To Stoddard it will be, "Not so much individual corkscrew rushing, to McDougal, "More 'com,' and better shooting"; to Randal, "Less scrapping and chewing the rag and more hockey"; to Sullivan, "A little heavier body-checking, but not too many rushes"; to Koyl, "Make all the rushes you like, but don't hog the puck,—pass it when you get a good chance"; to Newton, "Keep your eye on the puck at all times and relieve quickly". To all, "play the puck and not the man. Stay on the ice and not the fence. There you do more harm than good. Cover your man, put play "com." unless you see a good chance to do otherwise, and thus better the team's chances." Skidoo.

KID HERMAN AND JOE GANS MEET TO-MORROW

A Fast Bout Promised to Take Place To-morrow in Tonopah, Nev.

To-morrow, in Tonopah, Nev., there should be seen one of the fastest fights among lightweight boxers that has ever occurred in the squared arena. Kid Herman is billed to meet Joe Gans, the conqueror of "Battling" Nelson, in, practically speaking, a finish fight. Being a holiday, there promises to be a record crowd at the fight, as both boxers have good records behind them. Odds may be slightly in favour of Gans, but there are many who claim that he will meet his peer to-morrow. The event is causing widespread interest among those who follow the careers of the lightweight "scrappers."

SATURDAY NIGHT'S VIEWS ON DEATH OF MR. LOGAN

Refers to Him as One of the Best of Canada's Cricketers

The Toronto Saturday Night in last week's sporting comment says:—

Old cricketers everywhere will regret to hear of the death of Mr. C. J. Logan, who was one of the best slow bowlers known on the Canadian cricket field. Charlie Logan played for Galt, Peterborough, Hamilton and Toronto, and for several years no international eleven was complete without him. Perhaps his greatest success as a bowler was on the occasion of the visit to Canada of Daft's English eleven in 1879. Charlie Logan was then a young player but he trundled so well as to win high praise from Daft. "In sixty years of English cricket," Logan's bowling average in those matches is given. In a match at Toronto between a team of twenty-two Canadians against Daft's eleven, Logan took seven wickets for 35 runs, and shortly after, playing in Hamilton with a local sixteen against the same eleven he took six wickets at a cost of 39 runs.

—Just leave it to ED. HUFF, if you are thinking of a new suit, overcoat or trousers for the New Year. Now, while every yard of cloth in the store is cut in price, is a good chance—but the chance only lasts till December 31st.

HOCKEY

There will be no practice of the hockey team to-night, but the team will get out to-morrow at 10.30. Another cold snap is propnesied and it is thought that the ice will soon be in good shape again.

• • • •

Now that the weather conditions have changed so that there is no immediate possibility of playing the game, an answer from the Review team accepting the Examiner's challenge is expected at any moment.

• • • •

A meeting of the City League will be held to-night at 7.30 o'clock at Fred. A. Clarke's store for the purpose of drawing up the schedule for the season. All teams intending to enter should be represented and have their deposit on hand to-night if they want to be included in the schedule.

• • • •

The Peterborough hockey team will practice to-night at 7 o'clock and to-morrow morning from 10.30 a. m. to 13 o'clock. The players are requested to be present at both these practices as the team must get in shape for Friday night's big game with Varsity, who will take a lot of beating.

CURLING

The following games were run off at the curling rink last night:—

G. H. Giroux, 10. John Cameron, 7.
W. G. Read, 15. S. Clegg, 13.

• • • •

The games for Wednesday and Thursday are as follows:—

Wednesday,—
Ray versus Hicks.
Knapman versus T. Rutherford.
C. Rutherford versus Dr. Greer.
D. Hall versus W. G. Ferguson.

Thursday,—
E. B. Clegg versus Brown.
Morrow versus Brightman.
Thompson versus D. Cameron.
Stanger versus Bogue.

TURF.

The races at the Driving Park promises to be of more than usual interest. The track is in fairly good condition and with the touch of frost that is promised for to-morrow, will be well nigh perfect. There will likely be a large crowd present.

Oliver and Company, the contractors, who have been boring a tunnel through the Lookout Mountain for the Southern Railway, report that the tunnel, 3600 feet long, has been finished in 13 months and 15 days. This is claimed to be the record for quick work.

IS IT COMING IN FUTURE?

Signs of the Times as Seen by Rev. Dr. Torrance—Interesting Sermon in St. Paul's Church Yesterday.

SOME VERY PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

Some of the signs of the times were very ably dealt with in a sermon preached in St. Paul's Church yesterday morning by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Torrance. It was a most appropriate to the last Sunday in the year, and was full of interest to those who study the problems which face the world at the present time. God, the speaker said, reveals Himself in Nature and in Providence, and it was with the latter revelation that he wished to deal. The solution of the social problems, was one which had to be found, and the solution would require the best thought and effort. "There is" he said, "a widespread dissatisfaction with the present condition of human society," and he quoted Prof. Huxley as saying that if there was no hope of a large improvement of the greater part of the human family he would hail the advent of some friendly comet which would sweep the whole affair away, as a desirable consummation.

The spread of education among the masses and the extension of the franchise have put in the hands of the people new weapons for securing what they believe to be their rights. And, that they will not be slow to use these weapons, the speaker considered probable.

The masses are conscious that they have not shared in the benefits resulting from the progress which has been made during the last century. While the wealth has been increasing at an enormous rate, it has been passing into the hands of the few, who have not contributed sufficiently to the improvement of the many.

The speaker did not profess to be able to pronounce upon the merits of the conflict, but he considered it probable that there were faults on both sides. Judging by the conditions in Peterborough, he would suppose that here, at least, employers deal fairly with those whom they employ. Unfortunately, however, the conditions everywhere are not as favourable as they are in Peterborough.

The attitude of a large class of public opinion towards religion also occupies a prominent place among the signs of the times, remarked the speaker. The opinion is now held that whatever the results of criticisms may have been, they have not weakened the authority of the Bible. Christianity is no longer regarded as something which has to do only with the condition of man in the world to come, but as something which has to do with this condition in this world as well. There was a time when men contended bitterly about the non-essentials of the Christian religion, but it is not so to-day. It is felt that the actual needs of the world are too great to admit of there churches upon minor points of doctrine.

In conclusion, the reverend speaker said that while there is much to be thankful for in the state of things, there is much to load us to ponder the question as to whether we are not living in the last times. Paul thus describes the last times, "But know this, that in the last days grievous times shall come."

DOROTHY VERNON A LITTLE FOUNDLING

Her Parents Came From Haddon Hall a Number of Years Ago

"Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" isn't just a stage celebrity, for she lives on Hawthorne Avenue, Toronto, and goes to the Todmorden Public School. She is a bright, sweet little miss, with fair hair and blue eyes, and is the youngest daughter of Samuel Vernon, employed at the Don Valley Brick Works.

Little Miss Dorothy says that she has heard the story and has several pictures of the quaint old hall, but says she, "You will have to ask my mother about my relationship to the real Dorothy Vernon."

Mrs. Vernon, a quiet, middle-aged lady admits that her husband had sprung from the Vernons of Haddon Hall, but could not give any particulars.

"I have heard many stories of Haddon Hall," she states. "I was born twelve miles away and so was my husband, but as for his relationship to the original Vernonne I cannot say, someone sent Dorothy a photo of the steps that the original Dorothy Vernon walked on out of the castle and away, but I do not know who it was, nor can we find the photo. The chances are, though, that my husband's people were the Vernons of Haddon Hall."

Dorothy is the youngest of a family of eight girls and two boys. She is quite pleased to see her name on the "big signs."

Scholars of St. Luke's Were Generous in Their Offerings for Mission School

The children of St. Luke's church Sunday school made a generous contribution of gifts to be sent to the children of the mission of Essonville, Haliburton county as Christmas gifts. Each scholar brought something to cheer the children of the north country.

To-night a watch night service will be held at St. Luke's at 11.15, with a short address by the rector.

On Friday evening the annual prize giving and Christmas tree will be held for the Sunday school of St. Luke's.

The rector preached from the text, "I am but a little child; I know not how to go out or come in." The children's service will be held every last Sunday in the month.

RECOMMEND NEXT COUNCIL TO PROCEED

Finance Committee Consulted with Secretary of Dairy Committee—Hope to Get National Dairy Show Here

EXHIBITION WILL BE AN ANNUAL EVENT

Another step was taken in the securing for Peterborough of the Canadian National Dairy Exhibition, when the Finance Committee consulted with Mr. H. B. Cowan, editor of the "Canadian Dairyman," on New Year's Eve in the final meeting of the old year, in the City Clerk's office. Mr. Cowan is the secretary of the Dairy Exhibition Committee, which has for its work the location for the proposed exhibition. At the meeting on Monday night he explained to the Finance Committee what the show would consist of, and answered the various questions of the aldermen, who were unanimous in favour of the proposal. The market square was spoken of as the probable place for the exhibition for the first few years it held here, but it is altogether likely that a building will be erected if the show becomes an annual event in Peterborough.

A motion was carried recommending the incoming Council to consider the proposition at the earliest possibility.

Those present at the meeting, besides Mr. Cowan, were Ald. Mason, Graham, Elliott, Ball, Wilson, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., and Messrs. Geo. A. Gillespie, Bigtie and Dundas.

Mr. Mason explained that the meeting was called to hear Mr. Cowan in connection with bringing the National Dairy Show to Peterborough.

Mr. Cowan's Address

Mr. Cowan first apologised for being late on account of the lateness of the train. For some time, he said, there was a feeling among the dairymen of the Province that we should have a large show to represent the dairy interests of the Province. He referred to the successes of the National Dairy Shows in London, England, in Chicago and in other places. Canada, it was thought, should also have one of these international shows. At the meetings of the Western and Eastern Dairymen's Associations last September, it was decided to appoint a committee to look after arrangements for such a show, and he was the secretary of that committee. The committee had seen all the leading exhibitors of stock, and all were in favour of the proposed scheme. Toronto, he said, had not given the support it should have given. The show, he said, would be held in one of the cities of Toronto, Peterborough or Guelph.

On Saturday last, he said, the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club met and endorsed the proposal.

Mr. Mason asked what requirements would be necessary for the holding of the show.

Dairy Cattle Exhibit.

Mr. Cowan, in answer, said that there would be an exhibit of dairy cattle, and that there would have to be accommodation for them. There would also be an exhibit of dairy supplies, cheese and butter, and it would be necessary to have accommodation for these. He also stated that a large hall was necessary for the various public meetings, and also smaller rooms for the meetings of committees.

The swine men, he said, were wanted to assist in this, but it would be left for them to decide.

Show In Midwinter

Mr. Cowan explained to a question from Ald. Wilson, that the show would be held about the latter part of January, or towards the beginning of the month of February. He also believed that it would be much preferable to have a two-storey building, and to have it within the city limits. He believed that the buildings should be about the size that the city of Guelph possesses for its Fat Stock Shows.

He also explained that if it was decided to hold the show here, the city would be assured of its continuance annually if the buildings were provided.

To Mr. Mason he stated that it would be preferable to have the building to contain the cattle connected with the other necessary apartments required.

Mr. Cowan also stated that the city of Guelph was willing to place the buildings at the disposal of the association.

Ald. Elliott thought that the proposal was one which should be looked into and brought before the County Council and Government.

Geo. A. Gillespie

Mr. Gillespie stated that he would do all he could to bring the show here. He was greatly surprised at the good results at the Guelph show last year, and was satisfied that the same results could be obtained here. He did not think that there would be any difficulty in getting the County to assist.

In England, Mr. Cowan stated the people there go into the enterprise with great enthusiasm. They even have shows for milk goats. They also have milking contests between farmers' sons and daughters, which he thought would soon be in vogue here.

An Educative Scheme

Ald. Ball believed that the proposed show was a far-reaching and educative scheme, and would be felt in years to come. Anything that assisted the farmers was a benefit to the whole community.

Ald. Mason was informed by Mr. Cowan that the buildings should be near a railway station for the purposes of unloading and reloading stock. The alderman made a suggestion that the market might be placed at the disposal of the show, and that the buildings might be erected on the square. He thought, however, that the first step was to have the assurance that the dairy show would be an annual event here. It would then be possible to ask the County, city and Government to assist in the scheme.

Mr. Cowan understood that the building in Guelph cost, approximately, $30,000. He stated that what was necessary for the committee to do was to send a letter to the joint committee of the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Associations, stating what this city would be prepared to do for the National Dairy Show in the event of it being granted annually to Peterborough.

Ald. McWilliams stated that the opinion of the committee appeared to be unanimous that the dairy show was wanted, and he believed that the city would co-operate in the perpetual establishment of the show. The only thing, he explained, that the retiring Council could do was to strongly recommend that the incoming Council take up the question at once. He thought that it was possible to construct a building at the market square to meet the needed requirements.

He moved that this committee report to Council of 1907 that they have considered the establishment of a dairy show here, and recommended it to the new Council that steps be taken to further the proposed scheme. This was seconded by Ald. Ball, and carried, after which the meeting adjourned.

A SNEEZE NEARLY BROKE UP THE PERFORMANCE

Started in the Orchestra Seats, Then Spread Till Audience, Actors and Managers Sneezed Too

New York, January 1. — A sneeze nearly broke up the Sunday vaudeville at the Yorkville Theatre, Eighty-sixth street, between Third and Lexington avenues, yesterday. It was toward the close of the performance that the sneeze made its appearance.

It arose in the midst of the orchestra seats, long drawn out and heartfelt. Upon the stage the Sydney Dean Company were playing the skit "Christmas on Blackwell's Island." Three of the company, as prisoners, were locked in cells. A fourth, billed as a trusty, had just begun a song.

It was the physiological moment for a sneeze. The audience laughed but had hardly settled back in their seats when a second, a third, then a dozen sneezes sounded from all parts of the audience. Convinced that the show was being guyed, the actor stopped his song.

A surprised expression appeared upon his face and he too sneezed long and earnestly. In the meantime the gallery and balcony had succumbed to the epidemic. In their cells the three prisoners sneezed and then sneezed again. The musicians struggled to drown out the noise. They played for their lives, but suddenly the bass horn dropped his instrument. Darting a handkerchief to his mouth he sneezed. His companions looked horrified and then suddenly they too sneezed.

The house was in an uproar. Manager Frank Gersten and his assistant rushed up from their office downstairs. They entered the auditorium —and sneezed. There seemed no help for the trouble and Mr. Gersten was at his wits' end when Joseph Rosenthal, an usher, hurried to him and, emphasizing his speech with a series of sneezes, said that he thought he had located the cause of the epidemic.

Harry Friedlander, 17 years old, of No. 493 East Eighty-sixth street, was accused of causing the trouble.

The most extensive cemetery in the world is that of Rome, in which over 6,000 human beings have been buried.

Chronicles of Don Q.

BY K. AND HESKETH PRITCHARD.

(Copyright by Pearson Publishing Company.)

HOW DON Q. HAD DEALINGS WITH A USURER.

After Robledo's pardon, amongst the few who actually reached the Boca de Lobo was Juan Sorio, and he was led by Robledo himself to the mouth of the famous cave.

"You desire, Juan Sorio," Don Q. said, "to become one of my children?" By this term the famous brigand often designated his followers.

"Yes, lord, I desire it."

The new recruit, little more than a boy, met the chief's eyes without flinching.

"And why do you desire this?"

The lad was full-grown, though he looked hunger-bitten. His brows met in a scowl.

"Because I have an enemy."

"It is conceivable that you imagine your private enmities will be forwarded by entering my service?" inquired Don Q. harshly. "Those who join us in the mountains forget their own desires, for they realize from the moment of enlistment that their sole excuse for existing lies in furthering mine."

The lad's face whitened.

"Down there in the plains many told me differently," he answered. "They said that my lord of the sierra held a wonderful scale of justice—the only one in Spain in which the rich man and the poor were fairly weighed one against the other."

Don Q. dropped the end of his cigarette into the fire.

"I perceive you have a story to tell me. Tell it shortly."

"The beginning of it goes back 20 years, to the time of the great snow. My lord remembers it: how we poor ones made holes through the snow into our dwellings. At that time my father and my mother had not long been married. My father was a shepherd, and, like many of our people, he spent much money on his marriage feast. Who could have expected such a winter?"

Don Q. nodded.

"In spite of the cold and the hunger, lord, those two were happy. But the days grew darker and the cold more bitter, and it seemed they must starve. I have no skill in the story. As it happened, so I tell it—not otherwise. At the last my father went down into Malaga, where he heard there lived one who lent money to the poor."

"And by what name was this usurer known?"

"They call him Senor Iapoulo, lord. And to him during that winter my father was forced to go more than once or twice—you would not have had him see his wife die? Sometimes Iapoulo would not give money, but a barrel of dried fish or a bag of flour. These Iapoulo gave to my father, always making him sign papers. In six months, so it was written in the papers, each barrel bred another barrel. Thus, lord, the debt grew, and became very heavy." The lad paused a moment and sighed. "Yet when the sun shone again we were happy, and my father paid the usury year by year, though we were often hungry. I do not know, lord, how many times over my father paid his debt to Iapoulo—more than 60 times that which he had borrowed, I have heard him say. But the debt remained on the papers—sometimes more—sometimes less."

"Ah, unhappy ones! it is always so," commented the brigand.

"Then, senor of the mountains, my father died two years ago, and I, who lived alone with my mother, swore to gather the full price of the debt, that we might be free. I journeyed into Malaga to the house of Iapoulo, and they told me the sum of the debt, that remained, and the day on which I should pay it and be free. So, lord, we worked early and late, late and early, and we gathered the money. And on the appointed day I entered Malaga and went to the place where Iapoulo does business. They said he was not there, so I asked if any could give me quittance of my debt, and they told me no, but that I should return on the morrow and see the senor. On the following day I was early at his bureau, and they brought me in before him. 'Ah, Juan, have you brought some of the money due?' he said. 'All of it, senor,' I answered very joyously, but he frowned when I counted it out before him. 'It is not enough,' he said; 'yesterday it had been enough, but not to-day. Why did you not come yesterday as you were bidden?' Then I told him of my coming the day before, and how they had denied him to me, but he would not believe, and he called me many names and clutched his knees with his fingers, and his eyes were like black beads when the firelight shines into them."

"How did it end?" demanded Don Q.

"I cried to him that indeed I had come, whereat he sent for those who refused me entrance. They came, lord of the mountains, and with oaths swore that never before had they beheld me, and then Senor Iapoulo grinned, well satisfied, and said: 'Give me the money you have brought and I will forgive your lies. Go, be industrious and render to me next year what has accrued. It is the law.'

"Then fury seized me, and I cried out that if this was the law, then would I be a lawbreaker forever, and I swore that for that thing which he had done to me Iapoulo should yet come to die. He feared, lord of the mountains, for he called aloud for help, but I broke away from them all, and because I could not see my mother's face when I should tell her of our wrong, I ran to the mountains, and—"I have come to demand justice of my lord."

"The story you have told me does indeed show this Iapoulo in a very villainous light," remarked Don Q. sadly. "I fear the fellow is an incurable ruffian, for I have heard similar tales of his doings before. To rob a rich man, or rather, I should say, to ease him of part of the burden which he carries, is an act of merit; to rob a poor man is a crime; but to rob a woman, most of all a poor woman, one of those kindly ones on whom is based the very life of this Spain of ours, that is a deed which cries aloud for punishment. Know you if this Iapoulo ever travels in the mountains when he moves to and fro upon his business?"

"Never, lord; he never leaves Malaga. Beside, the governor has warned all travelers, and Iapoulo has made a vow never to approach within 20 miles of this place."

"Why should this be?" asked the brigand.

"He fears my lord."

"Ah!" said Don Q., shaking his head, "such a fear shows that he carries a bad conscience. When a man pointedly avoids me, I almost always find he has something on his mind for which I could give him absolution, in this world at any rate. Now, in the matter of Iapoulo, you think he cannot be enticed into the mountains?"

"It is impossible, lord," replied Juan.

Don Q.'s gaze flickered angrily over him. "I begin to believe I must ask you to do away with yourself," he said harshly.

The lad stepped back in dismay, one hand catching at the neck of his ragged coat.

"How have I offended my lord?"

"You have used a word that I have not heard spoken in connection with myself for many more years than you can number. Go, I will pass it over for this time, but remember that in the mountains all things are possible and most things come to pass."

Long after the young man had left him, and far into the night, Don Q. sat brooding over the points of the story he had heard, and the problem of Iapoulo's dislike to venturing within reach of the mountains, and then sent for Robledo, the most trusted of all his followers.

"Robledo, I am about to assign to you an errand. Listen therefore very carefully." He paused for some moments before resuming. "You, although a man grown, cannot remember the day when I was not in the sierra. And I still am here to-night. During that period, so men say in the plains, I have amassed much treasure, and some have lost their lives in seeking for it. Is not this so?"

Robledo inclined his head.

"It is, in fact, true that I have held many great and notable persons to ransom, as well as those of the lesser rank. Men of wealth have gladly paid me half their fortunes for the privilege of bidding me goodby. To regain men of genius, the world has pulled wide its purse strings. Some few captives have indeed remained forever in the sierra.

"Now, although I have never allowed myself to be influenced by sordid considerations," went on Don Q. in his sibilant voice, 'I have in truth without effort, collected riches that might perhaps vie with those of the count of Monte Cristo, with whose fame, I fear, you, Robledo, are unacquainted. Much of this wealth lies buried in the mountains."

"I have at various times secreted it in three hiding-places to which I have given the names of Padre, Madre and Nino. You follow me? Good. The treasure Padre is infinitely greater than the one named Madre, and Madre in turn exceeds by a hundred times the baby, the treasure Nino. Here is a paper upon this table. It contains a plan, by which any seeker can find the spot where Nino lies buried. Further, whoever finds Nino will find also a second plan leading them to Madre, and he who has the courage to seek Madre will discover a third plan leading to Padre. I had these plans made for my heirs, but I have now changed my mind." He rose, and, walking to the table, took up an envelope.

"Here is the plan to Nino. This document, my child, I am about to give into your charge. You will carry it down into the city, and lodging with, it may be the uncle of Isabellita"—Robledo looked sharply up—"you will, with much discretion and care, sell this plan to one Iapoulo, a usurer, whose dwelling is within a stone's throw of the bull-ring. To this man you will represent yourself as a traitor to and a hater of me. You will not let this plan go under a good sum, Robledo—20,000 pesetas is the lowest price to be accepted—and Iapoulo can pay you when he returns to the city after finding the treasure."

The young man waited, for it was evident that Don Q. had more to say.

"Yes, Nino is worth far more than 20,000 pesetas, but that is to be your price. My child, would you betray me for 20,000 pesetas?"

Robledo lifted his face, reddening under the tan.

"My lord knows," he answered with passion.

Don Q. looked at him curiously.

"I almost believe I can trust you, Robledo," he said; and, indeed, never had he in all his career permitted himself to speak thus to one of his band. "But you must refrain from becoming sentimental, Robledo," he added. "I fear if you become sentimental I should be obliged to rid myself of you."

Having lodged himself as Don Q. had foretold, he very soon managed to open up negotiations with the money lender Iapoulo.

It is sufficient to say that a bargain was soon struck, especially as the payment, though large, was not to change hands until the treasure had actually been found and brought into Malaga. So it happened that Iapoulo did buy Robledo's secret; did, with infinite precautions, steal up into the bush-grown ravine not far above the foothills, and bear away the treasure named Nino.

Instead, however, of proving his gratitude to Robledo, no sooner had Iapoulo re-entered Malaga, after his successful robbery, than, recalling the fact that he owed the ex-brigand 20,000 pesetas, the usurer at once put the police on his track. It may be that Iapoulo's countenance had not inspired Robledo with confidece, or perhaps he received due warning through a friend, but, at any rate, when the police raided his poor quarters the man had vanished.

He passed up into the mountains, glad again to feel the free winds upon his cheek, and coming to the Boca de Lobo, told the history of his dealings with Iapoulo to Don Q.

Meanwhile, and while these things were going forward to such fortunate issues, no more delighted man than the usurer existed in Malaga. He held the plan to the second treasure, which the rascally brigand, who had sold (here he laughed) the secret, declared to be at least ten times as large. Without delay he must carry off the rest before Don Q. discovered his earlier loss.

Iapoulo at this period, and for some ten years previously, had held in his power an unfortunate man whom he used as his confidential clerk. This man, who was known everywhere in the city by his nickname Simio, was nearly six feet in height, with a pair of long and crooked legs, and a big hairless face, flat-nosed and undershot. He had also the largest appetite in Spain, and was in the habit of complaining that he could number on the fingers of one hand the few occasions on which he had reached the harbor of satiety. He led a shifting life, for he generally tried to lodge en pension.

Together with his enormous appetite, Simio was possessed of immense muscular strength. On account of this excellent quality, and also because Simio

Are You Strong?

Do You Eat and Sleep Well?—Or Are You Pale, Weak and Miserable?

Has your nerve given out? Have you lost confidence in yourself? Has work become such an awful burden that you look upon it with horror?

There's just one thing left to do, and that is to take Ferrozone and get your system into good shape again.

It's quite impossible for anyone to be weak or nervous that uses Ferrozone. It contains so many strength-giving properties benefit is bound to result from its use.

Ferrozone possesses the power to kindle new vitality and vigor where almost a dying condition of weakness exists.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, containing more actual nourishment and strengthening elements than you can get at in any other way. As a blood purifier, nerve strengthener and appetizing tonic there is simply no equal to Ferrozone. Of this we are positively sure.

It is crowned with the success of splendid cures; will restore anyone to health who uses it. The following letters from people who have actually experienced what Ferrozone can do will clearly show you just how beneficially it acts:—

No Medicine Ever Did So Much Lasting Good as Ferrozone.

"It would be difficult to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Ferrozone," writes Miss Eva Wight, of Florenceville. "I was so weak and miserable that I could scarcely go around the house. My head ached, there was a dragging weakness in my limbs, and I felt as if every spark of life had left me. Ferrozone improved my appetite, toned up my blood, and soon made me well. Nothing I ever used did me half the good I got from Ferrozone."

The Great Tonic, Ferrozone, Brought Back Life.

"I am anxious to speak a good word for such a magnificent tonic as Ferrozone," says E. P. Gerow, of Yorktown. "I was wretchedly worn out. I was apprehensive, and lacked confidence. It was simply due to my very weak state. The only remedy that really did me lasting good was Ferrozone. It rebuilt my strength, has made me as vigorous and happy as a man could be. In the whole range of medicines I never used anything with half the merit I found in Ferrozone."

Though you spend a thousand dollars on doctors, you can't get a more vitalizing, strengthening tonic than Ferrozone. It is the best that money, combined with scientific research, can produce. If anything in this world will make you strong it must be Ferrozone. Others have proved its worth. You can easily do so for yourself. It will send new vital energy and renewed youth singing through your veins. It's nature's own remedy—a true food tonic.

HOW DON Q. HAD DEALINGS WITH A USURER.

some not for many reasons betray him, the usurer fixed on the clerk as his companion on his trips into the mountains. Realizing that safety possibly lay in haste, the pair found themselves five days later among the stony bleakness of the higher sierra.

Between his anxiety to hide himself from the imagined eyes that beset the solitude, and the fear of breaking his neck, Iapoulo's orders grew more confused with every movement. But when the lowest point of the track was reached Simio halted and looked about him.

"There, master," he said, nodding his head to the right.

Iapoulo, crouched upon the mule, saw above him a strange rock, shaped like a fungus, behind which rose the cliff. In that gray place each little deformed bush had whipped a hole on the hither side of it, worn by that ceaseless beating of the branches as they flipped and struggled in the unpitying wind.

"Forward! Hasten!" said the usurer in a hoarse whisper.

They tied up the mule at a little distance, and Iapoulo followed Simio into the grotto. It was an ordinary cave enough, but Iapoulo was not used to caves, and the lurking shadows on all sides, the low frowning roof, and the mysterious drip, drip of water, now on one side, now on the other, shook his quivering nerves. The lantern he had brought seemed only to add to the terrors of the place.

"Let us to work. Where is the map? Hold the lantern steady fool!" The usurer studied the plan for a moment, then, hurrying across the dusty floor, plunged his hand into a crevice in the corner and drew out a rusty nail.

"This is the sign. Come, let us dig."

Big crooked Simio whirled up a pickaxe, and between his blows Iapoulo struck excitedly at the rocky earth with a spade; but progress was slow. The night deepened into the small hours; still they labored until the pickaxe, pioneering its way downward, struck and stuck in the wood. A few more cautious efforts, and a long and dirty box was disclosed. Iapoulo, too impatient to wait for it to be raised, bade Simio wrench off the lid.

It was done. A whitened skeleton lay stretched out within. The empty jaws grinned up at the two men as they stood stiff with the shock, gaping down upon it! Then across the lantern's light a shadow leaped to Iapoulo's feet and a touch fell on his shoulder.

With a yell he wrenched his head round to see he knew not what. The color had drained from his damp face, his eyes shone white like those of a vicious horse, his upper lip was drawn back in a grin of fear. He stood immovable, his clutching hands still outspread, while the drops gathered and fell from his bald forehead, as he stared back at a cloaked figure bearing a singular likeness to the brooding carrion birds which he had seen on his journey into the mountains.

"May I inquire upon what you busy yourselves, senor?" asked Don Q.'s suave, sibilant voice at last.

In the long pause Iapoulo collected his wits a little.

"This man," he indicated Simio, "implored me to come and dig out some treasure which long ago he said he had buried here."

"Pah!" Don Q. spat out with disgust, "Do I not know you, Senor Iapoulo? You bought my secret and would now steal my treasure. Did I not see you in the little wine shop of Malaga where the girls danced, while you whispered in the corner with a man whose brows were bound about with a handkerchief of yellow? Corpse of a scullion! My ears are keen. I can hear the eggs break when the quebranta-huesos hatches its young in the sunshine!" Don Q. turned to the men behind him. "Pull this man out of the hole and set him before me!"

Iapoulo's bullying temper mounted.

"I have been trapped!" he snarled. "This villain has betrayed me!"

"No, master, no!" wept Simio urgently.

"Peace!" Don Q. raised his hand. "You have in truth been betrayed, Iapoulo, but by your own greed. Only the passion to possess could have drawn you here beneath my shadow. You robbed me once of a hoard, and became brave enough to try and rob again. I will leave you to think over your crimes. Good-night."

Iapoulo would have rushed forward, but Gaspar's big hands held him. "Am I to be imprisoned in a hole?" he shrieked.

Don Q. turned back. "By no means," he returned politely. "You have come up of your own free will into the sierra, and although I cannot offer you my own hospitality, I can recommend this posada," he waved his hand round the grotto. "Juan, bring here your bill of fare. This, senor, is the patron."

The fact that his helpless young creditor should hold a place in this nightmare adventure seemed to Iapoulo scarcely surprising at the moment. Yet he spurned the paper held out by the lad, and spoke again to Don Q.

"You will set me free. I have done you no harm. I have been betrayed, I tell you!" The brigand stopped on his way to the entrance and turned slowly about.

"The meals in this inn are served but once a day," he said coldly. "If you will not choose now, you cannot eat for 24 hours."

"Oh, master, master, and I am hungry," wailed Simio.

The usurer took the bill of fare ungraciously, but as his glance fell upon its items he gave a cry.

"Explain, Juan," commanded Don Q.

"This is my posada," said the young man sullenly. "Those are my prices. If the senor would eat, he must pay my price."

"One night's lodging, 2,000 pesetas each guest; fire, 2,000; black bread, 2,000; sausages, each 5,000 pesetas," Iapoulo read aloud. "I shall not pay. I am here against my will. Legally——"

"Will the law feed you and warm you and give you to drink?" asked Don Q. "Moreover there is no law here—merely equity."

"But you dare not starve me!"

"Why not? You can buy and eat if you will."

"But I have no money," retorted Iapoulo desperately.

"Then you must send for some." Iapoulo groaned.

"Your orders, senor," said Juan.

"One small loaf, half a sausage and some water," demanded Iapoulo.

"And for this gentleman?"

"For Simio? Nothing!"

"O, master, would you starve me?"

"If you cannot pay you must starve," said Iapoulo.

Simio howled aloud. This fate far exceeded his worst fears.

"Senor," interposed Don Q., "you have yourself appealed to the law. By the law therefore you must hold. A master is bound to provide food for his servant under circumstances such as these, for you persuaded him to follow you for your own purposes into—I fear—an inhospitable region. He is, moreover, a man of twice your size and will therefore require on a just computation double as much food. Come, we must see justice done. Hear me, Juan, when the senor orders food for his own repast, you will bring double the quantity for this poor servant, who weeps for hunger."

"Will my lord pardon me?" A tall young mountaineer stepped out from the rank of Don Q.'s followers. His brows were bound with a yellow handkerchief, and his dark eyes gleamed as he set the butt of his musket on the floor and rummaged in his shirt for a moment.

"What is this, Robledo?"

"I should like my account settled, lord. This senor bought from me a certain precious thing in the plains, for which he promised me a payment of 20,000 pesetas, which he failed to pay." Robledo brought out a ragged paper from his vest. "It is written here, lord."

Don Q. took the paper and glanced over it. "A fair demand," he remarked.

"What have to say, senor?" he addressed Iapoulo.

But Iapoulo had no answer ready. He recognized the handsome face, the bold air of the mountaineer he had betrayed.

"Speak!" The sharp command startled the usurer.

"I have no money," he replied bitterly. "When will you let me go?"

"As soon as you have paid your just debts, senor. This man"—he laid a slender, yellow finger on Robledo's shoulder—"I will permit to be your messenger. To-morrow, at the first light, you will deliver to him a letter for your agent in Malaga. By the way, Juan, the senor wants paper, pen and ink."

Juan at once produced them.

"The pen is 1,000 pesetas, the ink 500 and each sheet of paper is 1,000," he said, as he handed them to Iapoulo.

"I do not need them." The usurer believed he could score a point. "If I refuse to write what can you do?"

"The alternative is simple," replied Don Q., and bending towards Iapoulo he whispered a few words in his ear.

"No, no, I will write!" cried the man, tearing a sheet of paper in two. "You see, I use but half," he added.

"Pray do not be hasty, senor," implored Don Q. "Rather, be very careful to ask for enough money, or perhaps we shall be forced to speak together again of alternatives."

Then in an instant they were gone—the vulture-faced brigand and his swarthy grinning band. Iapoulo found himself in the darkness. He felt each limb. He was sound and free, therefore surely he could escape. He rushed towards the opening of the cave, and against a grating that had been silently fastened over it. He clung to the bars, listening to the wind and to the strange sounds that float about mountain sides in the nighttime. The world he knew lay five days of hard travel away, beyond many treacherous and desolate gorges. He did not heed the powerful snoring of Simio, who had seized on the loaves and sausage the brigands left behind them, and having eaten and come to the conclusion that there were worse folk abroad than the vulture of the sierra, had fallen contentedly asleep.

Presently Iapoulo became lost in a maze of calculations, which he worked out with knitted brows. Five days must be allowed for the messenger to go to Malaga, five to return, also one to spend in the city—that made eleven in all. Each day he would eat half a sausage and half a loaf of black bread Simio—here he turned a savage look upon his sleeping retainer—would eat a whole sausage and one loaf of black bread. Between them they would drink three small bottles of water. Their daily lodging cost 4,000 pesetas. Thus he computed that each day in the mountains would cost him 19,500 pesetas. He moaned, rocking himself to and fro at the thought of such a sum. But when he multiplied it by eleven, the tears trickled down his discolored cheeks, for, alas! to this total he must add the debt owing to Robledo.

It was long before he found courage to name the whole amount, even to himself. When he realized that a monstrous slice of his fortune was slipping away from him he hid his face in his hands, and for some moments told himself he would prefer death. But as the dreadful words whispered by Don Q. flashed back upon his memory he lifted the paper and wrote out the form of his letter, leaving one space blank.

"I am in the grip of Don Q.," the letter ran. "Send me at once——pesetas by the bearer, without question or delay. Do not inform the authorities, for if an attempt be made to rescue me I shall be nailed to the pine tree that grows nearest heaven upon the mountain above the place of my imprisonment."

This note addressed to his representative in the city, he sat down to the hardest struggle of his life—the figure at which he should place the sum to be sent. Doubts assailed him. He did not wish to send for more money than was absolutely necessary, for he trusted not at all in the honor of the brigand, who he believed—and in this Iapoulo judged by himself—would break all his bargains and seize the uttermost farthing. Yet on the other hand, it might prove awkward to have less than the necessary sum; accidents might happen, the messenger might possibly not hurry himself, he might be twelve days on the journey. So the dawn come and the full day drew on, and still the usurer sat trying to make up his mind, when Robledo stood before him.

"Is the letter ready that my lord commanded me to take?" demanded the young bandit.

"Will you make very great haste on your errand?" asked Iapoulo.

"On my lord's errands one always hastens," replied Robledo.

"If your are back within eleven days, I will give you—I will give you ten, yes, ten pesetas for yourself." With these words Iapoulo wrote rapidly on the paper and gave it through the bars into Robledo's hands, crying out—"Go, go, before I repent!" and rushed into the darker end of the cave.

Early on the eleventh day Juan announced the return of Robledo, and a little later Don Q., with a few of his followers, entered the cave. Robledo laid a bag of pesetas and a roll of paper money at the usurer's feet.

"Now, senor, count your money," said the brigand, "and your creditors shall come in before you. Juan, stand out."

The lad at once stepped forward, bearing a long bill in his hand.

"How much does it amount to?" inquired Don Q.

"By careful counting, lord, it adds up to 234,500 pesetas."

Refusal to pay or any cavilling at the items being out of the question, Iapoulo, with many sighs, paid over the money.

"Now, Robledo, what is owing to you?" went on Don Q.

"20,010 pesetas, lord."

"No, no, no! The bargain was for 20,000," cried the usurer.

"What does this mean, Robledo?" asked the chief sternly.

"The senor made me a promise of ten pesetas, lord, if I returned by the eleventh day. I am here."

"It is false!" Iapoulo could not bear it, every peseta was dear as a drop of his own blood.

"You disappoint me, senor," said Don Q. quietly; "for although you could not see me, I heard you with my own ears make the man this promise. The debt is, indeed, 20,010 pesetas. Pay him quickly."

The last coin had scarcely passed from Iapoule's reluctant fingers, when he wrapped his worn cloak about his neck. "Now I am free! I will go."

"Not too quickly," interposed Don Q. "Our little business is hardly yet concluded. You have paid your debt, senor, it is true, but not the interest, the usury."

"The interest!" screamed the money lender.

"Yes," said Don Q. "Our debts in the mountains double themselves every three days. It is a bad custom which you in the plains have taught to us. You still owe these two men enormous sums. I fear Robledo will have to make a second journey to the plains."

"Senor, this will ruin me. I cannot possibly pay it."

"So?" The brigand shrugged his shoulders regretfully. "Well, there is always the pine tree."

"You had decreed my death in any case," cried Iapoulo.

"No," returned Don Q. "You shall indeed pay as far as your fortune allows. But, since I know you cannot discharge these debts in full, I am about to offer you another chance of escape. You will cause to be delivered to Robledo all papers concerning all the debts owing to you."

"This is ruin." Iapoulo stood up obstinately. "I will not do this thing."

"You prefer the tree?"

"Yes."

"Bring him out, my children. You, Gaspar, I perceive, have already prepared the hammer and the nails."

Iapoulo was hustled to the entrance. He stood there a moment, gazing up at the great tree that creaked and swooped above him in the gale. The last remnant of defiance went out of the man. The love of money died in the struggle with the love of life.

"I will consent. But you are leaving me a beggar."

"Better a beggar than a dead man," observed Don Q. urbanely. "I congratulate you, senor. A moment more, and it would have been too late. Now I foresee that you and I will have a merry time burning all those documents that have pressed so heavily on the poor. Or, stay; better still. The season verges toward the New Year, and with your help, Senor Iapoulo, we will, by sending back these papers, put a ray of light into many of the homes of our good and kindly peasants."

Bowel Troubles

Liver pills, cathartics, mineral waters, often make Constipation worse. They merely irritate the bowels and force them to move—stop taking purgatives and the bowels become "tight" again.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the one certain cure for Constipation because their action is upon the liver, "Fruit-a-tives" are a liver tonic. They stimulate the secretions of bile by the liver, this bile causes the bowels to move in the natural, regular way and completely cures Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives are fruit juices with tonics and antiseptics added. In "Fruit-a-tives" one atom of bitter replaces one atom of sweet in the fruit juices, forming a new compound which is many times more active, medicinally, than the fruit juices could possibly be. 50c. a-box—$2.50 for 6 boxes. THE LAST WORDS FROM HURONIAN

Message From the Dead Cast Upon the Irish Coast.

LAST WORDS OF THE CREW

"The Hurenian Is Sinking Fast, Top Heavy, and One Side Under Water —Good-bye, Mother and Sister. Chas. McFall"—Latest Tidings of Vessel Which Left Glasgow For St. John, In Feb., 1902.

London, Jan. 2.—(C. A. P.)—"The Huronian is sinking fast, top-heavy, and one side under water. Good-bye, mother and sister. Charles McFall, greaser," was the message found in a bottle cast on the Castle Rock coast of Ireland.

The Huronian left Glasgow with one passenger for St. John in February, 1902. A greaser named McFall was aboard the ill-fated vessel.

Second Message.

London, Jan. 2.—There has been washed up on the beach at Castle Rock, in the north of Ireland, a bottle containing a message from several members of the crew of the steamship Huronian, which disappeared in the spring of 1902, to the effect that she was sinking fast. The message, however, gives no location.

This is the second time the Huronian has been heard from since she sailed from Glasgow on Feb. 11, 1902, for St. John's, Nfld.

A report from Montreal, dated June 17, said that on June 2, a bottle was picked up 45 miles east of Halifax, containing the following note written on a scrap of paper.

"Steamer Huronian turned over Sunday night in Atlantic. In small boat, 14 of us."

LONG FIGHT FOR LIFE.

Two Indians Spend Three Hours In Icy Waters.

Belleville, Jan. 2.—For over three hours Monday night did two men, Joshua Barnhart and Fred Hill, battle for their lives in icy waters of the Bay of Quinte until finally rescued by George Bouter of Point Ann, about half a mile distant. Both men, who are Indians, residing at Shannonville, nine miles east of this city, spent Saturday here. They took to the ice at the outskirts of the city at 9 o'clock, and in the darkness lost the regular traveled road on the ice. When about two miles east of the city the horse, rig and occupants went through. They had lost the road and struck a rush bed. Both men struggled for over three hours, when their cries were finally heard from the shore, and the men were rescued, but nearly dead. The horse was drowned, and the cutter and harness lost. Barnhart had just recovered from a severe attack of pneumonia.

Bodies Not Recovered.

Petrolea, Jan. 2.—The bodies of two boys, Ross Collins and George Niven, who were drowned in Bear Creek Monday, have not yet been recovered. Glycerine is being used to raise the bodies.

The mothers of the boys are both widows.

G.T.R. Fireman Scalded.

Belleville, Jan. 2.—A. B. Dean, fireman of a G.T.R. freight train, eastbound to Montreal from Toronto, was badly scalded owing to the cap blowing off the boiler near Colborne Monday night. Dean was severely injured by the steam, his face and hands suffering the most. He was brought to the hospital here and may recover. His home is near Toronto.

Three Killed In Explosion.

Pittsburg, Jan. 2.—Three men were killed and three fatally injured last night by the explosion of a steampipe in the Schoen Pressed Steel Works at McKee's Rocks, a suburb of this city.

Lion Mauls Trainer.

Toledo, Jan. 2.—While performing an act called the "Lion Hunt" yesterday, Trainer Harry Ray of the Bostock animal circus, was attacked by one of the animals and while he lay upon the floor, had both his sides, shoulder and breast lacerated. The injured trainer was taken to a hospital. It is feared his injuries will prove fatal.

Unconstitutional.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 2.—Judge Walter Evans of the Federal Court, in an important decision Monday, declared the Employers' Liability Act unconstitutional.

LINDALA AN UNKNOWN SOCIALIST

Polls a Large Vote For Mayor of City of Toronto.

CITY WANTS CHEAPER POWER

People Pass Power Bylaw by an Overwhelming Majority — Hon. Adam Beck Expresses His Gratification From His London Home—All Other Bylaws Defeated—Over 8,000 Repudiate Mayor.

Toronto, Jan. 2.—That an unknown Socialist tailor of foreign birth should poll over eight thousand votes for the Mayoralty of Toronto against a barrister of irreproachable personal character, who at one time represented his native city in Parliament, and last year defeated Mr. F. S. Spence for the Mayoralty, proves how utterly repugnant to the citizens has been the jellyfish administration of the last year. Mr. Coatsworth is Mayor again, but if any man of experience in the civic sphere had entered the lists against him he would have been utterly overthrown.

The vote at close of polling stood: For Coatsworth, 13,805; for Lindala, 8,286; Noble, 1,337. Mr. Coatsworth's plurality, 5,519.

PROVINCIAL NOMINATIONS.

Big List of Municipal Candidates—Few In By Acclamation.

The feature of the municipal nominations throughout Ontario Monday was the large number of candidates presenting themselves for honors. There are contests in nearly all the important centres for the chief offices in the gift of the people. Voting will take place on Monday next.

On that day, also voting will take place on local option in 11 municipalities of the province, and there will be the usual bylaws submitted to the people for their approval, including the Beck power bylaw.

Mayors By Acclamation.

Aurora—H. W. Fleury.
Deseronto—Dr. J. Newton.
Dundas—W. H. Moss.
Harriston—Jas. McMurchie.
Kingham—Wm. Holmes.
Parkhill—Neil McPherson.
Preston—Fred Clare.
Prescott—W. H. Stephenson.
Seaforth—M. Broderick.
St. Mary's—A. Mennie.
Thorold—David Miller.

Smashed Three Bylaws.

The people most emphatically repudiated the Mayor and all his works. The three bylaws, one calling for three millions for a trunk sewer, a second for $110,000 for Yonge street bridge, and a third for $125,000 for an Exhibition entrance through the Old Fort grounds, were buried out of sight.

For the electric power bylaw the majority reached the substantial figure of 8,073, 10,959 for and 2,886 against.

The Controllers.

There were ten candidates running for controllerships. The result: J. J. Ward, 9,342; Harrison, 9,175; Hocken, 8,526; Hubbard, 8,495. Controller John Shaw, who has been continuously a councillor, mayor or controller since 1884, was defeated.

Toronto Council Politically.

Conservatives—The mayor, Controllers Hubbard and Hocken, Ald. Wilson, Church, J. Hales, Foster, Geary, McBride, Keeler, Whylock, R. H. Graham, McGhie—12.

Liberals—Controllers Ward and Harrison, Ald. Chisholm, E. Hales, Bengough, McMurrich, Lytle, Graham and Adams—10.

Ald. Vaughn has no particular politics, he says. He is understood to be an independent Liberal.

Power Bylaw Carries.

The power bylaw, at the submission of which his Worship balked till the spur of the press was applied, was carried overwhelmingly. It is a most significant thing that over ten thousand freeholders of Toronto should record their votes for this bylaw. The last has probably been heard of the silly cry of the private power and light interests that the council should not be trusted with the duty of making a bargain with the Niagara Hydro-Electric Commission.

The Exhibition bylaw was defeated by 4,826, the trunk sewer bylaw by 2,077 and the Yonge street bridge bylaw by 3,458.

Pleases Mr. Beck.

London, Jan. 2.—Hon. Adam Beck received the news of the result of Toronto's vote upon the Niagara Power bylaw at "Hedley," his home in London. The Minister of Power was naturally pleased at the outcome.

"It is apparent," Mr. Beck said to a reporter, "that the policy of the Government in dealing with the water-power privileges of the province has been endorsed in a very handsome manner. I believe the people of Toronto have acted wisely, and that the future will fully demonstrate this."

"Was the majority larger than you had anticipated?"

"It was certainly gratifying. The bylaw has received a most emphatic endorsation. This would be so in any event where so heavy a vote has been polled in favor of the proposition as laid down, but it is particularly the fact in view of the strong efforts that were put forward to defeat the bylaw. Every effort that could be made was made to discredit the estimates of the Hydro-Electric Commission, as well as those of the municipal commission. There was a report that opposition had been carried to the extent of a personal canvass of the city. Against these methods we had only the presentation of the case as best we might and the able assistance of the press of Toronto without regard to politics."

The Effect.

"What do you anticipate the effect of the vote in Toronto will be upon the municipalities which are yet to vote upon the question?"

"It will have a very favorable effect, undoubtedly. It is a mistaken impression that has gone abroad, however, that the western municipalities depended upon the outcome of the vote in Toronto. Toronto had a separate estimate. So had Hamilton and Dundas. Neither of these were contingent one upon the other. Had Toronto refused to accept Niagara power we would still be in a position to carry into effect our proposition with London, St. Thomas, Woodstock, Berlin, Stratford and all other places in this district. Toronto will obtain Niagara power at the figures we have submitted to the city, regardless of how Hamilton may vote."

"What do you consider would be the effect upon the municipalities other than Toronto, should they decline to accept Niagara power?"

"They would certainly be placed at a serious disadvantage in industrial development."

ENORMOUS SNOWFALL.

Western Russia Buried In the Beautiful—Railways Paralyzed.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—The storm which passed over Great Britain at Christmas time reached Western Russia, where enormous falls of snow are reported, and railroad communications are paralyzed, many of the lines being entirely interrupted.

Despatches from Orsha and Borisov, say those towns are literally buried in drifts, and all business is suspended. Seven persons have perished in the snow, which has reached a seven-foot level at Mohilvandis, causing much suffering.

The snowstorm continues.

The Weather In Europe.

Berlin, Jan. 2.—Unusually cold weather continues to prevail throughout Germany, thermometers registering from 5 to 10 degrees below zero. Five persons have been frozen to death in the vicinity of Thorn, West Prussia, and other deaths from the cold are reported from various parts of the country.

WAGES INCREASED.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 2.—The Mexican Central Railway conductors announce that the road has granted the increase in wages which they demanded, making the pay equal to that of conductors in the United States. There will be no strike. The increase amounts to about 15 per cent.

Denver, Col., Jan. 2.—Wages of coal miners in Southern Colorado districts were advanced 10 per cent. yesterday. Over 6,000 men are benefited. The increase amounts to $600,000 a year.

Buffalo, Jan. 2.—The Buffalo Drydock Co. has posted a notice in its yards, stating that "owing to prosperous conditions and the increased cost of living," 10 per cent. increase will be granted all men rated at less than $2.25 per day, and 5 per cent. to all men rated at over $2.25. A general increase will also be made on piecework prices, to take effect Jan. 15 next.

NOTED STATESMAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Sir W. P. Howland Joins the Great Silent Majority.

HISTORIC CANADIAN FIGURE

Conspicuous Career in Dominion Public Life For Almost Three-Quarters of a Century—One of Fathers of Confederation—Death Due to General Break-up of System During the Past Few Days.

Toronto, Jan. 2.—Before the dawn of the first day of the New Year, in the early hours of its first morning, there passed from our midst to the great majority beyond one of Canada's most distinguished statesmen, Sir William Pearce Howland, in his 96th year, at his residence, 236 East Bloor street. He was almost the last remaining one of that grand phalanx of statesmen, that Canada delights to honor, the fathers of Confederation, and he was the last of his own immediate family of his generation. His daughter, Mrs. Merritt, of Maryland, U.S., was with him during his last illness, and was by his bedside at his death. Death was due to general break-up of the system during the past few days.

Few public men of our times have closed their careers and lives with such a splendid record of patriotic and useful acts, continued almost to the end.

Sketch of His Career.

The late Hon. Sir William Pearce Howland was of English descent, his American progenitor being John Howland, a Quaker, who came to New England in 1620. Sir William was born in Paulings, N.Y., May 29, 1811. He was educated at Kinderhook Academy, and came to Canada in 1830. In 1840 he purchased from the late William Falls the Lambton Mills, on the Humber—the same being still in active operation—and soon afterwards engaged in the wholesale grocery trade in Toronto.

He entered Parliament as member for West York in 1867, and was a member of the House of Commons after the union of 1867, till July, 1868, when he became Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. This office he vacated November, 1873. He had previously held office in successive administrations as Finance Minister, Receiver-General, Postmaster-General, Minister of Finance a second time, and Minister of Inland Revenue

"A Father of Confederation."

He was delegate to Washington respecting reciprocal trade, 1866, and to the London colonial conference, to complete terms of union of British North American provinces, thus becoming one of the "fathers of the Confederation." Sir William withdrew from business in 1894. He was for some years president of the Ontario Bank and also of the Board of Trade. He was president of the Gold and Silver Mines Developing Co., president of the London and Canada Loan Agency Co. and president of the Confederation Life Assurance Co.

In 1890 he headed a syndicate for the building of the Canada Pacific Railway. For his services on behalf of Confederation he was created a C.B. in 1867, and in 1879, as a further mark of royal approval, he was appointed a K.C.M.G. In politics he was a Liberal, and in religious belief a member of the Church of England.

He married first in 1843 Mrs. Webb, who died 1849; second, in 1866, Susannah Julia, widow, of Capt. Hunt of the military stores department. She died in 1886. In 1895 he married Elizabeth Mary Rattray, widow of Jas. Bethune, Q.C.

AT WORK IN GOTHAM.

Commissioner Angus Investigates the Dealings of Charles McGill With New York Stock Brokers.

New York, Jan. 2.—Commissioner George Angus of Toronto Monday began his examination here of the brokers who were thought to have had business dealings with Charles McGill, former manager of the now suspended Ontario Bank of Toronto, with a view to arriving at a solution of the mystery as to what became of the $1,150,000 which McGill is charged with having embezzled from the bank during his management.

The work of Commissioner Angus will be probably extended over the rest of this week.

The meetings began in the office of Governor Charles E. Hughes, and were continued in the offices of brokers who had been subpoenaed in the case. Nine brokerage houses are to be examined.

Monday Commissioner Angus saw W. H. Goadby & Co.'s representative, Charles T. Kilbourne, who said that his house had had no dealings whatever with McGill.

Arthur C. Vaughan, representing Cuyler, Morgan & Co., was one of those whose statement had not been prepared. It will be read to-day, when further hearings will be held. He said his firm had had dealings with McGill and received moneys to his credit. He was asked to what amount, and he said he could not say without reference to the complete statement of McGill's dealings, which his firm furnished to Marwick, Mitchell & Co., accountants of New York, acting for the Bank of Montreal. The total amount involved was $231,000. Mr. Vaughan said the money came to his firm through the Fourth National Bank, and it was placed to McGill's credit for a number of years. Stocks were purchased with the money. He could not say off-hand if all the money was lost or not. Certain moneys were paid to his order. "He drew drafts on us and we paid them; all moneys received by us were for the personal credit of Charles McGill."

Mr. Vaughan said McGill had been in the office, but not often. They acted oftenest by wire.

The witness said McGill never mentioned the Ontario Bank, and, for all the firm knew, he dealt with his own money exclusively.

"In the books of the Ontario Bank McGill sent $231,000 to this firm, and McGill's account was closed by the Bank of Montreal paying Cuyler, Morgan & Co. $22,755.62, and taking 600 shares of Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway common stock." Mr. Vaughan secured the statement from the accountants and Mr. Corley arranged to get a copy of it.

Joseph Laidlaw of Laidlaw & Co., said that his house had an account with McGill, but that when it became active he enquired regarding McGill's connections, and when he learned that the latter was a bank manager he asked him to close the account, which he did.

W. M. Donald of Donald, Morgan & Co., said that the statement of that house had not been prepared.

Oliver Hart, representing Charles Head & Co., said that McGill had carried two accounts with his house, one in his own name and one in the name of the Ontario Bank. On Nov. 10, 1905, after the defalcations had been discovered, Mr. Hart said McGill's balance was $16,827, which was turned over to the Bank of Montreal, liquidator.

SOLDIERS CREATE PANIC.

With Sword Bayonets Held Bridge Until Troops Arrested Them.

Constantinople, Jan. 2.—A panic occurred in the main thoroughfare here at noon yesterday as the result of the disorderly action of two soldiers of the Imperial Guard, who drew sword-bayonets and held the bridge connecting the populous sections of Galata and Stambul.

The police were unable to arrest the men, owing to the fact that they were members of the Imperial Guard. Intense excitement prevailed and traffic and business was suspended for over one hour.

Finally a battalion of troops was assembled under a general officer and the guardsmen were arrested upon an order from the palace.

REVELATIONS BY O'BRIEN.

Says Financial Methods of Redmondites Would Be of Interest.

London, Jan. 2.—Speaking at Cork last night after the unopposed re-election of Daniel D. Sheehan as member of the House of Commons for Mid-Cork, William O'Brien (Nationalist) threatened revelations of the financial methods of the "Redmondites," which he said would be of greater national interest than anything that has occurred in Ireland since the Parnell commission.

Mr. Sheehan resigned his seat because, being a follower of Mr. O'Brien, the party stopped his allowance, but the "Redmondites" did not attempt to fight his re-election.

Record Year of Lynch Law.

New Orleans, Jan. 2.—Of the seventy-two persons lynched in the United States during the year 1906, according to figures prepared by The New Orleans Picayune, one was the victim of mob wrath because he carried a pistol, one for stealing a calf, one for stealing a silver dollar, one for disorderly conduct, one for robbery, one for improper proposals and one for miscegenation. The more serious offences, and the number lynched for each, are: Triple criminal assault, 1; criminal assault, 13; attempted criminal assault, 19; assault and murder, 1; murder, 14; attempted murder, 11; murder and robbery, 1; dual murder, 1; quadruple murder, 3; quintruple murder, 1. Sixty-nine of the seventy-two were negro men, two were white men and one was a negro woman.

London, Jan. 2.—(C.A.P.)—The Telegraph says that twice within twelve months Strathcona has sought to give up office, and it is unlikely the Dominion Ministers can much longer withhold consent.

JANUARY 1, 1907,

Formal Transfer of Halifax Dockyard Made to the Canadian Government—Many Receptions.

Halifax, Jan. 2.—New Year's Day marked the passing of the last vestige of Imperial control at Halifax, the naval dockyard passing into the hands of the Canadian Government. Owing to the downpour of rain the historic ceremonies were robbed of their spectacular interest. The formal transfer of the dockyard occurred at noon, when the officers and crew of the cruiser Canada landed and saluted the blue ensign as it was hoisted to the masthead. Col. Gourdeau, Deputy Minister of Marine; Col. Anderson, chief engineer of the department, and Commander Spain arrived from Ottawa Monday and were present, formally taking over the yard on behalf of the department. There are still, however, a lot of details in connection with the transfer to be attended to.

At the formal taking over the British naval authorities were represented by Lieut. Bennett, who has been in charge of the yard since the withdrawal of the naval establishment.

The dockyard will be used by the Marine Department, but will still be available for British warships which visit the port.

The Governor-General's Levee.

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—Nearly 800 persons attended the Governor-General's levee between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday. The Cabinet Ministers present were: Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright, Messrs. Fisher, Fielding, Emmerson, Scott and Oliver. The Guards' Band performed a number of selections during the reception.

The Day In Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 2.—At the reception given yesterday by the officers of the 65th, Rodolphe Forget, M.P., extended an invitation to the entire regiment to spend a couple of days at his summer abode, St. Irene.

New Year's Day passed off quietly, although the receptions held by the new French consul-general and the Archbishop of Montreal were very largely attended. The officers of the different regiments received their friends at headquarters, while 8,000 children gathered in the different Protestant churches.

Reception At White House.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Each year the White House doors swing open to all the nation on Jan. 1, and a heartier welcome was never extended to visitors than that which greeted the thousands who called yesterday. New Year's cheer banished rank and class distinction. The president met Ambassadors and laborers with the same firm handshake.

Heading the diplomatic was Baron Mayor des Planches, Ambassador from Italy, the dean of the corps.

King Edward was represented by Esme Howard, charge d'affaires.

New Year's Day In Paris.

Paris, Jan. 2.—In spite of the steady downpour of rain the New Year reception held by President Fallieres brought out an attendance almost as large as usual. With the exception of a two-hour intermission for lunch, the ceremony lasted from 10 o'clock in the morning until dark.

Replying to an address by Count Bornielli, the ambassador from Italy and the dean of the diplomatic corps, President Fallieres said:

"The spirit of concord, respect for the rights of others, regard for public opinion and sentiments of human solidarity become daily of greater importance to the universal conscience. I trust that the year 1907 will be propitious to the development of the work of concord and peace, which is the ideal of France and the countries you represent."

The Archbishop of Paris, Cardinal Richard, and the titular bodies who always in the past have been among the President's guests at luncheon, were not invited yesterday.

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP SHIP.

Unknown Men Foiled In Attack on Vessel at Odessa.

London, Jan. 2.—A despatch to a news agency from Odessa, published yesterday, says that a band of unknown men made an attempt Monday night to blow up the Russian Steamship Co.'s Atlantic liner Grebory Morsh, which has just completed her first trip in the new Odessa-New York service.

A desperate struggle followed between the crew and the members of the band, during which several sailors were shot.

A lighted fuse of a bomb was extinguished before any damage was done.

Keats' House Purchased.

Rome, Jan. 2.—The Anglo-American executive committee for the Keats-Shelley memorial, yesterday purchased the house in the Piazza Spagna, where Keats died, paying $12,000 for it. King Edward, President Roosevelt and King Victor Emmanuel have given their hearty support.

GREAT RUNNING.

By the Human Running Machine, Thomas Longboat.

Toronto, Jan. 2.—Yesterday at Dufferin Park, between heats in the 2.30 and 2.17 pace, Thomas Longboat, the human running machine, ran an exhibition five miles to beat the Canadian record.

The going was very bad, he having to run in the middle of the track in the slush. It is estimated that in going the ten laps he must have gone about 5 1-2 miles. He had on only a light pair of running shoes, without spikes, and, with everything against him, he came within eight seconds of equaling the record. This is truly as marvelous performance, and establishes him more firmly as the champion long-distance runner to-day in the world.

The Canadian record is 27.17, and Longboat's time yesterday was 27.25.

Too Young to Marry; Suicides.

Montreal, Jan. 2.—Alice Bancroft, a 15-year-old girl of Point St. Charles, killed herself Monday with a revolver, because the parish priest refused to marry her to a boy one year her senior. She at once returned home and suicided.

The Christmastide Lesson.

The Christmastide celebrates the birth festival of our Lord. The incarnation of Christ is the central thought in the history of the world. His birth has exalted the poetry, the music and the art of the centuries. It has changed all social customs and religious rituals. It has given a new glory to human life and a new trend to eternity. This is the time when all bitterness should be forgotten, all family feuds reconciled and all life glorified. God grant that the day may speedily come when the song of the angels celebrating the birth of the Christ may find its fulfillment throughout the whole world.

Caught Santa on the Street.

A Santa Claus from the Salvation Army was ringing his bell beside his iron pot in Fourteenth street, says the New York Mail and Express, when suddenly a little girl broke away from her mother in the passing throng and, rushing up to the pseudo Santa, grabbed him by his gown and began rapidly to tell her wants. First she gave him her full name and address, with many injunctions not to forget. Then she rattled off a list of things she wanted, regardless of the attempts of her mother to induce her to come away and not bother Santa. The little girl was persistent, the crowd gathered around to hear her little invocation, and for awhile she blocked traffic on that side of the street.

A TIMELY WARNING.

What a Man Doesn't Want For Christmas Presents.

Don't give him cigars. If you know his favorite brand and squander your last cent on it, he will never be convinced that you didn't juggle with the labels.

Don't give him neckwear. Masculine and feminine notions in such matters will disagree till beyond the day of judgment.

Don't give him a penknife. No man believes that any woman is capable of letting the quality of steel outweigh a decorative handle. Besides, knives cut friendship and are bad luck.

Unless you know his literary taste don't give him books. If you are congenial in such matters, nothing could be better.

Don't, unless you are very near of kin or friendship, give him toilet articles, such as hairbrushes or shaving brushes. Such personal gifts are not always in the best taste.

Don't embroider him whisk holders or bureau covers in delicate materials or colors. The average man thinks embroidery an invention of the evil one, specially designed to spoil women's eyes and tempers. If you have brothers, you have probably heard this before; but, then, if all women had brothers they would have a great deal of information on a variety of subjects.

Unless you have something unique to offer don't give a man a calendar. The only one he ever consults is that issued as an advertisement by his life insurance company.

If you really want to please a man at Christmas, study his tastes a little. If he lives in rooms and has a leaning toward hospitality, give him some accessory to his chafing dish—a silver alcohol can or a match safe to keep on the tray or a collection of choice recipes done in pen and ink and bound in water color paper, with an attractive sketch on the cover and a ribbon loop for hanging in a convenient spot.

If he is collecting cushions, make him one, but see that it is soft enough for comfort and substantial enough in color for everyday use.

If he is literary, give him a book cover or a book rack for tiny and often used volumes or something pretty in the way of billbooks or blotters. He never gets too many of those.

A Wonderful Lock.

Ninety-six million years is the time given to unlock a safe which is fastened with the wonderful new lock invented in Jamaica. The combination consists of four sets of twenty-four letters of the alphabet, which can be set to a sentence in most modern languages. When one letter is used in one alphabet and another in the second set, and so on, it becomes a most complicated matter. Then there is the initial problem of which language it has been keyed in to be solved by the man that attempts to open the safe. Furthermore, instead of letters the inventor, one Neuman Tobias, has employed four sets of numerals. Assuming that the lock has been set to a figure in the number of 2,030,303,030,303,030, it would take any one who undertook to unlock the safe 96,090,278 years 269 days 20 minutes and 20 seconds, working at the rate of 60 numbers a minute, to arrive at the proper combination. During this time he would have no time for food and sleep.

She is an English woman and a new domestic in a boarding house. She was rolling a heavy barrel along the basement hall when one of the boarders passed her.

"What have you there, Annie?"

"The hash barrel, sir."

"The what?"

"The hash barrel."

"Great Scott! I knew we ate a lot of it, but I didn't think she bought it by the barrel."

Highest Kite Ascension.

A string of six kites sent up from the German aeronautical observatory at Lindenberg recently attained an elevation of 21,036 feet, or almost exactly four miles, says The New York Sun. This is the highest elevation yet reached by kiteflying, and it illustrates remarkable progress during the last two or three years in this method of investigating the conditions in the upper air.

THE COW TESTING MOVEMENT STARTS

Mr. Ruddick Says Work is Most Satisfactorily Progressing—Extension in 1907 Looked For

OBJECT IS TO IMPROVE CONDITIONS

Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, has issued a bulletin in connection with the movement to establish cool curing stations and to organize cool curing associations in the Province, which will be of interest in Peterborough County in view of the fact that during the last few weeks a number of associations have been formed in the Peterborough district by Mr. Somerville, who has charge of that work in the Eastern Ontario districts.

Mr. Ruddick's bulletin is as follows:

A good start was made in 1906 with the organization of cow testing associations, but we hope to see a great extension of the movement during the coming year, because there is no other line of effort which offers the same possibilities for increasing the profits of milk production. Judging by results obtained elsewhere and also by the experiences of progressive farmers in the country, it would seem to be possible to increase the average production of Canadian herds by at least 2000 pounds of milk per cow per year by applying the same rational methods. Such an increase in production would mean an additional revenue from dairying to the farmers of Canada of at least $30,000,000, without increasing the number of cows kept.

The plans for the improvement of a dairy herd need not be elaborate or expensive, and should take cognizance of the fact that there are good cows and poor cows, judged by their milk production, in all breeds, and that it does not follow that because a cow may have a lengthy pedigree, her performance at the milk pail is up to the mark; that there are "scrub" thoroughbreds as well as common "scrubs." It will require some moral courage to discard the expensive thoroughbred scrub after she has been shown up in her true colours, but that is what should be done. There is only one true standard, and that test must be production. (This is not an argument against the thoroughbred animal as such, but rather an attempt to place performance ahead of pedigree. Ancestry is a most important consideration, but unless the record carries with it some account of production, it lacks the only really important feature, and the man looking for superior animals gets no information from it that is of real value to him. He may have personal knowledge of the strain in question, but that is another matter.

Any scheme which has for its object the improvement of our dairy stock must provide for a study and record of the performance of the individual cow, as well as deal with the management of the herd, including its care and feeding, and the breeding of animals to replace those which are discarded in the "weeding" process. Individuality can only be determined by the weighing and testing of each cow's milk.

It is quite practicable for individual farmers to test their own herds, and many are doing so, but some form of co-operation makes the work easier and cheaper, and at the same time more useful, inasmuch as each member of an association has the information relating to other herds as well as his own.

Owners or managers of cheese factories and creameries naturally take an interest in this question, and there is no reason why testing of individual cows should not be done by the factory management. Most factories have the necessary appliances (except the sample bottles) and the manager is, or should be, more competent to do the work properly than the average farmer is. It needs no argument to prove that if the patrons of a factory increase the yield of milk from their cows, the factory will derive a corresponding benefit. If the efforts which are now made by the owners of most factories to increase their milk supply at the expense of neighbouring establishments, were to be directed towards securing an increased yield of milk from the herds already supplying the factories, a more abiding and better general result would be obtained, even from the individual factory standpoint.

Cow Testing Associations

It is probable, however, that the most popular plan for getting the testing done will be through the organization of Cow Testing Associations. There are some twenty of these associations already in existence in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, which have been organized by the members of the Dairy Commissioner's staff, and the number is increasing almost daily. The organization is being effected on the following basis:—

Rules and Regulations

1. The organization shall be known as ....Cow Testing Association.

2. The officers shall consist of a president, a vice-president and a secretary-treasurer. Three other members shall be appointed to act along with the officers as a committee of management.

3. The officers shall be elected to hold office for one year or until successors are elected.

4. The annual meeting shall be held at th call of the president.

5. Meetings of the committee of management shall be held at the call of the secretary-treasurer. Three members shall for a quorum.

6. Any person who will agree to keep a record of individual cows during the whole milking period, to the extent of weighing the morning's and evening's milk on at least three days every month, and also take a sample for testing, will be admitted to membership. The number of members may be limited at the discretion of the committee of management.

The milk will be preserved and a composite sample tested once a month with a Babcock milk tester.

9. Members will be expected to provide themselves with scales, sample bottles, one for each cow, and a box for holding the samples.

9. Members shall assume the responsibility of delivering the samples to the place where the testing is to be done, on such days as may be directed by the person in charge of that work.

I am authorized by the Honourable Minister of Agriculture to announce that blank forms will be supplied and that the testing will be done free of charge for the season of 1907 for any regularly organized association; the members of the association to provide their own outfits, and the association to provide a suitable place in which the testing may be done.

A cheese factory or a creamery is a natural centre for an association of this nature. The facilities for testing are available at any properly equipped factory and the samples can be delivered easily on the regular milk wagons.

I shall be pleased to hear from any person interested in the formation of a Cow Testing Association, and, I am authorized to say, that whenever it is possible to do so a member of my staff will be sent to attend an organization meeting.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Bertha May Tedford, died October 16, 1906.

Mother do not weep
O do not weep for me, mother,
A dying girl did say.
I am going home to Jesus now
I cannot nor would not stay.

I gave my heart to him you know
That night when at your knee
You told me how he loved me so
And gave himself for me.

And as you close my eyes mother
With your soft tender hands,
Then think of how my spirit fled
In Jesus' presence stands?

I have not a single fear of death, mother,
For all I know is well,
I am longing with my latest breath,
To bid the world farewell.

My strength is failing fast, mother,
I feel the angel's touch
Good-bye, mother, I now must leave you,
Although I love you much.

Her cheeks grew pale, her eyes grew dim;
Her struggles soon were over,
Her spirit passed to be with Him
Who her transgressions bore.

PLATONIC LOVE PROMPTS A LEGACY

Aged Spinster Thus Explains Why Medical Student Left Her $20,000

New York, Dec. 28.—Solely because of platonic love—a feeling, she declares, "as lasting and sincere as any love between man and woman"—Miss Almeda Manning, an aged spinster, living on West Twenty-ninth street, declares she was made the heir to $20,000, left by George Hittie, a medical student, who was many years her junior, and whom, it is declared, she nursed in illness when he was friendless in New York.

Hittie came from Allentown, Pa., to work here as a telegraph operator, and, according to Miss Manning, with whom he lodged, made the will five years ago. His last request before he died, a year ago, she says, was that she should inherit every dollar he possessed.

Opposing the aged spinster, two maiden aunts of the student have come forward to contest the will, and declare that they will prove that it is worthless.

Miss Manning is worth $15,000 in her own name, and owns valuable realty in New York. Speaking of the legacy yesterday, she said:

"I met Mr. Hittie five years ago when he was employed in this city as a telegraph operator. He was ambitious to become a professional man. A deep feeling existed between Mr. Hittie and myself, but it was not love. I was much older than he, and we both realized that the difference in our ages put all thought of love out of our minds. Yet a feeling akin to love sprang up between us and proved to be as lasting and sincere as any love between man and woman.

"Mr. Hittie worked at his telegraph instruments during the day and received but a small salary. He then accepted a night position with the same company, so as to be able to pursue a medical course in Bellevue Hospital. His meagre salary would not pay his living expenses and college tuition so I came to his assistance from time to time.

"Then he fell ill with a wasting sickness from which there was little hope of his recovery. I sat by his bed night and day administering to his wants. In appreciation of my financial aid and my nursing him, he told me that I would be made his heir and some day inherit his fortune of $20,000, invested in real estate in Allentown, Pa.

"Mr. Hittie's mother married a second time. She and I were on the best of terms and she knew that her son had made me his heir."

Relatives are to contest the will.

JOYUS CHRISTMAS SEASON IN DUMMER

Many Festivities Mark the Season at Hall's Glen—Family Re-union was Greatly Enjoyed

Examiner Special.

Hall's Glen, Dec. 31.—A number of the young people of our village attended the entertainment in Warsaw on Christmas night.

The villagers, young and old, are taking advantage of the sleighing and beautiful weather. Some are availing themselves of the moonlight, too.

Mr. W. E. Crowe is home with his mother during the cold weather, and is welcomed by his many friends here.

The trustees of S. S. No. 4 held their annual meeting in the school house last Wednesday. The most important business transacted was the election of a new trustee, Mr. John Grant.

Mr. Jos. Carveth, Regina, N.W.T., spending his Christmas vacation with his many friends here, and appears to be having a good time with some of his old chums.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carveth were overjoyed indeed with the satisfaction of participating in another family re-union. To this end, every provision was made, and was gratefully received.

Santa Claus paid his regular visits again this year, and manifested his liberality by bestowing many useful gifts on both rich and poor. He was so thoughtful that he even provided stockings for those who had none to hang up, and then filled them to overflowing with tin horns, whistles, dolls, jumping jacks, etc., etc. Come again, Santa, and bring plenty of flowers.

The Carmel entertainment of last week was well attended by those of the neighbourhood, some of whom took part in the programme. On the way home, after the entertainment, it seems that a certain young couple disagreed, and decided that each would drive back themselves. After having traversed a considerable distance they concluded that the change did not work well, so they turned and drove back to make up friends. It is not known for certain whether they have turned up yet or not.

The last gun in the aldermanic race has been fired, and the contestants at noon to-day crossed the starting line, and the race is on in earnest. There are seventeen candidates in the field out of the twenty-seven who were nominated on Monday. At noon to-day seventeen had qualified, which is an average field, an ensures an exciting contest. The list includes some new men, who should make admirable aldermen. The new men are W. G. Morrow, W. H. Bradburn, Allan McCarthy, William Hartley, Henry Phelan, J. H. Smith and Harry Morgan.

Most of these men although new to the council, have served the public in some capacity or other, and should make active and progressive aldermen.

Other men of the seventeen have served on the council in years gone by, although not members of last year's council. They are R. H. Leary, and John Sawers, who again seek aldermanic honours. Both have seen much service in public life.

All the available members of last year's council with the exception of Ald. Jas. Graham, will be in the contest. Ald. Graham was nominated on Monday but decided to retire so did not make the necessary declaration before noon to-day.

The leaves seven of the council of 1906, in the field, Messrs. Bath Elliott, Duncan, Johnston, Wilson, Tovey and McIntyre, in the field. The other members of the council are Ald. Hicks and McWilliams, in the contest for the Mayoralty; Alderman Mason, a candidate for the position of Water Commissioner, and Alderman Adams, who to-day began upon the duties of his new position of City Treasurer.

The race promises to be an interesting one and from now until Monday next speculation as to the result will be rife.

The two candidates for the mayoralty, both made the necessary declaration, as did Messrs. E. F. Mason, W. H. Moore and Vincent Eastwood, candidates for Water Commissioner.

Thos. Blaker Accused of Stealing Money From His Guest While He Slept

Thomas Blaker, an Indian, was arrested this afternoon at Chemong Village by Constable Thomas Jacobs, on a charge of stealing $45.00 from Johnson, another Indian. The latter went home from the city a couple of weeks ago with Blaker, who kept him over night. He had about $55 in his pocket that night, but on awakening the following morning Johnson claims that the money was gone. He also accused the wife of the accused handed him a $10 bill while he was eating his breakfast.

An information was laid against Blaker and County Constable Buchanan had him arrested this afternoon through the constable at the Indian village. The case will come before Magistrate Edmison in the near future.

How Peterborough Spent Its Holiday

One of the Quietest Days Ever Experienced on a New Year's — Weather Interfered with Many of the Events Plenned

THE OPERA HOUSE BROKE A RECORD

So far as climatic conditions were concerned New Year's day was not ideal. The premature January thaw took off the best of the sleighing, and left the streets wet, while the weather during the day was anything but that which one would expect on the first day of the year.

The holiday was spent very quietly in Petterborough, a large number of the city's residents going out of the city to enjoy their New Year's dinner with friends, while many others were entertaining friends here. The day was marked by many family gatherings, and by those who participated in them, the day, no doubt, was very pleasantly spent.

The custom of making New Year's calls would seem to have lost considerable of its popularity. There are some who still adhere to it, however, and many citizens of Peterborough spent part of the day yesterday in this pleasant manner.

The mild weather of the two preceding days has spoiled the skating and tobogganing, and both rinks were closed all day yesterday as a consequence. The opera house, however, was well patronized, and Laura Burt, as Dorothy Vernon, had the distinction last night of playing to the largest crowd in the history of this play house.

The dance given in aid of the Deep Sea Mission in the Oriental Hotel, was a most enjoyable function, and was attended by a large number of the city's young people.

The holiday was taken advantage of by the candidates for municipal honours to call upon their friends, and on the streets yesterday the most popular topic of conversation was the municipal elections.

COLLINS ACQUITTED IN CAMPBELLFORD

Jas. Collins who on Thursday, Dec. 20th, was arrested in the city on a charge of indecent conduct towards a Campbellford girl, came up for trial on Friday last before Magistrate D. J. Lynch, of that town, and was acquitted without having to give any evidence in his defence. It was stated that Mr. Collins was a local plasterer. He, however, refuted this statement to the Examiner.

It's Acclammation For Board of Education

Four Candidates Only Left in the Field and They Are Elected Without a Contest — Three Re-elected.

W. S. ROBINSON THE NEW MEMBER

There will be no election for the Board of Education this year as only four of the eight candidates nominated have qualified by noon to-day, and are elected by acclamation. The four are Messrs. Robt. Fair, Dr. M. A. Morrison, B. F. Ackerman and W. S. Robinson. The first three of these have given much service on the Board of Education and that body is to be congratulated that their services will be still available. Mr. W. S. Robinson should be a valuable man on the Board. He has always taken an active interest in municipal affairs and no doubt will make his presence felt on the Board.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson, the chairman of the Board last year, did not qualify nor did Dr. McFall, R. C. Braund or E. A. Peck the only three candidates nominated.

MR. JOSEPH CAHILL DIED IN WINNIPEG

Former Peterborough Man Who Died In West After Illness From Pneumonia Well Keown Here

A telegram was received this morning from Winnipeg announcing the death of Mr. Joseph Cahill in that city, after an illness of several weeks from pneumonia. Some few weeks ago word of his serious illness was received by his mother here, and she, with her daughter, left at once for Winnipeg. They were with him when his death occurred. The late Mr Cahill was a native of Peterborough, where he grew up to man's estate. He was very well and favourably known both here and in Winnipeg, in which city he has been for some years engaged in the furniture business. He was a son of the late Thos. Cahill, and was for many years an alderman, and one of the town's leading citizens.

He leaves to mourn his loss his mother and six sisters.

The remains will in all probability be brought home, and the funeral will take place here.

The monthly strangers' tea held last Sunday evening was very enjoyable and was well attended.

Guests were present from a number of places in England and Scotland; also Peterboro Falls, Monaghan and other places in Canada.

The tea was provided by the ladies of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church. The committee was composed of Mesdames Hall, Minorgan, Lyle an dVenney.

FUNERAL OF MISS LYLE WAS HELD YESTERDAY

Large Number of the Friends of The Bereaved Parents Attended

The funeral of the late Vera Gladys Lyle, whose obituary was recorded in Monday's issue, was held yesterday afternoon. The services at the house were conducted by the Rev. W. H. Manning, while Rev. Dr. Crothers officiated at the graveside. The pall bearers were Messrs. Bruce Bell, Warden Brown, Firth Buller, Chester Frowde, Arthur Elliott, Ernest Tovey.

The floral expressions of sympathy were beautiful and numerous. The services were held at the house at 2.30, the cortege arriving at the cemetery after 3.30 o'clock.

Jacquard, the inventor of the famous loom, might have become a billionaire. This unselfish Frenchman, though, gave his invention to the Government, and all he got in return was a pension of $1,000 a year.

Thirty Killed And Forty Were Injured In Train Collission

Special Wire to Heintz & Co.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 2.—Passenger train 29, westbound, and No. 30 eastbound on the Rock Island, collided between Volland and Alta Vista this morning, and according to G. W. Rourke, superintendent of the Kansas division in his report to headquarters, 30 persons were killed and 40 injured.

CONTESTS IN MANY OF THE MUNICIPALITIES

ELECTRIFICATION TO PERPETUATE BEAUTY AND STAVE OFF DEATH

Paris, January 1.—French physicians are greatly interested in Prof. d'Arsonval's announcement that he has discovered a means of realizing Ponce de Leon's dream of perpetual youth, through the application of an electric bath treatment of the human body.

Prof. d'Arsonval, who is one of the most eminent members of the Academy of Sciences, says the majority of people die of arteriosclerosis. He uses a sphygmometer to measure the tension of the blood in the arteries. If the mercury of the instrument marks 15 or 16 centimetres it shows a normal tension. If the tension is higher or lower the professor states that six baths of the high frequency current will bring it to the normal where it will remain, all danger o. arteriosclerosis being removed. These baths of five to ten minutes each may be taken three times a week. They give the patient absolutely no sensation. It only remains to find a method of checkmating microbes from without, and the Matin believes the world will possess the means of perpetual health.

One physician, after analyzing the explanation of the d'Arsonval theory, declares that it seems perfectly plausable to him and says in an interview in the Matin:

"Provided this electrical cleansing is followed by auxiliary treatment in expelling from our bodies the morbid waste caused by electricity, there is no longer any internal reason for growing old or even dying."

CONSERVATORY GAVE A CONCERT

Number of the Artists and Pupils of That Institution Gave Splendid Concert in Warsaw

The Christmas Tree and Concert given in Warsaw last night by the members of the Presbyterian church was a decided success. The church was literally packed with people from the village and surrounding country. There were two large evergreen trees decorated with Christmas tinsels and loaded with presents for the members of the Sunday School. Mr. A. L. Atkinson, the Presbyterian minister, was unavoidably absent, but this fact did not deteriorate from the success of the evening.

The principal part of the evening's entertainment was the concert given entirely under the direction of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music. This institution has worked its way into the favour of the people of Warsaw, and are generally greeted by large audiences. The party that drove from the Conservatory yesterday consisted of the following artists under the very kind and considerate chaperonage of Mrs. R. Glidden:—Miss Reesor, vocalist, of the Conservatory staff; Miss Ruth Dawson, vocalist; Miss Eva Stevenson, elocutionist; Mr. Max Cuneamon, cornetist, and Messrs. Cranfield, Holland, and Brightman, of the Mandolin Club. The programme was greatly enjoyed by those in attendance last night. Miss Reesor, who as a vocalist is fast becoming a favourite with Peterborough audiences, delighted the villagers with two solos, splendidly rendered. Miss Ruth Dawson sang several vocal selections in her usual praiseworthy manner. Miss Dawson of the Conservatory staff was a very efficient accompanyist. Miss Eva Stevenson "caught on" with the Warsaw people in her several numbers, especially in "A Smack at the School." The gentlemen artists were also very popular, especially the members of the Mandolin Club.

The following is a synopsis of the programme:—

Vocal solo, "The Birthday of the King," by Neidling—Miss Reesor.

Recitation, "The Home of Santa Claus,"—Miss Eva Stevenson.

Instrumental, selection from "The Land of Nod,"—Mandolin Club.

Vocal solo, "Hold Thou My Hand," Briggs—Miss R. Dawson.

Recitation, "Mice at Play" — Miss Stevenson.

Instrumental, from "His Highness the Bey"—Mandolin Club.

Recitation, "A Smack at School"—Miss Stevenson.

Vocal solo, "The First Christmas Morn," by Newton—Miss Reesor.

Cornet solo, "Non E Ver" — Max Cuncannon.

Vocal solo, "The New Born King"—Miss R. Dawson.

Instrumental, "Simple Aveu" by Thorne—Mandolin Club.

Recitation, "Keeping His Word"—Miss Stevenson.

Vocal solo, "Gentle Shepherd"—Miss Reesor.

Instrumental, selection from "The Wizard of Oz"—Mandolin Club.

God Save the King.

The presentation of the prizes took took place afterwards. The ladies of the Presbyterian church very kindly entertained the ladies and gentlemen from the Conservatory.

The road to Warsaw has more than turn.

CELEBRATED THEIR WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fowler Pleasantly Entertained Their Friends Last Night

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fowler yesterday celebrated the fifth anniversary of their wedding, when they most pleasantly entertained some thirty-five of their friends. The party gathered at Lowe's Palm Parlours where a delightful supper was served in the most approved style of that establishment. After the repast was done ample justice to the party were driven to Mr. Fowler's residence, 886 Concession street, where a most enjoyable evening was spent in music, games and sketches. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler were ideal host and hostess and their hospitality was greatly enjoyed.

HAS THE NECESSARY QUALIFICATIONS FOR SUCCESS

"Business Citizen" Points Out That Mr. V. Eastwood Has Business to Make a Successful Water Commissioner

SOME OF THE REASONS FOR THIS BELEIF

To the Editor of the Examiner:

As I have a deep concern in the business enterprises of the city, which include the prosperity of every civic interest, I wish to secure as strong a Board of Water Commissioners as possible, and, with this end in view, desire to point out some reasons why Mr. V. Eastwood should, in the public interests, receive the majority vote of the interested ratepayers. Let me point out as follows:

1. Three years ago Mr. Eastwood was a candidate for commissioner, and with every assurance of election. At the earnest solicitation of his then opponent, the retiring Commissioner, Mr. Moore, who is again a candidate, Mr. Eastwood, wishing to act in a neighbourly and kindly manner, withdrew from the contest. On the present occasion he hoped that Mr. Moore would return the compliment. But such does not appear to be the case, and since there is to be a contest, Mr. Moore must bear with my pointing out Mr. Eastwood's superior claims.

2. Mr. Eastwood's record as a man of business experience entitles him to great consideration. In regard to his knowledge of the requirements of the matter in the maintenance and continued construction of a water system, the erection and maintenance of a water power, the construction of water mains, etc. — these, are all a part and parcel of Mr. Eastwood's business education—of his practical experience as a hardware and metal merchant.

He has handled, bought and sold almost all classes of mill and power machinery, and he has of necessity, as well as from inclination and choice, made a close study of the markets of the world in these regards.

Mr. Eastwood has had the honour, as well as satisfaction, of having been surety for almost every important sewer contract in the city for the past six or seven years. In this way he has been brought closely into touch with the methods and cost of doing this class of construction.

I might enlarge upon these points, but I think I have suggested enough to show that, as regards practical knowledge of the subjects and business elements likely to enter into the discharge of the duties of Water Commissioner, Mr. Eastwood possesses superior practical as well as business qualifications.

As regards the distribution of water supply and levying of rates, Mr. Eastwood claims that he can suggest improvement of even the present schedules, and as to the matter of necessary legislation, that is a matter of no very great moment.

In conclusion, Mr. Eastwood, as a considerable ratepayer, is naturally anxious to have the municipal ownership problem solved in both the interests of the individual citizens and the citizens as a whole.

In conclusion, I submit that, if the public desire a Water Commissioner with the requisite business experience, knowledge and ability, with a wide, practical experience in the field covered by the duties of Commissioner, the ratepayers will make no mistake in generously supporting Mr. Eastwood, for which he is in every way well qualified, and at the same time willing to place his qualifications at the service of the public.

Yours truly,

BUSINESS CITIZEN.

Four and a half persons per thousand of the world's inhabitants are either deaf and dumb, blind, or mentally afflicted.

Nominations in the Township and Village Municipalities in the County and District of Monday—Many Worm Contest

NEW LAW AND ITS EFFECTS

More than usual interest was taken in the nominations in the municipalities this year, the attendance in each case on Monday being much larger than has been reported for a number of years. This is due, largely to the fact that this year the change in the election for County Councillors takes place, and in future the Reeves of the different municipalities constitute the council.

In the majority of municipalities there will be a contest for the Reeveship, and there is, generally speaking a more than ordinarily large field of aspirants for places on the respective council boards. The elections will take place next Monday candidates in the field in the different townships and villages in the county being as follows:—

Douro

For Reeve—Frank Moher, Dennis Moloney.

For Councillors—Wm Quinlan, A. Welsh, —. Jory, F. Leahy, Geo. W. Powell, —. Daling, P. Farley, H. Leahy.

Mr. B. Leahy withdrew from the contest after the nomination, leaving seven in the field for councillors, four of whom are to be elected.

Chandos

Messrs. Wm. Hales and T. S. Campbell were nominated for Reeve.

The following were nominated for Councillors. Andrew Wilson, Christopher Jones, Robert Tanner, Francis Woodbeek, Peter Goutais, Jno. T. King, Joseph Whitmore.

North Monaghan

For Reeve—Jos. Madill, Jno. Holmes, Jno. Brown, Thos. Hunter.

For Councillors—W. G. Bowden, G. H. May, R. A. Dobbin, Jas. Morrow, Harry W. Clark, Robt. Waterman, Thos. Young, Robt. Fowler, Geo. W. Hatton.

It is considered probable that the contest for the reeveship will be between Messrs. Holmes and Brown Mr. Hunter having withdrawn from the field after the nomination, and Mr. Madill signifying his intention of withdrawing as well. For the council Messrs. Fowler and Hatton withdrew, leaving seven in the field, four of whom will be elected.

South Monaghan

The contest for the reeveship in South Monaghan promises to be unusually keen, two men being in the field — Messrs. Robert Fraser and William B. Morrison.

Those in the field for councillor are Jos. White, Jas. Jackson, John Greer, Jas. Campbell, Oban. Wicks and William Waterman.

Smith

The nominations in Smith township on Monday resulted as follows:

For reeve — Robert N. Scott, Samuel Stinson, H. C. Garbutt, (withdrawn.)

For councillors — Webster Blewett, jr., John H. Garbutt, Thos. H. Graham, Frederick McKee, William J. Northey, Richard White, Thomas E. Mann, (withdrawn.)

By Acclamation

There will be no contest in the townships of Galway and Cavendish this year. At the nominations which took place on Monday the council which served in 1906 was re-elected by acclamation. The council for 1907 will be as follows:—

Reeve—Charles Coban.

Councillors—David Curtin, John Clark, William Hunter, John Jackson.

Contest in Enniskmore

There will be a contest for both reeve and members of the council in Enniskmore, this year. At the nomination meeting on Monday the following gentlemen were placed in the field for the various offices:

Reeve — Samuel Kilkan, last year's reeve; and John Young.

Councillors — D. Kennedy, M. Perdue, W. Harrington, P. H. G. Crough, M. O'Connor, M. Crough, sr., John Conway. The first four named were members of last year's council.

Havelock

Havelock, Dec. 31.—(Special.) — A meeting was held to-night for the nominating of Reeve, Councillors and School Board. There were no new nominations for the Reeveship, so Mr. Jas. Thompson was re-elected by acclamation.

Those nominated for Councillors were,—Wm. Cole, Wm. Jones, F. C. McMaster, W. P. Curtis, H. B. Merrison, J. Campsey, Geo. Young, Jos. Knox.

Those nominated for School Trustees were,—S. S. Joyce, Dr. Hollcroft, Wm. Mathison, Edward Chapman, Henry Pary, Chas. Herrington, J. V. A. Coon, Jos. Knox, Herb. Williams.

Cavan

Cavan Council has evidently satisfied the electors of that township during the past year, as they raise the members were re-elected by acclamation at the nomination which was held in the town hall Millbrook, on Monday. The council for 1907 will be composed as follows:—

Reeve—Charles Mallal.

Deputy Reeve—Thomas A. Kelly.

Councillors—Robert Shaw, George Shield, Archibald Reynolds.

The information concerning the result of this nomination was sup-

Learn Dressmaking In Two Weeks

We teach you everything, from the finest shirtwaist to the most elaborate toilet, that can be found in the fashion books. And we will offer $25 to anyone, who, after taking a course with us can show us an article in dressmaking they can't cut, fit and put together; not only the lining, but all the outer goods in coats, skirts, wrappers, sleeves, collars, etc. Why spend months in a dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes, and then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. For you will know no more how to cut out a dress at the end of a year than you did the first day you went there. So why spend your time there when we can teach you in two weeks. You can come and try for a week and see for yourself what it's like, and as there is nothing to be paid in advance you certainly would not loose anything by trying. We have taught over 2,000 girls in this way within the past six years in Western Ontario, and all recommend it very highly.

Charge for full course is only $10.00, to be paid when course is completed, if satisfied, including one of the most perfect fitting systems in use, which we give free. We guarantee that the waists made by this chart will not draw nor pull out of skirt when raising arm.

An evening class will also be taught. In this class we will teach shirtwaists, sleeves, sacques and skirts. This course will be $5.00, and hours from 7 to 10.

We will teach at Peterborough from Jan. 21st to Feb. 2nd. Hours from 8.30 to 5. All wishing to learn for full particulars be sure to see us at the Oriental Hotel, Hunter street, on January 19th, between 10 and 5 o'clock.

Remember there is no pay in advance. You can all come and try.

TO THE YOUNG MAN

Young man, how, it masked, have you used the past year, which has used you so well? It has been good to you in many ways. It has given you health and strength, it has kept you in steady employment at fairly good wages, and, generally speaking, you have had a good time. Have you made the most of it? That is to say, are you a better man to-day than you were on the 1st of January last? Have you improved the time or wasted it—in a word, helped to kill time? Have you cultivated your mind to any extent? Are your morals better or worse? How about your habits? You remember you had a few bad ones you were urged to get rid of twelve months ago. Have you done so? Or have they gripped you more firmly than ever? Outside your daily calling, are you doing anything to justify your existence? Are you trying in any way to make things better for others than they are or were? Are you really satisfied with your life's work so far? Or are you deceiving yourself with the notion that after a while—not just yet—you will settle down and do your level best to live the life you ought to live and do what you ought to do for others? We only go through this world once, and life at the longest is but short. So there is not a great deal of time to waste. No one but yourself can answer these questions for you. All you are asked to do is to sit down and try to honestly answer them for yourself. Will you do so?

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Hamilton Times insinuates that there is a machine rule in the School Board. Possibly a peculiar feature of the technical training idea.

As a general measure of Canada's prosperity for the year 1906, may be regarded a Dominion revenue which will reach nearly one hundred millions. There has almost necessarily been a corresponding increase of trade, and to such an extent that perhaps the total trade figures will very closely approximate six hundred millions.

Toronto assumes to be the intellectual interior, the commercial centre, the business hub, of the province, and yet it cannot get a man with brains, or brass, enough to oppose Mr. Emmerson Coatsworth, for the mayoralty — the man whom, and the alderman as a bunch—the newspapers are reviling as civic incompetents, and other unparliamentary things.

The Conservative party in Quebec sometimes fancy they see a flicker of hope that matters are improving. The Montreal Herald remarks that the question now is: If the Conservative party in Quebec, with its old leaders and its young leaders, couldn't win in a riding like Nicolet, that had been almost always Conservative, and with a strong local candidate against an outsider who is not French-Canadian, are the pieces of the Quebec Conservative party worth trying to save?

MR. DEVLIN'S VICTORY

Montreal Herald.

Mr. Devlin was elected in Nicolet on Saturday by over five hundred majority. That is a pretty good answer to timid counsellors who would have had him leave the field because local opposition developed after he had been selected by the party convention. Mr. Devlin thus enters the House, or rather he re-enters the House, in circumstances which should be much to his liking, and which will leave little room for consolation to the two or three members on the Opposition benches who seemed, during the period when he was a representative of the Government, making his position uncomfortable. These cannot now argue that there is any uncertainty about the mandate with which he returns from Nicolet. That mandate places him, on the contrary, in a position to be of great usefulness to the Liberal party. Mr. Devlin, as his victory has proved, has abilities and personality of an order which find favour with the plain workaday people whose votes, after all, determine the fates of parties and of governments. That such a man can, if he will, make his influence felt in the community, goes without saying.

A MAYOR'S DUTY

The Hamilton Times makes the following plain of the duties of Mayor for that city, which might also well apply to the requirements of Peterborough in the matter of a Mayor:

"The head of the Council should be a man in whom the people have confidence. He should not be "heady" but cautious and regardful of the city's interests, and devoted to protecting the rights and property of her taxpayers. He should be ready and willing to consult not only with his colleagues in the Council, but to get the assistance and counsel of outside financiers. He should do the city's business in the open. He should not be the tool of any partisan machine, and he SHOULD NOT BE TIED UP TO ANY OTHER INTEREST than that of the city, nor should he owe any favours to such.

PREDICTS BRIGHT FUTURE FOR EDMONTON DISTRICT

Messrs. Magrath and Hart, Members of Firm of Magrath & Hart, Well Known Here

Mr. W. J. Magrath, whose advt. appears on another page of to-day's issue, is an old Hastings boy, who comes from near Stirling village, and who is now in middle life. He visited Edmonton for the first time in June last. He was so impressed with the great advantages and possibilities of the city, that he returned to Belleville and arranged with a partner to handle his cheese business and immediately returned to Edmonton, where he remained until Dec. 21, last, when he returned to Belleville for the holidays.

Mr. Magrath will go back to Edmonton, next Monday, Jan. 7th. For the last three months the firm of Magrath, Hart & Co., have handled more real estate in Edmonton than any other firm. They are the largest real estate dealers there, with fine offices centrally located.

Some Peterborough people bought through Magrath, Hart & Co., some Edmonton property eight weeks ago. This property can now be sold for double what these parties gave for it, and as they only paid one third cash down, they could realize about six hundred per cent. profit on their purchase. He advises parties to hold, as he predicts that prices will be much higher in May or June next.

Mr. Magrath will on Friday next have with him a large list of Edmonton property for sale, which, by looking into, you will consider bargains, and will consider it more of a bargain next spring, as the prices are sure to rise. Mr. Magrath will be at R. A. Elliott & Co's real estate office, 367 Water street, on Friday, June 4th, from 9 to noon, and from 3 p.m., to 8 p.m., and at the Oriental hotel from noon until 3 p.m., of the same day. Mr. Hart, who is a member of the company is an old Peterborough boy, who has recently gone to the west. He was formerly manager of Flavelle & Co's establishment in Belleville.

THEY KNOW IT.

Thousands of people throughout the country know that the ordinary remedies for piles—ointment, suppositories and appliances—will not cure.

The best of them only bring passing relief.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is a tablet taken internally that removes the cause of Piles, hence the cure is permanent. Every package sold carries a guarantee with it.

It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate constitution. A month's treatment in each package. Sold at $1.00. At any drug store, or The Wilson-Fyle Company, Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont. 6

Father Time stops not for holidays and festive periods, nor does grim death cease in his relentless harvest. TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen, — Having been duly nominated a second time as alderman for the progressive City of Peterborough, I once again solicit your vote and influence at the coming elections, January 7th. In the future, as in the past, if elected, I shall always advocate the policy of municipal ownership of all public utilities, strongly believing such principles to be in the best interests of the general public. During the past year I have consistently supported and advanced such measures as would assure to the ratepayers economic civic government, and municipal control of public services. If once more honoured with your confidence, such measures will receive from me unqualified support, and I shall make it my business to see that permanent improvements are equally distributed throughout the whole city, and that the expenditure of public monies is commensurate with value received.

Wishing you all a Happy New Year, and relying upon your support at the coming elections, I am,

Yours faithfully,

GEO. BALL

Card to the Electors!

Ladies and Gentlemen, — Having been nominated as one of many to represent you at your Council Board, for this present year, I take this opportunity of soliciting your votes.

I am a firm believer, that to have a good representative council, that the office should seek the man, instead of the man seeking the office.

When an Alderman gives the time and attention that is required of him if he represents the electors, it is quite sufficient, without spending his time, (which was always very valuable to him) in canvassing votes.

As I am about to put up a business to become one of your merchants, my time for the future will be spent in your city, therefore, at the services of the ratepayers.

I shall devote my energies to serve the ratepayers faithfully, (as I have no axe to grind.)

Having made a success of my own business, I think I am capable of assisting to manage that of our progressive young city.

It shall be my duty to procure municipal ownership in all cases where our public thoroughfares are utilized. I have visited a large number of towns and cities during the last two years, and I have yet to find one instance when it has been a failure.

It shall be my duty to assist in the careful expenditure of money, consistent with the advancement of our city.

Wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Yours very truly,

R. H. LEARY

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having served you as Alderman for the year 1906, to the best of my ability, and at the request of a large number of the electors, I hereby offer myself as a candidate for re-election and if elected will continue to serve the city as my best judgment dictates, having due regard to economy in all its branches.

Thanking you in anticipation for your vote and influence.

TO THE ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been a member of the Aldermanic Board for two years I believe I am qualified by experience to serve your best interests during another term. As alderman last year I have been honoured with the chairmanship of important special committees, taking up work in the interests of the whole community, and I am convinced that the experience so acquired will stand my fellow citizens and myself in good stead should I once again be vested with the responsibilities resting upon a representative of the public on the aldermanic board. I strongly advocate a policy of sanitary measures which shall assure to the city the highest possible standard of health at a minimum expenditure of public monies.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I remain,

Yours faithfully,

CARD TO THE ELECTORS:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I hereby beg to announce that I am a candidate for member of the Board of Water Commissioners. I submit that my business experience subjoined with my desire to serve the interests of Peterborough in the most effective and beneficial manner constitute a reasonable claim upon your confidence and support. THOS. J. WILSON.

TO THE ELECTORS

Your obedient servant,

GEO. E. ELLIOTT

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been nominated for Alderman for 1907 in this city, I beg leave to solicit your vote and influence. If elected I will strive to do all in my power to promote the best interests of the ratepayers of the city.

WATER COMMISSIONERS

MR. E. F. MASON'S ADDRESS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

I respectfully offer my services to the ratepayers of the city, and am a candidate for election by you to the position of Water Commissioner, now vacant.

I do this at the urgent request of many ratepayers, who are good enough to say that my services as alderman, and experience in the City Council during the last three years, qualify me to render intelligent and helpful service in the interest of the city.

I believe it to be a fact, and it is endorsed by others, that in no way may a citizen gain the information and be in a position to appreciate the needs of the municipality as by service on your Council Board.

Should you see fit to elect me you will please remember in so doing I am thoroughly in touch with municipal matters, having held the important position of Chairman of the Finance Committee for the last two years. It is admittedly the most important committee of the Council, and one requiring considerable time at the hands of its members, and particularly so of its Chairman.

I believe I can truly say that I understand the financial position and needs of the city thoroughly. In so far as your city Water Department is concerned, I promise, if elected, to faithfully perform the duties of the position and to bear in mind the needs of the city as implied in the carrying on of the Department and its expansions in future years.

I may call attention to the legislation which Mr. Moore, the retiring member of the Commission, is drafting, and which it is proposed to ask for at the next session of the Legislature.

(a) To constitute the Water Commissioners of the said City a body corporate.

(b) To authorize the said Water Commissioners to levy and collect a water rate upon properties fronting on streets along which water mains are laid and to provide that all water rates shall be a lien on properties served with water or mains; with right of distress and sale as in the case of unpaid taxes.

I do not favour such drastic legislation, and am thoroughly convinced that the people should be asked first to endorse the proposition, and, if elected, I will endeavour to have this matter submitted by vote of the ratepayers before making application for such a sweeping change in the policy, system and conduct of the Water Commissioners.

I may not be able to personally wait on all ratepayers before polling day, but solicit their votes and influence. I trust that my candidature will receive a hearty and successful support, and I shall be proud to be elected.

Yours respectfully,

E. F. MASON

WATER COMMISSIONERS.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been nominated for the vacant position on the Board of Water Commissioners of the city, I take this opportunity of soliciting your votes and influence thereto. I feel indebted to looking for your confidence and support for this important trust, seeing that you have elected me for several years as your trusted representative on the Board of Aldermen.

Should you do me the honour of electing me to this position, I will endeavour to discharge the duties appertaining thereto with the same intelligent care and judgment as I have allowed to the general interests of the city.

Respectfully yours,

E. F. MASON.

Women's Strength is Overtaxed
BY WORK AND WORRY, BUT GOOD HEALTH IS RESTORED BY
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

With her strength overtaxed by too much work many a woman finds herself weak, nervous and exhausted, subject to indigestion and headaches and spells of discouragement and despondency.

Under such circumstances Dr. Chase's Nerve Food comes as a blessing of great value, bringing new hope and confidence and restoring vitality to the blood and nerves.

Dizziness, heart disturbances, pale, bloodless appearance, smothering, choking sensations, heavy heart beating and palpitation are some of the symptoms which give way before the persistent use of this great food cure. The appetite is sharpened, digestion is improved the form is rounded out to healthful proportions and gradually and certainly strength and vigour replace weakness and disease.

Mrs. D. Scott, Cobourg, Ont., states: "After recovering from typhoid fever I was left in a very low state of health and my system was very much run down. I was very weak, nervous and in fact was not fit to do any work at all and began to fear that I was of little use in the world.

"A friend of mine, Mrs. G. M. Brown, had used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and told me that it benefitted her wonderfully. I took courage and began the use of this medicine. After taking the first box I began to feel an improvement in my health, and now after using four boxes I am completely cured. I now feel like myself once more and believe that I can attribute the cure to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

For men who are suffering from headaches, indigestion and sleeplessness, for women who besides these symptoms suffer from weaknesses and irregularities of the delicate feminine organism, for children who are pale, weak and puny, there is we believe no preparation extant which will bring about such satisfactory results as the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food; 50 cents a box, 6 boxes $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Deep Sea Mission Dance Was A Delightful Function

A high note has been struck during the past week in the social work of the city, when three fashionable dances were held. The entertainment last evening at the Oriental Hotel, in aid of the Labrador Deep Sea Mission, of which Mrs. D. Hughes Charles is the local treasurer, was the second annual and one of the most enjoyable social events of the season. It was attended by more than one hundred and fifty guests, and proved an event successful in every way.

The Oriental, which was the scene of the happy function, was kindly lent to the local ladies interested in the Deep Sea Mission, by Mr. G. N. Graham, the proprietor. The dancing took place in the spacious dining-room of the hotel. The costumes of the ladies were bright and attractive. The music was of a particularly excellent character, being provided by Miss Hurley and the Grand Opera House Orchestra. Mr. J. M. Greene, of the Greene Music Company, gave the piano free of charge for the occasion.

At midnight refreshments were served by the ladies interested, in a number of the upstairs rooms of the hotel.

The reception committee in charge of the delightful function, and to whom a great deal of credit is due for its success, was Mrs. D. Hughes Charles, Mrs. R. M. Denniston, Mrs. Aylmer, Mrs. Poe and Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton.

Those who participated in the first dance were Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mrs. Aylmer, Mr. W. R. Morris and Mrs. R. M. Denniston, Mr. Poe and Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton, Mr. D. Hughes Charles and Mrs. Poe, Mr. W. S. Davidson and Mrs. Dickson Hall, Mr. Saunders and Miss Helen Davies, Mr. H. Rush and Miss Bradburn, Mr. Milne Hamilton and Miss Pearl Lundy.

The merry company dispersed about 2.30 o'clock.

ADDRESS

of W. H. MOORE, Water Commissioner, to the Electors of the City of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

My term of office as Water Commissioner will expire on the first of January, 1907, and as I have time to devote to the duties, and a strong inclination to serve the city in the same capacity for a second term, I solicit your support at the election to be held on January the 7th next.

Mr. Hall and Mr. Matthews, the one in 1905 and the other in 1906, asked for renewal of your confidence as commissioners at the end of their first term, and it was given to them without a contest.

Services Rendered

I have had the honour to serve in the City Council, the City Trust, and Little Lake Cemetery Board, for many years, and have yet to learn that I ever failed to give full attention to duties; and I believe I might in all fairness, have expected the recognition on the Water Commission that was accorded Mr. Matthews and Mr. Hall. It will be for my opponents to show I did not deserve it.

A Business Asset

The early years of every great undertaking are always difficult and trying ones, and the management of our system of water supply has been no exception to this condition. It has required the continued attention of the Commissioners and their best exertions to bring the works to their present state of efficiency. Their conduct has always been based, as no doubt you have observed, on the same strict business considerations they carried into their own affairs, and therefore the general expression of confidence extended to them, and the success that has attended their efforts. But one of the greatest amendments to the works was beyond their powers. I refer to the present dam, on which everything depends, which is of timber held in position by stone, gravel and earth. It was built by the old company fourteen years ago. It has lived almost its life, leaks badly, and as one the city cannot rely on with that sense of security its vital importance demands.

New Dam, Revenue Produced

Over two years ago the Commissioners obtained a report from Mr. Keefer, an eminent engineer, upon a new concrete dam, which he estimated would produce 1400 h.p. or about 800 h.p. over what would be needed for pumping for many years to come, that could be applied to public lighting or be sold, and worth at least $12,000 per year, a sum sufficient to redeem the debt to be incurred, without adding to general taxation, and with still a substantial surplus for city purposes. The subject must continue to engage the most earnest attention of all concerned in the welfare of our city.

A year ago the Commissioners employed Mr. Allan Hazen of New York, an expert engineer on water filtration, to devise and report on a water filtration scheme, which he did. He estimated the cost at $99,000, with an annual charge of $7000. If undertaken, the city would have to supply the money and pay for the yearly outlay. Personally, I approve of any reasonable expenditure for this purpose, although the water now is of fairly good quality, but not always free from sediment.

Prepared Regulations

Upon entering upon my duties three years ago it fell to my lot to frame a set of regulations and by-laws in relation to the use of water, and for the information of citizens generally, which occupied my attention for upwards of two months, in their preparation, the draft of which with a full index of subjects, having been placed before the Commissioners and amendments agreed on and a complete tariff of rates appended, was printed in book form, and is free to all who apply for it.

Legislative Work

Last year I undertook the legislative work of obtaining more effective laws against the pollution of streams of water, used by cities and towns, and I secured from Parliament provisions covering our river and the lakes to the north, which if enforced by the Board of Health, as no doubt they will be, will subject offenders to extremely severe penalties, and water users may rest assured of a much improved water, without recourse to expensive filtration.

Preparing Legislation

I have lately been preparing at the request of the Board further legislation for the next sitting of the House in Toronto, giving the Board larger powers in the public interests, particularly in relation to the laying down of mains adjoining property that pays no water rates, so that such property shall contribute in respect of the mains that front it, a sum that bears a just rate to the value conferred by the main. This certainly will, if obtained, tend to materially lower charges to all water users, and lead to a more rapid extension of the system. If again honoured by you, I will present this matter in the Private Bills Committee at the next session, and am very hopeful of success.

It is a matter for congratulation, indeed, that the purchase of the works, which many supported with the gravest fears, and others opposed with predictions of failure, has, because of good management, proved an eminent success, has reduced the cost to consumers over thirty per cent., given ten dollars increase in mains, and a relative increase in fire protection, in five years.

If re-elected, I shall continue to take my share of the work, and do my duty, in every respect.

I am very faithfully yours,

W. H. MOORE

FRIENDS TELL FRIENDS—"NOTHING LIKE PE-RU-NA."

PE-RU-NA'S POPULARITY IS IN NO SMALL MEASURE DUE TO THE GENEROUS PRAISE GIVEN IT BY GRATEFUL PEOPLE.

Tells Every One About Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. R. T. Fennessey, Bound Brook, N. J., writes:

"I have taken Peruna and find it a very good medicine. After I took one bottle of Peruna, I was cured of my cold. I cannot help telling every one I know about Peruna and asking them to try it. I would like every one to know of the good Peruna does."

Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Henry Ganther, R. R. No. 1, Nekedah, Wis., writes:

"I recommend your medicine to every one who is in need of it. I have been using Peruna and have gained in health. I thank you for what you have done."

A Neighbor Advised Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. John Haynes, 107 E. Main St., Columbus, Ohio, writes:

"For over two years I suffered with headaches and severe pains in my head, and all these two years my friends would say, 'Why don't you take Peruna?'

"Finally one of my neighbors just insisted on my taking it. I tried it and before I had taken one-fourth of a bottle my headaches were gone. I am never without Peruna. I advise every one to take Peruna."

Friend Advised Use of Pe-ru-na.

Mr. E. W. Staley, 812 Fillmore St., Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"I was down for three months with pneumonia and had gotten very weak. A friend advised me to try Peruna, which I did, and soon found it was the thing I needed. When I finished the third bottle, I found I weighed more than I ever did in my life."

Spreading the Good News.

Prof. J. Ivison, dealer in musical merchandise, box 818, Cumberland, Md., writes:

"It is now five months since my wife began taking Peruna and from the first day improvement has been going on noticeably. She is now in good health. We never tire of making this fact known to our many friends."

A Friend Had Used Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Henry I. Goodwin, portrait artist, 26 Gove street, E. Boston, Mass., writes:

"For three years I have been suffering from a general rundown condition of the system. I tried many remedies.

"A friend of mine advised me to use Peruna, as it had benefited him.

"After taking two bottles I felt better. Now I am in the best of health."

RECEPTION AT THE Y.M.C.A. LARGELY ATTENDED

A Most Delightful New Year's Day was Spent at the Association Building Yesterday—Many Visitors Present

OVER 1,000 MEN WERE PRESENT

The New Year's reception held in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday will be remembered as one of the most successful that has taken place in connection with that annual event in the building.

The reception room of the building was tastefully decorated with flags, as well as the gallery of the gymnasium, while a bright fire blazed in the grate in the parlour, making everything appear very homelike indeed.

Never did the different committees put forth better directed efforts to entertain their host of callers.

In the morning all the boys of the city over 12 years of age were given the freedom of the building, and 103 of them were present and were given a thoroughly enjoyable time.

The intermediate executive acted as a reception committee it being composed of Fred Hall, John Evans, and W. E. Saxby. All were received in the reception room by a committee of school boys composed of Grant Potter, Harold Matthews and Ed. Mann.

Mr. William Barrie presided at the piano, which was placed in the reception room, and played a series of well executed selections.

The main feature of the programme in the gymnasium was the lively game of basket ball between two teams composed of working boys and school boys, captained by Armstrong and Dobbin respectively. The school boys won by a good margin.

All the boys, including the many visitors tried the virtues of the plunge bath, which was at a summer temperature, thanks to special efforts of the janitor. This concluded the programme for the morning.

The afternoon was open to men, and for several hours there was a constant stream of visitors, who were received by Messrs. Galley, Perry, and Carter. The Y.M.C.A. orchestra was stationed in the reception room and delighted everybody by their music. The orchestra was composed of Messrs. R. Gardiner, Howarth, Brayshaw, Tretheway, Ackerman and Walton.

Their selections included "The Romance of Athlone," "Pretty Mollie Shannon," "Moon Winks," "American Eagle March," and "Polka Dot March."

The game room was kept busy, while others spent the afternoon in conversation and social intercourse. The refreshment rooms were ably looked after by Messrs. William Shea and D. Campbell.

Those in attendance included a number from other towns and cities, who expressed themselves as highly pleased with the appointments of the building.

ERROR IN REPORT OF AN ENNISMORE CLASS

Miss Young Obtained 76 Per Cent. Instead of 100 Per Cent.

In the report of the Ennismore Continuation Class Examinations of last week's issue, Miss Clara Young obtained 76 per cent. instead of 100 per cent. as was then published. The mistake was made unknowingly and the teacher Mr. J. A. O'Donohue, called at the office to have it rectified.

Aftermath At Stratton's

—The week before New Year's is always a busy and interesting week at Stratton's Bookstore. One reason for this is that all gift goods have ticket-of-leave orders and nothing will be exempt from radical reductions. Some goods have orders to go at half former prices, rather than carry them over to the new year. Some lines in fancy goods, the Poets, Grecian Ware, Jewel Cases, Framed Pictures, Cards, Calendars, etc., come in the half-price list. A. H. Stratton & Co.

WEDDING BELLS

WEIR—BOYLER

The residence of Mr. George Boyler, East City south, was the scene of a pretty New Year's wedding yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when his daughter, Miss Emma, was united in marriage to Mr. Maxwell E. Weir.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's, in the drawing-room, which was very prettily decorated for the occasion. About one hundred invited guests were present, including friends from Toronto, Orillia, Goderich, Ottawa, Windsor and other places.

The bride was charmingly attired in a dress of pale blue silk, covered with cream voile, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss A. Linster, of Bridgenorth, wore a becoming dress of white silk. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Albert E. Weir. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. George Boyler, jr.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding dejeuner served on prettily-decorated tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Weir left on the 5.15 C. P. R. train on a wedding trip to Windsor and other western points. On their return they will take up residence at 208 Berkeley street, Toronto.

The presents received were costly and numerous, testifying to the high esteem in which the young couple are held by a large circle of friends.

NEW YEAR'S DAY AND AFTERWARDS

Police Court Generally Tells the Tale of How Holidays are Spent

The second day of the year had its usual number of devotees to the celebration of New Year's Day, by a drunk. Augustus Dundas was charged with being a vagrant, etc., and was given three months. A young man who had "canned up" yesterday was, using another slang expression, decidedly "on the rocks." He made himself obnoxious on Brock street, near George street, using foul language and endeavouring to quarrel with passers-by. He was fined $2, which was paid.

John Doig was charged with having stolen an iron rod, the property of the city, from the city yards on Townsend street. He elected to be tried summarily by the Magistrate. Mr. H. Evans, Street Commissioner, said that four iron rods, about nine feet in length by one and three-quarter inches in diameter, had been stolen from the yard. He had missed them. One was found in the junk yard belonging to the Jew, at 460 George street. This he identified as one that had belonged to the city. Later on, two more were found there, making, all told, three out of the four that had been stolen.

Louis Florence, one of the proprietors of the junk yard, said that Mr. Doig had sold him a number of iron bars. He did not know just when.

Mr. Doig said he sold two bars to Florence, one he had bought himself from a man on London street, the other being bought by an assistant he had working for him. This he did not know anything about. Mr. Dumble reviewed the evidence and decided to discharge Mr. Doig, as there was doubt as to where one of the bars had come from. He, however, emphasized the fact that he would deal severely with junk dealers who do not follow the rules of the bylaw covering the junk business. Each dealer must have a book in which to keep records of all articles bought, from whom, and at what time. There has been a great deal of questionable buying done in the junk business, thus requiring severe measures to eradicate.

FAMILY RE-UNION WAS AN INTERESTING EVENT

Children and Grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Naish Unite to Spend New Year's Day

A particularly enjoyable family reunion of the sons and daughters and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Naish, took place yesterday afternoon and evening at the residence of Mrs. Hensley and Mrs. Gray, 12 Bolivar street.

The reunion was attended by 45 guests, and a very delightful time was experienced. The participants were all of English descent, and have only experienced a few years of Canadian life. Their reunion was a happy one and will become an annual event of the New Years to come.

A Christmas tree laden with presents for every member of the company was a feature of the event, and proved most interesting to the children, particularly. An orchestra composed of Messrs. Ernest and Walter Naish, and Robert Brown, who played the whistle-pipe, violin and organ respectively, while the juvenile members of the guests engaged in dancing, formed another prominent part of the event. Refreshments were also served in the evening.

THE KENNEDY-BRADD NEW YEAR'S NUPTIALS

A more than usually interesting social event was that which took place on New Year's Day, at "Edgewood," the residence of Dr. F. J. Bradd, when, in the presence of about fifty guests, Miss Eva Warfield, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bradd, was united in marriage to Mr. Lesley Leyson Kennedy, son of Dr. William Kennedy, of Willmette, Chicago. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, of Clinton, a former pastor of the bride, and took place in the drawing room, the bridal couple standing before a bank of greenery and white carnations.

The Costumes

The bride was given away by her father, entering the room to the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Miss Helen Davies. The bride was gowned in embroidered white chiffon, over white satin, and and wore the usual veil and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid was Miss Hazel Dean, and the maid of honour, Miss Alta Bradd, sister of the bride. They were dressed in white Marquisette, over taffeta, and carried bouquets of pink roses, and bridesmaids' wreaths. The flower girl was Miss Helen Hardinge of Chicago, cousin of the bride, and her dress was of white French linen, trimmed with German valenciennes lace over pink silk. She carried a basket of sweet peas.

After the ceremony Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe, of Clinton, sang "Love's Coronation," and "O Fair, and Sweet and Holy," and the wedding breakfast followed. The health of the bride was proposed by Hon. J. R. Stratton, and heartily honoured by those present. Mr. Kennedy responded appropriately.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left on the 5.15 C. P. R. train for a trip to the west, and will return to Peterborough before going to their new home in Chicago. The bride's going away costume was of brown cloth trimmed with violet, and a brown toque. She wore mink furs trimmed with ermine.

Many Presents

Many evidences of the popularity of the young bride were furnished by the array of beautiful presents, of which the bride was the recipient, the gift of the bridegroom to the bride being a gold bracelet set in diamonds, while to the bridesmaids he gave gold pins, set in pearls, with the figures "07" worked in. To Miss Helen Davies and the little flower girl he gave pearl crescents. The groomsman and Mr. R. N. Jolliffe were given opal pins.

Mrs. Bradd, mother of the bride, was dressed in black embroidered silk poplin, trimmed with lace, while Mrs. Kennedy, the mother of the bridegroom, wore steel grey silk, trimmed with applique. Miss Kennedy, sister of the bridegroom, wore a gown of brown silk, with toubles of rose.

The Guests

Among the out of town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Mallory, Mrs. Curran and Miss Clark, of Toronto; Mrs. Harding, St. Mary's; Mrs. F. Herdinge, Miss Helen Hardinge, Dr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Miss Kennedy, Mr and Mrs. H. H. Hardinge, Chicago; Mrs. A. Henderson, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Stone, London; Mr. and Mrs. Bradd, Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Colborne; Mrs. Curtis, Warkworth; and Mrs. English, of Omemee.

The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of the city, where she has lived practically all her life.

OBITUARY

ADAM CLOTWORTHY

Another old resident of Peterborough passed away on Monday night in the person of Mr. Adam Clotworthy, who died at the Nicholls Hospital, where he has been for the last three weeks suffering from bronchial trouble, which resulted in his death. He had been ailing for some time prior to his going to the hospital, and his death was not altogether unexpected. The late Mr. Clotworthy had been a resident of Peterborough for many years, coming here from Ireland, his birthplace, at the age of 20 years. He lived here for some time, and at the time of the gold fever went west with many thousand others to seek his fortune in the gold fields. He lived in the west for several years, and has been in Peterborough now for about 18 years. The deceased leaves to mourn his loss one brother and two sisters, the former, James and the latter, Mrs. Livink and Miss Agnes, all of whom live in Peterborough. The late Mr. Clotworthy was never married. The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the residance of his brother, James, 580 George street, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

NO EXPERIMENT WITH WATER QUESTION

"Citizen" Thinks Mr. Moore Should be Elected to the Board of Water Commissioners

Sir,—Why are Mr. Eastwood and Mr. Mason opposing Mr. Moore and each other? Mr. Moore has been a most satisfactory Water Commissioner and why should he not be re-elected? A man of his legal knowledge and thorough reliability is an acquisition to any board of management and in connection with so complicated a department as our waterworks he is a necessity. He is conversant with the whole water question from the start as he was one of those who was concerned in the acquiring of the works by the city. The water is bad and it is the question of the town how it is to be made better. The water question in the near future will demand the best attention that we can give it. We do not want any experiments just now. They would be, in my opinion, a mistake. I hope that Mr. Moore will be re-elected.

ZION'S ANNUAL TEA AND CONCERT

A Thoroughly Enjoyable Event at Forester's Hall, Otonabee, on New Year's Night—Peterborough Talent Assist

Last night the annual tea and concert of Zion Methodist Church, on the Keene circuit, was held, and was one of the most successful in the history of a series of similar gatherings in the past. There was the usual large crowd present, and those who attended spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening. Tea was served in the Foresters' Hall, and was both, as regards quality and supply, fully up to the standard which the ladies of that section have established a reputation for. Following the tea, the concert was given in the hall above, the chair being taken by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Harrison. The Misses Chasty, of this city, provided a number of the musical selections on the programme, their work being highly appreciated, evidence of this fact not being lacking. Mr. McCann played their accompaniments. Miss Lancashire favour the audience with a vocal solo, which was much enjoyed. Two enjoyable numbers were the recitations of Miss Throop, of Whitby Ladies' College. An interesting address was given by Rev. J. G. Lewis, pastor of the Mark Street Methodist Church Peterborough, on "Sights at Sea," in which he described in a most interesting manner some of the incidents of a trip across the Atlantic. Rev. W. D. P. Wilson, a former pastor of this circuit, also gave an address, his subject being "The Revolution of 1688." Mr. Wilson was very warmly greeted by his former friends, and his address was eagerly listened to.

A NEW YEAR'S DANCE IN THE TOWNSHIP OF DOURO

A Pleasant Evening Spent by About 85 Guests at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Leeson

New Year's Eve was celebrated by song, story and dancing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Leeson, of Douro township. About 85 guests, the friends of the host and hostess, assembled and spent a very pleasant evening. Among those were several Peterborough people. During the evening a dainty repast was served and it was not until the early hours of the morning that the guests dispersed.

An Otonabee orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

Music and Drama

DOROTHY VERNON

"The best offering of the season" was the verdict of everyone who saw Miss Laura Burt and Henry Stanford in the romantic play "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," at the Grand yesterday. Certainly no play acting has pleased the audience so thoroughly. Miss Burt took the house by storm and won every heart from the moment of her first appearance on the stage. At the end of the third act last night she was repeatedly called to the front and at last had to respond to the prolonged applause with a graceful little speech.

The action of the play closely follows that of the well known piece of fiction of the same name from which it has been adopted. The manner in which Dorothy Vernon falls in love with Sir John Manners, son of her father's most bitter enemy, the hardships she undergoes for his sake, and the inevitable result are too well known to be touched upon here.

What struck one most forcibly was the similarity between the two plays "When Knighthood was in Flower" and the attraction last night and also the likeness in many respects between Miss Burt and Miss Roselle Knott.

Miss Burt in the role of the impetuous, rather quick tempered, but wholly lovable "Dorothy" was simply perfection, and held the audience from start to finish. She was ably assisted by Mr. Stanford, who most cleverly portrayed the handsome young Manners; Mr. Alfred E. James, as "Parkin, the jester" contributed a very clever piece of acting, and the part of Sir Geo. Vernon, Dorothy's irascible father, was capitally acted by Mr. Fred S. Wright. In fact there was not a flaw anywhere in the cast the acting of the entire company being uniformly good.

As is natural with a play whose scenes are laid in the days of chivalry the costumes and scenes were most sumptuous.

Two crowded houses were present at the matinee and evening performances and Miss Burt and her company are assured of a hearty welcome to Peterborough whenever they appear here again.

NO MORE DANDRUFF

Newbro's Herpicide Destroys the Pestiferous Cause of Annoying Dandruff

If your scalp itches you are doubtless suffering from dandruff. The dandruff germ is digging up your scalp in little flakes, called dandruff, and sapping the life of the hair bulb. No hair preparation that is a mere hair stimulant and tonic will cure dandruff, because it won't kill the germ that causes the trouble. Newbro's Herpicide is the latest scientific discovery, and it will kill the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause and you remove the effect; kill the germ and you will have no more dandruff, and your hair or baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Edmonton property, compared as to situation with Peterborough and other Ontario cities, is now half and less than half in some cases in price. Edmonton property, compared as to situation with other citties in Western Canada, is much less in price (about half.) Edmonton's population July 1st, 1906, was 10,500; Oct. 31st, was 13,600—Edmonton Bullletin. Edmonton, as predicted by conservative [illegible], will have a population of 20,000 to 25,000 by July next. This means an increase of 10,000 to 15,000 in population in one year which is fifty to one hundred times the increase in Ontario cities. Therefore, the demand for property will be fifty to one hundred times as great, which means the opportunity for making money is fifty to one hundred times greater in Edmonton than in Ontario cities.

1907 A.D., the following buildings will be commenced :—1, Alberta's Parliament Buildings, to cost two million dollars; 2, Post Office, to cost two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; 3, High Level Bridge, from Edmonton to Strathcona, one-and-a-half million dollars; 4, Meat Packing Plant, to cost five hundred thousand dollars; 5, Court House, Railway Stations, Hotels, Warehouses, etc.

The Canadian Government is building a Post Offic to accommodate a city many times larger than Edmonton is at present. The Railways are doing likewise in building Stations, Roundhouses, etc. These two institutions are very reliable authorities to follow. When they predict a thing to come to pass, it generally comes. Edmonton will be one of Canada's largest cities.

You haven't seen Edmonton property advertised as you have other Western Cities during the past year. That fact, and the fact that Edmonton property is cheap compared with other cities in Western and Eastern Canada proves that a boom has not yet struck Edmonton.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY EDMONTON REAL ESTATE WHILE CITY IS SMALL, AND PROPERTY CHEAP

TURF CLUB'S RACES YESTERDAY WERE A SUCCESS

Fine Programme of Speeding Attractions was Run Off at the Driving Park

"HAZEL BELL" WON THE BIG RACE

A splendid programme of races was run off at the Driving Park yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the newly re-organized Peterborough Turf Club, considering the weather conditions and the state of the track, the event must be considered as a grand success from every point of view. The attendance was surprisingly large in view of the disagreeable weather. The stand was well filled with spectators who showed their interest in the races by braving the cold wind that swept across the park.

The track was in bad shape, the sudden thaw turning into a quagmire of slush. This interfered considerably with the speed of the horses and the time made in view of this fact was remarkably good. The rates were very keenly contested. There is great rivalry between the drivers of the fast ones and they all drove to win with the result that a splendid afternoon's sport was provided.

There were three events on the bill-of-fare. The first for Class A horses was in half mile heats and was won by C. Fife's Peggy after a remarkable speed contest with J. Elmhirst's Blake. The last horse won the first heat and made the mare step lively at all stages of the game.

Class B was in mile heats and brought out a field of four, J. Elmhirst's Little Girl, A. Elmhirst's Little Will, Dr. Johnston's Hazel Bell and Geo. Ligsett's City Queen. The race was a good one and although City Queen won in two straight heats, the others were always dangerous. "Little Girl" was responsible for considerable delay by her bad acting when scoring up and finally was distanced after a bad start.

The third race for Class C was also won in straight heats, Dr. Johnston's speedy little mare Hazel Bell carrying off the big end of the purse. Martin Connors' Lady Gothard handled by the veteran owner himself looked dangerous in the last heat when she uncorked a great burst of speed in the final quarter. The mare went up in the air at the critical moment and dropped back to third place.

THE SUMMARY.

Class A, half mile heats, purse $25.00.

Peggy, C. Fife, Otonabee	3	1	1
Blake, J. Elmhirst, Otonabee	1	2	2
Miss Tariff, C. Fife, Otonabee	2	3	3

Time, 1.37, 1.34 1-4, 1.36 1-2.

Class B, mile heats, purse $25.00.

City Queen, Geo. Lipsett, city	1	1
Little Will, A. Elmhirst, Otonabee	4	2
May Bell, Dr. Johnston, city	3	3
Little Girl, J. Elmhirst, Otonabee	2	d

Time, 2.44, 2.43 1-4.

Class C, mile heats, purse $100.00.

Hazel Bell, Dr. Johnston, city	1	1
Harry Direct, J. J. Cottingham	2	2
Lady Gothard, Martin Connors,	3	3

Time, 2.44, 2.39 1-4.

Mr. P. J. Clunan, president of the club acted as starter and gave the greatest satisfaction. He got the horses away quickly and in good shape with the result that the programme was completed shortly after four o'clock. The celerity with which the races were run off was very much appreciated by the spectators.

The Turf Club are to be congratulated upon the excellent racing they provided yesterday which will go a long way to assure the success of the next which is to be held on January 22 and 23.

FAST VARSITY TEAM HERE ON FRIDAY

Will Meet Peterborough in What Should Prove a Great Game

One of the best games of the season, will be played on Friday night when the fast Varsity team will meet the local senior O.H.A. team. The game between the two teams last season will be remembered by the fans as one of the fastest of last year. Peterborough won by 12—11, scoring six goals in the last ten minutes of play. Varsity has practically the same team now and will make things decidedly interesting for the locals. They made Berlin go the limit last week, the Saurkrauters winning out by 8 goals to 5, after a hair raising contest. Friday's match will give a line on the respective strength of Berlin and Peterborough, and will be more than usually interesting on this account. There will no doubt be a very large crowd present for the game.

THE CITY LEAGUE SCHEDULE WAS DRAWN UP

First Games will be Played To-morrow Night—Schedule Ends on February 21st

IX TEAMS ARE NOW IN THE RACES

The City League will open to-morrow night with a double header between the Strathconas and Auburns, and the High Lifes and Charlotte Street. The schedule for the season was drawn up at a meeting of the City League held in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday night, when there were present President Fred. A. Clark, in the chair; Vice-President, Jos. Maher, secretary-treasurer, Ira Moore, W. Shaw, of the Auburns and W. J. Metheral of the Strathconas.

The following schedule was drawn up and adopted :—

January 9.—Strathconas versus Auburns; High Lifes versus Charlotte Street.

January 10—Lakefield versus Orphans; High Lifes versus Auburns.

January 17—Charlotte Street versus Lakefield; High Lifes versus Orphans.

January 24—Auburns versus Lakefield; Charlotte Street versus Strathconas.

January 31—Orphans versus Charlotte Street; Lakefield versus Strathconas.

February 7—Auburns versus Charlotte Street; Strathconas versus High Lifes.

February 14—Orphans versus Auburns; High Lifes versus Lakefield.

February 21—Orphans versus Strathconas; Examiner versus Review.

It will be seen that all the games will be played this year on Thursday nights as usual. The big Examiner-Review game has been included in the schedule and the two press teams will take part in the last game of the league.

FIRST LEAGUE GAMES TO-MORROW NIGHT

Double Header is Scheduled—Mr. Geo. Lynch will Referee

The City League will open to-morrow night when two very fast games are promised. The Strathconas meet the Auburns in the first game and the contest should be a corker. It will be the Auburns debut in the league and they are said to have corralled a number of stars. Some new faces will be seen on the Strathconas and they claim to see a clear way to the championship. The champion Charlotte Street team cross sticks with the High Lifes in the second game which promises to afford lightning hockey at all stages. The line-up of the four teams is being kept a secret and some surprises may be expected when the teams go on the ice to-morrow night. Mr. Geo. Lynch manager of the seniors has consented to act as referee which insures good clean hockey. There should be a big crowd present for the opening events of the League.

CURLING

Disappointment was written upon many of the faces of the local curlers yesterday who had anxiously been awaiting New Years Day for the first competition at the rink. A number of rinks had been organized and divided into two sections led by the president and vice-president respectively. Owing, however, to the unexpected mild weather the games did not materialize as the ice was too heavy.

At present it is not known when the president will meet the vice but the games will be arranged as soon as the ice is satisfactorily congealed.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH SHOULD INVESTIGATE

Condition of Sidewalk on George Street is Not Very Creditable

It might be well if the Board of Health would investigate the condition of the sidewalk on the east side of George street, above Brock. The leakage from the Little Windsor Hotel yard onto the pavement has formed the street in a mass of filth which is certainly not a credit to the city and the smell from which is not attar of roses by any means.

Germany and Austria have about 150 cooking schools. A four years course is necessary before a diploma is granted. Most of the hotel chefs have diplomas from these schools.

COMBATS STATEMENT OF W. F. MACLEAN ON RATES

G. T. Bell, General Passenger Agent of the G. T. R. Points Out That Two Cent Rate is Not Advantageous to Public

SOME EXAMPLES TO PROVE THIS

An interesting statement was made by Mr. G. T. Bell, general passenger and ticket agent of the Grand Trunk, yesterday, in connection with the two-cent rate bill, and other legislation now being pressed in the House of Commons by Mr. W. F. Maclean, M. P. Mr. Bell took strong issue with Mr. Maclean, and produced facts and figures to bear out his contentions. His attention was particularly drawn to the following statement made by Mr. Maclean in the parliamentary debate:

"I defy the representative of any railway company in Canada or the United States to show a case where the maximum standard passenger rate has been reduced that it has been to the detriment of the company."

Mr. Bell said he was surprised to hear Mr. Maclean was again making such an argument. Mr. Maclean had made a similar assertion in Parliament in 1903, and when his passenger rate bill of that year was under consideration of the Railway Committee the following statement had been made in behalf of the railways which Mr. Maclean did not attempt to and could not successfully challenge, viz.:

"On a small part of the railway mileage in Michigan the maximum fare is two cents a mile, as the result of arbitrary legislation that is not a credit to the wisdom or justice of those responsible for it. This law requires railways earning from their passenger trains $3,000 per mile of railroad per annum to charge two cents a mile. It is evident that such a law is based upon a principle that must force the railways to limit their passenger service or operate it at a loss. It does not take into consideration the amount of train service given and consequently the cost of earning this $3,000 per mile of railroad. In the year ended December 21st, 1902, the railroads in Michigan earned under the arbitrary law an average of only 86 cts. per train mile from their passengers, against an average for all railroads in the United States of 96 cents.

"The railways in Canada in the year ended June 30th, 1902, earned from passengers only $1,203 per mile of railroad, or only 40 per cent. of the amount fixed by the Michigan law as a basis for the two cent a mile fare."

"It does not require an expert," continued Mr. Bell, "to see that legislation which reduced the earnings of Michigan railways ten cents per train mile below the average of all the railways in the United States, was not only detrimental to the railways, but almost confiscatory and most discouraging to railway development in that state."

"Nearer home we have convincing evidence of Mr. Maclean's fallacy." said Mr. Bell. "You may recall passenger fares in Quebec and Ontario were greatly reduced in 1898 owing to a disagreement between the two principal railways with the result that both carried more passengers for a while when it was thought by the public they would have the rates only a short time, but at the end of a few months the travel was about normal in numbers and unprofitable in earnings. The reduction lasted nine months and in the aggregate the Grand Trunk carried about half a million more passengers that year at increased cost and earned over one hundred thousand dollars less than in the preceding year. I am assured the Canadian Pacific experience was substantially similar.

"But," said Mr. Bell, "Mr. Maclean's object seems to be to compel the railways to operate at a loss and force the Government to take them over as I infer from his remarks in Parliament. For example, when he introduced the 2 cents per mile bill, Hansard quotes him as follows: 'We have expressly declared that we undertake the absolute control or rates, and I believe the ultimate end of that will be that we will undertake the absolute control of the operation of railways.' Let us hope for the good of this country such an undesirable event may be long deferred. However, it may only be one of Mr. Maclean's rash statements. Here is another: Mr. Maclean, on the same occasion, said:

"The law (in Ohio,) went into force, the people got two cents a mile, the railroad (the Pennsylvania lines in Ohio) got more travel than it could carry, and not a single privilege that the people of Ohio enjoyed previous to that law going into force was abandoned."

"Now," said Mr. Bell, "I met in New York last week Col. Samuel Moody general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines and he informed me that when the 2c. per mile maximum became law last March, every reduced fare was cut off except for commutation and Sunday excursion tickets and for these the fares were advanced. This means to benefit comparatively few transient passengers, the working people and vast majority of all classes who can only afford to travel at holiday seasons, and who formerly enjoyed one fare for round trip excursions on such occasions as Dominion Day, Fourth of July, etc., now must pay 2 cents per mile. The people of limited means are thus helping to make up the deficit in earnings created by a compulsory and undue reduction of the maximum fare. This must always be the case when the railways are forced by legislation to carry passengers or perform other services at unprofitable rates — they cannot discontinue their operations and must recoup themselves by restricting privileges and running excursions fares they otherwise would be glad to accord. Why, even in populous New England states and in New York and Pennsylvania at holiday times the people pay two cents per mile or more against an average of one and one-half cents on our railways in Quebec and Ontario."—Montreal Gazette, Dec. 25th, 1906.

ALD. JOHNSTON'S IDEAS ON BUILDING PERMITS

Has Definite Views with Regard to the Fire Limit Boundaries

The adoption of a system of granting permits to builders is a question which in all probability will be considered during the coming months of the present year by the City Council. Ald. Johnston, if elected next Monday, as one of the twelve, has stated that he will be one to support the proposition. He is strongly in favour of adopting some scheme by which a record may be kept of the building operations in the city.

The alderman states that two years ago he had tried to arrive at some scheme of that sort to become a proper guidance to the city. Ald. Johnston, too, has definite views in regard to the fixing of the fire limit boundaries. He considers it unfair to compel a builder to erect a house on one side of a street with specified walls, and to unrestrict another, immediately across the street. His idea is to make the boundary line, not the streets, but a line drawn midway between blocks in all cases.

The alderman, if elected for another term, will have these questions brought up among the many in this year's Council.

CALF WAS VERY FOND OF LADY'S RED HOSE

Woman Brings Suit Into Court Against Owner for Damage

Homestead, Pa., Dec. 29.—Charles Hensel, living near here, has a calf with an appetite so depraved that only stockings of the brightest hue, and of the female persuasion, will satisfy.

As a result, Hensel has been haled into court and asked to settle for a lot of damaged hosiery and lacerated feelings, assessed at $50.

Mrs. Annie Myrtagh says that the calf is a terror, indeed. Of the colour of a last year's door mat, he is passionately fond of bright colours and has been known to break through a seven-rail fence to get an accordion-pleated underskirt of blue and a pair of red stockings. Complainant goes on record as saying she used to hang out her washing, but also cannot afford to do it any longer until something happens to the calf.

HE MAKES AN ATTACK ON SALVATION ARMY

"Fake Charity" Says Chancellor of Nebraska University

Examiner Special.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 1—"Fake charity" was the term applied to-night by Chancellor E. Benj. Andrews, of the University of Nebraska, to the Salvation Army's work.

"The Army makes no statements accessible to the public," he says, in an open letter to the captain of the local post, "of its income or what it does with its money."

"The Army's methods are vicious and pauperizing, calculated to make its so-called relief work a plague. Its charity dinners pauperize, increasing poverty and want, instead of relieving them. I am against fake charity and in favour of the real thing."

NO PROGRESS MADE IN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

In the Provision of Modern School Buildings in the City—Result Peterborough is Near the End of Procession

NEW COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE NEEDED

The question of a Collegiate Institute building is not a new one in Peterborough, and as is certainly time it was settled. Apart altogether from the fact that the present building is required for public school purposes one has only to consider its adequacy to present needs, its lack of laboratory accommodation, and its general unsuitableness for the purposes of a modern high school, to wonder that so much has been accomplished there, and to be convinced of the need of a new building.

Peterborough has occupied a very honourable position, educationally, among the towns and cities of the province. It was one of the first places to introduce the plan of a supervisory inspector of public schools, setting an example that has now been followed by many others. The school authorities have taken pains to secure the services of the best teachers, and have been wise enough to retain them for long periods when secured. Compared with other places of similar size, the teachers have been very well paid. In the matter of buildings, Peterborough was once in the first rank, but for twenty-five years no progress has been made in that respect, while other places have forged ahead to such an extent that we are now near the end of the procession.

Perhaps the greatest mistake that the people of this city have made in educational matters, has been in the lack of foresight shown in regard to grounds and buildings. In fact it almost seems as if it was only within the last few years that Peterborough realized that she might have a future. This mistake should be guarded against now. An excellent site has been secured and a school should be placed on it that will not only be a credit to the city but will meet the needs of secondary education for some time to come. The building will occupy a conspicuous place in the city and while the matter of first importance is to have it adapted to the needs of the school as completely as possible, yet there is a certain amount of education in the exterior of a public building, and it should not be entirely devoid of ornament. It should be such a building as we should all be proud of.

Considering everything, I should say that the amount asked for — $61,000 — is not unreasonable, and I have no doubt but that this will be the opinion of a large majority of the patriotic and public spirited ratepayers of our city, as expressed at the polls on Monday next.

WOMAN DONS NIGHTIE TO PROVE RIGHT LENGTH

Creates a Laugh in Court while a Case of a Stolen Nightie is Heard

Washington, Pa., Jan. 2. — The spectacle of a highly respected woman of the town getting into a real befrilled "nightie" in open court, and strutting up and down before the jury, convulsed the county court yesterday. Judge Mellvaine all but disgraced the bench by giggling aloud.

Mrs. Joseph Gordon complained that Mrs. Lewis Hamilton had taken some things from her house, and among the articles in dispute was a beautiful night gown. Counsel for Mrs. Hamilton made a stand on the night gown, asserting that there was a mistake, that it had not been the property of Mrs. Gordon, and was too short for her, and demanded that to test the matter properly the "nightie" should be put on by Mrs. Gordon. She shied at the thought.

Mrs. George Wallace, daughter-in-law of the prosecutor, of Mrs. Gordon's height, volunteered to get inside the night gown for the prosecution, and slid neatly into the dainty thing.

"Just a little short, isn't it?" said Attorney Irwin for the defence.

"Not a bit," said Mrs. Wallace. "Everybody don't take one so long as some people," and as she looked over the six-foot length of Irwin, even the sour grimed, while the jury gazed and lawyers went into spasms.

YOUNG CONSERVATIVES HOLD SMOKER TO-NIGHT

Heretofore they have always proved successful, and to-night's entertainment should be just as successful. Mr. E. A. THE VACANT CHAIR

(Written on the occasion of the early death of Mr. Frank O'Meara, law-student at Laval university, Montreal, and a former resident of Peterborough, a son of Mr. John O'Meara, barrister, late of this city. On the occasion of the students' annual dinner, his seat was vacant, and Mr. Gustave Lanctot, the toastmaster, in his opening address to the guests, referred in touching terms to their dead fellow-student.)

The lights in the banquet hall flash'd bright,
Yet not more bright, than the students' eyes,
Where joy shone out at the gladsome sight
Of a union of all that students prize—
Of life and fellowship, bustle and glare—
But there, at that board, stood an empty chair!

And the lights in the banquet hall wax'd dim,
And the students' eyes wore a glassy glare,
As they conjured up their thoughts of him
Whose place was to be in that empty chair;
And a sob passed along from rank to rank,
As they thought, if they spoke not, the name of Frank.

Then the one whose lips should the toast proclaim
Paused, lifted his glass, and in heart-tones said:
"Let us drink to his memory, and call his name,
For our friend of yesterday, friends, is dead."
Through the major scale of their joys so brief
Flowed the minor tones of the students' grief.

And they spoke of him then, as they knew him well,
Of his manly ways, of his generous heart;
And many a tale could each student tell
Of how nobly Frank played his every part;
And the cheer of applause was a mournful nod
Of approval and prayer for his soul with God.

It is sad to die when scarce out of youth,
When grandly spreads out the way of life—
When talents are wedded to faith and truth,
And the arm is steeled for the coming strife.
But who will attempt the secret to wrest?
For the legend still says that "God knows best."

Gone; but his memory will long survive,
And whenever in festive hall they meet,
His student friends, where'er alive,
His name with a loving word will greet;
And they'll check the song and forego the prank
To whisper a prayer for their dear, dead Frank.

J. K. FORAN.

Chronicles of Don Q.

BY K. AND HESKETH PRITCHARD.

(Copyright by Pearson Publishing Company.)

HOW DON Q. FOUGHT FOR HIS NAME.

During his life of brigandage in the sierra, Don Q. earned for himself a name for relentless cruelty, but he was cruel only because cruelty was a necessary part of the equipment of a sequestrador. Wealth he despised, save as a means of power; for his life he cared little; indeed, he was wont to say that only when it stood in danger did it become endurable to him.

But there was one thing he valued, a possession held in the secret of his heart, cherished, guarded, beloved above all else the world contained. To this secret he could turn for solace during his long fits of despondency when the bitternesses of the past surged back to torture him. This secret, which he believed to be inviolate, set safe and high, far beyond the snatch of fate, which he never dreamed could again be jeopardized, was yet to cost him some of the fiercest moments of his life.

On an evening of late winter, Don Q., rising from his fireside, drew his cloak more closely, round him, and, going out to the terrace before the cave, began pacing up and down. As he walked, he read from an old book of Spanish legends deeds of high emprise, carried through with a stateliness of courage that lends so great a distinction to many tales of Spanish chivalry. Presently he closed the book upon his finger, and as he walked amused his mind by comparing his own career with the mighty performances of old.

In the midst of his thoughts he drew up to peer curiously downward at a young man who was making his way through the groups cooking, gambling and smoking round the fires in the valley. He rushed up the path to the terrace, holding a mountaineer's leather bag at arm's length, and laying it carefully at Don Q.'s feet, sprang back to some distance.

"What is this, Felipe?" The chief's tone was an ice-douche.

Felipe, with terrified eyes glued on the bag, gasped—"A bottle, lord."

"Corpse of a scullion!" Don Q. snatched at his knife. "Fool! speak before I cut the words from your tongue!"

"The fathers from San Pedro sent it. It was found in the chapel before the altar yesterday. No man would carry it hither, for all said it must be an infernal machine. Then came Maria, the wife of Tomas, to confession. She brought it, lord."

Don Q. laughed till the young man winced and colored.

"So it came by the hand of a woman, after all! Maria shall not be forgotten. Show the bottle to me."

Felipe jerked up his head and shivered like a frightened horse.

"It will blow us to fragments, lord."

The chief drew out his knife and pricked the man sharply in the thigh. Felipe started, cast one glance at Don Q. and caught the flickering malevolence in his eyes, then leaped to obey.

He raised the bottle with shaking hands. It was of a curious shape, made of some dark-stained thick glass; the cork, well rammed home in the neck, was further secured by a strip of paper fastened over it. On this slip of paper was written, "Al Senor Don Q."

"Lay it down." The chief stood for a moment brooding. This was probably some new scheme against his life. "Felipe," he said at last, "tap that bottle with the hilt of your knife until you break it, then we will judge whether it be indeed an infernal machine."

The lad hesitated. But his chief's eye compelled. White-lipped he stuck at the glass till Don Q.'s short patience gave way. He seized Felipe's hand over the knife-blade, forcing a strong blow. From the shivered fragments of the bottle fell out a letter.

Don Q. glanced at him.

"Hand me the letter and go!" he said.

By the crimson light of the sunset the brigand examined the letter.

"Senor," the letter ran, "I invite you to meet me on Sunday at midnight at Las Lechuzas. For the sake of the name you once bore, you will not fail me, and you will come alone."

Don Q. looked at the seal and looked again, then with a groan turned to seek his cave.

Crouched over his fire he brooded long. Here was a blow well aimed, and the more perilous because he was absolutely at a loss to know whose hand delivered it. "The name you once bore." He repeated the words under his breath, and the first fear of his reckless life crept cold and small about his heart.

The pride of his youth and of his young manhood passed before him. His loveless marriage day, the birth of his children, and then the dark hour when he knew but one day remained to carry the honor of his ancient name clear, and that was to give up all his great possessions and to die.

And in the eye of the world he had died, but the fierce blood in his veins had called to him to live somehow, in some fashion—hidden and unknown for ever, but secretly building up again those fallen fortunes of his house.

At length the brigand sighed heavily and sank back into his seat.

"It is sealed with my signet ring, I could not mistake it, the ring I gave to—her on that evening of calamity. You grow old, Caesar," he whispered to himself; "this has shaken you. Who possesses the ring now?"

After a while he brought out his autobiography and began to write—

"My name is threatened. It seems incredible, for I have been long in the sierra; so long that I myself can scarcely number the years. During those years but three men have suspected the name I once bore. A name of splendid traditions. I buried the third of these men 15 years ago. When I turned from his grave, I thought I had had my last dealings with such menaces. I felt safe. I reveled in my security. It appears, alas! I was mistaken, and that is why I must now go down to Las Lechuzas alone.

"It may be a trap for my life, and that will mean defeat to all my hopes and my plans. I could indeed remain in safety here and let them guess as they pleased perhaps, but for one thing. I am alone in the mountains, but in the world I am not quite alone. There is one other of whom I must think. If these animals know my name, of a surety they must know of her existence. If they can be base enough to bait a trap for me with my heart's blood can I imagine they will show mercy to her? It may be they guess only and have no certain knowledge of facts, but I must make sure, and further if chance befriends me, take means to close for ever lips that can babble so murderously."

Don Q. sat bleak and solitary upon his horse. He had come to the end of his journey. For two days he had been riding downward through the mountains to keep rendezvous with his unknown enemy—a terrible ride, tortured with memories and harassed with suspense.

He was absolutely alone, for he had no companion whom he could trust. As for the men in his band, with the exception, perhaps, of Robledo, he divided them into two classes—the first, whom he could rely on a little, for though wolfish they were fools; the rest, endowed with low cunning, he would not depend on at all.

He had come to the conclusion that his correspondent must have in view one object—gain. He would endeavor to force hush-money from the brigand whose immense fortune was the common talk and envy of the plains. Such a secret, affecting as it did the honor of a noble family, could not be trifled with, and, indeed, it was certain that Don Q.'s enemy had by some means become possessed of real information, that blown abroad would render decades of solitude and self-sacrifice vain. The chief's plan was a very simple one. To come face to face with his adversary, and to kill him. If he himself perished, what matter, so long as this great work was done.

Neglecting no precaution that his long years of guerilla warfare had taught him, he lay watching in the thicket until night fell. No living thing approached Las Lechuzas or came from it. Yet against the murk of darkness the chief saw a spark fly and die over the building, and knew that a fire was being kindled on one of its deserted hearths.

At once he began to move. To arrive before one is expected frequently disconcerts an enemy's tactics. Tying up his horse as near to the edge of the wood as possible, that it might be easy to find, Don Q. crept up to the building, through the ruined gateway, and across the courtyard. Within all was dark, silent and mysterious.

As he moved stealthily forward along the stone passage where the night seemed solid, a chill wind came after him, gathering up the deathlike odors that cling about places man has inhabited and forsaken. His fingers had rounded a broken corner of wall, when a rush of warmer air brought him the pungent smell of kindling wood. He thrust out his head and saw the entrance to the great central hall, against which a broken door, torn probably from one of the outbuildings, was propped; through and behind this the light of a fire leaped and sank.

It has been said that Don Q. was a famous hunter; he crept noiselessly to the makeshift door and listened. Five minutes passed. No sound came from within but the intermittent anger of the fire as it roared and crackled among the wet wood. The brigand slipped off his coat and wrapped it shieldwise round his left arm, then thrust the door backward. It shook, rose, poised a second, and flapped upon the floor, flinging up a cloud of dead old dust as it settled.

Don Q. slipped into the opening, and, seeing nothing but a high wooden screen that hid the fire, stood with his back against the wall until his eyes became accustomed to the light.

Still no sound.

After waiting a few minutes he walked softly and swiftly round the screen. A great fire roared up the chimney, an empty stool was by the hearth; no more. Yes! He made out a figure drawn up into the darkest corner, between the screen and the outjut of the chimney; a figure, cloaked from head to foot.

"I have come," said Don Q. at last.

"With your knife in your hand," said a vibrating voice. "That is well."

Don Q.'s arm fell to his side. A woman!

She threw back her cloak and advanced into the full blaze—a tall girl with a passionate beauty that matched well her poignant voice.

"You are not Don Q.," I expected to meet with a different person."

"But you are Don Q.?" she asked.

The brigand swept his sombrero to the floor.

Her tragic eyes lit up.

"And you came to kill!" she exclaimed.

"Or to be killed."

"No! Don Q. will not belie his reputation," she rejoined. "He may yet kill some one to-night—if he dares!" she added suddenly.

The brigand eyed her for a minute.

"There are men allied to brave women, men who are cowards and who choose to be represented on occasions which they themselves fear to face. I have received a letter bidding me to come here. Do you know anything of it?"

"All, since it was I who wrote it."

The chief eyed her for a minute.

The chief shrugged his shoulders. "May I be permitted to inquire—under whose orders?"

She smiled. "I am here alone, as I wrote alone. Hear me, for there is not time to spare." Don Q. made a gesture of polite attention. He was keenly suspicious, though there was a simple urgency of woe in her face that almost compelled belief.

"I will tell you my name—I am Anita del Vilar," she went on, "and you are not Don Q. but—"

The chief flung up a fierce hand. "Hush, not even dead walls must hear it!"

A strange look came over her face.

"I judged rightly! You are the man who once bore—that name. My life is in your hands. Now I know that you will do for me all that I want." She bent near him. "There was once a young girl, loving, happy, and oh, so lovely." Her voice broke. "My little Lucia, my sister. She was mine from the day our mother died. We are of the nobles, as you know, but secretly, 'we stabled the lean horse,' as the saying is—the lean horse, misfortune. He carried us to the verge of ruin, but we hid our troubles well."

Don Q.'s gaze held her; he had stabled that horse himself.

"Then a man, a lover, came to my Lucia. He was ambitious and her fortune meant much to him; but you see it was all gone. The marriage was arranged; then my father could no longer hide the truth." She faltered. "I thought my darling—she was younger than I, senor—would break her heart. Ah, but worse came. They met secretly and she went away. For a long time we did not know where she was. My father died of grief. Then I got a message from a stranger, and I hurried to Paris, but I found her dead, my little Lucia; dead of want and sorrow, with her lover's letters on her heart." She touched the chief's breast.

He took her hand and kissed it with a fine reverence.

"You who never saw her dear face, are sorry for her." The girl's voice had the penetrating thrill of a harpstring. "I would have killed Diego Palomoro with my own hands if I could; but I was helpless until I thought of a way."

A prevision of irremediable evil came upon Don Q. He made her a gesture to continue.

"I had one weapon left. Do you blame me that I used it? I knew a secret I learnt seven years ago in a convent in Castille, where I was brought up, I meant to keep it, O, believe me, I meant to keep it, but—"

"First—how did you learn it?"

"From the mother superior of the convent."

A dreadful change passed over the chief's face.

"Enough! You are lying to me!"

She fell on her knees before him.

"Hear me. I swear—let me tell you how I heard it. It was when she could not hide it. She was ill. I was always her favorite, and when she feared delirium, she directed that I alone should stay with her. In the night she wandered, and I—heard—all."

She hesitated, then rushed on.

"I promised her I would never speak. O, Mother of Heaven, forgive me! Afterward she gave me the signet ring to bury out of sight, for it was to her an occasion of mortal sin. I loved her, senor, she was so sad and beautiful. I could not part with it. I kept it for her sake because I loved her."

"Yet you could betray her!"

Dona Anita rocked upon her knees in a passion of sobs. Then suddenly she sprang up, defiant.

"If it were to do again I should do it! A thought came to me that I had one weapon left. You forbade me to whisper that name to these dead walls. What if I have told it to living ears? I was right!" she laughed exultantly. "I went to Diego; I spoke to him of Lucia. He mocked me! Then I told him the secret—your secret."

"Why?"

"Because I knew that by doing so I was securing on my side the fiercest champion in Spain!"

Don Q.'s head fell on his breast. "You might have done the one without the other," he said sadly. "But finish."

"I told him because I knew the man who heard that secret must die. You will kill him?" she cried out. "I boasted to him that it would be his death sentence."

"And he?"

"He swore on the contrary that I had made his fortune," she wailed.

The chief moved alertly. "Good! He will not share his knowledge until he first tries to make use of it with me. When did you see him?"

"To-day. He is at his farm, six leagues away, where he came to look over the herd of bulls he bought from—"

"Yes—yes. Farewell, Dona Anita, I wish you had trusted me before you betrayed me."

She clasped his arm. "Kill me. I deserve it! But for Lucia's sake I would do the same again! Kill me!"

HOW DON Q. FOUGHT FOR HIS NAME.

Don Q. gently pushed away the clinging hands.

"I cannot deny that you have deserved punishment," he said, "for you have done more than kill a man: you have perhaps killed a very ancient and noble name. Yet you were mad with your sorrow, and you are but a woman. Farewell, Dona Anita. I go to find this Diego, who has indeed committed frightful crimes—the first, in deceiving and deserting your sister; the second and greater, in learning my name."

The sound of his light footfall had scarcely died away when Dona Anita heard a confusion of voices, a pistol shot and a cry. She started to her feet and hid herself in the dim corner by the chimney, drawing the screen closer.

As Don Q. was stepping from the great gate he stumbled against a rope tied across it. In spite of his fragility, and the fact that he borrowed his strength rather from the spirit than the body, he was not an easy prisoner to capture. He leaped rather than fell into the courtyard, but a stone crashed after him, striking him on the head, yet as he sank down his mind telegraphed danger to his hand, and he fired his revolver at one of the three dim shapes towering above him.

When Don Q. came to himself he found he had been carried back into the great hall and laid within the circle of firelight. His weapons were gone, his hands and feet bound, and the blood was already drying upon his face. At first he half believed it must be a dream, but remembrance roused him thoroughly—was he not fighting for his name?"

Now, in all his life Don Q. had never been in bonds before, and it may safely be declared that the danger of his position was entirely swallowed up in the sense of the indignity thus put upon him. Two men stood talking by the fire, while a third lay upon the floor behind him. He could hear faint groans, from which the brigand gathered that his shot had not gone so far astray.

"Impossible!" The exclamation broke loudly from one of the two at the fire. "Why, the man's dead, heaven knows how long ago!"

"So it was given out," said the other; "but in any case, Nicanor, this fellow will be worth something, for he is undoubtedly Don Q. "Did you see how he fought?"

"So would you, my dear Diego, under the same circumstances," laughed Nicanor.

"True, but not so adroitly as he did. This is an expert in the struggle for existence. Come, if he is not sufficiently awake to question we must rouse him."

"If this be really Don Q.," put in Nicanor, "it would be safer to kill him as he lies."

"All in good time. First let us extract the dollars." He stepped across to the brigand and kicked him. "Wake up, rascal, I would speak with you."

The chief opened his eyes and closed them again feebly. He recognized the lean, fine-featured face with its light, sinister eyes as that of Palomoro.

"Come, bandit, you will drowse no longer when you hear it is a question of your treasure. I hold you captive, as you have held many a one I know, and it is your turn to pay ransom."

The chief lay silent.

"Dona Anita lured you here and I followed Dona Anita; only just in time, or you would have escaped us. The fact that you are Don Q. is proven; we have the witness of your features." Diego pulled the brigand roughly up by the collar and held his face to the light. "The quebranta-huesos cannot be mistaken for a crow." The other man joined in Palomoro's laughter. "Where have you hidden your hoard."

Don Q., propped against the stool, answered with tonelese civility—

"Many men have asked that question."

"Many men have searched for your treasure," retorted Don Diego. "The good fortune of finding it has been reserved for me."

"Perhaps," replied Don Q. "But let us to business. How do you propose to learn where my treasure—presuming I have a treasure—is concealed?"

"By a method you understand—compulsion."

"But how?" the chief's politeness was unaltered. "Will you torture me? Or, it may be, threaten me with death?"

"Your courage is reputed to be unassailable," answered Don Diego, "though I may be driven to try conclusions with you in that way if gentler means fail. But I propose to begin on another basis. I happen to be the lucky holder of a secret belonging to your past life."

The brigand made a contemptuous gesture. "You are credulous, senor."

"Caramba! I know it to be true. Has any other bait tempted you into the jaws of a trap? No! But this was successful. As I followed the pretty Anita here, I realized that if you came at her call, whatever gods there are had delivered you into my hands. You must buy our silence—my friend's and mine."

"And what of the gentleman I have been so unfortunate as to wound?" inquired Don Q.

"Manuelo? Pooh! my groom. He is dead by now; you shot too straight. Come, our terms are simple."

"Go tell your secret in the streets of Malaga; you will be none the richer."

"We cannot haggle like a couple of old women in the market place. Make up your mind. If you lead us to your treasure we will give you our word of honor as gentlemen to preserve your secret inviolate."

"Senor, pardon me. You would sell your honor? Is it not so?" questioned Don Q. with exceeding suavity. "For my part, I cannot afford to buy it."

"Why?—against your principles?" said Don Diego with angry contempt; "Senor sequestrador, who holds to ransom."

"Precisely. It is against my principles. Not as a sequestrador, but against my principles as a man of business, I cannot buy that damaged article—your honor."

Don Nicanor burst into oaths; the other man stood deadly still.

"I am about to teach you, brigand," he said icily, "the lesson you have taught many a better man—the fact that you are after all no more than flesh and blood. Strip him, Nicanor." He stooped and plucked out from amongst the heap of wood beside the hearth a bar of iron still imbedded in a broken window-sash. As he thrust it to heat in the flames, there was a movement of the heavy screen, and Dona Anita rushed out from her concealment.

"You would torture him!" she shrieked. "You shall not! You shall not!"

Don Diego's smile was not pleasant to see. "My dear lady, I fear Don Q. has to thank you only for his present position."

"Look at the door—in the doorway!" she screamed.

Both of the men swung round, and, taking advantage of the instant, Anita threw herself upon Don Q. and began to saw at the bonds with a delicate-bladed dagger.

The men pulled her off savagely and dragged her toward the door in spite of her frantic resistance. Of all that the brigand had to endure on that night, perhaps this moment was the worst, while he was forced to look on at the rough handling of this lady.

He heard the men say there was an upper room where they could shut her in. The noise receded. He was alone.

He looked around. Dona Anita's dagger was not to be seen, but his eyes fell on an iron bar already hot. He rolled toward the fire, pushed the bar out of the embers with his bound feet, and held the ropes upon his wrists down upon it until they charred and he could jerk them loose. Scarcely conscious of the horrible burns on his hands and wrists, he untied the knots about his ankles and stood up free, unarmed indeed, but yet free. Then he endeavored to stamp out the fire, but hearing footsteps he flung an armful of damp wood upon the glowing ashes, effectually darkening the hall.

It was Don Diego who entered. "Hullo, how dark it is! Help, help, Nicanor!" he shouted.

For Don Q. was on him like a cat. Springing at his neck from behind, he kicked his knees from under him and brought him heavily to the ground just as Nicanor came running into the hall.

"Robledo, Gaspar, to me! I have the other here," called Don Q.

Nicanor was deceived. He could see nothing but the outstretched form of his friend, and he imagined that the brigand's men had come to the rescue of their chief. He turned to escape. Don Q., snatching Don Diego's knife and pistol, started in pursuit.

Nicanor leaped out across the snow to where his horse was tethered. Cutting his friend's loose, he flung himself upon his own with a yell and a blow.

Hot after him followed Don Q. The night was now full of a pale luminosity, for a white-rimmed moon had swum up over a world that lay a-cold. Some moments were lost in reaching his horse in the wood, and by that time Nicanor was out of sight; but the chief knew his enemy would make for the nearest village, some four leagues distant. If Nicanor once gained its shelter he must escape, carrying with him the desperate secret.

With spur and voice, Don Q. urged his horse forward. The snowbound chase sent no sound up to the dim heaven; a magic circle might have been shutting in these two gasping riders and their passions. But Don Q., being much the lighter man, was gaining surely upon the other. Nicanor, looking back over his shoulder and seeing only one pursuer and that one overtaking him, fired again and again at the figure with the flying cloak bent so closely over his horse's neck.

No shot came back in reply. "He is without a pistol, this brigand," thought Nicanor, and turned at bay, wheeling his blown horse behind a thicket laden with snow. The chief swept nearer and nearer, then his horse seemed to stumble or rear. Don Nicanor could not clearly see what happened, but Don Q. was thrown from his saddle. He lit upon the ground not far from the thicket, and by the impetus of his fall rolled over and over to within a few feet of it.

Don Nicanor, spying through the branches to take good aim, passed forever from the light and consciousness of earth, for a little tongue of flame licked upward from the tumbled figure upon the snow, followed by a smack of the striking bullet, a sound unlike any other in the world.

Instantly the chief was up to run in upon his foe, but Nicanor was hanging dead half among the bushes, his feet still lodged in the stirrups.

"A very simple trick, good Don Nicanor, but it sufficed for you," said the brigand, as he pushed the body to the ground.

Climbing upon his horse, he glanced up at the moon, and saw with satisfaction that by its light he could ride at a hand gallop back along his own tracks. Nicanor's tongue was dumb forever, but infinitely the more dangerous of his two adversaries remained. So far Don Q. felt things had gone well enough, but the danger to his long hopes and hereditary pride still loomed darkly ahead. Diego was a man of cunning and malevolence, and one who did not lack courage. Perhaps he had not yet recovered consciousness, or he might have departed, taking the secret with him, or most likely of all he was lying in wait for Don Q., whose return he very well knew he might safely count on.

Yet who could say what turn Don Diego's enemy might take? Suppose he recognized the fact that his deepest revenge lay in spreading abroad his knowledge to befoul the honor of that kingly name! At the thought Don Q. drove his horse on, but a cloud drifting up obscured the moon, and in a moment horse and rider were wrapped in a blinding squall of snow. It was impossible to tell the direction in which they were traveling, so for a maddening hour Don Q. plodded slowly on, consumed with impatience and anxiety, keenly alert to every sound, yet benumbed by cold and wind.

In the midst of his despair, he found himself on the mound of Las Lechusas.

Hurriedly tying up the horse, he groped his way into the building, through the silent passages to the hall. In the dull glow of the fire it seemed empty.

Empty, empty; nothing to be seen but little fitful flames, feeling about the freshly piled wood on the hearth! Diego no longer lay where the brigand had left him. Don Q., keeping in cover of the great screen, waited, for it was clear that during his absence his opponent had recovered consciousness.

But the fire languished, and cast long deceptive shadows on the floor and rugged walls. Watching, the chief at length made out something black and round, from which a dull gleam was struck at intervals.

All was very still, save those weird noises that wander forever in old habitations. The brigand crawled nearer and nearer to the dark object. All at once a flame leaped up, and showed him Don Diego's dark, well-groomed head lying within hand reach.

On the brow the death chill had gathered, and in the strong throat was thrust a dagger. Don Q. felt for the hilt; it was slender and delicately fashioned. Quickly he sought the dead man's right hand; it was empty, though a revolver lay beneath it; but among the fingers of the left he found coiled a strand of long, dark hair.

The chief started up. What, then, was become of Dona Anita? For a moment he forgot to exult that his name was once more safe from that world where people talk. The next he had kicked the fire into a blaze and looked around.

The girl lay half on the ground, half propped against the wall, with her hands clenched in her lap, her white face set in a tangle of dark hair, her great black eyes wide.

In an instant Don Q. was beside her. "Diego shot me," she whispered very faintly. "He wanted to force me to give up your ring as proof—but I saved it." Gently Don Q. took it from her falling fingers. "When I am dead," she went on, "you will perhaps forgive me, and carry me away from this place and lay me in some niche in the sierra, with the pure snow about me, where I can sleep well at last."

* * * * * *

An hour before the dawn Don Q. began his journey back to the mountains, and across the saddle bow, wrapped in her long cloak, he carried Dona Anita to the burial she had desired. Scattered snowflakes struck at him and at his burden, for a wind had arisen; but far way from whence it came one star began to shine and sparkle through the snow-wet night.

Lime Dust For Tuberculosis.

At a recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Medicine Dr. Brouardel held forth on the benefits to be derived by consumptives from living in an atmosphere charged with lime dust. He quoted a report by Dr. Bordenave, who says that within the thirty years that he has practiced he has not seen a single case of tuberculosis among the workmen at the kilns and that people affected with tuberculosis are soon cured after they live some time in the lime dust.

Too Much Wood.

The Clacton town crier, who is known as "Peggy," on account of his wooden leg, was recently a candidate for a seat on the urban council. He claimed support on the ground that "as there were many wooden heads around the council table, in the fitness of things there ought to be a wooden leg there, too."

IS BEING BLAMED FOR THE MURDER

Death of Ex-Deputy Hertzenstein Investigated.

THE REACTIONARY LEAGUE

Leaders of Organization and Prominent Conservatives Held to Have Committed Crime—Said to Have Furnished Assassins With Weapons, and to Have Settled the Details—Budget Estimates.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—The revelations of the secret committee of the Constitutional Democratic party, as the result of its work in definitely tracing the murder of ex-Deputy Hertzenstein, who was assassinated near Terioki, Finland, last July, to the reactionary league of the Russian people, the counter-terrorist organization, published by the Rech yesterday, created a sensation.

The league, among whose leaders are Dr. Dubroven, president of the Union of Russian People, and Count Konovitzin, head of the organization known as the "True Russian People," Count Apravine and one of the Princes Volkonsky, is one of the legalized political parties which is preparing to participate actively in the coming elections.

The Rech says it has proofs that Yshkevich, assisted by Polovseff and another prominent Conservative, organized the crime, furnished the murderers with revolvers and even selected the spot where they were to lay in wait for Prof. Hertzenstein. Exact details of the identity of the two actual murderers of the professor have been furnished to the Procurator-General.

No arrests have yet been made, but investigations of the charges against the league have commenced at St. Petersburg and Moscow and in Finland.

BUDGET OF RUSSIA LARGE.

Greater Part of Increase to Pay Interest on 1906 Loan.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—The preliminary budget estimates prepared by the Ministry of Finance for the first six months of 1907, commencing Jan. 14, provide $523,415,000 for regular expenditures, an increase of $18,896,000, or 3.7 per cent. compared with the semi-annual expenditures for the same period of 1906.

The greater part of the increase will be absorbed in the payment of interest on the big loan of 1906, which increased the total of interest charged from $11,098,000 to $94,730,000.

RUSSO-JAP NEGOTIATIONS.

Alarmist Reports Are Discredited By Mikado's Minister.

Paris, Jan. 3.—Dr. Motono, the Japanese Minister to Russia, in an interview, published yesterday, was quoted as insisting that alarming reports of the status of the Russo-Japanese negotiations regarding the fisheries, navigation and other questions were not warranted.

He predicted a successful conclusion of the commercial treaty, and denied that Japan had made excessive demands, such as the opening of the whole of the Amur River to commerce. Japan, however, the Minister pointed out, did insist on the opening of the Sungari River, which drains Manchuria, as a natural corollary of the treaty of Portsmouth and as establishing the principle of the open door.

He considered that the questions growing out of the interpretation of the words "rivers and inlets" in the treaty, and the consulates and passport regulations as being of a minor character.

COAL FAMINE'S CAUSE.

U. S. Commissioner Finds Railways Failed to Prepare For Movement of Grain — Evidences of Boycott.

Washington, Jan. 3.—The causes of, but not the cure for, the car shortage in the northwest, and the consequent coal famine in North Dakota, have been determined by the members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who participated in the recent hearings at Chicago and Minneapolis.

Franklin Lane, chairman of the investigating commission, finds that it is a fair inference from all the testimony that the real cause of the coal scarcity in North Dakota, was such an abundance of west-bound traffic at the head of the lakes that cars were not available in the congested state of that terminal for carrying coal to North Dakota.

Mr. Lane says that the report will be followed in due course by the special recommendations of the commission as a whole as to whatever legislation, if any, may be deemed advisable.

Referring to the report that the coal shortage was due to the presence of a trust or combination between dealers in coal, who fixed prices in the northwest, and refused to sell to "outsiders" and "irregulars," the report says: "The commission has gained indisputable proof of an agreement between coal dealers to maintain prices and to boycott all who do not so agree; but there is no evidence at all justifying the contention that this combination is chargeable with the coal shortage prevailing, nor that the railroads were party in any way to such a conspiracy."

Financial loss to a large percentage of the people of the northwest is shown to have been caused by the failure of the railroads to prepare for a large movement of grain. Mr. Lane shows that the railroads tapping the great grain belt of the northwest seem to have been overwhelmed by this year's crop, although, in fact, the crop scarcely exceeded that of 1905, nor did it equal that of at least one other preceding year.

A VETERAN RETIRES.

Lieutenant-Colonel Clark, Clerk of the Legislature, Succeeded by Arthur Sydere, Assistant Clerk.

Toronto, Jan. 3.—Lieut.-Col Charles Clarke has resigned his office as clerk of the Legislative Assembly, and Arthur H. Sydere, the assistant clerk, will succeed to the office. The salary is $2,000. Col. Clarke, it is understood, will be granted a retiring allowance.

Col. Clarke completed his 80th year on Nov. 28, and has been clerk of the Legislature for 15 years. For 20 years previously he sat for one of the Wellingtons, and was Speaker of the House in 1880, in which capacity he served for seven years, becoming clerk in 1891 in succession to Col. Gilmore, who had been clerk since Confederation. In these 35 years he has never missed a session, and Col. Clark's record in this respect is probably unique in Canada. His experience lends weight to his manual on Parliamentary Procedure, of which three editions have been issued.

Col. Clarke was born in England in 1826 and came to Canada in 1844. In the reign of John Sanfield Macdonald he edited 'The Backwoodsman," at Elora, previously having published The Journal and Express in Hamilton. He was active in the Fenian raids and attained his lieutenant-colonelcy in 1871. He then lived at Fergus and in that year was elected Liberal representative in Centre Wellington.

ASTUTE UNCLE SAM.

Only Person Who Grasps Golden Future of Canada's Northwest.

London, Jan. 3.—The London Globe's chief fear regarding the Essex small-holdings experiment is that the class of man who wishes to start farming on a small sum will see that he can do better in Canada.

The Manchester Guardian presumes that Canada flax is unsuitable for Belfast manufacture, as no vigorous effort is made to bring it here, where an open market awaits it.

The Pall Mall Gazette, in a special article, remarks that in the Northwest Canadians are much more complaisant toward the money of the Yankee invader than to that of the Britisher, who wants nearly everything. Uncle Sam is the only person who seems to have grasped the golden future of the Northwest.

Trains Snowbound In West.

Winnipeg, Jan. 3.—The west is in the throes of another big snowstorm, and traffic is almost completely tied up on all lines. The storm is of the eastern variety, the snow being wet and packs hard. Not a train got in from the south yesterday. C.P.R. officials state the last storm cost them more than $200,000, and this will cost them more, while E. A. James, manager of the Canadian Northern, states that it is costing them $1,200 a day to fight the weather.

Store Scorched.

Cornwall, Jan. 3.—J. E. Tallon's dry goods store, Pitt street, was scorched last night. The building was owned by Mrs. J. A. Craig. Damage, $800; stock damaged $1,000 to $1,500; both covered by insurance.

ACCOUNTS WERE KEPT SEPARATE

McGill Had One In New York For the Ontario Bank.

AND ANOTHER FOR HIMSELF

Evidence of New York Brokers Before Commission of Inquiry—According to Information Given Charles McGill, General Manager, Had Extensive Accounts In New York —The Stock Transactions.

New York, Jan. 3.—The Ontario Bank commission continued its enquiry among the New York brokers yesterday. At the office of Marshall, Spader & Co. the press were excluded.

W. B. Spader said his firm dealt with Charles McGill through Spader & Perkins, members of the New York Stock Exchange. The account, totaling $30,000, was in McGill's name alone. They issued cheques out to him and know nothing of the Ontario Bank.

Oliver Hart of the stock brokerage firm of Charles Head & Co. of Broadway was examined. He said that the firm had two accounts with Charles McGill; No. 1 representing a syndicate, as he had been told, and the second in the name of the Ontario Bank. The first account, he said, dealt generally in margins, the second started as a cash investment account, but worked into a speculative account.

He said the account of C. McGill was opened March 9, 1903, and ended Nov. 10, 1905. The Ontario Bank account opened April 23, 1906, and closed Oct. 24, 1906.

Mr. Hart said the firm would call for margins as needed. On Nov. 10, 1905, he said McGill was paid $1,627.54, and in the other account he was paid $312.81. Mr. Hart said the Bank of Montreal gave the firm instructions to dispose of the latter account.

"I don't think," remarked Mr. Hart, "that McGill converted any of this money to his own use."

Mr. Hart was not able to offer any explanation of the Buckingham and Seagram cheque. He had explained a moment before that the $16,000 was composed of two cheques, one for $10,000 was paid over to Buckingham, Seagram & Co., endorsed by Mr. McGill, who turned it over to C. Head & Co., and the cheque came back to the firm in the regular course of business; the second cheque was for $6,827.54, which was deposited with A. E. Ames & Co., Limited, by Charles McGill, the latter firm depositing it with W. H. Goadby, New York stock broker. Mr. Hart said the Ontario Bank account that McGill had with his firm was turned over to the Bank of Montreal. This firm turned over to the Bank of Montreal in New York 600 shares of Iowa Central, 300 Minneapolis and St. Louis and 1,100 Sloss-Sheffield, and got a cheque for $2,339.55, thus closing out the account on Oct. 24th.

"Every time I was in Toronto I was told of McGill's speculating; everybody in Toronto knew of McGill's speculations," said Mr. Hart.

Asked where the money came to his firm, Mr. Hart said it came through the Fourth National Bank and was placed to the credit of either No. 1 or No. 2 accounts. He said that his firm had only one account on the books of the firm with McGill.

The commission is expected to return to Toronto on Thursday.

FRANCHISE VALUE CUT OUT.

Arbitration Award of Value of Berlin and Waterloo Street Railway.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—The award of the board of arbitration, composed of Judge Jamieson of Guelph (chairman), Judge Morgan of Toronto, and J. M. Scully of Waterloo, which was appointed last spring to value the plant of the Berlin and Waterloo Street Railway Co., the franchise of which expired in September of 1906, was received by the railway committee of the town council yesterday.

The entire plant was valued at $75,200, which is practically the price estimated by Town Valuator J. W. Moyer of Toronto. Each side pays its own costs, and the town defrays the expenses of arbitration, which amounted to $3,323.

The company's valuation of the plant was $201,000, which included 10 per cent. as a going concern, and $52,000 for the Waterloo franchise. The arbitrators allowed nothing on the plant on these scores.

World's C. E. Officers.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 3.—At the meeting of the World's Christian Endeavor Union here yesterday the following officers were all re-elected: President, Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark; secretaries, John Willis Baer and Von Ogden Vogt; treasurer, William Shaw; auditor, George W. Coleman.

Babe's Body Found.

Hamilton, Jan. 3.—Yesterday afternoon some boys found the naked body of a newly-born child on the mountain. Dr. White will open an inquest this morning. The theory the police are working on is that the babe was murdered by its mother.

Shoots At Judge McDonald.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 3.—Just after Judge J. A. McDonald of the circuit court had convened court yesterday morning, Miss Rosa Weil suddenly arose from among the spectators and fired point-blank with a revolver at the judge. The bullet missed him. She was disarmed and arrested. Judge McDonald after ordering the woman removed from the room, turned to several attorneys, who were waiting to make motions, and said calmly, "Proceed, gentlemen."

THE IRISH FUNDS.

Allegations Against Redmond Faction May Stir Up a Scandal.

London, Jan. 3.—The allegations of financial wrongdoing on the part of the Remondite members of the Irish party, made in Cork on Dec. 31, by Wm. O'Brien, promise to become of serious import.

The Irish People, the organ of Wm. O'Brien, publishes an editorial yesterday, declaring that the records of the alleged wrongful financial methods of Redmonites, the revelation of which was threatened by Mr. O'Brien in his speech at Cork, must be produced before an Irish jury, and that this jury shall hear the whole story, including a recital of the disposition of the immense sums obtained under false pretences, and which enabled the bosses of the party to defy the people.

Daniel Sheehan, member of Parliament from mid-Cork, has sent a letter to John Redmond, demanding an apology or reparation because the party stopped his allowances, which action he attributes to the influence of Mr. Redmond, and failing which he threatens legal proceedings.

POLITICS IN GERMANY.

Von Buelow Confesses to Battle Cry In Election Manifesto.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—Chancellor Von Buelow yesterday disclosed the motives and aims of the Government in dissolving the Reichstag in a vigorous election manifesto, which took the form of a letter to Lieut.-General Von Liebert, chairman of the managing committee of the Empire League, formed to combat the Social Democrats.

The chancellor explained that he had a double purpose in appealing to the country, namely, to free the Government from dependence on the clerical party, and to strengthen the Liberal groups in the Reichstag, so that they, in combination with the Conservatives, may successfully oppose the growth and destructive power of socialism and reactionary clericalism.

The chancellor then announced that his political battle cry for the time was: "Fight for the honor and properity of the nation against the Social Democrats, Poles, Guelfs and Centrists."

HUGHES TO HELP HEARST.

Governor of New York Recommends Instant Provision For N.Y. Recount.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3.—The two Houses convened at noon yesterday. James W. Wadsworth, jr., of Livingston, was re-elected Speaker of the Assembly.

In his message to the Legislature at noon yesterday, Governor Hughes makes many important recommendations. The Massachusetts system of voting is advocated. So is the limiting by law of the amount of money that can be expended by candidates for offices. The wiping out of existence of the state railroad commission and the gas and electricity commission is recommended, as well as the abolition of the board which now appraises the value of lands acquired for barge canal purposes, the latter being a recommendation made a year ago by Governor Higgins. Direct nominations are favored.

The Governor recommends "that immediate provision be made for a recount of the votes cast for mayor at the municipal election in New York City in 1905. The matter is not one into which any considerations with respect to persons or expediency should be allowed to enter. If, upon a recount, it is found that the present incumbent of the office received a plurality of the votes, he will be confirmed in his title, and the claims which have been vehemently asserted against it, will be conclusively answered. If, on the other hand, his opponent was elected, he should be seated."

As to railroad legislation that is needed, the Governor says: "Proper means for the regulation of the operations of railroad corporations should be supplied. For want of it, pernicious favoritism has been practised. These abuses are not to be tolerated."

THIRTY-FIVE KILLED IN BAD WRECK

And 55 Persons Injured In Bad Southern Train Wreck.

BODIES OF 30 WERE BURNED

Mexicans Were Pinned Under Seats and Doors Were Jammed So They Could Not Get Out—Passengers In Chair Car Also Held Down—Those In the Rear Car Escaped in Their Night Clothes.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 3.—Thirty-five persons, all Mexicans but three, were killed, 55 persons were injured and the bodies of 30 Mexicans were incinerated yesterday, in a head-on collision of two passenger trains of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad, near Voland. The wreck occurred while both trains were running slowly on a curve in a cut where the grade was steep.

All the killed were in the southbound train, except a tramp on the north-bound train. He and a negro porter and a workman accompanying a gang of Mexican laborers, were the only Americans killed so far as known, although a passenger says a woman and child was burned in a tourist car.

Most of the injuries were due to the setting of an emergency brake, which threw almost every passenger in the south-bound train to the floor. The north-bound train was running up grade. The Mexicans were pinioned under the seats and the doors were jammed so they could not get out. In the chair car also many passengers were held down by the seats.

The train caught fire from the gas tanks, which were broken.

The passengers in the rear car escaped in their night clothes and dressed in the mud beside the track.

John Lyons, 19 years old, telegraph operation at Voland, who let the south-bound train get by his station, where it was to pass the north-bound train, was taken to jail last night.

Scotch Golfer Drowned.

New York, Jan. 3.—The body of Robert Dunlop, the Scotch professional golfer, was found at Vancortland Lake, Kingsbridge, yesterday. Dunlop had been missing for several weeks. It is believed he fell into the lake while walking across the park at night.

DROWNED AT HALIFAX.

Major O'Devaine Skated Into a Hole In the Ice.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 3.—Major O'Devaine, chief ordnance officer of the Royal Canadian Regiment, was drowned in Williams' Lake last evening. He went skating with Capt. French. The latter did not think the ice safe and came home.

O'Devaine skated up the lake. He did not return, and his non-appearance at the barracks caused a searching party to be sent out. Towards midnight a hole was found in the middle of the lake and by means of an eel spear the body of O'Devaine was recovered.

Deceased was a native of Ireland. He was formerly in the Imperial Royal Artillery, and on the Canadian Government taking over the garrison he was made major and chief ordnance officer. He was about 35 years old and married a Halifax lady. He leaves a wife and one child.

Killed At Collingwood.

Hamilton, Jan. 3.—Word was received yesterday of the death of Gordon M. Walton, the 21-year-old son of W. G. Walton. While inspecting the Glenellan at Collingwood with his father, he fell through a hatchway into the hold, sustaining fatal injuries. The deceased was a draughtsman.

Many Fingers Amputated.

Hamilton, Jan. 3.—George Lawrence, 189 North Victoria avenue, an employe of the International Harvester Works, had three fingers taken off in a machine yesterday afternoon; and Louis Hendelburg lost four fingers at the Burrow, Stewart & Milne Foundry in the same way. Both were taken to the City Hospital.

Killed In Runaway.

Guelph, Jan. 3.—Richard Harrington, J.P., of Rothsay, was thrown from his cutter at Kitley's Bridge and killed. The horse became unmanageable and ran away, pitching him out.

Fatal Runaway.

Belleville, Jan. 3.—A fatal accident occurred near Holloway, this county, on New Year's Day. Mrs. McKenna of Toronto was driving, and with her were her sister, Miss J. Wilson of Holloway, and her adopted daughter, Miss Margaret McFarlane. The horses ran away and they were thrown out. Miss Wilson had an arm fractured. Mrs. McKenna escaped with slight bruises, but the little girl's skull was fractured and she died yesterday morning.

Women's Strength Is Overtaxed
BY WORK AND WORRY, BUT GOOD HEALTH IS RESTORED BY
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food
With her strength overtaxed by to much work many a woman finds herself weak, nervous and exhausted, subject to indigestion and headaches and spells of discouragement and despondency.
Under such circumstances Dr. Chase's Nerve Food comes as a blessing of great value, bringing new hope and confidence and restoring vitality to the blood and nerves.
Dizziness, heart disturbances, pale, bloodless appearance, smothering, choking sensations, heavy heart beating and palpitation are some of the symptoms which give way before the persistent use of this great food cure. The appetite is sharpened, digestion is improved, the form is rounded out to healthful proportions and gradually and certainly strength and vigour replace weakness and disease.
Mrs. D. Scott, Cobourg, Ont., states: "After recovering from typhoid fever I was left in a very low state of health and my system was very much run down. I was very weak, nervous and in fact was not fit to do any work at all and began to fear that I was of little use in the world.
"A friend of mine, Mrs. G. M. Brown, had used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and told me that it benefitted her wonderfully. I took courage and began the use of this medicine. After taking the first box I began to feel an improvement in my health, and now after using four boxes I am completely cured. I now feel like myself once more and believe that I can attribute the cure to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."
For men who are suffering from headaches, indigestion and sleeplessness, for women who besides these symptoms suffer from weaknesses and irregularities of the delicate feminine organism, for children who are pale, weak and puny, there is no preparation extant which will bring about such satisfactory results as the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food; 50 cents a box, 6 boxes $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A NOVEL BOX PARTY.

Can Be Given Miles Away From a Theater.

An original box party, given while ten miles from a theater or amusement place of any kind, proved more amusing as well as less expensive than many of the entertainments to which high priced admission is paid.

The invitations gave the keynote of the affair. These were conventional notes written on paper of small size and inclosed in little boxes for which Uncle Sam's first class tax was paid in full, lest they be slower in arriving at their destinations than ordinary letters.

A table piled high with a motley collection of boxes greeted the bewildered eye of the arriving guest. These receptacles ranged in size from a jeweler's carton to a bandbox and each bore a number. They formed the foundation of a mirth provoking contest.

The company sat in a circle and slips of paper with pencils were distributed by the hostess. Then, one by one, the boxes, varying from tiny to unwieldy, were passed along the line. Contained in each box was some small object which the players were asked to guess.

No peeping was allowed and no peephole in sight. The deduction had to be made by the sound when the box was shaken. Any one who could not form an opinion as to the contents when the box was first passed to him was permitted to make a second or a third trial. Guesses as to the contents were numbered in rotation and corresponded to those on the boxes. The objects inclosed were purposely simple in character—a boy's marble, a lead pencil, eraser, thimble, pin, cork, spool, etc.

The player who succeeded in guessing the greatest number of the hidden objects won a box of candy as a prize.—Philadelphia Press.

Round Shouldered Children.

Do you keep sharp watch on the children's spinal columns and shoulders?

When there is any inclination to stooping shoulder look into the matter at once to find the cause.

It may be the clothing in some way. The hose supporters will be put on the easiest way, and that is front and fastened to the underwaist.

This makes a pull on the chest and drags it over. It takes only just a little more pull than on the back and down drops the chest.

Are the bands around the waist weighing on the muscles that are made to hold up the body so they are not strong enough to work when so much is put on them?

The boy gives way under the drag of an ill fitting coat collar which is too thick.

See that there is no pull or weight on the back of the neck.

When nothing pulls the young spine over or presses it down and the proper muscles are allowed to hold it up the back will usually be straight and flat.

Want of pure air to fill the lungs and the drag of poorly arranged clothing have given many a child an incurable hump or a sunken chest for life.

Parsnip Croquettes.

Boil and press one pound of parsnips through a sieve.

Put four ounces of breadcrumbs into a basin, add half a cupful of boiling milk, the parsnip puree, one ounce of butter, one teaspoonful of grated cheese, the yolks of two eggs and a seasoning of salt, pepper and lemon juice. When thoroughly mixed form into balls, roll them in the whites of eggs beaten, roll in fine breadcrumbs and fry a golden color in hot oil.

Drain and serve on a folded napkin.

The above may be varied by adding to the other ingredients part of a raw grated onion or herbs and chopped mushrooms.

BANGLES IN FAVOR AGAIN.

Seen Dangling on the Wrists of Pretty Girls.

Back comes the bangle! Really, it was too dainty an ornament to stay out forever. What a rage there was for bangles of every sort twenty years ago! Year by year it died away until only the uninformed were seen with them. But the bangle has come back—come in an infinite variety of forms from rarest of gold dollars and quarter eagles to still rarer three cent pieces and half dimes and abundant dimes and quarters. All the old fancies have returned with it—the monogram, the interlaced initials, the letters cut out in filigree, the frosting, chasing and other adornment. Soon one may see schoolgirls' wrists besprinkled with bangles as of yore, while every graceful motion shakes forth a rippling jingle faint as the peal of fairy bells. The fashion is old as the oldest hills. It harks back to the Arabian Nights, when every dark eyed belle was hung with golden ornaments from head to foot. Further back it goes to days when the heavy coins of Rome and Athens decked slave and free woman alike. Doubtless Cleopatra raised a bangled wrist in greeting to Antony. Belshazzar probably had his own brand of bangles for distribution among the beauties of his court, and it's on record in the annals of fashion that Diana of the Ephesians fairly glittered with the pretty baubles. Success to the bangle. Long may it wave from the wrists of the fair for the joy of the brave!

SMART LETTER PAPER.

Square Styles Are Considered Best Taste For Notes.

Letter paper is for the most part square, that size being considered the best taste for notes, and are unusually diminutive even for the use of youngsters, for the envelopes are only about one and a half inches squares, while the sheets are a trifle less than three inches square, or just large enough to fit smoothly in the envelope after being folded once. The flaps on these envelopes are long and pointed, reaching almost to the bottom.

A few styles of the mottled note papers have oblong envelopes, with flaps in which there are two or three curved scallops. These are decidedly pretty and will probably be more used by little girls than the square shapes, though the latter have a smarter appearance. The envelopes are about two inches long and an inch wide, while the sheets that fold once are a bit less than four inches long and a trifle under two inches in width.

The note paper that is decorated with childlike designs to please and interest youngsters is much larger than the novelty varieties, and the pictures of little girls skipping rope or of a boy flying a kite are placed near the top, like monograms, so that they will be apart and distinct from the writing on the body of the sheet and will in this way show to advantage on a larger piece of paper, where the effect would be lost on a small one.

These pictures in delft blue, vivid pink, green, bright red, attract even small children, and some of those that illustrate Mother Goose rhymes bring screams of delight from the little boys and girls who recognize Little Boy Blue or little Miss Muffet, etc. Most of these are of white paper, so that the decorations will show up, though a few are in light pastel shades, on which the vivid colors make a pretty contrast.

FORECAST OF FASHION.

Taffeta Jabot and Ties on Smart Coats—Paris Raves Over New Color.

A curious feature of the tailor made coats of the moment is the taffeta tie, or jabot, that accompanies so many of them, which is either arranged in a loose bow or tied sailor fashion. A note of color in this way is introduced in an otherwise somber costume.

Paris is raving over a new color which is a kind of compromise between pomegranate and old rose. This lovely shade has been reproduced in silk, cloth, velvet and in every kind of trimming the ingenuity of the manufacturer can devise.

LACE BLOUSE.

Instead of a cluster of funereal black feathers on a black hat, we have this season a trio of feathers converging from a point at the back of the hat in black, white and empire green.

Velvet coats trimmed with fur bands, collar and cuffs are worn with cloth skirts. It is a fashion that should secure popularity, inasmuch as out of one's store of half worn fur there may be rescued enough good pelt to trim in this fashion.

Lace ruffles form almost all of the visible part of the stunning blouse pictured. The bretelles and beading to the flounces are of old fashioned puffed silk. The girdle is of the silk, fastened with four handsome buttons.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Tea Party In Japan.

At a Japanese tea party the guests sit on cushions placed upon the floor, and the tea service consists of a teapot, a cooling pot, teacups and a stove to heat the water. The Japanese, instead of pouring boiling water over the tea as we do, pour the water into a cooler and then on to the tea, which is allowed to steep for a few minutes. Boiling water is then added and the cups filled. Green tea is used, but no sugar or cream is added.

Cauliflower Souffle.

Chop finely half a pound of cooked cauliflower. Season with salt, herbs, pepper and worcester sauce or catchup.

Beat up the yolks of three eggs, add these to the cauliflower and put the mixture into a buttered pudding dish.

Whip up the whites of the eggs very stiff and mix lightly. Bake for twenty minutes. Serve very hot.

For the Kitchen Window.

Have a bunch of chives and parsley growing in pots in the kitchen window during the winter. Chives are more delicate than onions and are a delicious addition to the potato or lettuce salad and fine for flavoring soup or hash. It must be chopped fine. A teaspoonful is enough for a salad.

Girl's Empire Frock.

The empire style is just as prominent among the gowns of the young girl of sixteen as it is for her mother and older sisters. A pretty frock is here shown which is arranged in this empire fashion, the fullness laid in small double box plaits form a deep band of embroidered muslin. The yoke is formed alternately of muslin tucks and the thinnest line of beading and valenciennes lace insertion. Over the shoulders draped bretelles of pale blue ribbon are carried, finished in front with full soft rosettes. The sleeves have deep cuffs with narrow frills of lace, and the puff has the same insertion and beading as the yoke.

With rye, scotch or brandy, York Sparks adds zest and improves flavor, because no salts overload it; it does wonders in bringing out the bouquet of spirits. Ask for it at good hotels and clubs; or tell your wine merchant you want it.

THE FORESTERS HOLD THEIR ANNUAL CONCERT

An Enjoyable Event at Bridgenorth When Annual Entertainment Was Given in the Town Hall at That Village

A SPLENDID PROGRAMME WAS GIVEN

Examiner Special.

Bridgenorth, Jan. 2. — During the holiday season there were school concerts and entertainments galore, but the banner event in the amusement world was the concert given by Court Bridgenorth, C. O. F., in the town hall on Wednesday evening, December 26th. Their good reputation had to be maintained and the result was that the cleverest of talent from all quarters of the community gave evidence of their ability from the same platform. The committee in charge put forth every effort to provide a varied and pleasing programme and to have all arrangements as nearly perfect as possible. As the weatherman was very gracious in serving out ideal conditions they were rewarded for their endeavours. The hall was filled to its utmost capacity and standing room was at a premium. As to the suitability and attractiveness of the programme given, there was abundant proof, for a more orderly, attentive not be found anywhere. They are still wearing the smile that won't come off, and the New Year resolutions will be only half the burden that they were other years.

In accorance with custom and propriety the then Chief Ranger, Mr. Udy, acted as chairman and performed his duties in a most admirable manner. The following is the programme which he so ably announced:

Chairman's address.
Instrumental, Ray family.
Recitation, Noble Milburn.
Solo, A. Telford.
Gramophone selection.
Duet, G. Scott and A. Telford.
Speeech, Bro. R. N. Scott.

Instrumental, A. Nicholls and S.
Instrumental, Ray family.
Speech, Bro. J. N. Telford.
Recitation, Wesley Nicholls.
priety, the present C. R., Mr. Percy
Speech, Bro. J. Little.
Cornet solo, T. Harrington.
Song, Clara Ray.
Speech, Mr. Harry Mann.
ious in serving out ideal conditions McConkey.
Dialogue, "Unappreciated Genius," Reading, Ernest Brumwell.
Step dance, J. Cullen and J. Conway.
God save the King.

No comment need be made as the various numbers were well rendered and several encores were given.

At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served by some of the younger members but owing to the large crowd their task was by no means a light one. After the inner man had been satisfied part of the audience dispersed to their several homes, while others still lingered. The floor was cleared of chairs and seats, and Mr. George Ray supplied the needful music in a manner that gave new life to all present. Those who took pleasure in tripping the light fantastic and enjoy the dizzy whirl of the mazy dance, were having their innings and made some good "catches," some good "runs," and some good "hits." At 2.30 a.m., the game was ended and the participants partook themselves to their homes, with the firm resolve, "Bridgenorth for me!"

PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY JANUARY 3 1907

PETERBOROUGH MAN INTERESTED IN A BIG LUMBER MILL DEAL

D. C. Irwin and Associates Buy Mill for $360,000.00 Near Vancouver B.C.—Timber Limits of 800,000,000 feet—Mills on Burrard Inlet

A GOOD BARGAIN WAS MADE

A despatch from Vancouver, received to-day gives details of one of the largest timber deals ever consummated in that province. Special interest attaches itself to this particular deal by reason of the fact that one of the principals in it is a former Peterborough man ,Mr. D. C. Irwin. With him are associated, Mr. G. McCormack, ex-M.P., of Orillia; Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, and one or two others.

A Big Price Paid

These gentlemen have purchased the business of the Canadian Pacific Lumber Company, of Fort Moody, the cash consideration being $360,000.00. An idea of the immense value of the property may be gained when it is stated that, even at the price mentioned, it is considered a good purchase. The cutting capacity of the mills is 150,000 feet per day of 10 hours.

Timber Limits

The limits which go with the mill comprise 100,000,000 feet of timber, while in addition to this Messrs. Irwin and McCormack have in their own right a limit of 700,000,000 feet, which, in all probability will be sold to the new company.

The mills are situated on Burrard Inlet about eight miles from the City of Vancouver, in an advantageous situation so far as shipping facilities are concerned.

A Good Bargain

It is estimated in Vancouver that the new company easily cleared $100,000 on the deal.

Mr. McCormack, who is a practical lumberman of many years' experience, will be manager of the new company, while Mr. Irwin will also be activity associated with it in an executive capacity.

Those who, by reason of a personal knowledge of the conditions, are in a position to speak with authority on the subject, express their utmost confidence in the future prospects of the new company and its success seems assured, a condition which Mr. Irwin's friends in this city will learn of with pleasure.

BAPTISTS FAVOUR THE UNION

With the Disciples Church—Committee Met to Consider the Proposal From Recent Convention

It will be remembered that at the recent Baptist convention held in Peterborough, the question of the union of the Baptist and Disciples Churches was one under discussion, and it was decided to take the matter up, following the convention. It appears that this is being done now, as the following from the Toronto News indicates:

A number of the leading men in the Baptist denomination met this morning in the Baptist Mission Rooms on Richmond street to discuss the question of union with the Disciples, which is now almost certain to take place. Rev. W. E. Norton, Home Mission Superintendent, was chairman of the meeting.

It appears that the creeds of the two denominations are so much alike that scarcely any change will be required. The only point of importance now remaining is the choice of a suitable name for the new denomination. This has not yet been decided.

CITY LEAGUE GAMES WILL BE PLAYED TO-NIGHT

Notwithstanding the bad weather of the last day or two the ice in the rink is exceptionally good and the games scheduled for to-night for the opening of the City League will be played. The first between Strathcona and Auburns and the second between the High Lifes and Charlotte Street.

The admission is 10c. for ladies and children and gentlemen 15c.

Cold Weather Coming Apace

The predictions for to-day — that it would rain and sleet—are being realized. This morning when the early risers awoke it was raining, and this condition has continued practically all day. The prospects for the rest of the day and night are for unsettled weather, with probably similar conditions for at least a part of to-morrow. It will, however, be much colder towards to-morrow night, and Saturday will see a return of zero weather. The prediction to-day is that the present mild weather will be short-lived. By the end of the week it will be cold enough to suit anyone.

RUNAWAY HORSE THE CAUSE OF INJURIES

Mrs. Z. Burnham of Otonabee, victim of Accident

Yesterday afternoon an accident occurred on Rogers street, near the C. P. R. track, which resulted in painful injuries to Mrs. Z. Burnham, of Otonabee. It appears that Mr. and Mrs. Burnham were driving home from the city, when the harness slipped, allowing the cutter to run against the horses' heels. The animal ran away, throwing Mr. and Mrs. Burnham out, the result being that the former was somewhat seriously injured. She was taken to the residence of Mr. Peck, and a physician was called. It is not anticipated that there will be any particularly serious results following the accident.

Statement of Commissioners

Editor of Examiner:

Our attention has been drawn to the address of Mr. E. F. Mason in which he solicits support that he may be elected a member of the Board of Water Commissioners, and particularly to that portion in which he has embodied the notice re proposed legislation.

During the past five years the Commissioners have at various times discussed the propriety or wisdom of asking for just such legislation as is outlined in the notice, and after carefully studying the matter from various standpoints, unanimously decided that it is in the interests of all ratepayers, whether water consumers or not, that they should have power to collect a water rate from all property, whether vacant or occupied, on streets on which a water main is laid. To the Commissioners, it is obviously unfair that the water users should not only pay sufficient rates: First, to operate and maintain the plant. Second, to pay interest charges on debentures. Third, to establish a sinking fund whereby sufficient money will be accumulated to retire the debentures at the end of thirty years, but also to increase the value of vacant and other property abutting on the line of water mains. It is but reasonable that all property deriving a benefit from our water works system should pay a portion of the cost of maintaining and operating it.

A few weeks ago, the Board of Trade passed a resolution asking the Council to do just what the Commissioners had already decided to do in this matter. Mr. Mason was present at that meeting and did not oppose it. At a later date the Water Commissioners met the Council to discuss the proposed legislation, and at which meeting Mr. Mason was also present, and did not make any objection.

While Mr. Moore may draft such a bill as we would ask the Legislature to pass, the Commissioners as a whole, are responsible for it, and are agreed that we are acting in the best interests of our city in asking for increased powers in the direction outlined.

We would further say that creating the Commissioners a corporate body is only to make it more convenient to them in executing contracts with water users in special cases and has no other significance whatever.

Yours respectfully,
T. F. MATTHEWS,
W. H. HILL.

Peterborough, Jan. 3, 1907.

The German Government's proposed way of punishing automobilists who run down the people of the countryside is worth considering. Embodied in a bill is a scheme compelling automobilists to pay life annuities to those dependent on persons killed by their motor cars, or to those permanently injured by them. The owners of the cars, and not the chauffeurs, would be held responsible, and the amounts would be assessed by the courts.

Two Italian navvies, believed to have murdered William Dow, and stabbed four others at Snakestone Lake on Christmas day, were captured at Byng Inlet.

MANY CAPITALISTS AFTER A SITE

A Party Travelling by Special Train Looking for Location for Big Car Factory—Will Fort William Beat Peterborough Out?

BOTH CITIES ARE AFTER IT

Will Mean a Big Thing for the City That Succeeds in Landing the Industry—The Party Are Now on an Inspecting Tour.

Examiner readers will remember that about two weeks ago reference was made in these columns to the fact that a company of eastern capitalists was making a visit to Canada with a view of looking for a location for a large works to manufacture railway cars. It was suggested at that time that Mr. Brown, who was representing the capitalists, might be brought to see that Peterborough would prove a desirable location for this industry, which, even at that time, gave promise of being one of the largest in the Province, and subsequent developments have strengthened the belief to this effect.

Peterborough or Fort William

It was stated that Fort William was an active competitor with Peterborough for the securing of this industry, and it now begins to look as if that city was going to win out. Peterborough took one industry away from Fort William, and the city fathers of the town at the head of the lakes are evidently determined that if they can help it, this will not happen again.

The following despatch from Fort William was published in the papers yesterday:

S. C. Young has received a telegram from H. G. Brown, New York, that a party of twenty-eight capitalists from that city will be here on January 16. These are the men who are looking over Canada for the purpose of locating large car works. Mr. Brown was here about two weeks ago, and met the industrial committee and Council. The party will come from New York by special train.

May Visit City

In view of the fact that the party of capitalists, according to the despatch, intends to make a tour of Canada with the object of learning of the different available sites, it is possible that Peterborough may be included in the tour, in which case there is a probability that the Coates case will be repeated.

The industry is apparently one which any city might be glad to secure, and if it comes to Peterborough, as there seems to be reason to believe it possible, if the matter is taken in hand promptly, it will prove to be a very valuable addition to the prosperous industries which have already, or will, in the near future, locate here.

THREE CANDIDATES FOR THE OFFICE OF WATER COMMISSIONER FOR THE PRESENT YEAR

W. H. MOORE — V. EASTWOOD — E. F. MASON

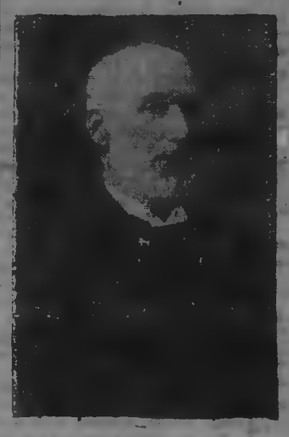
Has Travelled From The Atlantic To The Pacific's Shores With Convicted Criminals

High County Constable Cochrane Will Soon Have Travelled Across the Continent in the Discharge of His Duty--Takes Weller to St. John's To-morrow

By Saturday at noon, High County Constable George Cochrane will have established a record which has probably never been duplicated in the history of the Dominion of Canada. He will have travelled across the continent of North America, from Vancouver, B.C., to St. John, N.B., in charge of prisoners. These journeys have not, however, been the only lengthy ones taken by the energetic constable. Thirty years ago he brought a prisoner from the Michigan lumber camps.

To-morrow on the noon train, Mr. Cochrane leaves with the prisoner, Tom Weller, who requires no introduction to Peterborough people. He is being deported on account of his threatening actions towards a number of person in this county. Mr. Cochrane with his prisoner will arrive at St. John about Saturday noon, and Weller leaves in the afternoon, on the C. P. R. steamer Manitoba for his native land.

But the unique feature of the eastward journey is that when it is completed Mr. Cochrane will have travelled from ocean to ocean in company with prisoners. About six years ago he went to Vancouver for a Mr. Abbot, of Lakefield, who was accused of forgery. Abbot committed the forgery, but not with any intent to deceive and was discharged.



MR GEO. COCHRANE
Who Leaves To-morrow for St. John

Another lengthy journey which the constable took, was to the Michigan lumber woods about 30 years ago, which was among his first duties as county constable. He was after James Murphy, one of three men who were accused of indecent assault near Apsley in the township of Chandos. When he arrived in Michigan he discovered that Murphy could not be extradited. He brought his prisoner back at any rate and he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

William Hubbs was another of the three who had escaped to Picton, and about whom the constable tells an amusing story. A verdict was brought in by the jury against Hubbs, with a recommendation to mercy. The judge in commenting on the verdict stated he could see no reason for the recommendation and sentenced the prisoner to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. Hubbs, on receiving his sentence, exclaimed — "Thank you judge; I expected to receive ten years longer!"

Ald. Hicks Speaks Of The Closing Of Smith Street Bridge

At An Enthusiastic Meeting the Mayoralty Candidate Explains the Reason for the Steps Taken

THE ACTION OF THE COUNCIL SERVED TO PROTECT THE CITY

Ald. Hicks' committee rooms were crowded last night, when a most enthusiastic meeting was held. A large number of ratepayers were present and wished to hear the facts of several matters which Ald. Hicks' opponents are using against them. Speeches were made by Messrs. Wm. Langford, J. K. Martin, W. Robertson, R. H. Leary, Wm. Batten and several of the aldermen endorsing Mr. Hicks.

Smith Street Bridge

Mr. Hicks, when he entered the committee rooms, was given an enthusiastic reception and a speech was demanded from him. Ald. Hicks acquiesced to the desire of his friends and took the opportunity to placing before the people the facts in regard to the closing of the Smith street bridge.

Early last spring, he said, the attention of the Board of Works was drawn to the fact that the bridge was unsafe and that an accident was likely to happen there at any time. The chairman (Ald. Hicks) and the City Engineer at once examined the bridge and found it as reported. They placed a man on the bridge to give warning of the bridge's condition to the drivers of heavy loads, and to send them around by the Hunter street bridge. That man was on duty for several days.

Close The Bridge

The committee, when informed of the unsafe condition of the bridge, decided to close it for the time being and ascertain the cost of a new steel bridge or to repair the old one. This occupied the Engineer for some three weeks, and on the evening of the day that he made his report to the chairman of the committee, the committee met and decided in

Mr. Jas. Kendry Explains His Attitude In Mayoralty Contest

He Tells Why He is Opposed to the Election of Ald. Hicks--- Refers to the Smith Street Bridge Question

Sir,—Some friends of Mr. Hicks are making an attack upon me apparently with his knowledge and consent, which is wholly without foundation and false as the men who make it. They say that I am opposing Hicks because he did not or would not consent or appear favorable to the acquiring for the city of the Auburn power or purchase Auburn power from the "Auburn Co., of which I am president. This is a lie. I never at any time spoke to either Hicks or McWilliams concerning the Auburn power or to any of the members of the council. My reasons for supporting McWilliams and not Hicks are these:—Hicks as chairman of the Board of Works, closed the Smith street bridge and closed it for good. He declared that the bridge at the Cereal dam should be used and that the Smith street bridge, in which I am so largely interested, be closed. This was an unexpected and infamous blow. To all the storekeepers of the north ward, and there are ten of them, it meant ruin. To the Company it meant a heavy loss. All sorts of means were resorted to in order to get him to reconsider the question, but he was alike deaf to the representations of the people and of the press. It was a matter of great astonishment to everybody that such a high handed action should have been taken. At last I went to the council and put my views before them so cogently that the bridge was re-opened and at the paltry expense of six hundred dollars for repairs. This, however, will serve only for a short time. We must have another bridge there. Would any sane man vote for Hicks in the face of this? My other reasons are that I believe McWilliams is a better man from every point of view. McWilliams is not tied up by his combine with local corporations for coal and can give an independent administration, which, of course, could not be expected of Hicks. Mr. McWilliams, moreover, is not a member of any trust or combine. With regard to my refusal to let Mr. Hicks go through the mills, I may say that it was because I consider that he did not treat me fairly in a business deal. Altogether my experience with Mr. Hicks has not been satisfactory and I want nothing more to do with him. Further I should not have revealed my sentiments in this way if it had not been for the contemptible stand taken by him and his friends in this matter against me. He'll get a dose from the people north of Dublin street that will surprise him, on the evening of January 7th.

JAS. KENDRY.

Half A Million Dollar Loss By A Montreal Fire To-day

Special C.N.W. Despatch to the Examiner

Montreal, January 3. — Fire which started in a building on St. Antoine street early this morning, occupied by the Smith, Patterson Company, wholesale jewellers, and the Gorham Company, silversmiths, spread over to the building facing St. James at the corner of Little Craig street, occupied by the Cheeseborough Company, the Lodge Manufacturing Company, and the Standard Clothing Company, with half a dozen smaller firms, doing damage estimated at half a million dollars. Hormidas Gagnon, a carter, who lived in a little house close by, was caught under a falling wall and killed. Half a dozen firemen who were working on a ladder when the wall fell were injured.

CHARGED WITH FALSE PRETENCES

Douro Man Accused of Obtaining $145.00

County Constable Cochrane effected an arrest yesterday afternoon of a young Douro man charged with obtaining $145 under false pretences from the North American Fire Insurance Co. It appears that some time ago the stables of the accused were burned, together with some chattels, for which he asked insurance from the company. The latter it is understood, has had a detective here from Toronto looking into the matter, and it was from his statements that the arrest was made yesterday by Mr. Cochrane.

The young man is now out on $200 bail in two sureties of $100 each. His trial will come up before Magistrate Edmison on January 9.

CHOSING A CITY COUNCIL

Henry Phelan,
John Sawers,
J. H. Smith,
Arthur Stevenson,
George J. Tovey,
Thos. J. Wilson,

The foregoing list of names, represents the most important problem the elector ratepayers of the city of Peterborough, will have to wrestle with this year, because their decision in regard to the selection of twelve good names, which must be made by, or before, Monday next, will affect the material interests, progress and good government, of Peterborough for the year to come, and perhaps have an influence, beneficial or adverse for many other years to come.

The above names represent, with the candidates for the mayoralty, the only material from which to elect the men to constitute the council board for the coming year, a year in which many important questions will come up for consideration and adjustment, upon whose business-like handling will depend the welfare and progress of the city.

Under these circumstances, it is to be hoped the ratepayers will seriously, and without prejudice or personal favour, consider their duty.

Taking these names, with the addition of the Mayoralty candidates, the individual elector should study each one to decide to the best of his judgment, which is best fitted, in every way, to become a trustee and agent of the people — to look after and manage their business for the coming year.

The electors should decide which are best qualified by business aptitude, business experience, and business habits and methods, to deal with the large and complicated interests he will be called upon to administer as a member of the council.

He should decide which have the largest material and other interests in the city—which will be most affected by a policy or course of action which may affect the progress and advancement of the city, prejudicially or otherwise. In this way he may be able to decide which of the candidates will personally be most influenced, and affected, apart from a proper desire to serve the city, by any particular course of actoni; which will be most injured by bad management, and affected by good — who, in a word, has the most to lose, or the most to gain, by bad and careless, or good and honest, government. A body of councillors, being, as they are, human, will be doing what is best for the citizens at large, by doing the best for themselves, and be more or less affected by these circumstances. Every ratepayer should make himself acquainted with the standing, qualifications, and fitness, so far as possible, of every man in the foregoing list. He should pass no name by, because, in so doing, he may ignore a man among the best qualified to command his vote.

Not only should every candidate's business ability, his interest in the city, and its progress, and his general fitness for the position of great responsibility he seeks, be closely appraised, but the company he keeps, the influences with which he is associated or allied, should form the subject of investigation, for these may easily neutralize and nullify any claims arising out of business or other ability.

No candidate, who is not absolutely free from any alliance, personal or corporate, whose honesty of character and intention, is not above suspicion, should for a moment be considered.

No man with a leaning towards, or a friendship for, any private interest, which is likely to seek to gain private advantage at the expense of the city, should get a vote.

Nearly every candidate is in favour of the principle of public ownership of public utilities, so that in this regard there can be little ground for discrimination.

But public ownership and operation are, like matrimony, desirable only under suitable conditions, and the candidate who takes the most prudent and careful view of the subject should be preferred.

Kite-flying in relation to municipal ownership, adoption of it regardless of consequences and business consideration, has no place in the policy or economy of a city which desires to avoid the burden of debt and the burden of responsibility arising from the premature acquirement of utilities without the most rigid inquiry and without absolute assurance that the city is not called upon to pay more than value; and any candidate who by statement or association ignores such considerations, should be regarded with disfavour.

The ratepayer has to select from the above list, including the candidates for the mayoralty, thirteen names, which best embody the qualifications required to administer the affairs of the city.

Electors should remember that their personal preference for any candidate does not count; they are not selecting social companions; they are choosing business agents to manage their business involving the expenditure of nearly $140,000 a year; selecting the men who will levy taxes and spend them either wisely or otherwise. The candidate's business ability—his ability to serve the city well—should be the first consideration.

If the requisite number of persons can be found in the above list to answer the conditions demanded and if the ratepayers make their selections on such basis, then we shall have a good council for 1907.

Let ratepayers remember that they are selecting a council to transact their business, not a mere set of men whose object is to be elected.

Let each elector look upon each candidate in the same way he would do in selecting a man to manage his own business, and to exercise as much care and as careful judgment in the selection of men to manage the business of the City.

GROWING CANADA

In an article appearing in The Farmers' Advocate, Mr. A. Blue, chief census officer for the Dominion, gives in concise form the story of Canada's phenomenal growth.

"In 36 years, ending with June last, our revenue on consolidated fund account rose from $13,007,928 to $80,159,360, and our expenditure on the same account from $13,486,093 to $67,240,041. So buoyant has the revenue been, that, in face of the growing requirements of public service in a new country, aggregating $1,315,000,000 in 39 years, the last fiscal year shows a surplus of $12,898,719. The yearly revenue has increased by 485 per cent. and the yearly expenditure by 400 per cent. In other words, the income of the Dominion is now about five times more than in the first year of Confederation, and the cost of all public services is four times more, which are fair indices of the progress made.

"Another evidence of growth is presented in the commerce of the country. Thirty-nine years ago the value of our foreign trade was $129,563,194, and last year it was $546,947,437, which is four times more for 1906 than for 1868. This is for exports of home and foreign produce and imports entered for consumption. Merchandise the produce of Canada, exclusive of coin and bullion, was exported in 1868 to the value of $48,464,899, and in 1906 it grew to $235,483,956, being in amount greater by nearly five times. From 1868 to 1906 our exports of agricultural produce grew from $12,871,055 to $54,062,537; of animals and their produce, from $6,893,167 to $66,455,960; of fisheries produce, from $3,357,510 to $16,025,840; of forest produce, from $18,742,625 to $38,824,170; of manufactures from $2,100,411 to $24,461,112; of mineral produce, from $1,276,129 to $35,469,631; and of miscellaneous produce, from $302,280 to $84,906—showing great increase in every class but the last.

"The statements of chartered banks show more emphatically perhaps than anything else the growth of the Dominion in wealth and business affairs. In 1868 the paid-up capital of banks was $30,507,147, and in 1905 it was $82,055,828. But this increase in capital constituted only a small share of the capacity of banks to carry on operations, for in the same period the amounts of deposit grew from $33,053,594 to $531,243,476, and the assets of banks also grew from $79,860,976 to $767,490,183. The rest or reserve fund of the banks, which in 1898 was was $26,526,632, was in 1906 $56,474,124 and in 1884 (the first year in which this return was called for) it was only $18,149,193. These are large figures, but the records of clearings are more striking. The business of the country is done chiefly through the banks, and practically every large transaction is settled by cheque. In 1901 the clearings of chartered banks in the Dominion showed a volume of $1,871,061,725 and in 1905 $8,335,530,600, being an increase of 78 per cent. The records of the clearing house are a safe gauge in measuring the strength and volume of the current of business.

Loan companies and building societies show a business which has increased from assets of $3,233,965 in 1867 to $176,885,012 in 1904. Life insurance companies show a net insurance in force of $85,009,264 in 1875, and $630,324,240 in 1905. Canadian companies show in the 30 years, 1875-1905, an increase of life insurance from $21,967,296 to $397,936,902; British companies an increase from $19,455,607 to $43,809,211, and American companies an increase from $43,596,361 to $188,578,127. The premium income of all life companies grew in the same period from $2,882,387 to $22,080,717, and of this total increase of $19,198,330 the share of Canadian companies is $13,240,571. And in the business of fire insurance the amount of risk in Canada in 1869 was $188,359,809, which in 1905 was swelled to $1,340,057,161; or more than 600 per cent. of increase in 36 years.

"Progress in agriculture may be shown with a few figures. Taking the census records, the wheat crop of 1870 was 16,723,783 bushels, and of 1900 (which was a bad harvest) 55,572,368 bushels. For the same harvest years the barley crop was 11,496,038 and 22,224,366 bushels, while the oat crop was 42,489,453 and 151,497,407 bushels. For the present harvest year the wheat crop of the three Northwest Provinces alone will much more than exceed the crops of 1871 and 1901 for the whole Dominion. In the same period the number of horses grew from 836,743 to 1,577,493, and the number of horned cattle from 2,624,290 to 5,576,451. And in the production of butter and cheese in factories the value rose from $1,601,738 in 1871 to $29,462,402 in 1901.

Comparison of growth in manufacturing industries is not so readily made, because for the census of 1871 all works were enumerated in the records without regard to the number of persons employed, while in 1901 the records were confined to works employing five persons and over. In 1871 statistics were obtained for 41,259 establishments, and in 1901 for only 14,650. But the value of products in the former year was only $221,617,773, while for the latter it was $481,053,375. In food products the value in 1871 was $56,680,227, and in 1901, $125,202,620; in slaughtering and meat packing it was $3,799,552 in 1871, and $22,217,984 in 1901; and in textile products it was $24,768,976 in 1871, and $67,724,830 in 1901. Wages for labour in the 41,259 establishments of 1871 cost $40,851,009, and in the 14,650 establishments of 1901 the cost was $89,573,204. But though these figures show substantial growth in thirty years, it will not be surprising if figures now being compiled will show a growth fully as great in the last five years.

"A few words remain to be said on the railways of Canada. In the first years of Confederation there were 2,278 miles of steam railways in operation, and in 1905 there were 20,487 miles, besides 3,632 miles of sidings, and 793 miles of electric railways. The gross earnings of steam railways grew from $72,898,749 in 1901, to $106,467,199 in 1905; and the total expenses from $50,368,726 to $79,977,574, while the gross earnings of electric railways grew from $5,768,283 to $9,357,126; and the expenses from $3,435,162 to $5,918,194.

"One line across Canada from ocean to ocean, built since Confederation, the Canadian Pacific, has been running for over 20 years. It consists of main line and branches owned of 5,095 miles, and lines leased of 3,202 miles, being a total of 8,297 miles operated by one management. The Canadian Northern, another transcontinental line, own 788 miles of main line, and 728 miles of branches, and operates in addition 354 miles. During the present year its main line has reached Edmonton, and is pushing forward to the mountains and the coast. A third transcontinental line, the Grand Trunk Pacific, is also under way. It will traverse the hinterland of Ontario and Quebec, through a tract of rich clay land many millions of acres in extent, capable of sustaining 2,000,000 people, and possessing great resources of timber and water power, and probably of minerals also. To these provinces it promises to give a depth of 500 miles back from the American frontier, and to the Dominion a solidity of settlement from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Being a railway, too, with a maximum grade eastward of only four-tenths, and westward of only six-tenths of one per cent., through the country east of the Rocky Mountains, no other line on the continent can cut under it in the matter of traffic rates.

"Population is increasing well in nearly all the provinces of the Dominion, but the only ones for which actual figures are available are Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. There a census taken this year shows a population in round numbers of 806,000, being an increase of 366,000, or 92 per cent., in 5 years."

LARGEST REAL ESTATE FIRM IN EDMONTON

Peterborough People Can Realize 400 Per Cent. on Investment of 8 Weeks Ago

In the Magrath, Hart & Company's reading advertisement, which appeared in yesterday's Examiner, it was stated that some Peterborough people through this firm, purchased property eight weeks ago, who could now realize 600 per cent. profit on their investment. Mr. Magrath intended this to read 400 per cent., instead of 600 per cent. He leaves next Monday, January 7th, to return to Edmonton.

Magrath, Hart and Co., have sold more real estate during the months of October, November and December than any other firm.

This means that the properties they have for sale must be first-class, and the prices right, or Magrath, Hart & Co. could not have sold Edmonton people, and strangers to Edmonton, more real estate than any other firm.

Mr. Magrath says: "No, you could not get our properties one cent less were you to buy them at our office in Edmonton."

Magrath, Hart & Co. guarantee properties as described. Mr. Magrath says the readers of the Examiner are the only people reading his advertisement in Ontario, as the Examiner is the only paper in Ontario he is advertising in. Some parties in Peterborough bought lots from Magrath, Hart & Co., eight weeks ago, who can now get twice what they gave for them, the first payment only having been made, thus realizing 400 per cent. on their investment.

Violent Headaches

"I was troubled for a long time with headaches which would come on with such violence that I could not eat nor do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did me no good. Eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I have not been troubled with a headache since." — Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont.

ALD. HICKS SPEAKS OF CLOSING SMITH ST. BRIDGE

favour of repairs, and ordered them to be made at once.

The engineering department had great difficulty in securing timber of the required dimensions, and also found it hard to get mechanics to undertake the work, as it will be remembered, everybody was very busy last spring. This caused some delay, but the engineer did everything in his power to hurry things, and once he got material and men, not a moment was lost in getting the bridge opened again.

Protected The City

Therefore, the closing of Smith street bridge was a matter of protecting the city against one or more suits for heavy damages, which would have been the result had an accident happened. Had the bridge given away with a team on it, or a number of pedestrians, it would certainly have meant the loss of life.

The action taken in this respect was entirely in the hands of the committee and on all occasions the majority ruled. A report of the decision was made to the council and it was adopted unanimously, not one member questioning the wisdom of the move, and everyone was thoroughly conversant with it.

Saved City Money

Later in the season it was found necessary to replank the floor of the bridge, and this was done immediately and traffic was not interfered with for an hour. Last fall there seemed to be a feeling that a new bridge should be built there, and the committee decided to submit a bylaw, for about $38,000 at this election to provide the necessary funds. Ald. Hicks, however, had the engineer examine the bridge thoroughly again and report on how he found it, and what it would cost to keep in repair for a couple of years longer. The object of this was to see if the city could not be saved a considerable sum of money, and to prevent so many money bylaws going before the people at this election. The engineer reported that it had been found the repairs would cost much less than the interest and sinking fund on the $38,000 worth of debentures and the committee, therefore, decided on the advice of the chairman to make the repairs. This was also mentioned by the whole council. The bylaw was withdrawn and arrangements made to have the repairs made during the present winter, when the river was frozen over.

BY-LAWS TO BENEFIT THE MONAGHAN ELECTORS

The Fixed Assessment for Two New Industries and the Benefits They Confer on the Township and Its Residents

THEY SHOULD BE WELL SUPPORTED

The electors of North Monaghan are always in favour of going ahead and always willing to help build up the interests of the township.

But there is some danger, that they may neglect to vote for two important bylaws next Monday from lack of thought.

Electors must remember that it requires enough votes—not a matter of majority, but a large enough proportion of votes favourable to the bylaw, to make the bylaws law.

Therefore when you go out to vote for Reeve and Councillors, don't neglect to cast a vote for the two bylaws to fix the assessment of the Brinton Carpet Company and the Sandstone Brick Company.

The Brinton Carpet bylaw is to fix the assessment of the Company's building at $10,000 per year for ten years.

That is the Company will pay taxes on this fixed assessment, and at the same time will pay the full school tax rate. The fixed assessment applies only to taxes for general township purposes.

The carpet company is established in this township in these conditions. Would it not be a pity to lose it by failing to carry the bylaw?

Think what the loss would be.

The works of the company occupy eight acres of the old Howden property. This eight acres and the buildings alone—for the machinery is exempt under the general law—the township, under the bylaw, gets taxes on a fixed assessment of $10,000, not including school taxes — the full rate of school taxes is paid.

That is, the township will get for eight acres of the old Howden property, the taxes from a fixed assessmment of $10,000, an assessment twice as large as the former total assessment of 30 acres, which was assessed at $5,000.

Then, by passing the bylaw and keeping the works we get a great increase of assessment from buildings soon to spring up around any large factory. These will call for full taxes, and besides, the occupants of these houses will be buyers of the produce of the farmers.

Sandstone Brick Company

The same things, generally, apply to the bylaw to fix the assessment of the Sandstone Brick Company at $3,000—with full school taxes on general value.

The same thing will apply to other large new factories looking to locate in North Monaghan in the near future. The whole of North Monaghan surrounding the City of Peterborough, will, if the township treats them fairly, soon be covered with factories to the great profit and prosperity of North Monaghan.

Be sure to vote for both bylaws when you go out to vote on Monday.

This is a case where giving is gain. We fix the assessment of two large factories at a value twice as large as we would get from the land before it was improved, by the enterprise of these companies in erecting buildings.

And we collect full school taxes on these improved values.

Think this matter over between now and next Monday. Vote for both bylaws. Vote to add to the assessment of North Monaghan and to improve its market.

Vote for both bylaws.
